BISHOP BRINGS 8 FISHING RODS

Quebec, August 1.—The right Honorable and Right Reverend A. F. Winnington-Ingram, Bishop of London, arrived here Friday. The very glad to be again in Canada, the bishop declared when he disembarked. The bishop stated that this trip to Canada had a three-fold purpose, to return the visit of the Canadian bishops to the Lambeth conference last year, to visit his 79 nephews and nieces in this country and to set the cathedral in Vancouver, of which he had laid the corner stone on his last voyage to the Dominion.

The bishop will go to Tadoussac, Que., where he will do some fishcasting. Noticeable among His Reverend Winnington-Ingram's baggage were eight fishing rods.

From Tadoussac the bishop will go west to visit relatives in Montreal and Toronto on the way.

$250,000,000 Placed at Bank England,s Credit

London, Aug. 1 (AP).—The Bank of England announced today that the Bank of France and the Federal Reserve Bank had each placed a credit of £25,000,000 (about $125,000,000 at par) in their respective currencies at its disposal.

On the application of the Bank of England the British treasury has authorized an increase of £15,000,000 (about $75,000,000) in the fiduciary note issue for a period of three weeks thus raising the total of the authorized fiduciary note issue to £275,000,000 (about $1,375,000,000.)

Too Much Zoo Turtle Means Soup

Some months ago Dr. Ditmars went on a snake-hunting expedition in Arkansas with E. Martin Perkins of the St. Louis Zoo. He returned with 1,000 snakes. He was thinking of writing a book about turtles, but Perkins sent him a hurry word along to citizens of Arkansas that he wanted a few samples.

Two weeks ago a box containing twelve "A" grade Arkansas turtles arrived at Dr. Ditmars' office. Dr. Ditmars was overjoyed. The next day another box of turtles turned up. More turtles arrived each day. Today, with three hundred specimens in the turtle house, the curator interrupted the St. Louis colleague as follows: "Call off turtle hunters at all costs."

ANCIENT HOTEL CLOSES ITS DOORS

Queenston, Ont.

New York, Aug. 1.—The Hotel Grenoble, one of the aristocratic hostelries of the old New York social days, going the way of the old Waldorf-Astoria and the Knickerbocker, closed its doors as a hotel in which, 31 years ago, Rudyard Kipling honeymooned. At that time the city spread the streets around the Grenoble from quiet to quite in the noise of hoofs.

Among famous guests who stopped at the hotel was the Prince of Wales and Prince Albert and Mark Twain. And in suite at the Grenoble on Windsor Place he wrote his most famous in its day, frequented among others by John L. Sullivan.

Flights Too Easy, Fliers Look For New Air Lanes

Istanbul, Turkey, Aug. 1— New air lanes beckoned Russel Boardman and John Polando tonight. Not content with a world record distance flight from New York to Istanbul, the two American aviators set their sights for further glorious adventures for themselves and their monoplane Cape Cod.

The plane in in first class condition, Polando remarked it limoughly this afternoon. The fliers were seriously considering a flight to Calcutta and thence by long stages to Indo-China and Japan. They also debated other possible distance flights. Boardman said that under any circumstances they would not depart before Tuesday (Until then they will be busy with a program of entertainment in honor of their record-breaking flight of 4,995.9 miles).

In addition to the possibility of a visit to the Far East the fliers discussed several others.

First, another transatlantic route to New York via Iceland. This would be too long to present any possibility of breaking the post-Daily globe circling record of eight days or to compete with the Pangborn-Herndon plane now over Siberia.

As a third alternative they said they might pack their plane and return by train and boat to New York.

THE LINDBERGHS ARRIVE AT OTTAWA EN ROUTE TO ORIENT

There two pictures were taken when Col. Charles Lindbergh and his wife reached the Canadian capital on the first lap of their long flight to Tokio, Japan. The photograph on the left shows the popular couple coming ashore at the Rockcliffe Airport, Ottawa, with Col. MacNider (in panama hat), United States' Minister to Canada, and Wing Commander J.S. Dunbar, Director of Civil Government Air Operations in Canada in foreground. On the right Anne is all smiles as her hubby answers a battery of questions from reporters as they walk up the landing float.

HAMILTON MEN ARE DROWNED

Third Man and Girl Survive in Sandy Lake Upset

Peterboro, Aug. 1.—Two Hamilton men, Albert Trimble, aged 19, of 215 Cumberland Avenue, an account ant in Oldfield Washer Co., and Albert Sumerlan, of 21 St. Matthew's Avenue, a machinist, were drowned in Sandy Lake near Lakehurst late Friday afternoon when their boat upset.

They were accompanied on the fishing trip by Adelaide Trimble, 20-year-old daughter of Albert Trimble, and Roland Ray of Stoney Creek. They all can swim, but one who could swim and she was able to make shore and give the alarm, while Ray caught hold of the upturned boat and floated into shore.

The party left their cottage about 3 o'clock to go fishing, but they had gone back and Hewas while Ray was pulling up the anchor that the rope became entangled in it, and throwing the four occupants into the water.

Trimble and Straughan immediately sank to the bottom although the water was,only a little over six feet deep. Search started for the bodies of Mrs. W. G. Barker, widow of the late Lieut.-Col. W. G. Barker, V.C., when the alarm was given.

Dragging operations were immediately commenced and the bodies recovered about an hour and a half later.

Trimble, along with his wife and two children and Mr. and Mrs. Ray, had been staying at the cottage of R. H. Brooke, Peterboro, for the past two weeks and Mr. Straughan and his wife arrived only Thursday.

The drowning is the first in Sandy Lake in 60 years, as the lake is very shallow. Dr. J. E. Smith of Lakefield investigated the drowning, and decided an inquest unnecessary.

BRITISH ACTOR ENDS LIFE

New York, Aug. 1.—William Kermit Manton, 46-year-old British actor and stage director, whose name was linked in glaring headlines five years ago with that of Marjorie Rambeau, died by his own hand today after trying to live for several weeks on 25 cents a day.

King Emmanuel and Queen Elena Attend Launching

MEANT FOR KING?

Genoa, Italy, Aug 1 (AP)— Bomb exploded in the street in the heart of the business section today a few hours before King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Elena arrived for the launching of the ocean liner "Rex."

The bomb shattered windows and panic ensued.

It was believed that the bombing had some connection with the visit of the King and Queen.

They however, arrived in Genoa only a short time before the launching, coming by train from Santanna Del Arbi summer residence.

The bomb went off at 1.40 a.m. and the launching took place at 8 a.m.

The bomb was planted in front of the Italian trans-Atlantic society building, to which most of the damage was done.

Adjoining the building are two hotels in one of which Under Secretary of State Allieri was staying. This was the fourth bomb explosion in Genoa in recent weeks. A consignment of fountain pens loaded with explosives and addressed to the Fascist party headquarters, was delivered several days ago.

SOCIALIST HEAD IS NOW CONTENT

Berlin, July 31 (AP) — These past few gloomy weeks which cast a shadow over the lives of millions of Germans brought to Adolf Hitler, the National Socialist leader, only peace and happiness he said today in his party newspaper, Voelkischer Beogachter.

"Never in my life," he wrote, "have I been in such high spirits and inwardly so thoroughly at peace, so entirely satisfied, as in these days.

"The eyes of millions of Germans at last have been opened by hard realities to the unconscious — and tricksteries and deceits of the Marxist leaders of the nation.

"The broad masses of the public have been for themselves, perhaps for the first time in their myth — the Young Plan swindlers — the Versailles dictate-makers and their affiliated parties, or the men of the Young Plan referendum.

"Therefore I had good reason to be so happy and content while fear and panic chuckled the throats of the great and petty swindlers."

ARRESTED 22ND POLICE

John R. Chisholm arrested by the Belleville police on a charge of intoxication will most likely face a charge of a more serious nature when he appears after his period of remand, which was set till another 7th in police court today by Magistrate Mikel. The police have made a full investigation into the charge and have also taken his finger prints which will be sent to Ottawa for identification. An offence is alleged to have been committed against two girls of tender years.

MAY LEAVE OVER POWER REPORT

Ottawa, Aug. 1.—Reports to circulation here late last night were that the special committee of the senate appointed to consider the method of dealing with the report on the Beauharnois project had decided that the session be held over until next session.

Should this decision be made the committee take up the report as soon as the Mackenzie-King election was decided upon, it is understood, because of the desire not to delay prorogation.

ZEVISTS OLD HOME

Mr. Meredyn Bird of Vancouver, B.C., is receiving acquaintances in Belleville and district this week. For years and is also visiting friends in Belleville and district. Mr. Bird is one of the oldest cheesemen in the district, having bought cheese in the Bay of Quinte district for years. The visitor is in perfect health and was more than pleased to meet many of his old friends of years' standing. Mr. Bird was the first magistrate of the village of Stirling and is held in high regards by residents of that village. He will spend at least two months in the district.

MACAULAY IS NEW HEAD OF HIGHWAY DEPT.

SHUFFLE COMPLETED

Game and Fisheries to be Under Jurisdiction of New Minister

Toronto, August 1.—Can. Press. —With a rapidity which came as a surprise even to members of his own cabinet, Premier Geo. S. Henry arrived in Toronto shortly before noon yesterday, called a meeting of council during the afternoon and by 5.30 had re-organized his cabinet with Hon. Leopold Macauly transferred from the post of Provincial Secretary to be Minister of Highways, and George H. Challies, member for Dundas, made Provincial Secretary.

The change which ends months of rumour, prediction and expectancy in Queen's Park was effected in less than 15 minutes. Sir William Mulock in his capacity of acting Lieutenant-Governor attended the council meeting. After a session lasting for hardly more than an hour, a few executive members of the civil service were summoned to the presence of the Premier, Hon. W. Price, Hon. Charles McCrea, Hon. T. L. Kennedy and Hon. J. H. Cooke, Mr. Macaulay and Mr. Challies were given in respectively to the portfolio of highways and the portfolio of Provincial Secretary. The oaths were administered by O. F. Bulmer, Clerk of the Crown in Chancery.

McDOUGALD WILL NOT RESIGN SEAT

Quebec, Aug. 1.—Senator W. L. McDougald, of Montreal, had a short conference with Premier L. A. Taschereau of Quebec, here yesterday. The nature of the conversation has not been made public.

In a brief interview with Quebec newspapermen, the Senator stated he had no intention of resigning his seat in the senate while that body remains when it was suggested to him that it had been intimated he would probably relinquish his seat in the Upper House.

START NEW FLIGHT

Seattle, Aug. 1.—The plane Pot O'Gold was aloft from its hangar and Reg. L. Robbins and Harold Bell, aviators, were preparing to depared to take off today on a non-stop refueling flight to Tokio.

Jones said they would take off between 4 and 5 o'clock unless some of the chance that bad weather at the start might result in their flying later in the afternoon.

The plane ran over a block and a half of runway from its hangar to dely while a new tire was put on.

Father Fleming was also appointed to their yearly and was a former professor at Regiopolis college at Kingston.

May Have Saved Hydro Commission $300,000

H. Gundy or the O'Brien Interests, by C. Magnan, Chairman of the Ontario Hydro. The offer of power as a lower rate than the Hydro development is said to have put an embarrassing situation before negotiations at that time.

Later, the Gundy proposals were revived, with Aird acting with the full knowledge of Chairman C. A. Magrath. It is said, worked out a severance of the Aird connection with the Gundy syndicate and help Hydro deal with the O'Brien interests separately. Negotiations finally resulted, it was rumored, in a large saving to Hydro and Aird was substantially discussed when Mr. Gundy was said to be interested. Details were not disclosed by the municipal delegates, but dark hints of Mr. Cooke's statement being "highly satisfactory" and of the chairman's forthcoming announcement clearing up all doubts, were free and expectant. The amount of the Hydro saving on the deal, it was said, might run as high as $300,000, but probably would be made public specifically by Mr. Cooke.

$24,000 Is Estimated Saving to Consumers Per Year Through Cut

Belleville Commission today Received Authority for Reduction

DETAILS OF CUT

How Rates are Reduced and Savings Shown by Examples

Reduction in Hydro rates for Belleville were announced today, the second cut since Belleville took over the system a little over two years ago. The result of the reduction in all classes will aggregate about $24,000 per annum to industrial users of Belleville.

The local commission met this morning on the re-ajst of authorization of the Hydro Electric Power Commission and at the close issued the following statement, to the users of electricity:

TO THE ELECTRICAL USERS OF BELLEVILLE:

The Belleville Commissioners at a special meeting today authorized a new rate schedule to take effect with the August billing. The schedule has been approved by the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario and the new rates given below you will note a considerable saving over the old rates.

The saving covers all classes, domestic, commercial and power and the use as well as street lighting. The percentage of saving will vary with the amount of electricity used by each consumer—the "greater the electricity used the greater will be the percentage saved. The total saving for a year based on the consumption for the months from January to June 1931 will be approximately $34,000.00.

This is the second reduction the Commission has made since the plant was taken over, the last one being in February 1930. Your Commissioners hoped that the reduction would have come sooner, but the approval of the general rate reduction by the Hydro given and Belleville users are receiving their proportion of the cut as are the other Hydro municipalities in the Province.

A further discount of 5% is being allowed to all power users who take their power at 2300 volts.

The Power Commission Act provides that the surplus resulting from power supplied for municipal purposes such as Street Lighting, Water Works Power, etc., may be returned to the municipality at the Commission may direct. In the small of this provision the Belleville System the Ontario Commission has determined the amount of the surplus, and the records show an accumulated surplus of $1213.10 on the Water Works service and $2995.69 on the Street Lighting service. Therefore, besides the general reduction we are crediting the City with $1211.10.

So that an idea may be obtained of what the reduction amounts to there is worked out below a comparison of bills at both old and new rates. The Commission feels that you have been getting good use of electricity and they hope that the reduction will be a benefit to the poor ones and so reap greater advantage of the reduction.

(Sgd.) CHAS. HANNA,
Chairman.

HOLIDAY PROGRAM

Bellevillians will not lack for entertainment on the holiday as there are special attractions offered at every turn. The Sea Plane base at the Country Club will be the chief sporting feature here and those in charge are expecting a record crowd thousand people. The races always provide hearts of thrills for the spectators and with the leading drivers in the event will no doubt be a popular one. Many ex-Madocers will be journeying back to the northern village for the Old Boys' Reunion. The program on Monday in an auditorium with a lacrosse game between Campbellford and Oshawa being the feature. The village was invaded by hundreds of old boys on Friday and a glorious time is promised. Both of the local golf clubs have arranged holiday programs while pleasure resorts in the County of Hastings are preparing for an influx of visitors.

U. E. L. PILGRIMAGE

Colonel Lindbergh and Mrs. Lindbergh, who flew to Ottawa, have been invited to attend the U. E. L. Pilgrimage at the Trinity East Church in Adolphustown on Monday. The Hon. Col. Donald Sutherland, Minister of National Defence, has arranged, to send a large hydro-plane from the Dominion service to the Pilgrimage. This will be the striking contrast to the old flat-bottomed batteaux by which the original Loyalists landed in Adolphustown. His Worship Mayor Wright of Kingston sends word that he proposes to fly to Adolphustown from Kingston with Alderman Herrington.

PLAYING AT PETERSBORO

Belleville Nationals left for Peterboro this morning where they play their last scheduled game of the season in the Mid Ont. League this afternoon. Walter Cerow took charge this morning and said he had hopes of taking the Petes into camp. Tommy Fowler after his poor start last night at the local park, may be given another chance today. The game last night deserved a larger turnout and if today's game between the same two teams in Peterboro is a repetition, it will be well worth seeing. "Al" Beckman was slated to do the pitching for the homesters and reports from the north state that the big blonde boy has been taking treatments and is ready to hand the Nationals a trouncing.

WORLD FLIERS FORCED DOWN

Moscow, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Civil aviation authorities were advised today that Captain Boris Sakharoff, Hugh Herndon, Jr., round-the-world flyer, had been forced down 1,000 ft. at Zictsezt, about 150 miles from Moscow, by storms.

Kustanaisk in the Cossack Autonomous Republic was 4,530 a.m. Moscow Time (12.30 a.m., E.S.T.) the message added.

The town of Kustanaisk is a little more than a thousand miles from Moscow and about 125 miles southwest of Omsk, on the Trans-Siberian Railway. Kustanaisk is 1,000 distance to the south of the railway line, about midway between Omsk and Ekaterinburg. It is about 1,700 miles west of Irkutsk, which the fliers had hoped to make their first stop after leaving Moscow.

They got away from Moscow at 9.30 p.m. yesterday (2.30 a.m. E.S.T.) and intended to stop only at Irkutsk and Khabarovsk before taking up the overwater hop across the Sea of Okhotsk and Behring Sea to Fairbanks, Alaska. Fairbanks a non-stop flight over the last leg in New York at 7.19 p.m. and approximately ten hours behind the Post-Gatty round-the-world mark of Moscow, but with fewer and shorter stops they hoped to reduce their disadvantage.

The takeoff from Moscow the weather over their route was unusually good, with light head-winds in the first stages. They had 450 gallons of fuel, taken aboard at Moscow, despite the hour's brief they took the air without any trouble.

Probe Outcome Whitewash Says Thomas Church

Toronto, Aug. 1.—Despite Prime Minister Bennett's expressed purpose of stamping out unsettling racial agitation from the Province, he was in which Parliament has dealt with the Beauharnois situation will do more than anything else to fan racial and religious passions to a white heat, declared Rev. T. Church, M.C., in a statement issued last night. "Parliament and all political parties of being under the domination of power and vested interests."

The inquiry by parliamentary committees into the Beauharnois power scandal was a whitewash and stopped far short of usefulness to the people of Canada, Mr. Church asserted. By an agreement among the respective party whips, and on instructions from the party leaders who "run the Government" the investigation was limited to such a short before it could do any real damage, he continued.

MOTOR HOLDUP LEADS TO ARREST

Toronto, Aug. 1.—Driving casually along Princess street, Kingston, at 3 o'clock this morning, as they are alleged to have stolen a few hours earlier from ——— Toronto, two young men and a woman were arrested by Constable Andrew Ready. They were on their way to Montreal when the police were told.

The three prisoners, Evelyn Logan, 17, Crawford street; Henry Johnston, 24, Peel street, Toronto, and Dudley street, were brought back last night by Detective-Sergeant Cluney and Detective Alex. McCahie. They face a charge of automobile theft.

Bale was accosted by the girl on Jarvis street shortly after midnight, it is alleged, and asked to take her home. When he stopped, he claims, the other two stepped out from hiding and climbed into the auto. The girl was forced to drive to a deserted part of Victoria Park Avenue and there thrown out. His watch and a sup of money were stolen.

Brought to Toronto police headquarters, the three allegedly admitted the theft. Johnston and Logan

ENGINEERS WILL LOOK OVER ROUTE

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 1.—Arrangements for a conference of department engineers on trans-Canada Highways plans will be proceeded with immediately to prepare for the work of the Labor battalions, Premier Bennett announced last night on his return from an extensive tour of the north country.

Engineers it is understood, will be taken north on the back over the ground and to recommend sections of the Lood on which work can be undertaken. Premier Henry intimated that the actual work would not be started until plans had been approved by Ottawa.

The Premier had arrived at anything definite as yet on the route the trans-Canada is to take," Premier Henry said."

OBITUARY

J. G. BOOTY

Galt, Aug. 1.—An old resident, Joseph G. Booty, passed away at his home Thursday morning in his 76th year. Deceased had been ill for between three and four years. Mr. Booty was born in Galt, the fourth son of the late James and Louise Booty, and had lived here all his life. He worked at the Victoria Wheel Works for 34 years and with the Cowan Company for 20 years. Surviving are his wife and three sisters, Mrs. Joel A. Willard, city; Mrs. James Dyer, Chatham, and Mrs. Robert Goudy, Belleville; and one brother, Harry, of this city.

Harvest Apples Were Offered

Saturday market was large, a considerable amount of produce being offered which was nearly all disposed of to residents of the city. The fruit market was down to that of last week but the vegetable market was strong. Vegetables sold for practically the same price as last week, carrots, beets, onions, radishes, lettuce bringing five cents a bunch, tomatoes ten cents a piece and cabbage five and ten cents according to size. Beans continued to hold on and were sold for 10 cents a box but there were no shelled peas offered. The corn was of better quality today retailing for 15 cents a dozen and quickly picked up. Potatoes were plentiful and better size and sold for 30 cents a peck.

Long blackberries sold for 25 cts. a box and blue raspberries for 30 cents a box. There were few tomatoes home grown on the market but those offered sold for 5c each or a basket. The tomatoes do not seem to have the flavor of other years but this is probably due to the fact that few field tomatoes have been on the market as yet.

Huckleberries were a heavy crop this year and those were sold for $1.25 and $1.40 a basket according to size. Harvest apples were also in again and sold for 40 and 50 cents a peck. They make good eating but cooking apples in large quantities have not yet made their appearance.

Eggs retailed at the same figure as last week. Sketchy fowls were held at 20 cents a dozen and if purchased in basket lots could be bought for 18 cts. a dozen. Butter was the same, 25 cts a pound. Fowl are plentiful with broilers selling for $1.50 a pair and older fowl from $1.25 to $1.50 a piece. There is plenty of home made cooking offered which was eagerly sought at the housewife in the city finds it hard to cook in the hot weather and cooking can be purchased as cheaply on the market from the many up well in advance and there were a number of shacks offered at as low as $8.00 each. Hay sold for $8.00 a ton.

FELLOW CITIZENS:

One of the most unappreciated members of society is the housefly. I have a great love for the housefly, many a germ could not make a living, many a doctor, either. If people only realized how many fatal people in this country do doctoring or drive ambulances, or are employed by undertakers, they would sit up on the housefly and stop interfering with one of our best friends.

To me the housefly is one of the most interesting pets. Put him in, will follow you around, no matter where you go. He takes you in the morning by sitting on your nose, goes with you down to the dining-room, and invites all his friends to meet you. If you get up a picnic he goes right along. He is a lover of the wide open spaces, especially if there is a screen handy.

And at night he retires to your room with you, and hangs on the ceiling above you all night, upside down by his feet. He takes you right down from your ceiling of a night and you don't mind. And he loves not only you but your horse and your doe and your cat and your dog, if you have you.

But man rewards the housefly by starting a swat-the-fly movement. Like the bootlegger, who classifies a housefly which spends every cent it makes for beer, as no larger award as flashing-fly? I should say not. They pay vast sums for the kind of brat about you will take them camping with them. But does man take the housefly camping with him? He doesn't have to. He's already there.

And the worst enemy of the housefly is the plumber. Right when the bor's fly is working the hardest to start an epidemic, the plumber snoofs it all with his sanitary plumbing. And when the housefly is looking forward to a pleasant summer, with lots of fly-pbold and mariahs, the plumber spoils everything with his darned poisons.

And that reminds me: what do you need most now in the line of furnace flaing, bath room repairs, or new and tasty bathroom fixtures. Don't forget that we sell the finest line of gas and electric ranges, and at prices which will make you smile with joy. Don't forget that our specialty is plumbing and we never have to go from to the work shop for tools for we carry the workbop around with us, the plumbing shop on wheels, that's us.

Look for another letter next Saturday.

Hopefully yours

GOVERNMENT EXPENDITURES WILL BE CUT

Nearly Half Billion Dollar Cut is Recommended

ROADS NOT BUILT

London, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Reductions totaling $96,518,000 (about $482,900,000) were recommended today in a report to the House of Commons by the Government Commission created to investigate the possibilities of cutting Government expenditures.

The principal item proposed is a decrease in unemployment benefits and an increase to the weekly contributions of workers and employers to ten pence (about 20 cents) per worker, by which $98,500,000 (about $393,500,000) would be saved.

The Commission also recommended a saving of $7,000,000 (about $35,225,000) by postponement of road building projects and curtailment of the present high standard of maintenance; abolition of the Empire Marketing Board; reduction of percentage of British Exchequer receipts paid to the British Broadcasting Company; reduction of teachers' salaries by 20 per cent. and reduction of grants to higher education.

The recommendation is made that some time be given for consideration be given to a more equitable distribution of the cost of naval defense, and the Government is advised to appoint a representative committee before the next Naval Conference to inquire into the whole subject of naval design and consider whether modifications are possible without endangering naval security.

CANCER SPECIALIST ON TOUR IN CANADA

MONTREAL—(By the Canadian Press)—Cancer is like a jig-saw puzzle, but in spite of the use of colloidal, nuclear and protoplasmic compliments and Jane Allen-ment, according to Dr. Fritz Ludwig, Berlin cancer research experts and specialist in obstetrics and gynecology.

Head of a private clinic in Berne, Switzerland, and engaged in research work in the diseases peculiar of women with Dr. V. Reis, Dr. Ludwig is on a tour of Canada and the United States, investigating and collecting data for a paper on the effects of modern civilization on female health.

"It is woman—whose mind baffles philosophers and whose bodily ills baffle doctors—who is the greatest sufferer mostly from cancer," Dr. Ludwig stressed in an interview here recently, "And seeing that the worth of any civilization is measured by the treatment it accords the mothers of the race in thing of physical stress, it is up to medical science to alleviate the awful suffering that women the world over endure as a result of cancer.

"Modern civilization has created havoc, he found. Crowded cities, thunderous noises, close living quarters, faulty eating and digestion, lack of fresh air and sunshine, smoking, drinking, over-tension in various spheres—these were factors which increased women's distress.

"The primitive woman was a healthy creature," the doctor declared, "she suffered from few ills. But our modern women. Why, they are physical and nervous wrecks. So many disorders are present living conditions that childbirth, once a blessing to the mother, is a curse to man, brings on the most serious complications for some modern women."

As an authority on gynecology, Dr. Ludwig has also to the value of the latest discoveries in regard to hormones, those substances which secreted from the glands, pass into the blood and cause ripe glands to secrete. "We have made the most intricate of investigations in the hormones of the day but we are still groping in the varied hormones on a women's constitution." he said. "Hormones, a doubt, the constant secretion of hormones has a great deal to do with the emotional and physical well-being of women. Discoveries have opened up a great and vast field linked with gynecological medicine."

Modern medicine, the doctor concluded, was waging an uphill fight in many cases.

"Why does humanity tolerate living conditions that cause cancer, abortion life and endow man with the most ills?" he asked, rhetorically wondered. "Men live like fools, in cases, and women, too, and then expect medicine to cure them on the spot.

STIRLING

STIRLING — Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Campbell and Miss Lillian spent Sunday, July 26th, with Mr. E. T. Williams and Miss Lucy and attended both services in St. Paul's church.

A very large congregation assembled in St. Paul's Church on Sunday, July 26th, to hear Rev. Canon Hunter, D.D., of London, Ont., who occupied the pulpit at his old church, Oak Lake. Dr. Hunter took as his text Luke 15:7, "I say unto you cometh will I give to eat of the hidden manna, and will give him a white stone and in the stone a new name written, which no man knoweth saving he that receiveth it." He spoke of the significance of the white stone, the hidden life of stones, bringing out that the kind of stone depicted the character and determines what our name shall be like. Heaven, he said, was here on earth is a warfare and just as we overcome battle with Satan shall we learn our new name. We believe against doubt and unloved error, against hatred and hate and begin to can overcome these. Mrs. D. M. Campbell rendered a fine contralto solo at the organ for a delightful congregation. Rev. Mr. Hunter preached themselves and Mr. Gerald Clute in his morning and Rev. Mr. Bedford-Jones in the evening Rev. E. W. HENRY BACK AT QUEEN'S PARK

Toronto, Ont., July 31—On return to Queen's Park today from Northwestern Ontario, Premier George S. Henry announced an agreement on the reported $50,000 Hydro power development at Long Lac providing that he knew nothing about the matter, and that the city purchasers he naturally could not say anything.

Informed that the executive of the Union of Hydro municipalities had been approached by one of the Madawaska Power purchase at the Provincial Hydro Commission offices this afternoon, the Prime Minister declared: "I haven't yet heard of this conference. I haven't been reading the newspapers while away."

The agency accompanied by his wife came to Toronto by boat train from Port McNicol at noon breezed through customs and then motored stile coverage of roads in the north. No doubt he was ready for a tasty link in the proposed trans-Canada highway, Toronto-Vancouver. Unemployment conditions were said be satisfactory, the premier said, but the government hoped, he added, to put into effect the early fall policies which would in his opinion tend to alleviate the situation in the winter months.

Question on the "unofficial legislature" meeting of Northern Ontario factions are said to be satisfactory, Mr. Henry said, most people I discussed the proposal with were inclined to view it with some amusement."

FOUR YEARS IN PENITENTIARY

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 1.—Edward Raymond and Henry Labrojr, convicted respectively on seven and twelve charges of housebreaking were today sentenced to four years each by Portsmouth Penitentiary. Raymond and Labrojr are alleged to have been responsible for burglarizing houses in the Parkdale district of Toronto for a period of some months stealing jewelry valued at over $2,000. Only one diamond ring was recovered.

WORK STARTS ON HIGHWAY

Task of Clearing Right of Way Starts With 60 Men

Nuranda, Aug. 1 (CP)—Construction of the Quebec section of the Interprovincial highway, linking Noranda and Rouyn with Kirkland Lake, Ont., has commenced. The task of clearing the right-of-way surveyed last month was begun yesterday by some fifty men with axes.

The work is being done by Quebec on account of the attitude of the Ontario government officials who required a guarantee by his province before they would start work on the Ontario section of the highway, according to J. F. Piche, the Quebec M.P. for Temiskaming who arrived here today.

Fears have been expressed locally that the Ontario government would not carry out its share of the project. The sod turning ceremony here was signed by Hon. J. E. Perrault, Minister of Highways.

Surveys of the Senneterre-Mani-waki highway, which will cover city with a section of the highway north of here, commenced a few weeks ago. Mr. Piche. Construction of about twenty miles of road in Ontario east of Cochrane will link this section with the Cochrane-Heart Highway, completing the last piece of the trans-Canada highway route.

CHASE POST-GATTY RECORD

Pangborn and Herndon About 14 Hours Behind Record

New York, N.Y., Aug. 1—Leaving Moscow at 8.20 E.S.T., yesterday morning Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon were only three hours and 38 minutes behind the time of Wiley Post and Harold Gatty on the same point of their world flight.

At one time yesterday, their average speed was more than 200 miles and 38 minutes behind the record holders' schedule, but they decreased it by gradually flying as fast as Post and Gatty as the capitals of both countries were passed.

Moscow is almost exactly one third of the way around the world from New York. If Pangborn and Herndon should maintain the same speed over the last two thirds as they have over the first third they would finish the trip in a record eight days, 15 hours and 51 minutes by ten hours and 13 minutes.

BREAK WITH W. E. SINCAIR

Parker Charges Sinclair With Sending of Letter

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 1 (CP)—W. N. Ross, Kirkland Lake, Liberal party in Ontario and W. R. P. Parker, vice-president of the Canadian Press, yesterday are carrying on a controversy through press statements, Parker having taken steps to silence the rumor that there is a definite breach between the Liberal forces in Ontario with Mr. Sinclair on the one hand and the leaders of the legislature on one side and Mr. Parker and the Toronto executive of Liberal Association on the other.

Recently Mr. Sinclair is reported to have been sending telegrams to Liberal members advising them not to attend the Liberal meeting held in Toronto by Liberal headquarters. The Hon. Peter Heenan, Liberal Leader in the legislature and the leader of the opposition on all matters touching on Liberal measures, he could say so.

Today Mr. Parker returns to the controversy with a statement that he had a copy of a telegram from Mr. Sinclair to a Liberal stating that he will produce it at the annual meeting of the Liberal Provincial Association in London.

In the meantime Mr. Sinclair is preparing another statement which he says will be issued soon.

So far Mitchell F. Hepburn, M.P., who was chosen Liberal leader in succession to Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, has not declared himself on the matter nor has Mr. Thomas.

GARMENT RACKET BRINGS DEATH

New York, N.Y., Aug. 1.—Abraham Chez the aged murder of Isadore Rosenfeld in New York today as police, still without tangible clues sought the gunman who fired into a group of children Tuesday night, killing one and wounding four others.

Today's victim was Guido Ferretti, 26 years old. He was shot down in front of his home as he left his automobile, parked in front of his home. Witnesses said the murder to racketeers in the garment trades.

Fraying Ends

By Jasper B. Sinclair

Luigi Parodi climbed the creaking stairs and went down the hallway in only the faintest gas jet. He fumbled with the lock of a door that finally yielded to his efforts. Then he entered his top floor room.

Luigi genius had the black case he was carrying on one end of the bed and sat down at the other without changing his frayed hat or shabbier coat.

He sat there enough on the creaky bed so that his lean fingers could reach the latch of the case that contained Luigi's one prized possession—his violin.

It was dark in his room, for the simple reason that Luigi had been too poor to pay for light used for several months past. A little later a street corner light shone in through his window, lighting its drab corners. Already the sky was beginning over the housetops, where the moon was soon to appear.

But Luigi shrugged his shoulders at waiting. He was not romantic at the moonlight. By the time it shines into his squalid room he will be far beyond such earthly things. For Luigi had determined that the strug-gle of life had become too intense.

He smiled in the dark of his room, as his hand rested lightly on that black case. Life meant so little now, where once it had meant so much.

In his threescore years he had known poverty, then wealth and applause, and again poverty. He could not call to mind sudden transitions. It was life! From that there was no escape.

Unwittingly Luigi loosened the clasps of that black case. He took his violin and held it a moment across his knee.

"After all," he thought, "should I not play just one more selection before . . ."

He nodded silent assent, picked bow out of the case, and raised the violin to his chin.

Luigi did not need the glare of footlights to play his violin. He could play it well in the darkness of his room, or beneath the blinding glare of lights. He had so often done of late.

He tuned it with care his bow softly over the strings, former memories were awakened. Memories of Florence and Milan, when he had risen to fame from the poor child of a peasant to the shepherd boy. Later he had crossed the Atlantic and landed into New York . . . the Vienna of Schubert and Strauss. He had played and received Beethoven in later life.

Luigi started at the recollection. Even now it was the First Movement from Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata" that he was playing. In Vienna, in gay Vienna of long ago, he had been asked to improvise, and Luigi string them to prolonged applause.

He had improvised then, in the future of a requiem. When the piece was finished, a woman had come to please this time. Instead he would never do!

Luigi trembled at that thought. Parting with his violin was like parting from life. He had kept it always, despite the troubles that had beset him. Even in his poorest days he had been sorely tempted to pawn it for food, but he had never done so. But he had resolutely resisted even that temptation. Now he could not understand that phase of Luigi's character.

For his instant Luigi faltered in his playing. He loved his violin. He loved it with an effort he resisted. He refused to let himself love it. He would find its way into pawnshop or second-hand store. Luigi shuddered at that thought. His violin. No, that would never do!

The "Moonlight Sonata" was finished. Instead Luigi lowered his violin, resting it across his knees caressing it. He remembered that he had played his violin not alone for his own pleasure, but for the delight that his playing gave to others. That was the secret of his past success. The magic touch had been a gift to bring joy to others.

The moonbeams stealthily entered his room as the sat in deep thought, shining over his shoulders and glinting against the strings of his violin. Moonlight fonata! The strings of his violin were bathed with the moonlight, as he had drawn the melodic strains of the "Moonlight Sonata" from them with nimble fingers.

That decided Luigi; that, and the thought that his violin had for so long been a source of pleasure and pleasure to countless thousands. To lay it aside now would be a cowardly thing.

Quickly he put the violin and bow back in the black case, shut its clasps and rose eagerly to his feet. With a light heart Luigi left the room, descended the darkened stairways and went out on the sidewalk.

A few blocks away he stopped on a street corner. Light hearted crowds were coming out of the theatre and movies, filling the sidewalks with their chattering groups. But none were as light hearted as Luigi's. He took his violin from its case and began playing again the "Moonlight Sonata."

And tonight Luigi Parodi played as finely and as humanly as he had ever done in old Florence or Vienna. People stopped to listen, as they often had before. Coins clinked into his frayed hat. Luigi nodded pleasantly, without slackening his playing.

His beloved violin was again bring-ing joy to others and Luigi smiled at the thought that playing it aside while he was capable of joy-ful giving.

Armed to Teeth Children Arrested

Brunswick, Ga., Aug. 1.—Six children, the oldest only 13, ridiculed in a storm automobile after they were found armed with two pistols, several bowie knives and a large supply of ammunition, were held here today.

"I don't know what the idea is," chief of Police J. E. Register said. "They certainly are a bad bunch. I haven't one bit afraid of policemen and seem to delight in trouble."

The children were held for Lake-land, Fla., police where officials said they were from that city and announced the father of them was a citrus fruit grower of his automobile.

They gave their names as Vera Simmons, 13, who declared she was going on to South Carolina to visit relatives, Dudley Buckalew, 12, driving the new Ford sedan military from his father's garage; Sollie Sim-mons, 11, Vera's brother; Sam Wentzee, 12; James Collins, 11, and Peggy Teagarden, 12.

Police admitted they were baffled by the children who despite their tender ages refused contempt for policemen and their methods of questioning.

"They had a total of nine cents in money," Chief Register said, "and they had a lot of baggage, enough for a long journey. He said he had not been able to learn where they obtained the weapons.

JOHN DILLON DEAD OF FALL

Londoner Was Independent Wholesale Grocer

Some weeks ago, Mr. Dillon suffered serious injuries in a fall, complications set in, resulting in his death early this morning. Mr. Dillon was born in London on May 14, 1854. He was the son of the late Rev. M. M. Dillon, who was a major in the 7th regiment, a corps of British regulars then stationed in London. In his early youth, he moved with his parents to the State of Louisiana and lived in British Antigua Islands and Fredricton City. He was one of the best known independent wholesale grocers in Canada.

ANNUAL EXPOSITION
WORLD PROMINENCE

"One geeing is worth a hundred rellings," —a Chinese proverb excremely apt in its application to the Canadian National Exhibition.

Huge, costly, permanent buildings housing displays from the ends of the earth are not like gems in an exquisitely landcaped 350-acre park along a mile and a half of Lake Ontario's shore. Over seven miles of paved highways wind about the many beautiful structures and the hundreds of ongoing attractions.

Throughout the entire fourteen days of the fifty-third Canadian National Exhibition there will be famous, displays, sport afloat and ashore, art, music and performances of magnificence and charm.

Make Toronto your rendezvous during the Canadian National Exhibition, Aug. 28 to Sept. 12. Special travel rates have been special reduced rates by boat, train or bus. Send for literature describing this year's Exhibition.

FORTUNE-TELLING

Fortune telling costs the United States one hundred and twenty-five million dollars a year besides disrupting homes, according to Julian Proskauer, a trustee of the magicians' society, in regard to the war of the association against fortune tellers, palmists, soothsayers, clairvoyants and necromancers. Their stock in trade is not depressions but good news. It is said that most people who frequent the fortune tellers are those who are out-and-out scoffers and do not believe in the power to forecast events but enjoy the predictions as a sport or amusement.

Hamilton Spectator does not think the fortune teller breaks up many homes, and says that there are convincing theories that the planting of optimistic thoughts in the minds of those who frequent those who forecast the future, may actually be good for those who some even though they are paying for quackery. The Spectator fears that the quack may stoop to the means of telling depressing forecasts and so revenge himself on the world.

A NEW CHURCH.

In these days of dethroning of so many institutions, it is pleasing to see that church foundations still continue to be laid. On Thursday of this week His Lordship Bishop Seager laid the cornerstone of Herchimer Avenue Anglican mission. The new church is to be the result of the missionary zeal of St. Thomas' Church.

Missionary zeal is a good thing, especially at home. for home is so often the last place to be thought of. But evidently it is not the case in St Thomas' parish.

This is the first mission of a series to be erected by the Church of England in this diocese, which fact testifies to the growth of the church and of the demand upon the church accommodation to hold the worshippers.

An Archbishop put it, "Christianity is not a sentiment, it is action". That should not be forgotten. Religion is action not a vague sentiment.

The churches hereabouts have shown resistence to the movement away from their burch which is almost universally experienced. It is a pleasing fact that one of the churches requires expansion. This may be the start of a return to a sane attitude towards the church.

GANGSTERDOM SPREADING?

A second murder in New York with a racket behind it is enough to stir the city to action that will not rest until some one is brought to justice. Yesterday's murder is supposed to be the open flat defination of a garment racket. A few days ago gangsters, using a machine gun to kill an enemy, killed in a bid the intended victim, but fatally wounded a child.

Chicago has been the worst place in the United States for gangsters and Newyork has never had anything like it. But the events of the present week are enough to give the citizens of the city cause to think what is just ahead if things keep getting worse. No city would like to emulate the days of the past when both Chicago and New York may be depended upon to hunt the murderers to their lair.

PROGRESS FOLLOWS PROGRESS

From the Dark Ages to the present there has been a slow struggle by those countries which led the march toward freedom and democratic usages —in government. In their march they left in secluded corners of the earth isolated races and nations who clung to archaic and ancient forms of government and education. Yet, when the moment arises that any one of these nations to emerge from the darkness, it found the road already marked and mapped. In a few brief years each nation may go far toward catching up with the march of progress. Witness Japan's emergence from isolation. Witness the new Turkey.

Once let a people waken to the fact that they are lagging, and immediately all the progress of others becomes their own. Beneath the very competitive efforts of nations there is an essential cooperation.

A tried and proven theory that brings prosperity and happiness to one is immediately the property of all, for such a rule operates regardless of barriers or boundaries.—C.S. Monitor.

ATTACKING CANCER THE SCORPION

THE PROMISE
By Aline Michaelis

I am so sure of joys
Which some day must be mine,
I do not doubt them any more
Than that the sun will shine.

A still voice sings within,
Sings on and will not cease,
And something in its measures brings
A surety of peace.

The bridge of care leads on
To meadows of delight;
Though straight the way I journey now,
My wings are preened for flight.

I know the spring returns
When surly winter goes,
And so my soul denies defeat
Through its December snows.

SOME CHICAGO FOLKS motoring through Canada, visited friends in Belleville recently. They were bantered about the gangster element in Chicago and comparative immunity of crooks of all kinds from quick or any other kind of justice. This they took in good fun and admitted it was good to be in Canada where the burglar does not break through and steal, and neither rust or coin of the realm can corrupt the minions of the law. They went on to Montreal and Quebec and a letter received from Montreal indicates that someone tried to make their visit homelike by entering their room at the hotel and removing cash and travelers checks without waking them up. One hundred dollars in cash and a considerable sum in travellers checks were gone. Speaking about the Canadian law the writer said: "They certainly were marvellous about it and caught the man in the same hotel trying to negotiate one of the checks. We had to stay over to appear at court, but at the expense of the express company who also made good all the checks. Our trip to Canada has been marvellous outside of that bit of unpleasantness, but even that is but a memory now, and we are so glad we didn't waks up while our visitor was present. Canada law is swift and exceedingly sure."

SOME TALL STORIES are going the rounds about reporters, particularly of the "cub" variety. Be it known that a cub reporter occupies the same relative standing as a "Printer's devil", being the youngest member of that particular department. However, to go on with the story, British Columbia sent out a tale of a cub reporter of considerable altitude (six feet, eight inches) and claimed the championship of the world. The cub slid off the belt but a short time for the Owen Sound Sun-Times broadcast a photo of their cub reporter, who is considerably nearer the sun than most newspaper men, over six feet nine and still growing, and a friend of the Flesherton Advocate newspaper stock, if ever there was any.

MODERN ETIQUETTE
By Roberta Lee

Q.—Is there any cause for embarrassment if one is compelled to ask a person his name in order to introduce him?

Q.—If one is asked to "fill a place" at dinner, must he accept?

A.—Yes; he is rather obligated by the rules of good manners to accept, if possible.

Other Papers' Opinions

THEIR GUNS KNOW NO MERCY.

Some American newspapers have been condemning the practice of referring to the cowardly bootleggers and racketeers who shoot rivals in the back from the vantage point of armored motor cars furnished them by the illicit liquor barons, as the dirty. The point made is that no genuine bandit or outlaw would commit such despicable offences. Color is lent to this editorial protest by the recent event in New York, when a carload of gunmen, representing a liquor racket, discharged volley from machine guns at a rival, before whom were playing scores of little children. The cowards, masquerading as bravest bent on murder, shot down five of the little children, one valley from the machine gun going through a baby carriage in which was a crying infant. The crime places these men on the lowest criminal scale; they are cowards without a speck of mercy in their make-up. In an effort to get at a rival gangster, they are ready to murder inoffensive children.

In the past few years the criminals have had resort to machine guns. Where do these come from? It is expected that at the end of the Great War the United States government sold 15,000 machine guns to a sporting goods establishment, and, according to the New York police, many of these weapons were purchased by criminals. The police investigated and learned that 7,000 of the machine guns had been sold, and within a year a check was made on as many as 7th, most of which had been sent to fictitious addresses. They are in the hands of criminals and are being used.—Montreal Gazette.

JUSTICE LAGS HERE

It is nearly two years since Lionel Fontaine and Ernest Lacasse, two Ottawa youths, were charged with the hold-up of a daily driver in Rockcliffe Park and sentenced to three years to the penitentiary. Six months later, in April, 1930, two others confessed to the crime.

A motion to release Fontaine and Lacasse were released on ticket-of-leave by the department of justice. Even the department at that time, did it was something less than justice for the wrongly-convicted pair. So a new trial was ordered, and in November, 1930, Fontaine and Lacasse were honorably acquitted.

But even then justice was not done these innocent young men. They were entitled to some compensation for having spent seven months in prison, knowing that they were not guilty. When their new trial came up, they had to engage counsel, which cost them a big economic sense has also to be considered.

Fontaine and Lacasse are still waiting for the wheels of government concerning compensation. It is probable that if they were residential citizens they would not have to wait, as certainly they would not have been convicted in the first place. Is it not time that these young men were given the justice they needs? The miscarriage of justice already cost them dear. It is now aggravated by continued withholding of compensation.—Montreal Star.

BROUGHT THEIR SAVINGS TO A CANADIAN BANK

A despatch from St. Thomas tells of a young couple from the United States who recently visited that city and who brought with them their entire savings, which they placed in one of the banks at St. Thomas. The young couple explained to the bank clerk that they had lost some of their savings in the American banking fiasc, Mich., and had grave fears for the balance of their savings unless they had brought it to Canada.

While our Canadian banks perhaps have a lot to answer for, we in Canada perhaps do not appreciate them as much as we should during periods of depression. Over on the other side of the border a number of bank failures this year has been appalling and the heavy losses among private citizens has been staggering in proportion.

Here in Canada a bank failure is a very rare occurrence, and depositing savings in one of our Chartered Banks, Government, Savings Offices or Loan Companies is the surest assure of the return of his money.—Owen Sound Sun-Times.

WHERE WILL THEY END?

On Tuesday morning this week, just before 5 a.m., Messrs. Russell Boardman and John Polando set off in a monoplane from New York. At 6:18 a.m. today they landed at Istanbul, in Turkey, five thousand miles distant. This is the longest non-stop flight recorded to date. But it is quite possible that it may be excelled before long. There is no indeed, there is nothing inherently impossible in the idea that somebody will shortly fly from New York to Karachi.

What good this is going to do the present world-wide depression, it is impossible to say. What immediate benefit it may bring anybody, even, cannot be foreseen. But so long as man contains within himself the urge to go and dare and conquer, so long will flyers set off for parts unknown and either come back or drop into oblivion. The normal individual, with average natural endowments, can only read and marvel, for none but herculean constitutions can stand the strain of these amazing flights hurtling through space, flying blind, attempting to compass to pull them through.—Montreal Star.

There are one hundred and twenty-five planes in use in Japan.

LITTLE BENNY
By LEE PAPE

Pop was smoking and thinking and ma was half ways through the cross word I had a ideer, saying, Hay ma, hay pop, is it true that children need lots of sleep because thats the time they grow.

Yes indeed, ma sed. Sleep is one of nature's naturel blessings to mankind, and the person that duzzent get enough of it will soon find that they cant get too much of it, she sed.

Thats fine, good old sleep, pop sed. It gives the red corpusles time to catch up to their little white playmates, it does a nitely job of carpentry on the worn out tissues, and I shouldent be serprised if it was full of vitamines A, B, C, D. E. and possibly F, he sed

And how about making you grow, dont you grow in your sleep? I sed

I bleeve you do, if necessery, pop sed, and I sed, Well its necessery for me all rite, I got a long ways to go yet, so how's this for a ideer, pop? When skool starts again how would it be if I slept every morning until I woke up naturelly. Instead of having my health spoiled and my growth stumped by being woke up by force? I sed.

My lands such an ideer, ma sed. And I sippose you think it would be quite all rite to be an hour late for skool every morning, she sed, and I sed, Well what I missed in ecuation Id make up in size and healthiness.

The boy has a good theory there, pop sed. Me thinking, G, herray, and pop sed, I think he awt to try it out with a site modification. In other words, instead of sleeping an hour later, let him go to bed an hour erlier, and that way he'll get the extr sleep and still not miss any skooling, he sed.

Me thinking, Good nite, heck. And I sed, I'll anyways, maybe I'll get a true about growing if your lucky, I dont bleeve anybody ever axually proved it.

And I dident say any more about it and dont intend to.

I hope, however, that I will not be misunderstood. I do not mean to imply that all spare time must be devoted to study or additional work. On the contrary, rest is necessary, in fact it is essential to a well-balanced life of normal life. And so is sleep—an amount that will restore body and mind.

But the point is that so many of us could do so much with our spare time if only we gave the matter a little real thought and consideration.

CRIME IN U. S.

It seems that conditions must grow worse until the common people of the United States have been aroused as they have not yet been aroused. For one that about the only crime for which gangsters are brought to book is the failure to pay their income taxes. They are aware that gangsters owe their immunity to their association with political machines, and to corrupt police and corrupt magistrates, who are also the tools of politicians. When the people of the United States have been goaded by the instinct of self-preservation into realizing the chaos into which such conditions lead, and may be expected to clean up the whole mess of crooked politicians, police and gangsters in a grand housecleaning. Then, and not till then, will the gangster menace be ended and ended properly and definitely.—Toronto Telegram.

How Do You Use Your Spare Time

BY LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D.,
FAMOUS AUTHORITY ON HEALTH AND PSYCHOLOGY

In a speech a few weeks ago, President Hoover talked of the need of leisure and our preparation for it. In other words, his thought was that modern machinery and increased production of wealth put man and woman time to do what he wants and what is best for him.

Is that is and highly desirable; most of us have spare time, or can arrange for such leisure. Even the busiest business man has spare time! Also the busy housewife, the office worker, every kind of individual we talk of life.

What I mean is that, despite the strenuousness and time-consuming nature of your work, there are always a few minutes, if not hours, that are wasted and that can be used for self-improvement. It is amazing how much one can achieve in the day of added accomplishment by the systematic and studied use of a few minutes each day.

What can you accomplish in spare time? Why not try and see what a few minutes each day will lead to? Is there anything you have been wanting to do for years, but which you have put off because you claim you lack time? Maybe you wish you had more time for reading. Perhaps you have a burning desire to write.

The fact of the matter is that you can do these things provided you put your mind and energy to the task. By devoting a certain amount of time, no matter how little, to writing a novel or play, for instance, you will be astonished how quickly the pages pile up and the task gets finished.

There are so many enjoyments that we deny ourselves because of failure to realize the cumulative effect of a little time each day. There is exercise in the open air, or music, or photography, and a hundred other pastimes, that can add so much pleasure and relaxation to our daily grind—and of which can be indulged if we would but study the problem a little and plan a method of attack.

Many persons start off with enthusiasm but quit too soon. It is because they do not stick at it day in and day out. If they did, a new habit would soon be form—the habit of making most of spare time, then once we get a going, it is easy. The hardest part is to start. Overcome your initial inertiness—by thinking, planning, perhaps one big push of effort and will power. Having overcome your own resistance, you speed along quite without effort.

But you must think it all out ahead of time. Make a daily or weekly schedule by which to work. Give up jumping from this thing to that in a haphazard and thought less sort of way. Know what you want to do and set about doing it in the most expeditious manner.

Among the world's greatest men and women are those who educated themselves and actually became outstanding figures simply because they made efficient use of their spare time. Lincoln was one of these. At the present day, many of our leaders in thought, business, the professions and in government are individuals who knew how best to use the time left over after the routine work had been done.

The educational influence of motion pictures has eliminated the 'hick' type from small town life.—Will H. Hays.

DUTCH PASSION PLAY AT TEGELEN VILLAGE

New Passion Play, Written by a Catholic Poet, Performed First Time This Year

THE HAGUE, Holland, A Dutch Passion Play, produced this year for the first time, has attracted considerable interest. It was written by A. van Delft, a well-known Catholic poet, and the scene of the play is Tegelen, a village in North Limburg, near Roermond. The play is a mixture of verse and prose, a considerable proportion of the latter being quotations from the author's Dutch predecessor, and Guido Gezelle, the poet who last century revived Flemish as a literary language. All these influences may be good, however, and van Delft is sufficiently a poet, and not a mere imitator, to be master, not by them without losing his individuality.

The named roles number no fewer than 30, and the persons taking part will over 300. All of these are amateurs, except the Christus and Oberammergau, in the local trades. Naturally the principal part is that of Christ, and the amateur actor, who filled it did so with a dignity, calm and reserve that was complete simplicity. The mother of Jesus is a comparatively small role, and is somewhat overshadowed by that of Mary Magdalene, whose hysterical demands dramatic qualities from its interpreter which were possessed in full by the lady who filled in, while Herod, Salome, the Apostles and the Roman soldiers were played with a fitness that was highly creditable. And the general ensemble and play of the crowds were generally good.

The most obvious defect in the production was that it had a tendency to drag scenes which at two or three points led to unintended comic effects. The music, too, was insufficiently broad for outdoor performance and the accompaniment of a harmonium too weak. Some of the singing was effective, however, as well as a striking example of what can be done by careful organization and "folk-drama." this experiment, which is to be continued for several weeks, may be pronounced definitely a success.

At Tegelen an open-air theatre was opened some time ago, and where regular annual performances of plays of a more or less religious character have taken place. A play on St. Francis of Assisi opened the series.

A CRAZY STUNT

Betty Fox, 23, is shown descending from a Battle Creek, Mich., flagpole, after perching there until she had established a new record of 126 hours. After setting the new mark she went to sleep in a shoe window of a main street store in front of a large crowd of spectators who cheered lustily every time she opened her eyes—and promptly went to sleep again.

LIGHT COATS AND JACKETS

By Betty Travsles

Today we picture a very practical and lovely wrap of silk in a light shade of yellow. This model is full length and features a graceful two-tiered cape. The half-belt, finished with a ruffle, is new and summery.

This coat is designed for afternoon wear and looks well with either dark or light clothes. The accessories you select for wear with this should match your frock —that is, your gloves, shoes and hat should be of the same color as your frock.

With the three-quarter coat sleeve, the gloves should be either six or eight button length, and preferably the slip-on model.

Again I urge you to choose your accessories with care and judgement, since they are so important in the completed picture.

HANDWRITTEN ANNOUNCEMENTS

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please advise me as to whether or not it is proper to send out handwritten wedding announcements? I am quite certain that this is correct for wedding invitations, but am not sure that it also applies to wedding announcements.

LILLIAN.

I have never seen hand-written wedding announcements, and I don't advise you to send them. Informal wedding invitations are correct, written as letters, in the first person. And it would seem the best taste to write the announcements as informal notes, too, if you cannot have them engraved.

NAPKINS AT DINNER

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

When I go out to dinner, on which side of the plate should I put my napkin?

WANTS TO KNOW.

Leave your napkin if you are dining in a restaurant or in a home for the one meal only, just as it is, unfolded I mean, on the left of the plate. Or it really isn't any crime to leave it on the right of the plate, if there is more room there. If you are in a home, and will be there for several meals, watch your hostess, and do with your napkin what she does with hers.

TUXEDO ONLY FOR EVENING

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please tell me if I can wear a Tuxedo to an afternoon dance?

EDGAR.

No, sir. The tuxedo is correct for an informal evening dance, but should never be worn before six-thirty in the evening, at the very earliest. Seven o'clock is better.

TO UNVEIL TODAY PERRY MONUMENT

Put-in-Bay, Ohio, Aug 1—A high granite shaft erect on the shores of Lake Erie in honor of Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry's famous victory over the British fleet in the war of 1812, will be formally dedicated today with peace imbued of war as the keynote.

The monument, opened in an incomplete state 16 years ago, stands as a triple memorial to Perry's victory, the northwestern campaign of General William Henry Harrison in the war of 1812, and the more than a century of peace which since has existed between the United States and Great Britain.

Today Governor George White of Ohio represents states of other states which contributed to the erection of the memorial stone of the Perry's National Perry's Victory Memorial Commission will embark from the mainland at Sandusky on board the U.S.S. Wilmington. High officials of United States and Canada also will attend the dedicatory ceremonies.

Cass R. Howard and A. W. J. Pfau will represent the Canadian Club of New York.

The monument stands 352 feet high and overlooks both the scene of Perry's victory and the boundary dividing the Canadian and American waters of Lake Erie.

Sun Beam Can Eclipse Gallant Fox's Record

Chicago, Aug. 1 (By Charles Dunjey) — Gallant old Sun Beau has a chance today to become the greatest money winning race horse in the annals of the turf.

This six year old campaigner, own ed by Willis Sharpe Kilmer of Binghampton, N.Y., if victorious in the $36,000 Arlington handicap, will eclipse the record established last year by the three year old sensation Gallant Fox. Sun Beau to date has won $302,744, and if he poles his home across the line, winner of the handicap, his total earnings will be $332,554, equaling the record of $336,165 won by Gallant Fox.

A PAINTER'S PROBLEM

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I'm a painter by trade, and therefore, with mixing paint and turpentine. I have a slight odor of some about me which I cannot get rid of by the time I get home. So my wife makes it very unpleasant for me with her constant remarks about it. I wouldn't mind so much, but she does it even in front of my friends. Sometimes I think it would be best for me to leave her. Please try to help me to decide what I should do.

A. T.

I may say in justification of your wife's antipathy for the smell of paint that your constant contact with the smell has dulled your perceptions I certainly would not advise you to leave on this account. Make another effort to get rid of the odor. Have you tried leaving your overalls at the place where you work, and changing your outer garments when you come home? I might suggest further that perhaps at the paint store they might tell you about "killing the odor of paint."

NOT REALLY NECESSARY

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I have a problem which confronts not only me, but some of my friends as well. I recently quit going with a boy with whom I had kept company for a year, and am now going with someone else. For a Christmas present he gave me a watch. Now do you think I should return this watch since we have broken up? Do you think it would be all right to include a little note, making it very friendly, stating that I have enjoyed his company and that we will always be friends, for we are still on friendly terms?

JUST ME.

Since watches are supposed to be valuable, I should be in better taste to return it. Next time you see the young man make some casual remark about sending it back. And you're very sensible to keep up friendly terms with him.

The Beauty Box

By Helen Follett

Laughter is the best light that lights up the beauty scenery. It shines and polishes the eyes. It strengthens the facial muscles, keeps them strong. It is an exercise that is good for the soul and the complexion. It helps digestion, youthifies, staves off signs of advancing years. That Mrs. Nature knows us to the power to smile, and laugh, to find life stimulating and joyous was one of her wise provisions.

Clean hair glistens, shines forth like a good deed. When the rinsing is not thorough the hair shafts carry a grey, dull film and in a few days it looks lifeless and oily. When soapscum has been left in the brush it may be responsible, if it is necessary to use eggs to remove it. Beat six eggs slightly, adding a tablespoonful of cold water. Apply half the portion of eggs, frictionally, briskly, rinse use more eggs, rinse again.

Foul, stale air is narcotic poison In a room that is not properly ventilated the cheeks flush, nerves suffer from excitement, the skin takes on a greyness, a feeling of lassitude descends upon one. A brisk walk every day should be on every girl's beauty program. Her lungs will laugh and be happy, she will enjoy a sense of well-being, digestive organs will be benefitted, the figure will take on more supple lines.

PFTES AND NATS. DEADLOCK 4-4 AFTER LOCALS STAGE RALLY.

Come From Behind, When Cause Seemed Lost. Kitchen and "Hoot" Gibson Engage in Hurling Duel With Pete's Hurler Having Best of Argument. Locals Were Outhit Ten to Nine But Made the Most Single Count. "Sunny" Green Provided Double That Knotted Count Besides Playing Fine Fielding Game.

By C.D.T.

Coming from behind with a three run rally in the sixth frame, after being scoring a counter in the fourth, the Belleville Nationals evened the count with the Petes at 4-4 and umpire Kay obliged by calling the contest in the tenth frame, after two of the Petes had been retired. Jammed as was fast spreading over the diamond and it would have been impossible for the Nats to conclude their time at bat. The fans were left perfectly satisfied with the decision as Belleville were fortunate to even the count. The tie will not affect the local's chance as the winning of one more game out of five will insure them a berth in the play-off series but to Peterboro it gave a life as they still have a slim circle.

Kitchen Eased Up

"Russ Kitchen is practically responsible for the win as he eased up after his team had secured four runs and was not pressed in the sixth frame. Although Belleville had scored one run in the fourth, the Petes were riding on the crest and with Kitchen pitching almost invincible they had the Petes thought the game was "in the bag." There is nobler sport than to watch a hoss race or a ball game and Kitchen just took too many liberties with the murderer's row, of the Nats and they finally caught him. Kitchen deserved to win the game for he pitched a smart one-hit. He whiffed no less than eleven of the opponents, which is not a bad afternoon's work, and he walked but one batter. His team mates gave him perfect support as they outhitting the locals but they could not secure their hits when they counted and that is what wins ball games.

Sunny Green a Frame

Tommy Painter started the game for the locals but he served at the ball field in no condition to do either himself or his team justice. He was relieved in the first frame he stepped unscathed in the first frame and when the second opponent batted "Hoot" Gibson walked to the mound Walter Gerow, the manager, not being willing to take a chance as he is playing for every game. Gibson has finished ball games than the one he was in last night but his team mates came through with the pitches and once he was on even terms with the hurler he was all over the ball was going strong on end. better and was going strong on end. He struck out six of the opponents but his curves were not good, he walking five of the Petes, a something unusual for him. Two of these free trips were turned into counters. The Nats fielded errorlessly behind him especially "Sunny" Green at shortstop for having only eight chances without a skip and starting a double play that almost clipped Batten off second. 0 runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

Darrah struck out. Gibson doubled to Kitchen. Kitchen doubled to Batten. 0 runs, 2 hits, 0 errors.

4th Innings

PEARCE EASY WINNER OVER U.S. OARSMAN

Joe Wright, Pearce and Myers Meet Tonight

Regatta Course, St. Catharines, Ont., Aug. 1 (CP)—Bobby Pearce of Hamilton, Ont., the Olympic and British Empire champion single sculler, vanquished Miller in the semi-finals of the championship single sculls at the Royal Canadian Henley Regatta Friday afternoon.

The Pearce-Miller clash was the feature of the whole day. Pearce will meet Joe Wright Jr. of Toronto in the final of the Diamond while the former holder of the Diamonds will meet Pearce won at the Royal Henley early this morning and Ken Myers of Philadelphia in the championship singles final this afternoon.

Bobby Pearce had little trouble beating the United States champion, winning by three lengths and not being extended at that. Miller, however, Ken Myers proved a real threat to the Olympic champion before he settled down to the task of the finish. Wright winning the Diamond Sculls by a length of Winnipeg was eliminated in the first heat.

Hamilton Crew Won

Detroit having scratched and the dilnes of Hamilton, the only double to start, the first heat of the 150-pound senior eights Friday between by Hamilton Leanders and St. Catharines Argonauts. The Hamilton crew which had been unable to reach the start in time in the "repechage" class easily. The juniors kept well up for a mile and then fell away, Hamilton finally winning by three lengths.

In the second heat of the 150-pound senior eights Buffalo Westerns had a walk-over, the feet over the Credit Penn. A. C. eight (from Philadelphia, Pa.) not having started, finishing third, were eliminated. The Buffalo crew got away to a flying start and Penna. hung on doggedly and when the finishing spurt came at the end of the course qualifying for the final.

Joe Wright of Toronto, former holder of the Diamond Sculls, won his way into the finals of the single in the championship singles, one of the features of the day's racing. Wright defeated Ken Myers of Bachelor Barge Club of Philadelphia in the semi-finals, by a length, but R. W. Richards of Winnipeg, the third starter, was disqualified for fouling. The slight lead at the half mile over Richards with Myers pressing on to the mile, however, Myers pulled up to Richards and passed him to defeat Wright. They put on a great duel in the last half mile, Myers finishing now-ing evenly. Three hundred yards from the finish Wright had a length to the good with Richards six lengths behind Myers and Myers pressing hard on Wright. A slight lead at the finish.

An Easy Winner

The other heat of the championship singles was a duel between Bobby Pearce, Hamilton Y.M.C.A. of Philadelphia, U. S. national champion. Pearce, who is favored to win, now hails from Hamilton, older of the British Empire and British Empire titles, proved an easy winner by three lengths. He was pressed for even terms for the first half mile but Pearce opened up in the last quarter mile edged into the finish quarter mile edged into a length lead and rowing steadily to finish three lengths. Having an uncomfortable throwback. At the mile Pearce was a length to the good and in front and 500 yards from the finish had a three length lead. Rowing well within himself Pearce increased over the last half mile by lengths. He waited for Miller to cross the line, then waved to congratulate the judge singles winner, Miller finishing third.

With the weather conditions were less oppressive for the second program, which consisted of all except two being heats in preparation for tomorrow's senior eight-oared race, crews were refreshed by an up-course breeze which helped to make conditions more ever to affect the surface of the Welland-Niagara canal.

Besides Stark, McMillan and Wallace, the crew of J. W. Alexander of Detroit and R. Ingraham of Saint John, N.B., in the four-oared shell events. The Detroit man flashed into an early lead but after the end of the first half mile Wallace had evened it up. Five hundred yards from the finish Wallace set to work to gain a slight lead, rowing comfortably within himself and he finished a safe winner while Ingraham was pressing Wallace for second honors. Wehmeier was fourth and Ingraham last.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Danny Taylor, Cubs—Led attack on Cardinals with two triples and single, driving in two runs and batting four.

Babe Herman, Robins— Doubled in ninth to drive in two runs that beat Phillies.

Socks Seibold, Braves — Held the Giants to six hits in 13 innings to win 4-2.

Remy Kremer, Pirates — Held the Reds to six hits, drove in two runs with double and won 5-0.

Babe Ruth, Yankees — Clouted Red Sox pitching for two doubles and a single in two runs and scoring one.

On the Sport Trail

Three of the Kingston C.O.B.L. ball team were noticed sitting in on the game last night between Belleville and Bellerille and we would like it all about. It is rumored a little bird told the Kingston club would like to go on record of getting the runner in his infancy. The writer has followed the ball club for some years past and never once has there ever been even a tinge of helping the other fellow. The Nats are out to win the C.O.B.L. pennant to add to their long list of successes and they are not particular as to who finishes second, will be in the play-off, they are going to take either team. Probably the Kingston players at the game last night are convinced that Belleville is trying, when they staged their batting rally in the fourth frame to even the count.

On Monday the sea flees will perform at the country club and from the arrangements now made one of the best afternoons of sport ever to be given in this district will result. The course has been marked out, the boys placed and all is in readiness. The committee in charge have received notice from Tommy McClure, commodore of the National Yacht Club that every effort of importance in the Province will be on hand and will drive their boats to the limit for the valuable prizes that are offered. Besides the outside entries there will be races for boats owned on the Bay of Quinte, both sea fleas and runabouts. The crowd will be able to have an unobstructed view of the whole course and no more thrilling afternoon could be obtained.

There will be staged at the Country Club also on Monday a tennis tournament for clubs representing the Bay of Quinte district and in the hand and in the list will be some of the best players in this section. The tournament is scheduled to start at 10 o'clock Monday morning and will be continued to lunch at the noon hour.

Baseball fans should not pass up the intermediate ball game on Monday afternoon. Picton will be the opposition against the Victorias and the locals should win easy. Only with three hits Ryan has come through and again against Sulphide they can tie with the Victorias for first place. Cole will start for the Prince Edward team and there is more chance than any hurler in these parts and once this year struck out fifteen men in a regulation contest. The intermediate team has the support of the ball fans in this district as they have carried on under adverse circumstances.

By the way—The hunker isn't responsible for all the lies in pool.

The lady members of the Country Club staged a nice friendly game up at Trenton the other day and it was a game of fact it was as friendly as the game of the local ladies' golf club at the Belleville Club.

I have been told that there is a sign up at the Institute forbidding swearing as a swimming allowed." It is too bad that the presence of the ladies prevented about the best place near Belleville to swim.

Swimmers that like to "dive in" can have plenty of enjoyment at the Institute dock, there is also a nice shallow section for the kiddies, so it is too bad that the best swimmers are not at their favourite "swimmin' hole." I could not help but see a lot of this evening.

The scene is all set for the "see-fi-a" races on the holiday. The entries have all come in and a big day is expected by all.

All we need to make it a perfect day is to see some of the Belleville boys in the "flip-turns" and land in the happy waters of the Bay of Quinte.

Although I never saw one of these so called "water polo" games I am told that March tells us that it is great sport and Lou should arrange a match for us.

The Old Boy's Reunion started in Madoc today. They have the management of sports and announced for the home-coming of the former residents, I hear.

On the last day of the regatta, that is Tuesday, they are putting on a championship swimming race under the direction of Elder Mountain of Tweedsmuir. He has guaranteed some real classy swimmers, I hear. Maybe we'll better go and see for ourselves.

The Maple Leafs sprung a surprise when they left from the Frontenacs last night. On Monday they will meet the Maids battle the C.I.A.C.O. girls.

The Maids have won their last four games but they will have to get "in there" and battle for victory with the girls from the C.I.A.C.O. girls.

The fans passed up a real game last night when the "Five" were down to town. It was a real battle from the drop of the ball.

The fans missed a real smart, pitcher's battle when Kitchen and Gibson matched up. But it was a shame the condition in which Tommy Painter appeared at the ball park. Manager Walter Gerow used very good judgment when he "pulled" the local lefthander. If Gerow had have known Painter's condition he would have never started him.

PRINTERS LOSE TO CANNIFTON

At the Queen Mary School grounds last Evening a scheduled game was run off in the Belleville Softball League was played between Canniffon and Printers. The first two innings the game developed into a slugging match, Canniffon emerging from the fracas on the sudden end of a 10-8 count. The second innings which resembled a merry-go-round netted the locals four runs, three of which were tallies, while again in the seventh Canniffon batters collected nine more off of Eggleton's offering. Batteries—Canniffon, Eggleton and Printers came back with a very good game but were outclassed both teams.

The fast nearly-formed league is bound to furnish some real baseball entertainment and local fans are reminded that the home games will be played on the Queen Mary School grounds. The league is composed of Bouchon, Canniffon, Foxboro, Ontario Intelligencer Pub. Co.

EXPORTED SOVEREIGNS

London, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Bank of England today exported 13,000 pounds in sovereigns. Bar silver 19d per ounce. Discount rates: short bills 4 1-8 per cent.; three months 4 1-4 1-4 to 4 5-16 per cent.

Statistics indicate that the automobile dollar of today is worth $1.25 compared with the autogo- bile dollar of 1914.

EXPERIMENTS MAKING GOOD IN LEAGUE

CUBS IN 2nd. PLACE

Danny Taylor Also Has Leaped to be a Bench Warmer

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.)
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Every baseball season brings a certain number of experiments with new players for championship campaign. In 1931 National League campaign it appears probable for the trials which have proved experimental just a bit too late to help the teams into the first division. Two of the Braves and Pittsburgh Pirates, apparently destined for second division finish, furnish a couple of outstanding examples of what experiments in baseball started out with a good many doubtful players at the beginning of the season, a month or so that there still was a week-end left to the season. More players were tried and found wanting until finally Billy Urbanski was pressed into service. Urbanski, recruited to reserve the backstop-ing, another of the season's experiments, has proved a homer to the 4 to 2 triumph, Old Pitts Pirates over the Braves of Boston, limiting the Giants to six hits.

Rookie Leads Attack

Jensen led Pittsburgh's hitting attack behind the six hit hurling of Remy Kremer as the Pirates defeated the Giants, 5 to 0. Jensen's homer, out a double and two singles in four times at bat was the only Pirate counters. Brooklyn and Chicago, yesterday's other National League winners, also had to use the trial and error method in the make-up of lineups settled this season. The Robins defeated Philadelphia in the Pennant fight just about the time they settled on Gordon Richard Phil Finn for second shortstop-second base combination. Finn joined the Robins yesterday with three hits but it was the old reliables, Frederick Heinrich and Lefty Herman who cut loose in the ninth innings and produced the runs that beat the Phillies 8 to 4.

Cubs Stage Rally

Chicago started the season with Danny Taylor on the bench. He has proved an important cog in their attack in recent games. Danny batted out three singles and a triple in three official times at bat and scored two runs yesterday as the Cubs trounced the Cardinals 10 to 3 to even their series at two-all. The victory put Chicago into second place once more, a half game ahead of the defeated Giants and 8½ games behind the Pirates.

American League

Only one game was on the American League program yesterday and it had little bearing upon the championship race. Lefty Tarbox-es clipped a half game off the margin, Detroit's lead, as Washington held over them by taking a 4 to 3 decision. The Senators got but five hits but they remained 13 games behind the league leaders in the season and three games back of the Senators. Babe Ruth came to Washington and aided the honors in the victory, the latter holding the Red Sox to five hits and driving in two runs. Babe by clouting two doubles which scored Ruth and Combs.

Desperado Snipes At Car From Tree

Preston, Aug. 1.—An armed footpad who has taken to sniping at motorists from behind trees in what has thrown terror into residents of the Preston-Blair Road district, was sought today. Doon home from Preston via Blair, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bell, Preston, were travelling slowly near the J. R. Lee farm, they said, when a shot rang out, they said, when a shot rang out, when Mrs. Lawrence noticed a sudden hole in the windshield of the car, a roadside tree.

Mr. Bell, Mrs. Bell, Judd and Irvin, were ineffective but Carlisle Lipkin stopped a ninth inning Rube Bell, Southworth and Tucker his home runs.

Home runs by Poole and Leggett in the fourth, Welch and Bell in the fourth. Welch held the Reds to nine scattered hits while Reading, making only ten off Rowe, Ferrell and Mamaux, had held in the form of five Newark errors.

Rochester and Newark Leafs went seven innings to down Montreal 7 to 1. Davis opened the 11th with a walk, went to second on a sacrifice and scored on Morehart's single. Lefty Claset and Nick Harrison pitched for the Leafs, finishing durl all the way, each permitting only five hits.

Although unable 4 to 7, the Baltimore Orioles beat Jersey City 5 to 3 chiefly because Bill Regan-eratwhile Pittsburgh Pirate second baseman, took his turn in the box and hit a home run with the bases filled in the eighth inning. Up to that time, Ivy Paul Andrews, recruited by the New York Yankees during the day, had blanked the

SYNOPSIS

While the newsboys shouted, "Al Smut the big gang killing," Fanchon Meredith and a man named Tony planned their getaway. Tony gives Fanchon $4,000 and reserve passage for her under the name of "Miss Smith" on an airplane chartered by the wealthy Mr. Ramen enroute to New York. A fellow passenger, whom she had previously met on the boat coming from Hawaii, recognizes Fanchon. She is Evelyn Howard. Evelyn is going to live with the wealthy Mrs. Allison Carstairs, an aunt whom she has never seen. Fanchon envies Evelyn flying to happiness, while she is trying to escape because she was Tony's girl—Tony, who lied his way through life and whom she had innocently accepted on face value. Fanchon confides to Evelyn about her love for Tony. The police are searching for Fanchon, "The Mystery Woman." Fanchon asks Evelyn to enlist her aunt's aid in securing a position for her, but Evelyn becomes aloof. The plane crashes. Fanchon is the only survivor. She decides to masquerade as Evelyn to get a new start in life.

CHAPTER VI

For an hour she had been sitting here, half kneeling, in the soaking rain, not caring. The thin cascade presented itself to her she began to grow frantic. To get up on her feet; to shout feebly; to run about in strange and aimless circles, avoiding always the carnage and the wreckage. Had she been asked to help, to do anything, it would have occupied her. But there was nothing that she could do.

She took off the light coat, the tweed coat. It was soaked through; it was torn and muddy and blood stained. She laid it over Evelyn. She started to walk away. But there was no road. There was no path. She was lost as if she were in a desert and she was alone.

She pushed out away from the thick circle of trees and struggled to the top of a small hill. Smoke stained the sky, far off. There must be a town there, somer'e. But there must be a road.

She would walk as far as she could.

She stumbled along, through underbrush. Trees would hem her in, trees would part and let her through; there would be a stretch of open ground.

The tears fell; her eyes were blind with them. She was thinking, frantically: "I . . . I shall . . . I shall but I must!

Death and disaster had arranged for her an amazing escape. If she dared go through with it. Did she dare?

She would. Anything rather than to be hunted from place to post; dreading every stranger; shrinking from every uniformed representative of the law; fearing to see Tony again. Tony who had used her for his wealth never let her go; only because he loved her, because he desired her and had kept that desire to clutch, but because she knew her too much. She was, in her own person, irrevocably committed to Tony.

If he found her, if he demanded that she marry him and she refused, she would have no peace, could feel no safety. Tony was, she now knew, crafty, vindictive, striking from the dark, concerned only with the dangerous, selfish love he had made and with no other.

But in the person of Evelyn Howard, with "Miss Smith" dead, she was safe . . . for all time . . . from Tony and his wisdom, his suspicions and his demands.

She had been walking, how long —? ten minutes . . . ? twenty minutes—? half an hour—? when the rescue party found her. Farmers they were, from the districts outlying the small town, the smoke of which she had seen. They came across the fields and through the underbrush, having left their cars on the country road. They carried stretchers, restoratives, bandages. A doctor was with them.

She heard their voices, she heard them crashing through a little thicket just ahead. She ran toward the blessed sound of human lives, human footsteps. She called. She sobbed, she beat her hands together.

The men came suddenly out into the clearing and Fanchon stumbled and fell headlong into the arms of the leader. "I must not faint," she thought, and struggled violently back to life. "I can't faint now."

"It's a woman!" one said blankly, swearing with astonishment.

She said, choking—

"All dead—but me—" she pointed, her hand shaking, in the direction from which she had come.

The majority of the men went on, hurrying with their stretchers, their useless paraphernalia of mercy. Two stayed behind with Fanchon. She answered their questions as fully and as steadily as she could. She felt herself falling into darkness. One of them caught her as she fell.

When she recovered consciousness they were all there, standing about her. She was lying on overcoats on the ground. Brandy was purgent on her lips. One, an elderly man, was saying gently

"Miss Howard?"

"Dead," said Fanchon mechanically.

"No," he said, gravely, "you are not dead . . . by a merciful Providence . . . can you stand . . . ? we will carry you back to the cars. You must let your people know at once that you are safe. I will attend to that arm of yours," he went on. . . .

The cut was deep, but needed no stitches. He bandaged it deftly after his hurried inspection. There were two younger men, nearby. They carried a stretcher. Something lay on it. Fanchon's tweed coat thrown over it. Fanchon shivered, trembling deeply. She remembered, Miss Howard. They had read the name on the handkerchief. If she had wished to, she might have explained—the did not wish to. Her chin lifted, her heart beat rapidly.

"The others," said the doctor, "are gone. Instantly, I think. This young woman—" he pointed to the stretcher—"is dying. We will get her right into the hospital, but I am afraid it is too late. Do you know her, Miss Howard?"

"No," said Fanchon—"just that she is a—a— Miss Smith."

She was carried, sitting on the clasped hands of two of the men. They reached the cars and the semblance. Fanchon was put into a car and taken to the home of one of the farmers. There she was questioned again. She gave steadily, tersely, the names of the pilot and of Mr. Eames. The name of the air company, which would be informed at once, which would inform the relatives of the dead. She said again Miss Smith and added that as far as she knew, the other girl had no people, to claim her. To claim the body.

"She told you nothing of herself?" asked Doctor Warren.

"Just that she had no relatives and was going to Ne W'ork to look for work. She had been working," said Fanchon steadily, "in San Francisco and had saved for the — the trip. I think her home was in San Francisco. In some lodging house."

"I see. Poor girl— said the doctor.

She was, he added, still breathing. A transfusion had been arranged for at the hospital, but there was very little change.

"Any," breathed Fanchon. She hated herself . . . for fearing that she other girl might live. She marveled at the depths to which she had sunk, the lies to which she had committed herself.

"If she does not live," said the doctor gravely, "it would be better for her . . . "

"You mean?" whispered Fanchon, only half understanding.

He bowed his head significantly.

"And your people?" he asked her. "we must write them immediately."

She opened Evelyn's bag. She took from it the card with Mrs. Carstairs' address on it. "My aunt," she said. "If you will wire to this name and address?" she asked . . . "and say I am safe and am coming on by train. When can I leave, Doctor Warren?"

"Do you feel strong enough to go alone?" he asked her. "Won't you wait until your people come for you?"

Fanchon shook her head.

"No, I must," she said, "get home as quickly as I can."

"I understand. There is a train to New York tomorrow morning. You will stay here quietly with the Lawsons until then. They will see to everything," said the doctor.

ENGLAND'S OWN MUSIC ENSHRINED BY HADOW

Author in "English Heritage Series" Declares Good Music is Made by Englishmen

London, Aug. 1—(By The Canadian Press)—"English" musicians must be glad to see their art enshrined in company with Shakespeare, "The English Public School," Cricket, and other matters which are part and parcel of our national inheritance," says The Times in connection with Sir Henry Hadow's recent addition of "English Music" to the series of little books with the collective title of "The English Heritage Series," including the books mentioned. "There is an additional cause for satisfaction, because the qualifications of the writer for his task are manifest to all.

"But the first cause is the fact that music is included at all, because that in itself is acknowledgment that music here, and has always held, a place among the lively interests of the people, and that their interest in and practice of music has produced types different from the music of other nations. It means that in music we have something that we take for granted as our own, that just as our speech is colored by the allusions from Shakespeare, our manners, even the trivialities of dress, by those of the Public school, and our views on sportsmanship by the very word 'cricket' so there is something in English music which informs and limits our lookout on the art as a whole.

"In so far as a national tradition is a limiting factor in popular taste it is not always helpful to the eager musician. How often do our musical leaders rebuke us gently for not having adopted the admirable traditions of the Continent for the diffusion of artistic cultivation, such things, for example, as municipal opera houses in every one of the great cities? On the other hand, when the sensibilities of the community are suddenly touched to sympathy with any kind of foreign origin, when English people hail a Handel or a Mendelssohn, finding some quality in his work which apparently congenial to their traditions and aspirations, they are likely to be whipped off and lost, in the words of Professor Treveiyan, that 'Nothing is more striking than the inability of the English to stand by their own traditions in art.' The question is raised as to what constitutes the English heritage in music.

"Sir Henry Hadow's answer is clear. He finds the English heritage is the good music made by Englishmen, and the Englishmen who remain strictly the holders of British birth and parentage. The definition applied is ruled out and Frederic Delius is ruled in, because he is English. The ruling shows where this definition fails. Normally it meets the case well enough, and the author, considering thing in Sir Henry Hadow's case, has not only done honor to his glory in the achievements of the country and at present, but has as well assured that in doing so no is speaking for all alarmed and unlelched alike."

Sir William Henry Hadow is one of Great Britain's noted educationists and author of many books, honorary degrees of several universities, including honorary doctor of music, Oxford, Durham and Wales.

VISITING SNOOPERS

Often when women meet, you hear this question, "Don't you dislike a snooper who seems to be looking at everything in your home when she calls?"

Evidently Mrs. Snoopy is not popular.

Certain others seem so taken up with the hostess that they do not look around very much.

Often the hostess herself is to blame for the critical attitude of callers for she begins to apologize for one thing after another—furniture arrangement and lack of proper or period setting.

However the true-to-her-position hostess is so interested in her home and in giving her guests a happy time that she considers surrounding of minor importance.

She keeps things neat and clean and herself rests in expression and manner but she can forget material things in the joy of being a hostess.

Altogether too much importance is attached to mere trifles in keeping an established place in society.

What a person represents as an individual is worth more than all material things, and this will be the opinion of the real friend.

PLANE IS RUSHING SERUM TO NORTH

Toronto, Aug.1.— Serum rushed to Ottawa yesterday from the Connaught laboratories of Health will be carried into the northland by plane and flown to an Indian reserve, the outbreak of infantile paralysis reported among the Indians of James Bay district.

Word was received by the Department of Indian Affairs at Ottawa yesterday that a number of cases were developing on the northern reserves, and without waiting for further details the serum supply was sent to the provincial officials here asking for aid.

This morning Flying Officer Bryan of the Royal Air Force will take off for Moose Factory with the serum supply.

Few details of the epidemic are known as far as the Dominion and Provincial officials are waiting Bryan's return to receive further word as to the outbreak is. The department at Ottawa, however, is not taking any chances, though at the same time they are surprised that was made last night that there was no cause for alarm.

Dr. Spone, medical officer of the Department of Indian Affairs at Ottawa, explained that the provincial department of health late yesterday afternoon asking that a supply of serum be sent immediately.

This was promptly despatched to Ottawa by the first train.

While the disease is fairly prevalent among Indians, this is the first serious outbreak which has been reported to the Indian Department this year.

Ontario government officials last night stated that the Department of Health was ready to undertake to the limit with Ottawa officials in handling the Moose Factory situation.

FORTY-FIVE YEARS

of Unparalleled Success

1931 marks the forty-fifth anniversary of the introduction of Coca-Cola to the public. Coca-Cola was the first distinctive soft drink beverage and has won world-wide acceptance with its 5 unique qualities of purity, wholesome refreshing qualities.

From a slight drink a day to over nine million a day. For forty-five years no one has ever tired of Coca-Cola.

Not only did Coca-Cola inaugurate the carbonated beverage industry of today. It has always led in every development leading to standardization of quality, and in the constant safeguarding of purity and wholesomeness.

Coca-Cola was the first to use sterilized bottles, and it is in this sanitary, sealed package that it comes to you, kept by automatic machinery from its origin with human hands. No less than twenty-two laboratory tests are made during the preparation of Coca-Cola to insure purity and uniformity.

Coca-Cola is a pure product of nature. Eternal vigilance in keeping it pure is the secret of its success.

to be chosen by the three banks which have provided funds.

The claim of the Quebec Government to power rights on the St. Lawrence is specifically acknowledgment — presumably acknowledgment also of Ontario's corresponding claim.

The interests of those who have invested their money in Beauharnois will be cared for in any rearrangement of company organization.

There will be no Royal Commission appointed to investigate party campaign funds of the last three elections, but if any member will make specific charges the Government will concede wide-open investigation.

Declaring that the Senate must and would sit in judgment upon the members who had violated its honor, Premier Bennett announced in measured words Friday evening to pass the sentence of the high court of honor upon the Beauharnois Corporation and its development. He declared the Government's policy with unmistakable directness and finality, thus:

Government Plans

1—The order-in-Council by which the King Government granted the diversion of the St. Lawrence flow will be annulled at once.

2—Legislation will be introduced at once by which Quebec Province, and Parliament only, will make grants for the latter other waterpower rights upon the St. Lawrence.

3—The Beauharnois enterprise will, by immediate legislation, be declared a work for the general advantages of Canada," subject to Quebec's consent. Parliament could be co-operated in drafting the measure and was engaged in preparing a plan to preserve the vested rights of Quebec from federal interference. This legislation to become operative only on proclamation.

4—The House —will be asked to pass an act authorizing the diversion of the 40,000 cubic second feet legally allowed and the 13,500 cubic feet legally acquired—a total of 53,000 cubic second feet.

5—The management of the enterprise would be reorganized under the direction of the banks which had advanced great amounts of capital.

6—Provision would be made for operating the enterprise in such a manner as to meet any conditions imposed by the Government, as to protect the interests of the investor who had subscribed $70,000,000 to the project.

No Probe of Funds

Mr. Bennett declared that he would appoint no "roving commission" to tour Canada investigating campaign fund contributions, but added that if any member demand that further investigation of Beauharnois and made a charge with his responsibility as a member of the House, an inquiry, judicial or otherwise, would be ordered this session or next. There are no undertakers. Mr. King, he said, in asking a campaign fund probe, had merely tried to spread a smokescreen to divert public attention from Beauharnois.

"I look to the bankers to see that there is management," the Premier declared, answering questions as to how the project would be run.

As to the method eventually decided under which the project will be continued, the Prime Minister reminded the House that the approval of the Quebec Provincial Government will have to be obtain ed. The legislation provides protection of navigation, granting to the Dominion Government the right to divert as originally approved for Beauharnois, and the permission to reorganize the management of the banks decide this necessary.

Demand For Restitution

Today's speeches in their aggregate time did not last so long as that of former Premier King's night before; they were all much more brief and to the point. Each "Group Party" spokesman, J. S. Woodsworth and Miss Macphail, demanded punishments for the wrongdoers and restitution. This could be secured, but Premier Bennett declared neither to be within the province of the Dominion Government.

"I feel," said Miss Macphail, "there should be a law, whether Provincial or Federal does not matter to me, to force those who so exploit our great natural resources to disgorge their dishonest gains, or else go to jail like any ordinary Canadian citizen would have to do if found guilty of petty larceny." She prophesied that failure to charge the accused with criminality would lead to "cn, on, on to endless scandals," and referred to the suspicious circumstances" of the $133,500 Aird payment.

Aside from his nationally important declarations of Government intent, as outlined above, the sensational feature of Premier Bennett's address to the Commons yesterday was a fierce and relentless pursuit and denunciation of Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King on the point of Mr. King's previous denials of knowledge or suspicion, as to the origin of the Liberal Party campaign funds. The Premier gave absolutely no quarter today to his political opponent seated across the aisle, and, playing upon the words and the insinuations and the inferences to be drawn from the committee evidence, figuratively impaled the Liberal Leader on each distinctive point and flayed him unmercifully on inspection. It was terrific punishment that the Liberal leader took without a word of interruption when the Prime Minister brought loose today all the barbed sarcasms of which he is capable.

King and Hayden

The Liberal Leader did not know whence came the Liberal funds which sent the vicious slander propaganda broadcast throughout Western Canada, said the Prime Minister, but he could not hide from his voice and a smile on his lips. Not if the Liberal Leader as he told the Commons simply wept on Senator Haydon's shoulder in vain, urged in the absence of funds, and Senator Haydon did not, was deceived by him and went out and got the money.

Mr. King applied the descriptive "stealth" to Right Hon. Mr. Rhodes method of raising, and in ringing tones demanded to be told what Mr. King did not appear before the Beauharnois bankers committee. It was his right. And Right Hon. Mr. King's "silence" was to whether the Prime Minister kept an investigator, or committee campaign funds were but a "cunning device" to "red herring" the public attention from himself and direct it in another direction.

He played a moment on the alleged political "saw-off" in respect to further Beauharnois probing, hinted at the Liberals that if they thought Beauharnois or its investigation had vestigated he would grant them more investigation, but refused absolutely to appoint a "roving Commission" or inquiry into past campaign funds to "satisfy the morbid curiosity of anyone who is afraid of their noses into other people's business."

And the Liberals across floor who applauded their Leader's denials of the night before and the night he could stand up and say they had not participated in the general fund?

MAY BE NEED LARGE LOANS

Bankers Working on ways to Support British Pound

Paris, Aug. 1 (AP)—Negotiations by French, British and United States bankers to place a large credit at the disposal of the Bank of England to support the pound sterling and thereby steady the international markets, entered their final stage today.

The definite agreement was expected on the amount of the credit, which is to be provided jointly by French and United States banks. It was understood to be in the neighborhood of $250,000,000 to $350,000,000.

Marcel Paye, economist, writing in the newspaper Excelsior, said the size of the credit might be astonishing. The reason for this was that experience has shown there is less danger in granting large sums on credits when they are heavy and there is less chance of sniping and to speculate on foreign exchanges.

It is evident, he pointed out, that if holders of the pound were convinced that sterling would remain above the gold point for a determined period, they would part with their holdings only for very commercial needs.

It was understood that representatives of the principal Paris banks have been summoned to the Bank of France today to be informed about the final stage of the plan to relieve the English situation.

ARCTIC EXPLORER REACHES IVIGUT

Copenhagen, Aug. 1 (AP)—Major James Allen Scott, member of the British Aero-Arctic expedition to Greenland, arrived at Ivigut, July 29, after having crossed the inland ice from the Holmes Ice Cap camp Angmagssalik Fjord, according to word reaching here today.

The British expedition to Greenland which has been there a year, is obtaining data for use in manufacturing an air route from England to Canada.

THE BLACK CAMEL" RAISES STANDARD OF MYSTERIES

If you like a cooking good detective yarn—and who don't—then see "The Black Camel," which opened yesterday at the Belle Theatre. The splendid offering is remarkable in more ways than one. It brings the redoubtable Warner Oland to the screen as an unusual detective, at the sleepy-looking but brilliant epigrammatic oriental jet setter. It sticks to Earl Derr Biggers fine novel, and its splendid cast is expertly directed.

The film is one of those rarities which is a delight to review. It is swift, intriguing, vivid and always entertaining. It has a charming romance running throughout the story.

Warner Oland holds most of the acting honors, the entire cast is a notable one. Dorothy Burgess, Sally Eilers, Bela Lugosi, Dorothy Revier, Marjorie Main, Johnny Gordon, J. M. Kerrigan and Violet Dunn. Four Hollywood Beauty Featurettes were presented during the intermission, featuring Miss Juno McCloy in "The Foolish Forties," Hittin' and Missin' C's," introducing Earl Britton and his famed comedy Kings from the Gold Room of the Royal New York Paramount Pictorial, a new and novel offering that will garner a host of admirers after this week, and the Belle Scenic Review, highlighted clip this week introducing Premier Ramsay MacDonald, Humorist Stanley Baldwin, and Lloyd George Liberal party chief addressing the Peace conference in London recently.

The entire program will be repeated again tonight, and should be put on the list of films you simply must see.

FASHION TREAT FOR FEMALE FANS IN ANNABELLE'S AFFAIRS

Monday night is Dresserware Night at the Belle Theatre, a beautiful gift of Dresserware will be presented to each lady, to add to the many beautiful articles they already possess, as usual a program of particular interest is being arranged for Monday evening.

Dame fashion has provided a treat for women in the picture of MacDonald in "Annabelle's Affairs" with Miss MacDonald in this scintillating comedy, based upon Clare Kummer's yell remembered stage farce, "Good Gracious Annabelle." The supporting cast includes such favorite performers as Roland Young, Ruth Warren, William Collier, Sr., Aline MacMahon, Claire Luce and Sally Blane.

Three hours of exceptional merit are announced for exhibition on the same program, including "Ambitious Pencils" new reprieve Colortone musical Revue, with a cast of distinguished artists from the Concert stage and Vaudeville, the Review is in natural Technicolor, and will appeal to all. The comedy portion of the Revue has Lou Holtz capable hands of Tom Howard whose talent is unquestionable. "The Express" is thickly studded with laughs, the popular Fox Movietone Newsreel will precede the exhibition of the feature attractions.

HARRY LANGDON IN "A SOLDIER'S PLAYTHING" AT THE CAPITOL

At last a new locale and a new type of romance has reached the screen with the showing of "A Soldier's Plaything," the delightful comedy drama with an altogether pleasing romance, which opens at the Capitol theatre tonight.

The versatile and clever Vina Delmar has woven a story of love and laughs, around a beautiful German peasant girl and a jaunty go-lucky soldier who is a member of the American army of occupation billeted in Coblenz, Germany. "This is Miss Delmar's first original effort for the talkies and she has written a clever, human story, elevated and amused the audience.

Romance Of Rhine

The story opens in New York at the time of America's entrance into the World War, carries through numerous changes in the fortunes of three years' time and ends in Germany after the singing of the armistice. It is there the real romance of the story takes place when Griff Loder in the role of the Rhineland peasant girl and Ben Lyon cast as the "easy come, easy go" buck private.

Both players in the beautiful Rhine country are both attractive and entertaining. Miss Loder makes a charming German beauty in an atmosphere with which she is perfectly familiar, being a central European herself, which accounts for her authentic accent and excellent singing in German.

Clever Cast

As the winning doughboy, Ben Lyon contributes a fine piece of work. His characterization of the lovable soldier who wins the fair lass and goes through the entire war maintains an ever knowing what it's all about, to finally find love and romance in a foreign land, is appealing and convincing at all times.

Jean Hersholt, who can always be counted upon to deliver a performance of high quality, does another splendid job of the part of Miss Loder's grandfather. Noah Young has an interesting and moving as the hard-boiled arm captain—Ryan Loder as one of Ben Lyon's pre-war henchmen, provides also pleasing entertainment. Otto Matieson, Lee Moran, Richard Carle, Frank Campeau and Sidney Bracey fill out the cast with very capable performances.

Richard Curtis has deftly directed "A Soldier's Plaything" with a sympathetic understanding of the story and the human side of his characters.

It comes as a complete surprise, and a pleasant one, to hear Harry Langdon and Ben Lyon sing for the first time from the screen. Miss Loder also sings a few original songs written by Sidney Mitchell.

THE CAPITOL'S NEW VENTILATING SYSTEM

After a considerable amount of work covering some little time, the ventilating system at the Capitol theatre has now been installed. Today the Capitol turns off the heat and Patrons of this ideal theatre will read with delight of the announced addition. At their entrance on Monday, when the will positively level at a temperature below the big picture will constitute a great test as to the ventilating system's effectiveness. This installation is perfectly odorless so that it can be in operation through out the performance, and has the effect of entirely changing the atmosphere in the theatre once in four and a half minutes.

Therefore, no matter the size of audience at any time, the atmosphere will be delightfully refreshing. All are invited to visit the Capitol theatre and view a programme in cool comfort.

Pet Show Held at Playground

Thursday was a gala day at East Belleville playgrounds when a "Pet Show" was held at 10 o'clock when fifty children were present during the day and pets of every kind from the dog to the snake, from the tame rooster were brought to take part in the show. Prizes were during afternoon looking after pets and enjoying the program arranged by the supervisor, Mrs. Florence Bell.

First there was a parade, after which the judging took place, the prizes presented to the winners. These were "our baby", Jean White; "Pet dog"—Craig Hamilton, girls 10 ten—Dorothy Carr; best doll—Gwen Thomas; girls under ten—Mary Ann Patterson. All the children who entered pets were given prizes of candy.

Peanut scramble, play and games were enjoyed and were followed by an exhibition of folk dancing during the twenty minutes of community singing that brought the pets' show to a close. Doreen Bird gave two solo dances, "Coming Through the Rye" and "Dance With Me" which were greatly enjoyed.

LIKES RUSS. FILM

Berlin, Aug. 1 (AP)—George Bernard Shaw arrived at fashionable scher station today, bringing the message from Russia that "capitalism is doomed."

As he sagely descended the steps of his sleeper, looking fresh enough to indulge in a pleasant night's sleep, Shaw remarked that it was "torrible to get back."

It won't be long, he said, before Russia will get on her own feet. "She is landed on her own feet now." Shaw explained, "and soon she will be entirely independent of foreign help from such persons as architect and engineer."

He thought, however, that in its present state Communism was not suited to the rest of the world.

Most of the theatres were closed but the Russian playwright was in Russia, but he saw a few movies. "The film is fine," he said.

Shaw, a vegetarian, was immensely satisfied with the Russian diet. "Food was good and there was plenty of it," he said, "black bread and cabbage agreed splendidly with me."

He spent about forty minutes at the station, most of the time being occupied by the task of getting his one suitcase and topcoat transferred from the train and arrangements to stay until this after noon with Lady Astor and her son and their son, who also made the trip.

Lady Astor said she was dismayed at the state of affairs in the United States referring in particular to the sentence of death imposed on eight Negroes found convicted of attacking two white girls.

She said she wanted to see Berlin's new governmental buildings in the poor during her stay here.

A subsequent visit for Shaw at the station door. He tried to evade the reporters with a side entrance but finally was induced to stand in front of the instrument. "It is the first time I've spoken into a microphone like this," he told Berlin over the air, "but I am glad to have seen it."

There was a pause over on the microphone and apparently a new order was given.

Stopped At Warsaw

Warsaw, Poland, Aug. 1 (AP)—On their way home to England Shaw and Lady Astor dropped long enough to say complimentary things about Russia.

"I was a Communist before London and now I've stopped being one. I am more of a Communist than ever," said Shaw.

Shaw said there was no shortage of food in the Soviet and described the workers there as happy and toiling for the common good.

He saw good progress in the carrying out of the five-year plan, and declared there was no indication the plan would collapse.

Lady Astor averred that Russia would not act aggressively against other countries, but was motivated by the desire for peace.

Lord and Lady Astor and other members of the Shaw party spent the night in Russia. They planned to stop at Berlin on their way home.

Submarine at Bergen, Norway

Bergen, Norway, Aug. 1 (AP) — The submarine Nautilus, in which Herbert Wilkins hopes to cruise under the ice across the top of the world, arrived at this port Saturday morning, Aug. today.

The fine weather in the north are, she was several hours ahead of schedule. Professor Harold T. Stefansson, explorer, Wilkinger, Arctic experts, were at the dock when the craft docked formally.

Immediately after the arrival, provisions and scientific equipment were taken aboard in preparation for the polar expedition.

FORGET WHO WAS DRIVER

Brockville, Aug. 1—A coroner's jury under Dr. J. W. Mackie at Gananoque returned a verdict of accidental death in the case of Mrs. Ethel Greenham, of Syracuse, N.Y., who died on June 23 at a point three miles west of Lansdowne in an automobile accident. The jury brought in a verdict of accidental death through the deceased being thrown from an automobile which was driven at an excessive rate of speed. Owing to a lapse of memory on the part of the husband of the deceased and William Cartwright, who was a passenger in the car there was not sufficient evidence to show who was the driver of the vehicle.

Mechanical and electrical devices for the use of motorists in signalling the left hand turn will, it is expected, soon be seen on the highways of Ontario.

Various manufacturing concerns are prepared, it is said, to go ahead and build approved devices just as soon as specifications, which are now being compiled by the Department of Highways at Queen's Park, are made public. These specifications, The Globe learned yesterday, will be announced during the next few days.

Devices Submitted

Scores of devices have, since the last session of the Legislature, when the department secured supervision over them been submitted to departmental engineers for their consideration. They range from illuminated celluloid arms to be placed from the side of the car, to roughly built rope-tripping sign plates. Dummy policemen, two feet in height, so fashioned as to jerk wig-wagging astride the radiator comp and the rear bumper, have also been tested out.

One of the devices which is almost certain to be approved by the department, The Globe was informed, is a twin-lamp arrangement, to be used fore and aft, the vehicle, taking the place of cowl lights in front. These lamps carry arrows that flash with the pressure of a button on the steering wheel.

To Study Color Signals

In working out the specifications the Highways Department is considering, among other points, the color the signals should take, and the ease with which they can be worked.

At the present time the only means of signalling the left-hand turn—using the left-hand turn signal, by the way, is the only one which a motorist is compelled by the law to make—is to extend the hand and arm horizontally from and beyond the left side of the vehicle.

There is nothing more important in life than truth. Half truth is the devil himself—John Galsworthy.

FREEDOM OF PRESS WORTH A BATTLE

New York, Aug. 1. — The principle of freedom of the press, although upheld by the United States Supreme Court in the Minnesota "gag" law decision, is still in danger, Marlen E. Pew, editor of Editor and Publisher, said tonight at a dinner given by the Thomas Jefferson Memorial foundation aboard the Ile de France.

The dinner commemorated establishments of "Freedom of the Press Committee," by the Foundation, Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, who led the legal fight against the Minnesota law was appointed honorary chairman of the committee.

"Incredible as it may appear," Pew said, "the Jefferson principle of Freedom of the Press was challenged in this year of Grace, 1931.

"If the Supreme Court can be divided, 5 to 4 on this primary tenet of our democratic code, I submit that it is not good time for those who believe in the constitution and hold that our system of government is worth fighting for, to give the enthusiastic aid to a movement which has as its purpose the establishment at Jefferson's Monticello Shrine an annual celebration of a free press."

MAINTAIN LEGATIONS

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 1.—The legations established by Canada in foreign countries will be maintained. "We will support in every possible way their usefulness," Premier R. B. Bennett told the House of Commons when the appropriation of $100,000 for the Washington legation was under consideration. The vote was carried. The Prime Minister, however, had doubts as to whether these legations were worth the money from a purely diplomatic point of view.

Safe Opened After Five Hours' Work With Torches

Buenos Aires, Aug. 4 (AP).—On the basis of documents seized in a raid the Yuzhamtorg was described by the prosecutor of police today as a political agency of the Soviet Government rather than a commercial concern.

"The sack of the organization was opened after five hours' work with torches last night.

Yuzhamtorg will not be authorized to engage in further trading operations, it was said, but its employees under police supervision, will be allowed to receive contracts signed previous to the raid last Friday and to complete merchandise bought or sold before that time.

HYDRO UNDER NO INFLUENCE

Hon. G. H. Ferguson tells of Purchase of Power

"Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Quebec's representative to the Great Britain, declared yesterday to The Mail and Empire that Premier Taschereau, that Ontario Hydro's connection with Beauharnois for purchased power had no basis in political influence.

Political influence or suggestion had nothing whatever to do with consummation of the contract, he said. Preliminary negotiations were carried through by the Hydro Commission, and the first Mr. Ferguson knew of it, he said, was when it was necessary to put through the required orders-in-council.

FAILED TO FIND FUELING PLANE

Second Attempt of Texas Fliers is a Failure

Fairbanks, Alaska, Aug. 4 (CP)—Two Texas aviators, who twice had thought themselves well on the way to Hyder for a non-stop flight, rested here today after the failure of their second attempt due to inability to find their refueling plane in a sky weighted with rain.

Messages were coming from Seattle, where they had started their flight, and other points asking them to reconsider their decision to abandon the flight for 1931, but Reg. L. Robbins and Harold S. Jones, pilots of the "Texas Rangers," said "it's too late to try it again this year."

Their refueling plane, which had lasted for more than twenty hours, half way from here to Nome at 2.30 a.m. (7.30 a.m. EST) rejoined them here last night.

Robbins and Jones landed here at 1.33 a.m. (12.35 p.m. EST) after almost 27 hours in the air since they left Seattle early Sunday.

HENRY DEFENDS POWER PURCHASES

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 4 (CP)—Defence of power purchases by the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission marked a speech by Premier George S. Henry at Island Grove, Long Branch, to E. H. Lennox, Conservative M.P. for North York, staged his annual picnic.

"I want to assure all my hearers, not as a partisan but as a member of all the circumstances," he said, "that the present Government is under every thing has been cleared away and the facts are known. It will be seen that we have made one of the best bargains that ever were made, and the Hydro Electric Power Commission can rest assured behind it: it will still have the confidence of the people of Ontario."

Tribute to Hi. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada, was paid by Hon. Wesley Gordon, Minister of Immigration and Colonization, Ottawa, Conservative, and also chairman of the recent parliamentary committee of investigation the Beauharnois Power project. "If can be regarded as right to declare himself and go through to the end without regard to any backwind that blows," said Mr. Gordon.

BLAMES PARAMOUR

West Palm Beach, Fla., Aug. 4.—Victor Searles, New Jersey millionaire, has answered his wife's suit for separate maintenance on the charge that she "had a paramour" and a dentist, that he left her without funds.

In the amended bill of complaint Mrs. Searles had declared her husband had deviated from the path of women but left her and the Searles 9-year old daughter, Betty, without support.

Fliers in All Parts of World Seek New Fields

By The Associated Press

This is how the new major airplane flights stand today:

Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, Jr., who set out to beat the Post-Gatty round-the-world record, were at Khabarovsk, Siberia, awaiting favorable weather before leaving on the last hop for Nome, Alaska.

Russell Boardman and John Polando rested at Istanbul awaiting their next move. It seemed likely that they might fly direct way home. But they appeared to have abandoned plans for any flight further into the East.

Hoc. G. Robins and Harold S. Jones, whose projected refueling flight to Tokyo failed, remained at Fairbanks, Alaska, insisting that it was too late to try again. James Mattis and Nick Gegenter, crew of their refueling plane, also were at Fairbanks.

Amy Johnson, British woman flyer, was due at Harbin, Manchuria, today. Harbin was the way from England to Tokyo.

C. A. Mellison, another British pilot, was on the way from Basrah, Irak, to Athens, a full day ahead of the Australia-to-England record which he is racking to lower.

Above are the six Senators selected and they are as follows: Top, left to right: Hon. George P. Graham, Hon. Raoul Dandurand and Hon. F. L. Beique, representing the Liberal side of the Senate. Bottom, left to right: Hon. C. E. Tanner, Hon. C. P. Beaubien and Hon. W. A. Griesbach, representing the Conservative Party in the Upper Chamber.

"I Will Go To Prison" Says McGovern M. P. is Fined for Preaching

Eight Others Preached Without License on Glasgow Green

CONTINUE BATTLE

Court Room Spectators Go Then to Green, Hold Meetings

Glasgow, Scotland, Aug. 4.—(AP)—John McGovern, member of Parliament, and eight other persons were fined £2 each or an alternative of thirty days imprisonment today for preaching on the Glasgow green without permits.

The Magistrate directed that they be allowed ten days in which to pay. Mr. McGovern said, "I don't want them to pay. I will go to prison."

Some time ago Mr. McGovern was ejected from the House of Commons during unprecedented disorders when he raised the question of allowing lay preachers to speak on Glasgow green.

After today's sentence Mr. McGovern declared he intended to continue the campaign for free speech" and when the courtroom had been cleared a group of men and women went to the green where several meetings were held without permits.

In answering his decision the Magistrate declared that if the public forum were used indiscriminately and without control he would defeat the purpose for which the green e ta.

HUCKLEBERRY PARTY STRAYS IN WILD BUSH

Two Belleville Men Have Thrilling Time in Woods

IN UNDERGROWTH

Sight of Fire Ranger Station Provided Clue

Lost in the bush of Peterborough County for over two hours, Charles Green and John Mitchell, both members of the staff at Clarke's Butcher Store, were given a scare on Sunday afternoon while hunting huckleberries in the Blue Mountain area. They left town on Saturday night for a fishing expedition and met Mr. A. McMillan, Havelock man who accompanied them. Although Mr. McIntyre was familiar with the territory, he lost his bearings when the trio were tramping through the thick undergrowth.

He looked in vain for some landmark, but after rounding for half an hour informed his companions that they were lost. It was the first experience of this nature for the Belleville men but the following their guide's advice and two hours later struck a small trail through the bush. They followed the path for some time until they sighted a fire ranger's station miles away which furnished them with a clue. They traced their way for some distance until they struck the motor path which eventually led them out of the woods.

Mr. Mitchell in speaking with the reporter today stated that had they found themselves in the bush prepared to light a fire in order to attract the attention of the fire rangers. He and Mr. Green finally reached the village of Havelock just before dark on Sunday night and came back to Belleville yesterday.

BOTH MOTOR CARS WENT INTO DITCH

To avoid an accident Mrs. P. H. Wills, driving a car on the highway east of the cemetery crossing shortly before noon today, was turning into the ditch as she saw her approaching her. This latter car then struck the Wills car, both machines coming to rest ditch on right angles. Clair Morrison, the boy four and a half years old, in the Ottawa car, suffered a fracture of the nose and was taken to the Bellevill General Hospital.

SHAMROCK V. WINNER OF CUP

Had Long Lead on Canadia in Today's Race

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock V. defeated Canadia by nearly last year for America's Cup, today in the first race of the Royal Yacht Squadron's Regatta.

The Canadia was in sight as the green and white sky Shamrock came charging up the finishing line and it was five minutes before Herbert Andrea s Candida was sighted. It was the first race for The Cup Race, most important of the year's classic events, which is open to boats of 60 feet or over in length. The course was 15 miles. Shamrock and Candida had a time allowance of five minutes 52 seconds over the scratch boat Westward, a big schooner, His Majesty's Britannia and Astra entered to compete for second prize only but was withdrawn when the second mate was swept overboard yesterday and drowned.

After winning nearly 40 years, 20,000 victims of the Jubes Ballour Lipton Racing Society reach in London in 1892, are to receive a total of $52,000 as a final dividend.

Two Crashes on Highway Cause Serious Injury To Occupants of Motors

Mrs. Alvea Very Seriously Injured Near Airport

CUT IN EYE

Skidding Car Strikes Floyd Babcock's Car Near Colborne

Traffic on all highways leading in and out of the city was the heaviest of the entire year over the holiday and the congested condition brought a toll of accidents both minor and serious. There was a constant stream of motor cars both east and west the exodus starting on Saturday afternoon and continuing until early Tuesday morning. The traffic officers were constantly on duty in this section many being checked up for speeding, while others were warned about "cutting in."

Belleville district has been singularly clear of fatal accidents on the highways this season, probably due to close patrol work but Sunday morning one occurred, one mile east of Trenton, that might have proved serious. Mr. John Boss, Bayshore Road, Mrs. Boss, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Alyea of the same address were fortunate to escape with their lives when the car in which they were riding and driven by Mr. Boss was struck broadside by a car driven by A. J. Lalverte of Montreal, who "cut in" just in front of it, losing in the same direction. All the occupants of the Boss car were more or less injured but not seriously, although it was thought, that Mrs. Stephen Alyea might lose the sight of an eye due to a severe cut received in the eye, the lodging at the base of the eye. They all received lacerations from flying glass. Mr. Boss sustaining a deep cut on one of the ligaments of his leg. The victims were treated at the home of "Dr. Sprague in the town Parley of Trenton, after which they were removed to the Belleville hospital in Mr. Martin's ambulance, for further medical attention.

Test for Drunk.

Mr. Boss with his party were out for a picnic and were travelling west while Mr. Lalverte and his wife of Montreal were travelling east. It is alleged that the Montreal car tried to pass a car going in the same direction and was not able to get through striking the Boss car head on. The Lalverte car was turned around on the highway facing west and went into the ditch on its side. Both cars were rushed badly. At the time Mr. Laverte were uninjured. Traffic Officer Ryan went to the scene and subsequently arrested Lalverte taking him to Trenton police station where he will face a charge of reckless and negligent driving causing bodily harm.

Car Skidded On Curve

Floyd Babcock of Toronto was seriously injured and admitted to the Bowlby hospital, when his car was struck by another car skidding on a curve a few miles west of Colborne Sunday morning. Efforts to hook the ambulance to bring to the hospital who was at Cobourg, surgery in Colborne. Babcock sustained serious internal injuries and was bleeding from the mouth and nose. He was on his way from Toronto to Odessa to spend the holiday with relatives. Traffic Officer Hooper investigated and a charge will likely be laid against the driver of the car, a Mr. Lamond Woodbeck, causing the accident. Woodbeck's car was not badly damaged and was given as fair today although he is yet out of Cobourg.

The dangerous curve fifteen miles east of Cobourg was the scene of the above automobile accident resultin; in four persons being seriously injured. Besides Babcock Mrs. Nellis Woodbeck of Stirling received a deep gash on the head and is in Cobourg hospital in a serious condition. Lamond Woodbeck, Pilot Michigan, suffered two shoulders and along with Raymond Woodbeck, driver of the car, who sustained a fractured shoulder, was also taken to the Cobourg hospital. The two Misses Woodbeck were not seriously injured. According to reports one car collided on the curve throwing it into the Babcock car, both cars were badly wrecked.

3 NEGROES DIE IN RED RIOT

Policeman Injured in Outbreak in Chicago's South Side

Chicago, Aug. 4.— Communists were blamed by police today for a brief but sanguinary riot of Chicago's south side in which three negroes were slain and one was seriously wounded. Three policemen who helped put down the disorder were injured. Several score of the participants were arrested.

Immediate steps were taken by officials to prevent a repetition of the diser r which began last yesterday afternoon when several hun dred negroes started a demonstration in protest against the eviction of a negro family for non-payment of rent.

Mayor Anton Cermak was at Little Cumera. When told of the disorder he ordered that no more arrests be made except local authorities being given to him and to an organized charity. He said he would make a special fund to aid evicted families. At the same time Commissioner Allman of Boston met with negro leaders to discuss means of averting further trouble He said he was surprised when told by some of the negroes that there were between 30,000 and 50,000 negro communists in Chicago.

Negro Population of United States Growing

Washington D.C., Aug. 4 (AP).—Increased by 148 percent, as compared with 16 per cent, the decade before.

The census bureau said the white decline obviously was due to the falling of the birth rate and the restriction of immigration.

Nearly two-thirds of the entire negro increase took place in the north, and the census bureau announced that large numbers of southern negroes migrated northward.

Study Problem of 350,000 Unemployed Railroaders

Cleveland, O., Aug. 4.—Executives of 21 railroad labor organizations today sought the way out from an impasse with the railroad executives in the efforts of the labor groups to solve the problem of caring for 350,000 unemployed railroad wo.kers.

The impasse was disclosed yesterday as a refusal of the association of railway executives to hold a conference with the labor organizations to discuss unemployment and related problems. The labor groups in turn refused a counter-proposal to deal with the individual carriers separately.

Edward D. Robertson, President of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, said: The labor executives will decide within a week or two what their next step will be.

LATE FRED W. JURY

The funeral of the late Fred W. Jury was held on Saturday afternoon from his late residence in the second concession of Ameliasburg. After a short service of prayer at 63 home the cortege moved to Mountain View United Church where a large number of friends had gathered. Rev. J. D. P. Knox conducted an impressive service making personal comment on the life of the deceased, stating his worth to the community as a resident. Interment was made in Mountain View cemetery, the bearers being Clarence Young, William Giles, Bruce VanAlallen, Harry Redner, Leslie Parliament and Percy Thompson. There were a wealth of floral tributes to the memory of the deceased.

C. W. SCOTT

Toronto, Aug. 3.—C. W. Scott, 13 Admiral Road, died last night in his 78th year. Mr. Scott was born in Whitby and came to Toronto about twenty-five years ago. Before coming to Toronto he was with the Coldiara Boot Company, Bank of Ontario, and later with the Newcombe Piano Company in Toronto. Mr. Scott retired from business about ten years ago. He was a member of the Pureheart Lodge, A.F. and A.M. and a Conservative. He is survived by his wife and six children. Oswald H. of Belleville, G. Bertram, of Toronto, Miss Lalia G., Toronto, Mrs. R. H. Hopkins of Toronto, Miss Nora of Toronto, and Mrs. Guy W. Ruiter of Toronto.

LILLIAN CARE JEFFRIES

The funeral of the late Lillian Care Jeffries, who died on Saturday, Wednesday, July 29th, was held from the late home, 9 Bleecker Funeral Home on Saturday, August 1st, 1931, at 2.30 p.m. and was attended by the friends of the deceased.

Rev. A. L. Geen conducted the service. Interment in Belleville cemetery. The bearers were G. Langh, F. Campbell, J. Frederick, H. Robinson, Ernest Hall, Roscoe Vanderwater.

The handsome floral tributes went to show the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

JOHN GEORGE BUTZER

After an illness of over two months, John J. Dolan passed away at his home in New Orleans, La., on Sunday. Mr. Dolan was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dolan and was born in Belleville 50 years ago.

Mr. Dolan was well known in Belleville and vicinity before he left here about twenty-five years ago. Since leaving Belleville he resided in Toronto for a time, before taking up his residence in the States. From there he followed the call of a contractor in his business life and built for himself a business in the Southern part of the country in which he lived.

Mr. Dolan is survived by Rev. Norman Cathollo and a member of the Knights of Columbus, in good standing.

He leaves to mourn his loss, three sisters, Mrs. McHugh of Chicago, Mrs. Hayes and Miss Dolan, at home, Four brothers, William, Charles, Terrence, of Belleville, and Frank of Montreal.

The remains will arrive in Belleville on Thursday. Funeral notice later.

BENJAMIN SANFORD

Following a lingering illness Benjamin A. Sanford passed away at his late home, 89 South Front street, this morning. Born in Thorneville, seventy-two years ago, a son of the late Simon and Mary Sanford, the deceased had resided in Belleville practically all his life. He always took a deep interest in municipal affairs and was one of the chief supporters of the Wharf Street Dedication Club, being instrumental in the establishment of the annual entertainment of candidates for the Art Gallery. Mr. Benjamin Sanford made a practice of attending church regularly and he was known in almost every community in the Bay of Quinte district. He was a Past District Deputy Grand Master of the Orange Order in this district and also a member of the Independent Order of Foresters No. 33. He was identified with the Church of God at Trenton. He leaves his widow, Marie E. Sanford; six sons, Garfield of Rochester, Roy and Wilfred of Belleville, and Gordon, Lorne and Woodrow at home. Two daughters, Mrs. Grace Calberry and Mrs. Pearl Styles also live here, while three brothers, Fred of New York, Randall of New York, and Nelson of Toronto, remain.

STOLE VALUABLES

Entering the home of John C. Beaton 7 Meyers St., some time on Saturday, persons yet unknown to the police ransacked the house and stole from a vest in the downstairs room, a ring and two pass of the C. N.R. owned by Mr. Beaton, also two watch chains and a straight blade razor. The permit for Mr. Beaton's car was stolen.

MINOR ACCIDENTS REPORTED

A number of minor accidents were investigated by the police over the week end in the city none of them proving serious and in most cases the persons implicated made a settlement between themselves. On Sunday afternoon, John Morris of 177 Church Street, was backing his car out from the garage on Front Street when a car driven by John D. Stopher, 9 Geddes St., south on the same street crashed into the Morris car damaging the left fender. Shortly after this accident the police investigated another mixup on Front Street. Stephen Hawden, Alfred Street, Tyenton, was driving his car south on Front Street, when Stephen Marsele, Deseronto, swung from the west side of the street, smashing the rear and front fenders of the Hawden car. No action was taken by the police. Late Saturday afternoon Norman R. Postle, 34 Dundas Blvd. Toronto, reported, that his car was sideswiped on The Bay Ridge road, the driver causing the damage not stopping. The number was noted and Constable Gow located the car on the Market Square a charge under the Highway Traffic Act was laid against Samuel P. Peck Carrying Plate for not returning to the scene of an accident. This case will be heard on Thursday.

HAD TWO CALLS

The fire department had two calls on the week end but prompt answers prevented serious damage in both cases. An evening a Fraser started at the city dumping ground at the foot of Foster Avenue but the brigade responded quickly and little effort was necessary to quell the fire. Smoke coming from the kitchen caused slight damage at the home of Dr. J. J. Robertson, 271 Pinnacle street on Sunday night at 9 p.m. The blaze was easily extinguished.

CHIEF AT CONVENTION

Pte Chief William Lynch of this city is in Montreal attending the annual convention of the Dominion Chiefs' Association. He will be absent for some days.

IS FEELING MUCH BETTER.

Bert Sipry, 15, of Bawden, who was accidentally shot in the left arm while rounding up cows on his father's farm a week ago, was removed from the Belleville Hospital to the home of his sister, Mrs. Leonie Reeves at Madoc, yesterday. The youngster was with his cousin in Grant Burrows, of Madoc, at the time of the accident, and when the gun was handed to the latter, it accidentally exploded, inflicting a terrible wound in young Spry's arm. He was rushed to the Dominion here where a transfusion was made, but physicians found it necessary to amputate the arm. The pain, while intense for some days, has been alleviated and he is feeling much better. He will return to school in the Autumn.

BUS DITCHED.

Collacutt Bus was ditched near Montrose Farm on the Trent Highway, Monday morning, when it struck a car driven by Leonard S. Armstrong, 452 E. Main street, Peterson, N.J., The car at the time was making a left-hand turn into a laneway on the south side of the highway. The bus and car each went into the ditch but no one was injured and practically little damage was done to either vehicle. Both cars were travelling west at the time and Mr. Armstrong, who reported the accident stated that he made a signal for a left-hand turn and was partly turned when the bus struck the left rear side. The bus was driven by William Popher of Oshawa. The Armstrong car was damaged on the rear fender, running board, and rear axle housing, while the bus had the front spring and fender bent.

NO DAMAGE TO RESIDENCE.

About eight o'clock Sunday evening, the fire department were called to the residence of Dr. J. J. Robertson, Pinnacle street, but no house was filled with smoke consequently the contents of which were smouldering in the front part of the house. No serious damage was done and the brigade returned to the hall leaving the out of the house and by leaving the doors and windows open the house was soon cleared of smoke.

MINOR MOTOR ACCIDENTS

Two slight accidents occurred on Sunday and were investigated by Traffic Officer Ryles. The first one occurred when a car belonging to the Institute for the Deaf two miles west of the city and the accident was caused by the driver ahead slowing up and the car following pulling to the left to avoid striking the car in the left hitting the car travelling in an east bound direction. The car travelling west was driven by J. P. Garrison of Church street, while the car struck was driven by John Buchanan, of Sterling Place. Buchanan states that he was thrown about with the shock, but no serious injuries resulted. Both cars were badly damaged necessitating the driving crew to take them off the highway.

Two miles east of Belleville on Sunday P.M. a collision occurred "out in" by Traffic Officer Ryles, who investigated damage to a car driven by W. J. Thomson of Hamilton. The occupants were only shock up.

MORE BUILDING

Building is on the upward trend in Belleville. For the month of July 1931 there were 19 building permits issued to the amount of $49,000.00 while during July of 1931 there were 12 permits issued for $21,750.00 showing an increase over the same month last year. Taking the first seven months of 1930 it was found that the permits issued amounted to $109,852.00 while the first seven months of 1931 the amount of building was valued at $178,453.00. Giving a considerable increase over the previous year and shows that the city buildings are quite ahead from year to year.

RUBBISH FIRE

Yesterday, Monday afternoon the local fire department was called to extinguish a blaze that threatened to become a conflagration behind the Houston Lumber Company. The fire started in some rubbish which the refuse that is being dumped in the marsh on the Point Anne. No damage was reported.

BARN WAS DE TROYED

A barn owned by Rogers Mahony who resides four miles east of "Iadoc ilage, north of Nixon's Corners, was totally destroyed by fire by a late hour last night.

The most up to date in the district, the loss of the building will be a severe blow for Mr. Mahony, as but seven pigs, besides a large quan tity of machinery and the season's supply of grain which had been stowed only this week. The loss will partly be covered by insurance. The conflagration is believed to have been started by Ukmps setting after for the night. The fire attracted hundreds of people here including many who were at the Madoc Reunion.

SWEEPSTAKES COMPETITION

Belleville Golf Club staged a sweepstakes competition yesterday with a large number of entries Harry Ridley was successful in carry ing off first prize, having a gross score of 75 and a net of 59. A. A. Kincaid was second with 78 and 66, A. H. Ketcheson 81 and 71 and Leo McGinnis with 82 and 66 third and fourth respectively. The games were keenly contested.

PAY TRIBUTE TO ANCESTORS AT HAY BAY WITH DUE CEREMONY

Original Church Used at Ceremonies of Monday

3,00 ATTEND

Setting sail from the port of New York on September 4, 1783 conveyed by the brig Hope, a group of Loyalists turned their faces eastward and sailed for Canada. Hugging the shore of the Atlantic, they entered the Gulf of St. Lawrence late in October of the same year, and sailed up the St. Lawrence where they wintered. There they constructed their log-bottomed boats in which, the following year, they sailed their way eastward way up the river to the Bay of Quinte, landing at Adolphustown on June 16, 1784. Thus was begun the first United Empire Loyalist settlement in Canada.

Monday, hundreds of descendants of these United Empire Loyalists gathered from near and far to pay tribute til the memory of their sturdy ancestors, and to rekindle the fires of loyalty to the British flag. They came by all manner of transportation. Some few arrived in the old Hay Bay Church by boat, the method used by all in the early days; others used the horse, while by far the greater number of the two thousand present came by motor car.

Old Church Used

The ceremonies at Hay Bay Church, built in 1792, were of two parts. In the forenoon they were of a distinctly religious character, and to the old Hay Bay Church, more of the patriotic and historic type.

The outstanding feature of the proceedings was the participation by high officials of both the Anglican Church and the United Church of Canada. The Rev. T. P. Loucks, of Gananoque, greeted the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada, and at St. Paul's Hay Bay Church, he M.A.D.D., LL.D., of the Anglican Church, gave inspiring address and without mentioning church union, the whole situation seemed to emphasize that possibility.

The lists of the Adolphustown congregation of the United Church served both dinner and buffet lunch. Some 300 attended. The standing address was delivered by Rev. Canon Bidwell Bailey, who also gave an interesting address. Col. Allen of Kingston, and William Ruttan, one of the subscribers to the building fund of the old church at Adolphustown, participated in which the ceremonies were held. Brig.-General H. H. Dunbar of Belleville, represented the City Council, in an eloquent and fitting address. W. S. Herrington, K.C., the Most Rev. Orward Hardy Hiltz, D.D., traced the close association between Saint Mauregus and Loyalists. W. S. Morden, K.C., Manager of the Canadian Bell Telephone Company, Toronto, and a descendant of an old Loyalist family, brought out some interesting information concerning the early settlement of this district. Major V. McLean Howard, President of the United Empire Loyalists Association of Canada, explained the objects and aims of the United Empire Loyalist Association. The Reeve of Ameliasburg and the Warden of the County of Lennox and Addington, John A. Weese, M.P. and Charles Marshall, M.P.P. also addressed the gathering.

The Days of Old

W. C. Mikel, K.C., of Belleville, acted as Chairman. In opening he referred to the injunction of Governor Simcoe to Deuteronomy "Remember the days of old, consider the years of many generations." He also contrasted the great sufferings of the Loyalists during the depression, known as Hunger Year with the present conditions when the monetary institutions are full of money, the warehouses full of goods, and transportation facilities unsurpassed.

The thanks of the gathering were tendered to Mr. Mikel at the close and a request was made to have the Pilgrimage made an annual celebration.

Regrets and good wishes were received from the Governor-General, Premier Bennett, Premier Henry Sir Allen Aylesworth, Sir Archibald MacDonald, Sir Robert Borden, Lieut.-Governor of New Brunswick and many others.

Mr. Joseph B. Allison, 93 years of age, addressed the gathering,

COMPLAINT BY HON. MR. KING

Declares Mail and Empire Heading Quite Beside Facts

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 4.—Before the House of Commons closed its final sitting of the present session, Right Hon. Mackenzie King, leader of the Opposition, rose on a question of privilege to complain against a newspaper report.

Mr. King—Before we proceed further, there is a matter of personal privilege to which I wish to speak.

Mr. Bennett—Would my right honorable friend rather speak now or at a later stage?

Mr. Mackenzie King—I would rather have it on the matter now, because this is the first opportunity I have had with the Honorable in the chair, and I feel that the matter is important. I have in my hand a copy of The Toronto Mail and Empire of Saturday, August 1, which started the Federal by-election across the front page:

"Bennett Says King Told Senator Haydon: Get The Money."

A little further down the page there is a sub-heading:

"Thrusting an accusing, quivering forefinger directly at Mr. King, Mr. Bennett declared in searing tones that the Liberal leader had said to his friend, Senator Haydon, 'Go and get money' and that Senator Haydon had promptly gone and got it from Beauharnois."

"May I say that I could see nothing in the speech made by the Prime Minister, from beginning to end, to justify any such charge as the Right Honorable Gentleman at any time in this House which justifies the heading appearing there or the statement it have read. The Prime Minister is in the House of Commons in front of me at the moments and I should like him to say whether he ever made any statement of the kind.

"I am making this statement for the reason that it may become necessary for me, if this kind of statement is repeated by any individual or any newspaper in this country, to consider whether I shall not take proceedings by action for criminal libel. And I do not wish the party who produces the statement to be able to say he is in self-defence that he did not know that I am an opportunity in the House of Commons, and had not taken advantage of it first to correct the statement and to state to the House what was true.

Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett—It is not usual on a question of privilege to reply to a speech. The practice has been ruled that this is improper. Nor is it usual to make threats against those who are not members of the House, or those who are members. This is not regarded as a question of privilege. On a question of privilege it is the right of every member to deny the accuracy of reports that have been made with respect to what he has said in this House. The Right Honorable Gentleman was perfectly within his rights in availing himself of the opportunity to deny the accuracy of the report to which he has alluded. I have not looked at the report, but if the Right Honorable Gentleman says that he has gone over Hansard and that the statements made in the newspaper to which he refers are not extracts from speeches reprinted in Hansard, then it must be that the statements are incorrect. I am perfectly content to take his word in that regard. Beyond that I cannot go."

The incident then closed.

24 HOUR STRIKE GETS UNDER WAY

Havana, Aug. 4 (CP)—The herald 24-hour strike, expected to involve 40,000 or more workmen affiliated with the Cuban National Labor Confederation, officially got under way at one minute past midnight today.

A bomb set off by unknown persons at San Jose and Manrique Sts. shortly before the new hour, broke windows in nearby buildings and damaged the streets, There were no arrests.

Labor leaders said about 30 unions would take part in the strike, called in support of striking street car employees in protest of imprisonment of workmen and government restriction of meetings.

Dr. Octavio Zubizarreta, interior secretary, told the Associated Press the strike was backed by Communist influence. He indicated his fears that it might last longer than 24 hours.

THIS MAD WORLD

MADOC WELCOMES BACK NATIVE SONS

Four-Day Round of Festivities at Madoc As Old Timers Return

Ceremonies Opened Saturday, Sunday's Program Religious

MONDAY'S PARADE

Today Old Boys and Girls Went Back to School Again

Success for the first Reunion in the history of Madoc village is assured. From the rock-bound shores of New Brunswick the sunny slopes of the Pacific, the frontier towns of the north, and far-off California they came. Hundreds of them eager for a glimpse of the scenes of their childhood. Rewarded the pretty northern village which witnessed such a throng as never before. Today, after a long ago, congealed though the years were greeted with a welcome swept down on the community.

The Reunion had its opening on Saturday and will conclude tonight with a grand street carnival which will be a fitting climax to the event which had its beginning months ago in the minds of a group of energetic citizens of Madoc. The committee set to work stone untumed to provide entertainment of a character befitting for the visitors and the job has been well done. The program included all those things which go to make a real old time reunion.

Many of those who are in attendance have not visited Madoc for almost a decade. Some for scores of old faces were missing. The visitors were slow to fall in the general carnival spirit which literally took over the town. Friday Saturday was devoted to registrations and on the night of the latter one thousand had signed the book in Wellman's office.

Church Parades

Church parades on Sunday drew out hundreds as the various churches filled to the doors. Every church full regalia. At the Trinity United Church Rev. A. B. Rivers preached an eloquent sermon to the members of the Masonic order. Brethren from districts lodges revelled the parade which many old timers augmented the gathering. The Congregation were at the Methodist Church where Rev. Gallery Reynolds had a special message for the members of the order. In the afternoon Madoc Lodge No. 179 I.O.O.F. and Oddfellows Lodge No. 134 paraded to St. Peter's Presbyterian Church where Rev. T. G. Marshall delivered a discourse to Oddfellows that will work. Ed Phillips is Noble Grand of the Madoc Oddfellows and Colin Ross is Recording Secretary. Following the service at the Church, the Oddfellows and Rebekahs marched to the war memorial where ceremonies took place. The following which they went to the cemetery. The graves of the following deceased members of the order were decorated.

On Sunday evening members of the Loyal Orange Lodge assembled at the Anglican Church where Major Bedford of Warkworth preached. He was assisted by Rev. Gailey Heyland and Rev. H. Hooper, the latter a former Minister of the Church but now of New Brunswick for almost a decade her pretties on holiday. Early in the morning the Orangemen assembled at the bunting flags and streamers, welcomed another large crowd. The Callihunpan parade attracted them.

Callihunpan Parade

Marshall Dr. Fraser Hoel throughout and scores of comic flavia dressed cars, unique and well-designed floats featured in the procession. They passed through the principal streets in the following order,—Miss Madoc (Donna Sills), Marshall Walter Way; Miss Madoc on horse-back; Northumberland Regimental Band of Campbellford, Dominion Store float, Henderson and Goodsell, Lions Kiwanis car, Decorated cars Peterboro, Metropolitan Life Insurance Company float, Madoc Milling Co. Flour, McIntosh Brothers, Billy Bumstead and John Armstrong (Blacksmith Shop on Wheels); Robert Comerford, John Ross of Campbellford, C. I. Ross, Ross Sweetman, and Goodsell, Lions West, P. H. Naylor, C. B. Johnston, eleven cars from Peterboro Canning Male Choir. Madoc dressed in yellow and black colours of Madoc Model School, Eldorado Factory, Percy Gunn, Firestone Tires, T. H. Rupert and Arthur Bird.

It was a splendid parade and those taking part drew rounds of applause from the hundreds of spectators. William Bill and his wife dressed as an old couple, George Way and Bill Bowen, Jack Armstrong and Billy Brooks, Wilbur Fox, Jack Kincaid and Ruby Nickle, Billy McBain and "Buck" Rubin were probably the choice of the characters, although all were exceedingly good. Billy Hawthorne had the honour of being the youngest to take part in the parade.

Yesterday afternoon the Agricultural Park was the scene of activities and hundreds assembled at the beautiful new park. The chief event was a soccer game between Madoc and Stirling which resulted in a win for the latter by a score of 5-3. The line-up were as follows:

The Delcro Club had the best of the play throughout, however, the home team held them well the in the first half. The referee was of Madoc refereed.

Murphy & Winner

"The race track was the scene of the 2.30 races and the 2.40 trot and pace mile events with Eric Armitage and George Campbell both of Oshawa's finishing first and second respectively. Unfortunately a dispute marred the proceedings in the latter event when it was claimed that the two beautiful silver trophies should go to the owners of cross players. It was claimed that the decision was due to the distance by forty yards, mistaking the course.

In the two hundred and fifty yards race Jack Murphy of Belleville was the winner with Bob Robinson Nickle of Madoc was second. Murphy's time was thirty-two. The two hundred yards dash being followed by Murphy, Robinson and Clin Nickle of the same place.

Trau

A fat light between "Toey" Dey of Oshawa and Bill Bowen, also of Oshawa, featured the lacrosse game. The affair was the first game of the year out Cardinal and he was carried helpless from the field. The latter was given the decision over Dey.

The Campbellford boys succeeded in scoring the first score of the 6-3. Dundas playing second home and score a hard shot past Clarke a few minutes before one, to break the ice.

It was an exciting game with the Madoc team having the better balance of the play. King, Whitton, Ingram and Dundas shone for Campbellford with Clarke and Stephen turning in smart games for the losers. The line-ups were:

Oshawa—Goal, Garrison and Clarke; point, Bailey and Lamb; cover; first defence, Stephen; second defence, Ingram; centre, Clendenning; second home, Bovin; first home, Whitton; outside home, Dundas; inside home, J. Cardinal; subs, Munro and Goodwin.

Campbellford—Goal, Sanders, point, McArthur; cover, Mayber; first defence, Ross; second defence, Lang; centre, Iley; second home, Dundas; first home, Hall; outside home, Ingram; inside home, King; subs, Robertson and Bell. Referee, Armstrong of Havelock handled a capable game.

The scoring was:

First Quarter—Iley, Campbellford; Bovin, Oshawa; F. Ingram, Campbellford; second quarter—

Bovin, Oshawa; King, Campbellford; Bovin, Oshawa. Third quarter — Whitton, Oshawa; Ingram. Fourth quarter — Garrison, Oshawa; Cardinal, Oshawa; Ingram, Campbellford.

The committee in charge of the celebration is: — President, George Healy; Secretary-Treasurer, Lawrence Dr. McRae; First Vice-President, W. Ford; Second Vice-President, H. Curry, F. H. Naylor, George Wright, Robert McCoy, Harry Gayter, G. H. Rogers, E. J. Reid, A. C. Bell, W. J. Bedford, C. R. Johnston, E. T. Nay, James Watson, J. L. Rutherford, W. H. McLean, Percy Holland.

Over one thousand visitors were registered up until last night. Misses Alice Wood and Ida Brown were in charge and the girls were given a royal welcome.

This morning the old boys and old girls went back to school again. They had their old teacher on hand and hours were granted to them for the old way. It was one of the pleasing features of the day. The girls in their short gingham dresses and the boys in their shirtsleeves and trousers created many a laugh. They trooped into the old model room and at the stroke of nine, wrote "mash" notes on the blackboard and swapped yarns of the good old days.

Thirty-five of the leading professional exhibitors attending the Canadian National Exhibition derby were on hand at Madoc Park this afternoon where a five-mile event was run off, Buddy Wisenor being the big splash.

Constable Devolin worked hard and long controlling traffic and maintaining order and he did the job so well that not one serious accident has been reported. A squad of Provincial Police were also on hand.

The oldest resident of Madoc village, Mrs. McIntosh, former school teacher in the Model School, was out early and late extending the glad hand to her former pupils and many of whom she has not seen in two decades.

Mr. Harry Connor of Vancouver and Mr. and Mrs. Reid of New Brunswick came the longest distance for the reunion and as none of them had been back for many years it was an eventful occasion for them.

William and Mrs. Bill Bowen were father conducted a printing plant. were visitors at Madoc a few years but neither was able to remain for the reunion. It is eighty-two years since they visited their birthplace.

After the basketball game yesterday afternoon, the old-timers staged a lacrosse game and truth to tell some of them can still wield the gutted stick with the best of them. George Wright, Walter Ashpock, Colin Ross, George West, and others were scurrying around showing their stuff in real fashion. At one time Madoc had one of the best lacrosse teams in this part of Canada.

Merchants are displaying relics of old days and one of the most in the window of George Wright's store which attracts widespread attention. It is a collection of photographs including former lacrosse teams and the trophies won in the good old days.

Chief of Police Bromley of Campbellford was one of the merriest of Sunday. His task was easy as there things lively all day.

Over three thousand attended the memorial service on Sunday and the Canton from Belleville Oddfellows Lodge received many fine compliments on their splendid appearance. Madoc is a mecca for visitors. Every cottage bears the welcome sign and the hotels are filled all around.

The first reunion in Madoc's history and make no mistake about it, it's going over big.

HOLIDAY CLAIMS SEVEN LIVES

Toronto, Aug. 4.—Celebration of Civic Holiday in the majority of Ontario municipalities throughout the Province yesterday claimed seven lives.

Brilliant sunshine, tempted by a cool breeze, lured citizens out by the hundreds to picnic and camping grounds, bathing beaches and the athletic competitions which headlined entertainment programs in many cities and towns.

Highways were jammed with holiday traffic throughout yesterday morning until late at night but despite the heavy traffic serious accidents were few. Three persons were killed in crashes.

Saint John, N.B., Aug. 4.—A 10-pound-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gallant used as a playmate by children and elders throughout the district, although he is a group on the Loch Lomond Road Saturday, narrowly escaping Miss Agnes Sullivan of Saint John. Leaving the girl unconscious on the road, the goose attacked screaming children and those who hurried to Miss Sullivan's assistance. Hailed by a dog, the animal ran back into the bushes. Miss Sullivan suffered painful injuries about the body.

HEAVY SEAS HAMPERED SEA FLEA EVENTS

Races Could Not Start Until Wind Flattened Out

THRILLING SPORT

"Curly" Boulter, Local Boy Held His own with Classy Drivers

Rouht weather, which deterred the Sea Flyers from showing their best performance, disappointed several thousand people at the Exhibition, who journeyed to the Country Club yesterday afternoon to witness the races arranged for by the Directors of that club. A heavy west wind blew in from Lake Ontario at times assumed proportions of a gale, and kept the drivers busy trying at anchor. The wind however, flattened later in the afternoon and the committee in charge decided to start their events, including some of the thrills, that residents in by-parts of the Province, have been neglected.

Old Timers Present

There were many old timers who knew the Bay of Quinte when it was a real sailing, and wide its beautiful yachts and commodious and palatial club house. Amongst these new racing machines that were making the public fares but they left convinced the feel of the stiff wind that blew perfectly set on a rating yacht, was better than watching them from the shore. The younger generation who were looking for thrills, were not wide for its these little frail craft leaped and plunged through the choppy water not knowing what minute they would be tossed in the air and toss the driver into the spay. The Sea Flea is a boat 13 feet 6 inches and a few rated with the best on the American side. Each boat is built to show the railbirds a few things about driving this speedy craft through a very terrific rates of speed and they did not disappoint.

Perfect Setting

The setting for the day directly in front of the Club House was an ideal one, and was enjoyed at odd times. Everything from the lugger to the pleasure craft were made practically at anchor, the bows of the boats pointing into the wind and the pier-waters bile abound with merry and bright. The Virginian Reel Second as at the dock and further out was the Barnette, flagship of the Sea Flea fleet, and was skippered by W. J. Hume, a former resident of Belleville, whose numerous friends were inboard runabouts all agree that the Sea Flea is a beautiful craft foam fare and wide as they raced past each mark with their lines wide open. It was a picturesque scene.

Tommy McClure in Charge

The meet was in charge of Tommy McClure, Secretary of the Canadian Power Boat Association, who handled things with his usual efficiency. Modore J. H. Ardiel of the C. P. B. A. was also present, and was in charge of spells, while the drivers were getting their boats in shape. Also some of them going out in the spay with the boats to demonstrate the ease of their craft and bring back a report.

Don Woods, of Peterboro, flipped "Miss Peterboro" and got himself disqualified. His craft was not damaged but he was fortunate in having his passenger, Ted Peterboro, duck down in the second heat of the free for-all and so C. G. Hope was saved from being struck by the rudder sahore. The drivers who were present were Ted Peterboro, Andy Clelidhe, champion D Class boat, Harry Brandell, Commodore of Oakville; Bill Butley, of Guelph, Canadian C. Class champion; Alex MacKenzie, Bob Carter, Dykes Symonds, and last but not least, "Curly" Boulter, local driver, who won the respect of every driver on the meet and with his faultless handling of his craft in the afternoon session, with an Evinrude motor.

Local Boy Classes

Instead of running off the events in order the officials decided to commence staged two heats in a free-for-all and an C. Class and Curly Cleland, who came from far back in the first heat, won the event. Mordaunt and Bill Butler finished second apiece. Curly Boulter got a poor send-off but raced into a convincing victory.

In the second heat Andy Cleland took the honors in the sensational champion but it was an unequal contest as Bill Butler was forced to withdraw after the word was given. Jerry Mordaunts finished a close second to Cleland. Boulter was up in the third hole after a clever piece of driving. He had made his bid right at in finishing post and was forced to run into a bank.

When the C Class was called only two competitors were on hand although over the course Boulter was much the best of Dykes Symonds and Bob Carter, who did not finish.

The inboard motor race was a snap for Ernie Rowsome in the Scrambola, a trim speed cruiser and Ernie can certainly handle the tiller. The race was an open affair and seaward driven by Reg Plumley, of Napanee, provided the competition.

Under existing conditions the meet was well handled and there will be a number taking up and becoming enthused with this new sport on water. Though races were broadcast through an outfit set up by Carl Reed and was a great help to the spectators.

17 NEGROES ARE DROWNED

Truck Plunges Through Open Drawbridge at Georgetown

SERVICES ABROAD

Georgetown, S.C., Aug. 4.—Nineteen persons, 17 of them negroes, were drowned last night when a truck plunged through an open drawbridge on the Sampit River near the Georgetown city limits.

Only one person on the crowded truck escaped and that was the first of water in the river a few minutes before midnight. All of those drowned were Andrews, S.C. The one escaping was a negro youth from Georgetown named Fraser.

END SESSION PARLIAMENT

Four and One-Half Months Marked by Many Bitter Clashes

Ottawa, Aug. 4.—To the boom of artillery announcing the proclamation of Canada's 19th Parliament Monday forenoon at noon.

Ending a session which had necessitated 96 days of sitting, the longest in duration and one-half months of the longest session on record, the session ended in comparative quiet, replete with bitter clashes, prorogation was proclaimed by Hon. Hugh Guthrie, acting deputy for Earl Bessborough, Governor-General, at the close of the session. The ceremony, one of the oldest customs of the British Parliament, without necessity of a night session, was performed in the Senate after the Liberal assault upon the passage of estimates had resulted in Senator Bennett adjourning the House shortly before midnight. Proclamation of the session ending which agriculture had been the foremost subject. Led by Hon. W. R. Motherwell, former Minister of Agriculture, voices Liberal and Progressive alike attacked the government's farm policy as it was set forth in submitted sharp attacks from the Prime Minister and Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture.

Shortly after five o'clock Monday afternoon Mr. Motherwell took the seat after an address in which the latter charged the failure of the administration. His conclusion pay that the war time prohibition and rapid order Premier Bennett, who had been unusually conciliatory to Mr. Motherwell and other C.P.political opponents throughout the session as.d concurrence in the bills and reports which had formally passed, he said very little attention to the proceedings.

In reference to his Dominion Day speech, Mr. Ferguson said:

"I think if there is a better judiciary to be found anywhere than that of Canada, I do not know it. The statement in answer to a query as to the opinion held by the press views on the privy council appeal are well known in Ontario and other parts of Canada where I have been heard and I do not believe but I do notice an improvement."

The plans of Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson include a week or ten days fishing trip at Temagami, Ont., or Nipissing, Ont., before they return home.

Lord Beaverbrook expressed the opinion that there would be no election before the Great Britain Empire year and then, he predicted there would be a Conservative victory.

Mr. Ferguson and Lord Beaverbrook declared that he had no interest in the Beauharnois Power Corporation.

STATE OF CROPS

Windsor, Aug. 4. — Corn-borer County Inspector James Hendrick does not believe the corn crop will be any heavy in Essex County. Mr. Hendrick has just completed an inspection tour through the district and forecasts a good crop of corn. Tomatoes will be plentiful and favorable, according to S. B. Struthers, Horticultural Inspector for the Department of Agriculture. The wheat crop is practically all in, and oats are nearly all cut. Field tomatoes are ripening, and canneries are expected to open about the middle of the month. Early tomatoes are still being shipped in large quantities to Canadian markets. Sugar beets are looking excellent growth, and the tobacco crop shows very favorable conditions. Orchard crops are encouraging and good yields seem almost certain in most varieties.

We are growing out of this world of material possessions. It is no longer a distinction to be rich. —Henry Ford.

INTEREST IN BRITAIN KEEN IN DOMINION

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson Back For Vacation and Business

SERVICES ABROAD

Quebec, Aug. 4.—The next few years will be Canada's opportunity in Great Britain," said Hon. G. How ard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner at London, in an interview with newspapermen here Monday. Mr. Ferguson, who arrived in Quebec accompanied by Mrs. Ferguson, said he would stay in Canada until the latter part of September on a brief holiday and part business trip."

During the course of the interview the former Premier of Ontario discussed a wide range of subjects. In reference to Canada's opportunities in Great Britain during the next few years Mr. Ferguson said there had never been a time in the latter section when all classes in England had taken such a keen interest in Canadian affairs. Britons were most anxious to co-operate more closely with Canadians, particularly in the trade exchanges. Evidence of this interest, Mr. Ferguson said, had been shown by the visits of various delegations to the Dominion. Mr. Ferguson had endeavored to interest many concerns in Canada and had advised heads of companies to look to the Dominion over for Dominions. A large number of British business heads would visit Canada during the British Exhibition in Toronto this month, he said.

"The whole atmosphere is not only friendly, but interested," Mr. Ferguson said. "There will be no more investments of British capital and the establishment of new plants and branch factories in the near future."

The recent Canadian convention had been the most successful ever held on the British, especially the willingness of the citizens of the Dominion to come to the assistance of the visitors for a 1-2 per cent. long term bonds, Mr. Ferguson said.

Speaking on the activities of Canada House in London Mr. Ferguson said he hoped to improve the Canadian office in the British capital.

"These are my own views of what can be done and they must of course be discussed in Ottawa while I am in Canada. I think there is a great opportunity to co-ordinate the services. The various ministers of the Dominion visiting London for trade, immigration and that sort of thing and I will discuss it at the chance, through co-operation to add to the value of activity."

Asked if the Beauharnois project would be completed in the event of a loss of British faith in Canadian financial stability, Mr. Ferguson gave his opinion that this had not been the case, the English press had said very little attention to the proceedings.

In reference to his Dominion Day speech, Mr. Ferguson said:

"I think if there is a better judiciary to be found anywhere than that of Canada, I do not know it. The statement in answer to a query as to the opinion held by the press views on the privy council appeal are well known in Ontario and other parts of Canada where I have been heard and I do not believe but I do notice an improvement."

The plans of Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson include a week or ten days fishing trip at Temagami, Ont., or Nipissing, Ont., before they return home.

Lord Beaverbrook expressed the opinion that there would be no election before the Great Britain Empire year and then, he predicted there would be a Conservative victory.

Mr. Ferguson and Lord Beaverbrook declared that he had no interest in the Beauharnois Power Corporation.

BROTHERS DIE AS CAR SINKS

Third Member of Fingal Family Held After Fatality

St. Thomas, Aug. 4.—Tragedy entered the Fingal home at Fingal shortly before midnight Sunday in the death by drowning of two of the young Jack, aged 21, and Norman, aged 20; the arrest of the latter, Mr. Ferguson, on a charge of manslaughter, and the minor inside residents to the home, Mr. Edmund Hagen of Port Stanley.

The two brothers Ingolfer at Port Stanley for the evening and were returning along the Shore Road when their car driven by Theodore, crashed through a guard rail and plunged into a 16-foot embankment into Kettle Creek.

Efforts to secure the release of Theodore so he could attend the funeral of the brothers proved of no avail. An inquest has been ordered for Thursday morning.

Theodore O'Connor is a carpenter in Detroit and had returned home to spend the week-end with members of his family during the Fingal Old Boys' Reunion.

Following the fatal car was one driven by Tom O'Connor, the elder brother, Theodore, and, he stopped at the top of the bank and ran down to the water's edge shouting for assistance. Jumping into the water he found that he was able to stand on the upturned wheels of the car and keep his head above water easily. He saw his brother and Hagen come out, and then, as none others appeared, he dived into the water in the hope of drawing them out. Hagen, it was injured, and Theodore O'Connor also dived into the water but couldn't reach the victims.

HYDRO'S SECOND CUT

Saturday's announcement of a second reduction in the rates to electrical consumers of Belleville was a pleasant surprise on the eve of civic holidays. The first cut early in 1930 was estimated to save the pocketbooks of the consumers of the city no less than thirty thousand dollars approximately and the latest to net a saving in bills of about $24,000.

The Hydro utility has been a paying concern so far for even the two reductions in the rates do not wipe out the earnings of the utility. The plant has a record of saving some sixty thousand dollars per year.

Last week Belleville's sold a utility, the gas system, because it had a record none too good for the plant had been allowed to run down and too late the work of reclamation was begun. It has been put in up-to-date condition and will suit the purposes of the new owners, but the financial obligations were heavier than the city cared to continue to meet in the face of what seemed a good offer which not only lifted the financial obligations but assured the people a gas industry which will yet be one of the greatest assets of the city in the eyes of the citizens and of the new owners.

With the Hydro Electric distribution system in the hands of the municipality, the local commission has opportunity to go out after business. Its performance to date has been such as to give assurance of continued success.

JUST SHAW

Bernard Shaw is on his way home and the world expected epigrams and wit. It is not disappointed. Shaw rises to the topic of black bread and cabbages for he is a vegetarian.

He loves to hand out a shock to capital. As a playwright he would naturally love to have the theatres running full blast, but he was not disappointed to find that most of the theatres were closed for the season, even Communism, serious as it is and given to the carrying out of its ideal, has to let up and take a holiday. So "G. B. S." satisfied himself with Russian films and was not too disappointed at that.

But he had the laugh on the Germans at Berlin when he was forced before a microphone—like it or which he had never seen before, for it had a gauze cover—and he took advantage of that to joke the Germans.

Everything Shaw says is not believed. He knows that, but he also knows that he is the world's appointed socialist who has the best possible way to put socialism or any other "ism" across—with good-natured laughter. A serious Shaw—never smiling, never mocking—if he were like the gloomy Russians whose works lower like thunder clouds with doom—would not captivate the world as Bernard does. And, perhaps, there is the greater possibility of successful as a Shavian idea than in a Karl Marx for the pill is not badly coated and may be swallowed. Shaw makes socialism so that people are not afraid of it—they are afraid of Russian ideas of society.

The sanity of Shaw may lead nations which do not want revolution to work into something nearer the ideal in political and institutional life, and also in private living.

"SHELL SHOCK"

The sixth international congress of military medicine and pharmacy has just been held in The Hague. The most striking decision was that there was no such thing as "shell-shock." The term, the congress agreed, was misapplied. "The real disorder by emotional shocks is of particular importance in the genesis of psychoneurosis, leading during the war to post-emotional syndromes." It reported, "but the war has not created psychosis of a new kind, of an evolution hitherto unknown. No new morbid entity has been observed. The terms 'shell-shock' and 'post concussion syndrome' have been wrongly applied at times. It is advisable to close the use of such terms or to limit their application to cases strictly controlled." Commenting upon the report, Lieut.-Col. Francis E. Fronczac, health commissioner of Buffalo, a delegate to the conference, said that medical men are convinced that the victims of "shell-shock" entered the war suffering from some form of neurosis. The conference, added Lieut.-Col. Fronczac, recommended the use of psychiatrists in war time to treat "shell-shock" cases.

The decision may have important results. If there is no such thing as "shell-shock," if it is due primarily to a neurosis which existed before enlistment, pensions may be affected.—Hamilton Spectator.

Steamships are cutting rates to Europe. If only the rates had been cut when money was more free of circulation! But then things are cheap when and because few have the money to buy them in, even a world tour.

THE GARDEN SONG
By Aline Michaelis

Oh, I would have a garden
Of loveliness so rare
That all who came within its bounds
Would find enchantment there!

Each budding rose would whisper
Of seeing Beauty pass,
And in its blushes mirror her
As in a glowing glass.

My garden would cry: "Welcome!"
At through the changing year,
With wistful charm of falling leaf
No less than April's tear.

But when I sought perfection
And nothing else would do,
Then I would tread in garden ways
Moon-drenched, and damp with dew.

The silver-slippered moonlight,
The mocking-bird's refrain
Within a laughing garden
Bring Eden back again!

LOYALTY

You think of loyalty mostly in relation to your country, or state, or place of residence.

Familiarity with it, its methods, its ideals, its people, its habit of living, its associations, its interests, breed naturally a knowledge and love for it, even when they are not entirely satisfactory.

It's home. Other places are strange. It holds the life, and usually the only life, you live.

It's the place you know and are ready to defend

That's loyalty.

But that's a broad loyalty.

Now, that's really a very important loyalty, both because such a great amount of waking time is spent with that business and because the result of the work is such a great factor in your life.

Some only have a slight temperature of loyalty instead of the high fever of it.

But the trouble with loyalty at a slight temperature is that it has little or no urge in it.

It is indifference. A slight argument or difficulty cools it to zero or below.

It doesn't bring results.

A fine loyalty makes you want to boom the game, help to get better results, to cooperate, to make suggestions, to bring improvement, to think, to plan, and to act.

Loyalty in any degree doesn't consist in merely shouting praises.

It's really best when it's quiet and working for results.

Some will say that your loyalty ought to be first for yourself.

Sure.

And there's the joker.

You're most loyal to yourself when you're loyal to the business with which you are connected, because you best express yourself then.

Loyalty!—If you're a real person you don't have to get it. It'll get you.—B. A. Franklin, in Strathmorean.

SOME FOLKS have the depression bug—so bad that they imagine things. Heard some one say that cement plant at Point Anne was shut down, so visited that bustling burg to see what truth there was in the rumor. Three hundred employees busily engaged in the plant, stacks and the huge plant running night and day, the full twenty-four hours, proved conclusively that some folks can't leave well enough out of whole cloth, which may or may not be a mixed metaphor, but explains what I mean.

WHAT A CONTRAST

A one-cylinder automobile built more than 26 years ago is engaged at this moment in crossing the North American continent under its own power. It is retracing a route it covered in 1905 when it went from New York to Portland, Oregon, in the record-breaking time of 44 days. The man who is driving it, Dwight B. Huss, is the same man who drove it on its maiden voyage.

Mr. Huss ought to get a great deal of fun and satisfaction out of his trip. He will hear the horse-laughs of the automobile and the ribald sallies of the oldsters. But think of the contrasts along the route he will find compared with his first journey.

Imagine what the trip was like in 1905. No "Drive In—It Is Next" signs; no gas pumps gaudily advertising motor fuel; no hot dog stands or "Bar-B-Q" no "Tourist Accommodation" at every turning; no camps; no cabins; no route members; no hitch-hikers; no macadam or concrete pavements; no garages and no service stations.

Twenty-six years ago Dwight Huss had to take his gasoline with him and his roads as he found them. For hundreds of miles he probably rode over nothing more than wheel tracks. Filling stations and auto mechanics were conspicuous by their absence. The country was still the country—remote and isolated.

What a transformation those 26 years represent. What a revolution they have wrought in transportation, in social customs, economic conditions and intellectual outlook. And Mr. Huss' trip symbolizes that revolution.—Christian Science Monitor.

WHERE THE MONEY GOES

Although the public may not be fully aware of the fact, it is clear that the main profits of the speculators lose money. This is shown by the rapid turnover of commission house clientele. Another, if he is frank, will tell you that, except for a very small minority, speculation in any form is a losing venture. The broker's profits from commissions and the State collects its sale tax but this cannot account for all the money that is lost. Someone must get it. We would appreciate your explanation of this mystery. Yours truly, E.K.J.

This letter brings up another interesting point but there is no mystery about it. As has been pointed out, the broker and the State derive a cash income whether the speculates wins or loses. Some part of the money he loses, of course, goes to the small minority of successful speculators. This, however, is a very small part of the picture. The bulk of the speculator's loses in securities obviously is translated ultimately into profits for investors. That is, investors in boom times sell stocks to speculators at high prices and in hard times buy speculative holdings at bargain prices. The results are not so simple in the case of commodity speculation. The losses of the wheat speculator, for example, sometimes benefit the farmer and sometimes the consumer, since a bull speculation enables the farmer to get more for his product and in the reverse swing of the pendulum enables the wheat consumer to buy to greater advantage. But the ultimate gain is no greater than this. The function of the speculator is invaluable in maintaining a free and efficient market. Few realize that he actually is the one who is running the market, provides free insurance for real buyers and sellers and, in the case of stocks, the great majority of speculators, does a huge service in financing capital producer or to the consumer.—Wall St. Journal.

NEW ART MOVEMENTS

They have started a new art movement in Swedish. They purpose to make all things beautiful, Mr. Ivor Tengbom, director-in-chief of the royal board of public works, has written about it in The American Architect. It is considered quite revolutionary. Beautify office and factory buildings, plan to have municipalities insist on monumental structures and even the bridges be works of architecture. Woodsheds, pigsties and silos being considered worthy of artistic art. Writing in The American City Miss Marian Mead commenta on the signs on the highways which bid us "Good-bye, come again." These papers, she says, seldom have any feature which would induce tourists to pull over to the side of the road. Instead of many places in Canada, the scenery may delight, but the buildings are ugly, architectural beauty is not merely a question of dollars and cents. Beauty does not necessarily be incompatible with economy. Roofs, porches and public buildings are not the only edifices which should delight the eye. There are evidences of a trend away from ugliness. Hot dog stands and gasoline stations are now designed with an eye to attractiveness. They may be pioneers in a movement towards architectural loveliness. They appear to be insane aberrations on our city continent we are developing.—Hamilton Times.

IS THE FARM LABOURER BETTER OFF THAN THE INDUSTRIAL WORKER?

While wages of farm labourers are exceedingly low there are some who believe that a labourer is actually better off in the rural district, Mr. Folsom of the United States Bureau of Agriculture Economics says the real farm wage exceeds the wage of the unskilled industrial workers in the cities. This comes about because the bir-den of the farm receives not only cash but board and room, or if married often a house, fuel, food, garden space, privileges of keeping livestock. Mr. Folsom puts this at an average of $30 a month farm wages. At city prices this per-on the side would be double-d, it is estimated.

Most people will be inclined to doubt Mr. Folsom's assertion, but there is a good deal in his contention. Particularly during a period of depression the labourer on the farm is usually in a better position than the wages of the city man who rarely has to be aided. A farm labourer who has a good connection with his employer or employers, is some times in an enviable position. —Owen Sound Sun-Times.

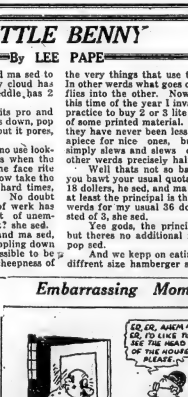
LITTLE BENNY
By LEE PAPE

We was eating supper and ma sed to pop, After all, Willyum, every cloud has its silver lining and every meddle has 2 sides.

Likewise every con has its pro and every goose that goes up has its down, pop sed. However, it never rains but it pores, so whats the use? he ask.

Quite the contrary, theres no use looking on the dark side of things when the brite side is staring u in the face rite around the corner, ma sed. Now take the question of these so called hard times, thats what I was thinking of. No doubt times are hard and shortage of work has given rise to a certain amount of unemployment, but whats the result? she ask.



You tell me, pop sed, and ma sed, The result is that prices are toppling down like autum leaves, and its possible to be economical through the very cheepness of the very things that use to be expensive. In other words what goes out of one pockit flies into the other. Now for instants at this time of the year I invarably make it a practice to buy 2 or 3 lite summer dresses of some printed material. In recent years they have never been less than 12 dollers a peice for nice ones, but today I saw simply skews and slews of them at 6, in other words precisely half, she sed.

Well thats not so bad, pop sed. If you bawt your usual quota of 3 you saved 18 dollers, ha sed, and ma sed, Exackly, or at least the principal is the same. In other words for my usual 36 dollers I got 6 instead of 3, she sed.

Yes gads, the principal is the same but theres no additional intrist, you win, pop sed.

And we kept on eating supper, being diffrent size hamberger stakes.

CHANGES MADE IN TELEGRAPHS

Canadian National Abolish Posts Following Economic Policy

Montreal, Que., Aug 4—Economies in the operation of the Canadian National Telegraphs will be effected with the reorganization of the department to bring it more into conformity with railway practice, according to an announcement issued today by D. E. Gadsbury, Assistant Vice-President, C.D.N. National Railways, under whose jurisdiction the telegraph service is carried on. The abolition of a number of posts, and the rearrangement of officers' duties will combine commercial and plant activities, under one head and will put the telegraphs on a divisional rather than a departmental basis, General Superintendents and Traffic Managers will report directly to the General Manager and to them will be responsible District Superintendents in charge of both commercial and business and plant operations. At present a separate officer is responsible for each section.

Effective August 1st, A. C. Macdonnell, Assistant General Manager will retire after 55 years of faithful service, and his position will be abolished. A. P. Linnell is appointed Assistant to General Manager, with headquarters at Toronto his present position. Superintendent of Railway Telegraph Service, Eastern Lines. The position of General Commercial Superintendent is abolished and H. W. Bell, who holds it, has been appointed Chief of Traffic and Operation with headquarters at Toronto. K. C. Hunter, Office Assistant to the General Manager, has been appointed Chief of Tariffs, Leased Wires, and Commercial News Dispatch, with headquarters at Toronto. With the abolition of the position of General Plant Superintendent, K. Kenyard has been appointed Chief of Plant, his headquarters also being at Toronto.

Pigeons were employed as carriers by the Ancients.

- WEDDINGS -

THOMPSON—SQUIER

Trenton, Aug. 4—Dignity and charm characterized the lovely mid summer wedding held in King Street United Church, Trenton, Saturday, Aug. 1, when Mary Margaret, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Gaichell Squier, was married to William Thompson, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Thompson of Belleville. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. A. E. Jones, pastor of the church, before an altar banked with gladioli, chrysanthemums and ferns while lighted candelabra held a profusion of these flowers. Mendelssohn's Wedding March was the organ processional. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, who gave her in marriage. Her exquisite gown of white satin fell in graceful folds to the floor and the bodice was fashioned with long, tight-fitting sleeves, while a soft fold of the material draped from the mid-line in the back. Her tulle veil was arranged in lovely fashion with real Point Lace. The bridal bouquet of Ophelia roses and orchids was presented by her father-in-law, and she wore the groom's gift, a beautiful pearl and gold watch. Miss Gertrude Rathbun made a charming bridesmaid in a gown of pink net over pink taffeta, jacquette of pink taffeta and a large pink cabbage trimmed with a bow of delphinium blue velvet, blue shoes and pink mitts and hat. Her bouquet was of Premier roses and forget-me-nots.

Miss Mary Squier, maid of the bride, received, wearing a becoming gown of black georgette with black picture hat of mallines and satin. Mrs. Thompson chose for her gown of navy blue georgette with black picture hat of mallines and satin. Mrs. Thompson wore a navy blue ensemble and was wearing a frock of black georgette when Mrs. Squier, mother of the bride, received, wearing a becoming gown of black

NATIONALS ASSURED OF PLAYOFF BERTH

GIBSON'S SINGLE IN NINTH STARTED RALLY PRODUCING 5 RUNS DEFEATING PETES 6-4

"Al" Heckman, Veteran of Mafy Campaigns Threw a Real Game, Whiffing Ten but Weakened in Ninth. Pointer Showed Terrific Speed, Setting Down Eleven of Opposition. Many Costly Errors Cost the Petes the Game. Belleville, However Taking Advantage of the Breaks. Nationals Were Outhit. Moore Made Spectacular Catch of Mills' Line Drive.

Peterboro, Ont., Aug 4. — (By Special Correspondent)—A ninth inning victory for the Belleville Nationals at Stephenson park Saturday afternoon ushered the petes final out of any chance for a playoff berth in the Central Ontario League. The ninth frame was the highlight of a really exciting ball game, which might be considered the, other half of the 6th in which the two clubs had battled in the Quinte City early in the evening before breaking into that fiery final the teams were knotted 1-1 on the afternoon struggle (4-5 in 17 innings) of play if you like to consider that how had just resulted the balls batted in Belleville less than twenty four hours on account of darkness. Then the breaks came and the Nationals got them as though lady luck has frowned on the Petes all the season.

Stage Batting Rs by

Anyway the Nats chased across six runs, and it might be added just to emphasize, that quib about breaks, that some of them were earned. It looked as though victory had been robbed from Walter Gerow's standard again and so it proved, but Walter did not accomplish another lusty try, down without much of a purpose swinging their bats when they came to bat, they pushed through Pointer's delivery in that last desperate effort for their first victory. They chased three runs across, and the fans by the ears, and Gerow's heart to his mouth. Looking at the game from another angle, the knocking fans oft repeat, that they never know back and did give them little to cheer about. Gibson singled a all But Al Heckman staged a scorebank in this game and with a vengeance that he hadn't twisted in any kind of a game since the reason of 1929 he showed, that the old throughing arm had lost little, if any of its skill.

Heckman Impressive

With the shouts of the fans ringing in his ears, in all the Nats's eating from his hand. Using the same old hook, the same old control with something less than the same old speed, he whiffed ten batters on strikes, allowed but seven widely scattered hits and should have gone the route out. When Al first tucked in his shirt on the mound Belleville did not go to the most hopeful fan figured, way down deep in their hearts that the old master would have to call for relief about the fourth frame. As about out there turning them back inning after inning and seven, weakened to the bitter end.

Pointer Breezed Them Through

But the reappearance of the Petes veteran to the mound and his amazing control of the elusive ball from the equally great display given by Ginger Pointer, the National's youthful star. Unloosing such speed, that has not been seen before in this season, Pointer whiffed eleven at the plate on strikes. As did Heckman, he showed his greatest ability in the pinches and in the stretch, with the bases full knocking on the door, retired the side on fast one in the ninth and three in the seventh as Heckman did in the second. Pointer in this hit he gave them well separated, except for the ninth, by relief pitching. Scott opened the entertainment when he caught on to Heckman's fast one and lifted it into the bushes in deep centre for three bases. Sinclair, the next man up, Mills drew a walk. In trying to walk Mills Heckman forced Gerow wild and Scott scored. That one run was proper and ligger as the teams went on inning after innings without scoring again. Both were close but the pitchers would turn on the steam and the batters would respond. In the eighth the Petes came through to tie it up. Winchell Parker and Rogers rapped out a ringing double-to score him.

The Good Old 9th

Then came the eventful ninth. With R. Green out, M. Green was hit by a pitched ball. He was safe at second when Hutchings looped a roller down the first base line to Hickey who made to get Green at second and threw low. Pointer whiffed, Gibson singling for Darrah became the hero of the game for Belleville, when he raised a hit into centre to score Gregg. A walk to Scott and a single by E. Weir account for two more, Hutchings and Gibson scoring. Sinclair did score Scott and V. Weir, Hickey opened the Petes half with a single Johnson singled, MacDonald was safe on E. Green error, Hillier forced counter Johnson and MacDonald,

VICTORIAS IN FIRST PLACE

Jeffery Hurls Team to Victory Over Picton

Belinda the masterful plubbing of "Chuck" Jeffery the local Victoria combined first place in the Trent Valley league last evening when they defeated the Picton by the score of 9 to 0. The Vics played championship ball throughout the nine innings and deserved their win.

"Chuck" Jeffery pitched his first full game and in the three years turned in about the best exhibition of twirling that has been seen in Belleville in the intermediate ranks. Opposing him was Bobby Cooper. Cole buried a real smart game similar to that which he pitched against the C.I.A.C.O. girls last night by the score of 6 to 4.

"Class will tell," the National

The C.I.A.C.O. management used all their players to try and stop the slugging machine of the Maids but with no avail. It looks to me as though the girls are in a class by themselves.

The fans missed a smart ball game last night when the Intermediate Victorias beat Picton 9 to 0. "Chuck" Jeffery, pitching his first full game in three years, turned in almost a perfect game.

A lot of credit is due "Chuck" for his effort in the box for three base but was called out at first when he was about safe. This play did not help the moral of Picton pitcher, but he seem to take "in the game" from then on. It looked as though there were too many managers for the Picton club as each member of the team seemed to have a word to say as to how the team should be run. There should be only room for one.

Oh boy what a crowd of tennis players we had here yesterday. They were here to Oshawa in the west. Our friend "Army" Armstrong was on the job I see.

But the local tennis players did not let us down as well. Leona Riggs and Mrs. Hanna were put-out in the first end of the ladies doubles.

The Black Bros., "Pease" and Twiney, got up a real battle but they went down to defeat in the second round, these boys deserve a lot of credit as they battled back until the last ditch.

I was glad to see Mrs. Hanna and "Rene" Drumleau win the mixed doubles. They saved the day for Belleville.

"Ride 'em cowboy".

"Hot dawg", did you see the water boys' at "Sea-Sea" or what ever they called them yesterday? How do they do it and live? I'll never tell you.

'Bob' Carter and 'Dan' Wood gave the fans a lot of excitement when they went out for trials and took a drink in the bay, (More thrills.)

The management on the regatta are to be complimented on the way they tried to entertain the fans while the wind was blowing. It was too bad that the races could not have been run off as schedule.

But we poor mortals cannot order just what weather we want or when we want it, so the races were put on eventually as every one was happy.

I met "Dunker" Simmons up at the Country Club dock. He had two boats entered. 'Decker' is an old Belleville boy... And was glad to greet some of his old friends!

There were twelve "sea-fleas" ready to start had the weather been right but the Saturday blow set in were the events completed. In fact the semi-finals and final was played in semi-darkness. The three events were the men's doubles, the ladies' doubles and the mixed. The doubles and Belleville succeeded in capturing the men's events, when Mrs. D. M. Hannah and Rene Drumleau the ladies doubles, defeated Weston and Richardson of Oshawa after a hard fought set three had sets had been played. The Campbellford girls had won the first set handily but the young pair from the Limestone City came strong to take the second set to square the match. They had too much left hoverery and easily won the third. The scores of the sets were 6-3, 4-6, 6-4. Campbellford and Longmore of Campbellford succeeded in defeating Misses Bowers and Graham of Tweed in the ladies doubles, the scores being 6-2, 6-4. This was probably an upset as Misses Bowers and Graham just finished a hard game to get in the finals and were immediately called upon the court in order to finish the tournament. The score of this match was 6-2, 6-4. The Belleville pair winning quite handily. They had to play considerably keen all the afternoon and was forced to go the limit. The rounds were as follows in the different events.

BELLEVILLE WON MIXED DOUBLES AT TOURNEY

Mrs. D. M. Hannah and R. Drunleau Successful in This Event.

AT COUNTRY CLUB

Seventy Players Took Part in Annual Tournament

Under the auspices of the Bay of Quinte Tennis Club a successful and full tennis tournament was held on the holiday on the courts at the Bay of Quinte Country Club. It was the annual eastern Ontario tournament and some seventy players gathered from Oshawa, Bowmanville, Belleville, Trenton, Campbellford, Deseronto and Kingston were on hand for participation and many brilliant tennis was witnessed by the large gallery and many upsets occurred in the afternoon's play. The visitors were entertained to lunch at the Country Club and in the evening a dance was staged in their honor, which was contingent joining with the sea flea drivers in an enjoyable time. The directors of the Country Club and the management of the Tennis Club certainly outdid themselves in hospitality and all left with the best of good wishes for the success of the afternoon and evening.

Three Days Staged

There were three events staged and it was not until Saturday final set in were the events completed. In fact the semi-finals and final was played in semi-darkness. The three events were the men's doubles, the ladies' doubles and the mixed. The doubles and Belleville succeeded in capturing the men's events, when Mrs. D. M. Hannah and Rene Drumleau the ladies doubles, defeated Weston and Richardson of Oshawa after a hard fought set three had sets had been played. The Campbellford girls had won the first set handily but the young pair from the Limestone City came strong to take the second set to square the match. They had too much left hoverery and easily won the third. The scores of the sets were 6-3, 4-6, 6-4. Campbellford and Longmore of Campbellford succeeded in defeating Misses Bowers and Graham of Tweed in the ladies doubles, the scores being 6-2, 6-4. This was probably an upset as Misses Bowers and Graham just finished a hard game to get in the finals and were immediately called upon the court in order to finish the tournament. The score of this match was 6-2, 6-4. The Belleville pair winning quite handily. They had to play considerably keen all the afternoon and was forced to go the limit. The rounds were as follows in the different events.

Nearly 20 years Walter Hagen has waited to finally win the Canadian open golf title. During that time he has bagged every other title of any note. When Bobby Jones passed up all the active golf picture, it was believed that the game of the century pill would take a drop, but apparently the critics were wrong, for the Canadian open has added more lustre to the limelight so far as the game is concerned. The Hagen-Jones duel in the play-off will go down with the Jones-Farrell play-off at Olympic Fields and the more recent Von Elm-Burke play-off at Inverness as one of the most spectacular ever played. It seems that golf's annual tourney has now adopted the habit of ending in ties. One exception to the rule would be the western open. There has not been a tie in this tournament since its inception, over 20 years ago. Starting back to 1914, it would seem the calibre of golfers is getting better. But if the past is any guide, the future there will be more deadlocks. The Atlas-Hagen battle, like that of Von Elm and Burke, is unusual.

Ailis	34	38	34	36—142

The average was, Hagen, 70 1-2, Ailis, 71. This was Hagen's first victory since his win at the British open. The boys called him to the washup and out of the dangerous running. But if there is one thing that is wrong, it is to predict anything that "The Hags" is concerned in, for invariably you will be wrong. Take it from me, Sir Walter has done more than any one other man to make Canada's open title one of the world's major golf prizes and no one begrudges him his 1931 victory. There are only two others, Percy Ailis and other British-Canadian players.

ROYAL MONTREAL CHAMPIONSHIP TEST

Montreal, Que., Aug. 4 (CP)—An historic club, a golf championship course and a luxurious club-house these are the highlights of the Royal Montreal Golf Club, venue of the Canadian amateur golf championship, which will take place over the Dixie links from August 10 to 15 inclusive. The club is said to be the oldest organized golf club on the continent. Its membership has always been a hectic championship struggle waged over its world-famed fairways, and if the entries received thus far for the Canadian classic are indicative of the class of competition, the course over the Dixie links of Montreville of the London Hunt Club will be well and truly won by the eventual winner.

The Royal Montreal course is also the venue of the Intercollegiate championships which will be played by teams of four from each province on August 7 and 7.

The club boasts of two 18-hole courses, and it is over the south course that the championship will be played. Under the supervision of a succession of alert executive and the club professional, Charles Murray, twice open champion of Canada, the course has always been developed into one of ambitious proportions. The length is 6,335 yards and the par 72. It is now in splendid condition, in spite of the discouraging amount of rainfall by August 99, it should be finely conditioned for the championship. The layout is as varied as one could wish for. Every club in the bag will suit them perfectly, and accurate iron players will be handsomely rewarded. Starting with a highway on one side, a system of ravines will be encountered ploughing through the centre, a premium is put on accuracy. Experts predict precious few par rounds during the championship.

The championship headquarters will be the luxurious club-house, comparatively recently built. Constructed on the lines of a huge hotel, it has all the comforts which is said to have cost in the vicinity of a million dollars will give competitors and spectators every conceivable comfort and convenience.

A short description of the course, hole by hole, follows;

Hole No. 1, 410 yards, par 5. A fairly easy start. The fairway is broad and the green rather large, a good opportunity to start with a birdie for the first hole.

Hole No. 2, 265 yards, par 4. The fairway is broad but is cross-bunkered by hooking the ball slightly accurate. Trees guard the green, which is trapped green and a nearby boundary supply the difficulties here.

Hole No. 3, 170 yards, par 3. A difficult iron shot uphill to the green, which is heavily protected by over a deep moat. Back of the we have at other people's expense.

Hole No. 4, 445 yards, par 4. The accurate player will shine here. The fairway and green are well trapped, and there should be no trouble for the player who tries for a birdie on this one.

Hole No. 5, 225 yards, par 3. Across the left, a creek on the right, and a creek between tee and green make this one of the most difficult par four's on the course. An accurate brassie is required to reach the elevated green.

Hole No. 7, 390 yards, par 4. A fairly easy hole that is straight will bring the player well up to an easily reached green.

Hole No. 9, 565 yards, par 5. The outgoing nine finishes with this difficult hole, which requires both strength and accuracy. A parallel ditch necessitates thought and accuracy on shots.

Hole No." 11, 410 yards, par 4. Little trouble is be found on the fairway here. An average iron shot will bring the player to the green.

Hole No. 12, 145 yards, par 3. An uphill green that is deeply trapped on three sides. Anything but an accurate shot here will result in a missing score.

Hole No. 13, 440 yards, par 4. Long first and second shots are required here to reach the green. The fairway must be crossed to make the green. Birdies and pars are in order.

Hole No. 14, 170 yards, par 3. A severe wind may do considerable damage here.

Hole No. 15, 220 yards, par 4. A long second will place the ball in a good position to challenge the green, which is small, high and deeply trapped.

Hole No. 16, 403 yards, par 4. Traps on the right and left must be avoided here for the player seeking a par. The accurate stroke is required to reach the green.

Hole No. 17, 535 yards, par 5. A tricky fairway which requires distance and accuracy in all departments. The green is well trapped with a high mound to the left. Hole No. 18, 425 yards, par 5. A birdie possible here for good hitters but the green requires considerable study.

GUY DEFENDS ROWING CROWN

Loser Was Nearly Washed From Craft by Motor Boat

London, Aug. 4 (CP)—Guy de la Hooke, Thames Club oarsman, fully defended the historic Winfield Scells in the final race of 3 oarsmen, winner by a great margin.

Brocklebank said that everything went well until Duke's Meadows were reached when his leg "went to pieces". "I could not go on and had to retire," he added. It was a coincidence that Brocklebank's condition ended as the spot where Sculthorpe of Thames Rowing Club fell out of his shell in a preliminary last Wednesday, when Brocklebank won.

TRIPLE TASK IS SET BANK

Ottawa, Aug. 3—Swift completion of the Beauharnois power project and complete management of the company and prosecution of the share-holders' suits are already in place, $30,000,000 into the organization became the largest single issue of Canadian banks when Parliament Saturday night passed the double legislation affecting the project.

Into the hands of the Royal Bank of Canada the Canadian Bank of Commerce and the Bank of Montreal passed the problem of reorganizing or rehabilitating the direction of the company in a manner best for the interests of the nation." But the Dominion Government relinquishes a voice by which it will protect federal rights as well as interests' funds, the minister, in the words of Hon. C. H. Cahon, secretary of state, is "powerless."

Attacked by numerous Opposition members, and by Senate minor amendments, the "assage of the two bills was made possible by the ministry-Council and substitute Parliamentary consent of the diversion of the St. Lawrence waters to "declare" the development "to be for the general advantage" of Canada—was not completed until after 10 o'clock last night, a closing hour address by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, who charged that they infringe Quebec's "most rights and privileges." Pushed over the Supreme Court had delivered its decision on the question of jurisdiction over power rights in

Unemployed Favor Drastic Action

Sydney, N.S., Aug. 4—(By The Canadian Press)—A general levy on all Nova Scotia tax-payers, and the introduction of old-age pensions in the Province were suggestions advanced by speakers today at the unemployment conference called by Premier Harrington as a possible means of alleviating distress in Cape Breton.

Other suggestions proposed were a general conscription of wealth; the taxing of chain stores, appointment by law of "Unemployment Day," a board to inquire into the costs of production and distribution of Nova Scotia coal, and prohibition of the entry of foreign coal for use by the Canadian National Railways.

LINDBERG AT BAKER LAKE

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 5 (By The Canadian Press)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh completed their 500-mile hop from Churchill to Baker Lake at 4 p.m. C.S.T. (5 p.m. E.S.T.) yesterday afternoon and will take-off for Hunter Bay some time this morning.

Information to this effect was received by the apartment of Mackenzie today after a wall of static had cut off communication with Baker Lake all during the night and prevented word of the famous fliers' arrival from filtering through to the outside world.

AERIAL PAGEANT SPLITS

Winnipeg, Aug. 4—Aerial members of Canada's cross-country pageant planned to divide forces, seven machines swinging southward through the United States and a dozen proceeding eastward to Fort William. Both groups were scheduled to hop-off tomorrow noon for their respective destinations.

Seven Royal Canadian Air Force planes, including the five Siskin fighters, are to make the eastward journey by Lake Superior, the journey to Montreal by way of St. Paul, South Bend, Detroit and Wakerville. The expect to arrive in Montreal by Friday noon.

The main body of the pageant, which has already flown from Hamilton, to the Pacific coast and back to Winnipeg, plans to stage a pageant at the lake-head Thursday, then proceed eastward.

Future settlers would do well to take less ambitious plans. Those who settled under the 3000 acre scheme, Miss Harper said. She advocated a limit to homes of 2,700 by being set instead of the former 3,000 square feet, hinged on $3,000 to $5,000. A payment of $200 to $400 was required, she said, for a farm, she said, and while people are breaking land it is impossible for them to spare these amounts.

Combined specifications and form of tender can be obtained on application to the undersigned, also at the office of the District Engineer, Hunter Building, Ottawa.

Tenders must include the towing of the plant to and from the work, and the disposal of the dredged spoil which are intended to be employed on this work, and must be duly registered in Canada on or before the thirty-first day of December, 1929, or shall have been constructed and registered in Canada since the said date.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Minister of Public Works, for 5 per cent of the contract price, but no cheque to be for less than five hundred dollars. Bonds of the Dominion of Canada or bonds of the Canadian National Railways will be accepted as security for bonds and a cheque if required to make up an odd amount.

By Order,
N. DESBARATDINS,
Secretary.

BRINGING UP FATHER, By George McManus

SYNOPSIS

Leaving Hawaii shortly after her father's death, young and beautiful Panchon Meredith goes to San Francisco, where she meets and loves a handsome man named Tony. Panchon is shocked to learn that Tony is a racketeer, implicated in a recent murder. She, too, is now wanted. Panchon escapes in an airplane under the name of "Smith." Evelyn Howard, whom she had met on the boat coming from Hawaii, is aboard. Evelyn is enroute to New York to live with her aunt, the wealthy Mrs. Carstairs, whom she has never met. After Panchon concludes in Evelyn, the latter must bail her out. The plane crashes and Panchon is the only survivor. She decides to escape Tony and the police and start life anew by masquerading as Evelyn. She requests the doctor to wire Mrs. Carstairs that she is safe.

CHAPTER VII

He left her in the capable hands of the kindly farmer's wife and returned some hours later to make sure she had suffered no great ill from exposure. The airplane company had wired, he told her, and the relatives of McKenon, the pilot of the stunt and mechanic as well as the flames relations would be on to claim the bodies. "You were right about Miss Smith," he said. "No one has any record of a passage was booked through as agent who may not know the name of the person looking it."

Tony had left the city then, thought Panchon. It would be some time before he returned to the accident. It would, of course, be in the papers. But he might be where papers were not to be had.

In the morning she left for New York. She left with Doctor Wells more than enough money to take care of — Miss Smith." "Not," said the doctor, sadly, "that it will be needed. It is impossible that she live through the day," he said.

He took Panchon's address and in care of Mrs. Carstairs. And on her arrival at the depot to await the train, she would be told. Except for her, she was given a wire by the station agent.

"Immeasurably happy and grateful for your escape. Will meet you at Pennsylvania station. All my love, Aunt Jennie."

There was no going back.

In the drawing room which she had engaged, Panchon, a bereaved coat and hat, sat staring out of the window at the blending to the beat of the wheels along the shining tracks . . . Imposter, they said to her, imposter, imposter.

But she argued that, in a sense, she was doing no harm. Jennie and Carstairs had never known Evelyn Howard. She could, therefore, never have loved her. The girl was literally nothing to her, save someone of her blood to whom she owed a belated duty. If Panchon took her place, Panchon would, she vowed, live up to it; she would give back the warmth, the affection and duty in return. And when time had passed and there was no longer any danger, she would go quietly away and never bother anyone again. It was not on the cards that Evelyn would live.

She thought of Evelyn dying, with no one of her own about her, and the girl, overwhelmed with an agony of shame and terror and self loathing. But she must continue; overlive, she had kept silent. It was too late . . .

Evelyn would die, without recovering consciousness, female Carstairs would be spared much unhappiness and self reproach; and she, Panchon, would have, for a little while, at least, a measure of safety and peace.

The compartment door, flat, roomy handbag, stained with rain and with Panchon's name upon it. There were letters in it, Panchon Carstairs. Long letters, written by a vital, nervous sort of hand. There were papers. There were photographs of Evelyn's parents; there were snapshots of, Panchon thought, the place to which they had gone, have last lived and called home. There were also snapshots of the school in Honolulu and the one in San Francisco.

It would not be hard. It would be more or less natural that Evelyn would not speak much or often of her mother and father to the people who had cast them out. As far as Hawaii went, Panchon was perfectly safe ground there. She studied the letters, the photographs. Suddenly a lump in her throat she stopped her heart for an instant.

Evelyn must have written her aunt. It was beyond conception that her kind Aunt Panchon's should be alike. Panchon fixed that fact firmly in her mind. She must remember.

She remembered something else, a great deal of conversation, among the small pieces of luggage Evelyn had brought on the plane had been a little portable typewriter. Evelyn had written many of her letters to Mrs. Carstairs had been written on the machine. It was so much the better.

She thought of the meeting that lay ahead of her. She longed for it, and yet shrank from it. But no great display of affection on her part nor on the part of Mrs. Carstairs would be necessary or even reasonable. For they had never known one another.

The Jennie Carstairs' wire had been addressed to the Royal Hawaiian. Due, thought Panchon, logically, to the situation in the tremendous peril in which she knew her niece had been placed. It was natural enough. It was natural that she would not ask Evelyn to talk much of the accident.

Half a dozen times before she reached New York, Panchon was seized with a frantic desire, born of sheer, blind panic, to get out at the first best station, to run away, to hide, to find a ship bound for the far countries and alien seas, to run away from the old life of Panchon Meredith, the new old life of "Miss Smith," the self chosen, stolen life of Evelyn Howard, and to start all over, toward safety, toward people who cared, toward freedom . . .

Once she rose and took down the borrowed hat from the rack. She also picked up the straw suit case the farmer's wife had loaned her, with a few bare necessities in it; once she walked, suitcase in hand, to the door of the drawing room and laid her hand upon the knob. But returned at once to her seat by the window and her bewildered, frantic thinking. She could not go back. She must go on. Her mind felt hurt and bruised with the effort at thought, her bandaged arm ached, her wrenched muscles cried out.

"You have a very bad shock and shaking up." Doctor Warren had said, "and I wish you would stay on with Mrs. Lawson for a few days. But, if you, won't, you won't." "Only my orders — professional orders, are — that when you reach your destination, you permit yourself to be put to bed and you stay there. . . ."

She had promised.

At the first big city they reached, reporters boarded the train and invaded her drawing room. Eager, shock-haired boys, one fat, bald man and a couple of pretty sob sisters." They apologized for their intrusion, but told her that in the interest of the news and public they must have her first hand story of the accident.

She knew that it was safer not to antagonize them. They perched on the seats, on the arms of things, even squatted on the floor, listening avidly. The train stopped over there for half an hour. During that time Panchon told them what she recked of the accident itself. Of the first part of the flight. Names, one of the reporters said, had been an important man in this town. This was being played up in the press. The pilot, too, McKinon, for he had had a war record and had also been paid on a successful flight from England to Australia. He was also new, said the reporters, not well known in aviation circles. Panchon, but during their rapid fire conversation, the reporters enlightened her. Collin was Mrs. Carstairs' only son. A big game hunter. A polo player. An eligible bachelor. One of the most eligible. He was in the Belgian Woods at present, she learned, simply by listening when one of the reporters asked her: "We understand that Mrs. Collin Carstairs is in the North!" and by nodding intelligently.

Will You Need an Income of $100 a Month?

Someone has said that the sweetest words in the English language are "Enclosed please find cheque." How would you like to have $100 a month mailed to you regularly after you reach age 50, 55, 60 or 65, whichever you select? You would like to have it now, perhaps, and if you have the capital sum needed to buy such an income the Canada Life will guarantee it to you at once. But if you haven't the capital, you can arrange now that you will have that income later on.

Suppose you are earning $150 a month—it may be $150, $200 or more. Whatever it is there is a part of that income you want continued. If you were not earning, how much would continue? That is, how much of your income would go on, no matter if you earned a salary or drew pay or not? For many people the answer would be a very big one—"Not very much!"

If $4,000 $50,000 capital will invested to bring in $100 a month, but under the Canada Life plan you do not need to save it. In order to make sure of an income of that amount.

The Canada Life with $188,000,000 of well invested assets will guarantee to continue that part of your income you must have later or for one living expenses say $100 a month. And the Canada Life may have to start the income at any time you say or you for family. There are

SHORT AND SWEET

by Jessie Dobbs

Maida looked into her mirror and thought how unfortunate it was that there was no one to see how cute she looked in her new, dark red velvet pajamas. They were so becoming to a small girl, especially one with dark hair and eyes like Maida's. She was adorable.

A strange movement of the curtain attracted her attention, and she thought something was moving it. Her heart stood still, for she alone in the apartment, the girl she lived with having gone to a party. Another flutter of the curtain, and it popped a tiny black kit ten. With proper exclamations of relief and admiration she picked up the mite.

Maida entertained the kitten for several minutes, and then went to answer the phone which was ringing violently. The girls were calling violently. The girls were calling violently. The girls were calling

VISITOR SEES GREAT FUTURE FOR PEACE RIVER TERRITORY

Montreal, Aug. 4—(CP) — The Peace River country is destined to become one of the greatest development agricultural and commercially which the world has ever known was the statement made by Miss Elizabeth Harper, daughter of the late Henry Harper and Lady Emily Harper of Banbury, England, during the course of an address to the members of the executive committee of the Montreal Women's Club recently.

Miss Harper, who is on her fourth visit to Canada, served in an honorary capacity as councillor of the Society for the Overseas Settlement of British Women, in relation to the outlying parts of this country are all made at her own expense.

Miss Harper believes that with a short run of railway from the valley of the peace to the Pacific coast and the return of normal economic conditions the Peace River country will be the land of promise.

There was a great need, however, for doctors and nurses, she said, and one of the human problems was that of saving the mothers.

In addition to the farming facilities and its great beauty, Miss Harper pointed out, the Peace area, resulting in painful injuries to about thirty per cent. of the number of lesser regret today to the Mahatma Gandhi.

Two leading sponsors of his plan for settlement of the Hindu-Moslem communal problem were severely beaten last night and a mob then rallied to storm the Nationalist Congress' action on the matter was thrown back, and the first open audience engaged in open conflict.

The Mahatma has been working to achieve peace between India's two great religious factions before going to the second round table conference at London in September.

Resting in Artificially Cooled Room in a Critical State

West Orange, N.J., Aug. 4— Thomas Alva Edison, who has left the imprint of his genius on every modern invention except the airplane, was resting Monday night in an artificially cooled room in the effects of a collapse which has left him in a critical condition.

His physicians said his condition was unchanged, meaning that he still was drifting in and out of deep sleep. The 84-year-old inventor is suffering from arterio sclerosis, a disease and possible ulcers of the stomach.

MEXICAN BANK CLOSES

Mexico City, Aug. 4 (AP) — The Credito Espanol De Mexico, important Spanish commercial institution, which closed its doors yesterday, obtained authorization today to declare a fifteen-day suspension of payments and place its affairs in the hands of a liquidating committee. Thomas de Duede, manager, said the bank was solvent and would be able to pay its creditors in full after a brief respite.

Tot Burned Playing With Gas

Lindsay, Aug. 4—A distressing accident happened in Coboconk, when Ethelbert Traux, five years of age, while playing with several other children in the Traux yard, ignited a pail of gasoline. Ethelbert was enveloped in flames and horribly burned on the left side of the body from head to foot. He is lying in Ross Hospital, Lindsay, at death's door.

NO TABLOID FOR HIM

Quebec, Que., Aug. 4—Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian-born newspaper peer of London, England, arrived here Monday on the Empress of Britain. His immediate plans, he said, included a pleasant holiday in the Dominion, part of it in New Brunswick. The peer was asked his trip had anything to do wit newspapers or newsprint. "A man has three times too much trout with three newspapers without taking on more trouble with others. No sir!"

MAIDS DEFEAT CIACO SQUAD

Capitals of Kingston Play Maple Leafs Tonight

Playing like a well oiled machine the National Maids defeated the C. I. A. C. girls by the score of 6 to 1. Marie Gray on the mound for the Maids, hurled smart ball for the winners while Bessie Doolittle and Vera Iley tried to stop the fast-moving Maids.

The National Maids although they did not have their full team, as three players of the team were away, presented a championship brand of ball. It will take a real smart team to take the Maids and after winning last night with a weakened team they are almost assured of a playoff position. Tonight the Capitols of Kingston come to town to battle the Maids here. Last night's line-up:

C. I. A. C. O.— M. Genereau, K. Genereau, Iley, Hull, Watson, Bennett, Bell, Saylor, Howie, Day and B. Doolittle.

WRESTLING

Buffalo—Ed Don George 210, Buffalo, defeated Stanley Stastasiak 253, Cambridge, Mass. Two falls out of three, (Stastak 16:46, George second, 12:46 and 4-5, and 4:04 4-5); Lee Macaluso, 193, New York, threw with Rudy Ladlist, 224, in 30:00.

FOOTBALL

Belleville Wins at Madoc Old Boys' Reunion

A football game between Belleville and Madoc was one of the features of the 1st day of the Old Boys' Reunion at Madoc. Belleville won the toss and Madoc kicked off before a record crowd of spectators on the Madoc baseball grounds. The home team lumbered into the blue Blaker while the visitors played in blue and white colors. The centre half received the ball from the kick off, and out he dashed for a touchdown, but Knott robbed the home team and away went the visitors. Nice combination among the forwards placed Belleville in position to score Uncovering goal. From this kick off, Madoc took up the attack but Taylor relieved, and Howard dribbled away on the right wing, his centre was tripped by Knott, who secured the second goal for the visitors. Knott added another touchdown another goal for Belleville. The home team tried hard to reduce the score, but Keegan, Colcroft and Parks put up a stubborn defence for Belleville. Just before half time Blaker had to stop a hard shot from Potts of Madoc. Half time came with the Belle team leading by 3 goals to nothing.

After the interval Norridge kicked off for the visitors and cod to end play followed. Madoc had a few chances to score but Blaker kept them out. Good dribbling and footwork again placed Belleville around the Madoc goal, and Howard promptly shot into the net. The home team however kept up the attack and Blaker, Taylor and Johnson were hard pressed to keep them out. Then Howard and Kennedy broke away, and a nice pass from the latter enabled Howard to score the goal. After this period Madoc attacked harder than ever, and even Lally on the right wing broke away, Keegan mikidked and a pass to the inside man saw Madoc score with a hard shot which Blaker couldn't reach. Alexander made a good dribble then Potts of Madoc and Parks collided with the result of Parks being hurt and had to leave the field, 5 minutes later the whistle blew for time leaving Belleville the winners 3 goals to 1.

The team for Belleville was as follows:

OPEN SEASON IN RECORDS WITH MAJORS

OUBLE WINS

They've declared a set of open season on baseball records in the two major leagues. From now on, prospects are it will be a poor week that doesn't see a long-standing mark shot full of holes.

Three clubs stood on the threshold of new records today. The Pittsburgh Pirates and Cincinnati Reds, with forty scoreless innings to their credit and discredit, respectively, appeared set to shatter all long distance marks for ineptitude, while the champion Philadelphia Athletics were on the verge of setting the last all-time mark for double victories.

When they failed to score against the Chicago Cubs yesterday, the Reds set their string of consecutive "goose eggs" to forty and at least tied one big league mark — only two other clubs in history have been blanked four straight days, the Boston Nationals of 1906 and the Cincinnati Reds of 1908. There is no record of the number of scoreless innings run up by those clubs, but chances are they did not approach the current record of Col. Dan Howley's troops. In that yesterday's 1-0 win, the Reds collected only five scattered hits off Hal Carlson.

Pittsburgh, with four straight shut out victories to its credit, three of them over Cincinnati, had no opportunity to extend its string. Rain prevented the Pirates and the St. Louis Cardinals from playing the only other game scheduled in the National League.

The Athletics approached the Major League record for consecutive double wins when they stopped the second place Washington Senators twice, 3 to 2 and 6 to 5, squaring the series. The all-time mark is five straight double killings, held by the New York Americans of 1906. Yesterday's twin victory was the fourth straight for Connie Mack's veterans and their 37th of the season. The Athletics of 1911 were credited with 31.

Lefty Grove's air-tight pitching in the pinches enabled Mack's men to hang up his 22nd victory of the year in the first tilt. Howard Ehmke, Jimmy Dykes, Mickey Cochrane and Phil Todt, the latter's breaking 8th in the ninth inning, featured the champions' second win of the day.

Earl Whitehill held the Chicago White Sox scoreless for six but one inning to give Detroit a 7 to 2 victory in the third game of the "all star series." The veteran, Urban Faber matched Whitehill, performing in the seventh inning, when all the Tigers bumped him for seven hits and five runs.

Although they were outhit by a single safety, the New York Yankees staggered through a 3 to 2 victory over the Boston Red Sox, as Lefty Wells for six months, the Sox rallied in the eighth before they finally were stopped by Lefty Grove with the bases full and Sox hit his forty-ninth and fiftieth two-baggers, driving in four runs.

TWO SISTERS ARE KILLED AT CROSSING

Toronto, Aug. 4.—Hurled from their car as a C.P.R. engine plunged into the crossing at Woodbridge Toronto women, Mrs. J. D. McCrimmon and her sister, Mrs. Ana Brown, were instantly killed at the Summerville level crossing on the Kipling road yesterday. Mrs. J. D. McCrimmon, the driver and sole survivor of the crash, was badly injured but is expected to recover.

The accident is veiled in mystery as details of the crash which obscured the scene from the only eye-witness as yet found by police. The McCrimmon car, coming south on Brown's line, reached the unguarded crossing as the westbound engine and tender of the train struck. Col. McCrimmon jammed on his brakes, and swerved to the right, but too late.

Track and Field

Cornwall, Aug. 4. — Avonlea of Hamilton, Olympic field star, carried off the Lou McMartin Memorial Cup at the Canadian Legion track and field meet here Monday, amassing thirteen points in the javelin, discus and shot put events. The gold cup is one of the most valuable trophies in the world for athletic competition, and is valued at $5,000. Each year, champions of Canada, was put forced to extend himself to win eth the trophy. Hits Mahoney Dash.

In the hundred he took a third from Ellis Adams from the gun and increased his advantage to the finish line after beating the distance in 4-5 seconds. Tolan holds the world's record for the "century" at 9 4-5 seconds. Jack Taylor, Tolan was presented with a gold cup for his splendid performance.

The failure of Stella Walsh, the "Queen of the Cinder Track," to get in an appearance owing to an injury to her leg in the preliminaries, left Miss May and her co-stars from Illinois, Ohio and Hamilton's Olympic Club. Webster finished a close second to Miss Walsh during the present with the fast time of 56 minutes 49 1-5 seconds.

Couples Ideal Lovers Get Dunmow Flitch

Dunmow, Essex, England, Aug. 4 (AP)—Three couples who constituted a jury of six bachelors and six maids they had been happily married for a year and a day were rewarded today with the traditional flitch of Dunmow bacon.

A. H. Cox of Stockton, testified he had met his future wife by dressing her hair and had never regretted it. Mrs. Cox seconded his sentiments by saying he cleaned up the litter of model yacht-building "without being told."

C. E. Hodgrig, of Pulham, claimed his wife was a second cousin of Jack Dempsey, inferring there was some connection with their marital bliss. "No wonder you are happy," said the judge.

M. Percival of Dunmow, confessed he had kissed a girl in a theatre before his marriage under the impression she was his fiancee and been forgiven. Neighbors testified he and his spouse always were laughing and merry.

Tradition says the Prior of Dunmow Abbey awarded a flitch or side of bacon to a married couple who had found happiness eight centuries ago. The custom was revived last year after being discontinued during the war and post-war years.

King and Queen Witness Tragedy at Yacht Races

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Aug. 4.— The King witnessed a tragedy Monday when the second mate of his own yacht, Britannia, was swept overboard and drowned while the yacht with His Majesty aboard was on the way to participate in the opening race of the Cowes regatta.

It was a boisterous day, with a choppy sea and the yachts were running close reefed at great speed.

Suddenly it was noticed from the shore that the Britannia had hove to, her head to the wind, as the cry, "Man overboard" was raised.

Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock also hove to and other boats rushed to the vicinity. The Britannia's crew tossed a lifebuoy, but the seaman could not reach it and disappeared before boats could get to him.

His name was Ernest Friend. He was married and had four children.

The race was called off, the King returned to the royal yacht, Victoria and Albert, and flags were half-masted on all the vessels gath ered for the regatta.

KLINE EARNED DRAW IN BOUT

Fast Boxing Contests at Madoc Village Reunion

Three boxing bouts were held at the fair grounds in Madoc last night in connection with the old boys' reunion. The bouts were well attended and enjoyed by all those present. The first bout was in the light-weight division and after three rousing rounds, Ernest Kline won over Harold Baker. The bout was fast throughout and brought the fans to their feet at times. The decision was popular with those present.

In a heavy slugging match in the welter-weight class, Jack Taylor defeated Sid Alspect. Both the three boys weighed in at about 146 pounds This bout was equally as good as the former and was well received by the fans. The final bout of the evening was a catch weight affair between C. Wallbridge of Madoc weighing 182 pounds and "Scotty" Kline of Belleville weighing 143 lbs. Although Kline was out-weighted about forty pounds he had no trouble getting a draw decision with his rival. The bouts were well conducted and were a huge success.

RAPIDS PRINCE CRASHES LOCK; 20 MEN DROWN

Transients Sitting on Wall and Bank are Swept Away

WALL OF WATER

Grain Traffic is Checked by Tie-Up at Lachine

Montreal, Aug. 3—The S.S. Rapids Prince Saturday crashed into the western gate of lock No. 4 on the Lachine Canal, breaking the gates and releasing a flood of water which, pouring through, swept away more than twenty men who were sitting on the canal wall and on an embankment. Eye witnesses claims some of these men were swirled into the canal and possibly down the River St. Lawrence to their deaths. Careful search of the canal by dredges failed to bring to the surface any of the bodies and the police had no definite report of men being missing at a late hour tonight.

A wall of water thirty-five feet high, swept through the broken gate, over the lock and down the slip to the entrance of the canal, where it joins the St. Lawrence River.

The water poured in a torrent six feet high, over an embankment in the centre of the canal, upon which a number of unemployed and destitute men were eating a frugal breakfast, washing themselves and their clothing or shaving. These men, estimated by George Serve, a surveyor, to number about forty, were caught in the flood. A few grabbed posts and bars to cling to until the force of the water was past, but 1 number were swept on.

Check In Accounts

Police stated it would be almost impossible to make a check, Many of those who may have met death were unknown, and removed had immediately gone away from the canal and could not be located, and the bodies of any drowned would be carried into the St. Lawrence, where it would be some time before they were picked up.

The canal damage was estimated at $300,000, partly to the superstructure of the lock gates which were carried away with the exception of two and which is higher up in the canal, which were left high and dry as the water poured its way through the broken gates on to the river.

The Rapids Prince itself received minor damages. Its prow and upper deck was slightly torn from the first collision. Its stern was scraped when the force of the current crushed the boat back into the gates of lock 3 which were also shattered.

The Lachine Canal, main feeder of grain from the lakes to export, tonight was completely sealed up. It was anticipated the southern side might be put into operation within five days, but it was considered three weeks would be required before the northern was opened up.

Serve told of what happened to these men, "I was half asleep," he said, "when suddenly there was a loud roar and a rush of water. Before I could get away the water had reached me and carried me about ten feet, when I managed to seize a post with my arms. The water passed over my head several times, but I managed to hang on. After a long time a boat came, and the men in it rescued me. I am lucky to be alive, I lost my cap, my coat, my shoes, my socks, and a meal ticket I had. I saw my companion Shortis, swept away by the water, but do not know what happened to him. I think he was drowned." Serve had partially undressed himself and have a nap, he explained in regard to his missing clothing.

Lockman Bolvert, emp'oyed, on lock No. 1, into which the water poured when the lock 4 fell, said: "I shouted to the men I saw on the grade of the embankment, and told them to save themselves. By that time the water had reached them. One man was shaving himself. He dropped his razor and jumped at a near-by pole. He climbed up, and I saw where the water receded. Another was trying something in a can over a small fire. He also jumped for a pole and saved himself. I saw some of them swept into the canal and into the basin. I think some of them were drowned. We've been and by boats, but I think that surely some men must have been drowned. I do not believe we will find any bodies for a day or two as there were drownings."

FATAL BATTLES WITH COMMUNISTS

Berlin, Aug. 3.—A dispatch to the Overiff Bureau from Warsaw yesterday said that three persons were killed and 90 injured in various parts of Poland yesterday in bloody clashes between police and Communists which accompanied Communist anti-war day demonstrations.

Clashes between Communists and police, which broke out earlier yesterday as the Communists observed the world-wide appeal for demonstrations, had ceased to-night in Berlin.

One "Nationalist socialist was fatally wounded earlier in the day and a member of the steel-helmet organization "as reported to have been killed in Hamburg.

Police here wounded several when they fired into a mob which refused to disperse. One policeman also was seriously wounded.

About a dozen were arrested during the six hours. Scores of riot clubs were broken at police headquarters.

STORM WITH STRESS MARKS SESSION'S END

Agricultural ept. is Under Fire From Mother-well

TEMPERS UPSET

Ottawa, Aug. 4 (CP)—Parliament still was deserted today. The closing chapter of the second session of the 17th parliament of Canada was written in the senate chamber at midnight. L. P. Duff of the Supreme Court of Canada, the deputy governor-general, presided at the formal prorogation proceedings. For the first time since the middle of March the flag was not flying from the masthead over the parliament buildings.

Short tempers, stress and storm marked the last legislative week of the year. Estimates of Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, were subjected to concentrated criticism by Liberal members and their prorogation seemed problematical. Charges were levelled at the government it had failed to lift the agricultural industry from the slough of distress as it had promised during the election. Farm prices had developed a one-half drop the past year. In face of these conditions, the senate sat for almost one month on agricultural policy.

Politics with respect to stock breeding had been instituted, retorted Mr. Weir. High quality breeding stock distributed at low price to farmers was one policy to raise the level of the Canadian livestock industry. Study was being given to the production of grain for export and for feeds. Prizes would be given to farm exhibitions at the larger fairs.

The policies were old, commented Hon. W. R. Motherwell, former Minister of Agriculture, but the country was extending policies he inherited from his predecessor, Duncan Marshall and had enunciated nothing original.

Prorogation was accomplished with all the usual pomp and ceremony. Trouble troubled the senate. Its adversity is powerless against the might of the commons which can grant the happiness and prosperity which the senate cannot. Hence the speech from the throne. In reviewing the legislation passed during the session it said the two Beauharnois bills had been enacted to secure the public benefit from the harmful exploitation of our natural resources and to safeguard the rights of bona fide investors.

The House among its actions early in the day of the wrong foot. When it passed an address of condolence to Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, questioned the legality of the proceedings without a formal motion from the Governor-General himself. Tempers, frayed by five months of work, became still more brittle. Mr. Speaker Lemieux found himself on the waters by giving his opinion that the motion was not necessary. Business proceeded but tempers remained.

Acrimonious incidents punctuated the whole day's sitting. Late when the last estimate had been passed and the senate paper cleared of the business, did the members sit back in their seats. When the summons to the senate chamber arrived, the commoners trooped from the chamber arm-in-arm. While the speech from the throne was read ammunition were forgotten, the members thinking of the back bone transportation which lay hidden in their pockets.

With a full retine of military, naval and air officers, resplendent in gold braid and shining scabbards, the deputy governor-general arrived in state for the prorogation preceded by the senate sergeant-at-arms. In the senate set forth the colorful assembly. Dazzling dress uniforms, reflecting every color in the spectrum; [illegible] bers in subdued effects formed a brilliant setting for the ceremonies. Royal assent was given a long list of bills. The deputy governor-general was escorted from the chamber, the House of Commons was prorogued and a musical note. Guns boomed out a vice-regal salute. The guard of honor was inspected. The guns boomed again. The capital had been rung down on the second session of the 17th parliament of Canada.

Magistrate Deals With Three Cases

Magistrate R. W. Casement of Madoc, presided over police court, which was held in the County Buildings on Saturday afternoon, a number of cases, that were pending being disposed of. Earl Bersmith and Willis Roberts, alias Kenneth Flynn, arrested at the home on Sidney Street, Belleville, appeared for sentence, the two boys having pleaded guilty at a previous sitting of the court. These two youths broke into the general store of Thomas Shiell, Madoc, stealing a quantity of goods, then entered the garage of Claude Smith also of Madoc, stealing a car owned by Smith. In the car it is alleged they visited Belleville and broke into the city jailer hiding the automobile on the Toronto Mountain but in the trouble's before but he was leniently dealt with, he being sentenced to three months definite and a further indeterminate sentence of not more than two years less one day in the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph. Willis Roberts hails from the States and Mr. Donnan, Crown Attorney, requested a sentence of one month in the county jail after which the young man be deported to the United States and Magistrate Casement concurred in the request.

Wellington Cooper Springbrook was found guilty of a serious offence against a girl under the age of sixteen and was sentenced to three months definite and a further indeterminate term of not more than two years less one day in the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph. Evidence of a serious nature was given by the mother and girl in charge of the man's age, the sentence did not carry a penalty term. The man was defended by John G. O'Flynn, while the prosecution was conducted by R. C. Donnan, Crown Attorney.

ATTACK MADE ON COMMUNISM

Cloverdale, B.C., Aug. 4.—Denunciation of Communism, as threatening Canada and other nations, was voiced in a Memorial Day address here today by Rev. A. E. D. Penclier, Archbishop of New Westminster.

"We are challenged today as never has this world been challenged since the fourth century," declared the speaker. "There is the great example of Russia, which has banished religion and whose five-year plan is directed to the principles of Christianity.

"Communism, as in Russia, for the threat of Communism appears from this country from coast to coast. Communism would first destroy God and then upset the rights of the individual. There is no truth in a family life under Communism. All property rights and persons are treated like brute beasts.

"Russia has found that 47 men are equal, said Bishop Pencler, and only this month it was pronounced necessary to recognise the intelligents.

NEVER AGAIN

Mrs. Jim Brown looked unhappy. They'd been all over town looking for rooms. "Next time," she said, looking very determined, "we're going to telephone ahead. No more of this wretched chasing around for a place to sleep. This is supposed to be a vacation." "I'm cured, too," said Mr. Jim Brown, very meekly.

CHEV. CARAVAN TO PAY VISIT

Score of Truck and Commercial Bodies to Have Special Showing

Twenty-five modern "covered wagons" comprising a commercial caravan that plans to traverse more than 3000 miles of present-day concrete trail in Canada and Quebec within the next few weeks, will halt in this city for a couple of hours on Monday, August 10th. On that day the people of Belleville will be able to see one of the most interesting exhibits of its kind ever shown in this city, inasmuch as the pageant will present the complete line of Chevrolet commercial cars and numerous special bodies. The Chevrolet Commercial Caravan will arrive at 3 p.m. and will leave at 5 p.m.

Under special police escort the Caravan, after parading downtown streets, will visit the J. T. Warren showrooms and there present the Market Square, where the various units will be ready for public inspection. Trucks and cars in Market Square will be via Bridge Street across Front Street to Pinnacle St., thence north to Station Street West to Front Street and South to Dundas Street, East on Dundas to Pinnacle Street and then south on Pinnacle to Market Square.

The vehicles on display will include chassis of every type and tonnage requirements. Fire engines, ambulance-hearse, hydraulic hoist and many other interesting body mountings have been placed in the Caravan through co-operation of Chevrolet dealers and body manufacturers. All the Chevrolet-built bodies in the Caravan are products of the Canadian Body Plant at the various chassis. The 25 combinations of bodies and chassis, all Chevrolet, are truly interesting, the characteristic of each model being fine.

Leading the Caravan column, as it makes its way through the city, will be a special truck equipped with microphone and musical attachment, which will announce the parade as it proceeds through the streets. There will be a demonstration of fire apparatus equipment, which is part of the Caravan, including typical combination chemical, pumper, hook and ladder. The triple combination is the Chevrolet-Bickle, exhibited by Bickle Fire Engines, Limited, Woodstock, Ontario. Municipal authorities are particularly interested in this phase of the Caravan's visit.

Also the convenience of those interested in the features of Chevrolet trucks and commercial cars, the variety of the Caravan units which will appear for the first time, standard stake body on 131" chassis to the heavy duty chassis with five-ton capacity. Also, the motorcycle-sidecar equipped with a special body for use by the Provincial Police Force, will be on hand during the display to answer questions.

The Chevrolet Commercial Caravan in this city will be the only visit Canadian cities. It started at Brant ford on August 1st and will be on the road approximately six weeks before completing its tour of Ontario and Western Quebec.

Gandhi and Goats To "Travel Light"

Bombay, India, Aug. 3 —When Mahatma Gandhi sails two weeks hence, a new passenger-agent for the London Round Table Conference, he will not even have a mattress. Gandhi will sleep on the floor. His only baggage will be two goats, a spinning wheel, a can of goat's milk and a copy of Thoreau's essay on "Civil Disobedience."

The goats, given him by one of his admirers, are to be used to supply the milk, which is his principal article of diet, throughout the three weeks he will be in London for the conference at London.

He plans to sit in no danger of being swept overboard while he sleeps on the floor, because, the steamship company will build a special guard around Gandhi's straw mattress.

IDOL SMILES AS HE CLIMBS DOWN AT DAWN

Reaches Aklavik After 1110 Mile Hop By Arctic Night

UNKNOWN LANDS

Lindbergh Succeeds Despite Warnings of Airmen

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 5—Blanketed by a dense fog 24 miles west of Cape on the Arctic shore the U.S. coast guard cutter Northland, carrying fuel for Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh on their vacation trip to the Orient, today abandoned any hope of reaching Point Barrow in time to meet the flyers.

Every resident of the busy little frontier on the delta of the rushing Mackenzie River was gathered on the muddy banks of the channel when the Lindbergh plane soared into sight from the east. Shouts of scores of Eskimos mingled with the cheering acclaim of the score or so of white folk who had been waiting all night for the arrival of the flying couple.

The flying colonel was all smiles as he climbed down wearily from his place at the controls and assisted his wife from the plane after the nose had been pointed on the muddy shore. The hazardous 1,110 mile hop across the mysterious and uninhabited country on the continent had been made in nearly 11½ hours.

The murky twilight of Alaska's darkness had just given way to the Arctic Circle dawn as the Lindbergs' daring air adventure had taken made their landing. They had flown throughout the short night in the land of the midnight sun, tracing their route along the upper rim of Canada's mainland in a straight-line flight from Nome, Alaska, to the west shore of Hudson Bay.

Never before had the northwest territories been spanned in a single hump, even by the fearless northland fliers whose brilliant record for flying over the lake-dotted tundra country, has been made in less than 8:35 E.S.T. last night, after the outside world had come to the conclusion that the Lindberghs would spend a second night at Baker Lake.

Along the edge of the Arctic circle the darting flight of the Lockheed Sirius had been detected, but not a word of the safe arrival of the top-of-the-world dash was received by radio and landline stations agreed in the north. Aklavik lies 150 miles within the Arctic circle while Baker Lake is a similar distance outside.

At Aklavik, the Lindberghs have completed more than 3,000 miles of their 7,500-mile flight from New Haven, Me., to Tokyo. They have completed their flight in seven days, resting overnight after each jump. But at Baker Lake—Aklavik leg was the first to extend through the night. While the eastward flight of Eagle and Mate appeared fresh after their long flight, it appeared certain they would rest the night before pressing on to Point Barrow, 350 miles to the west in Alaska.

Success came to the silent pilot on his dash over the shoulder of the world despite ominous forecasts of a veteran aviator against what a direct hop from Baker Lake to Aklavik was considered impossible. Lindbergh had been advised by pilots little versed in the northland's way that heavy fog rolled from the Arctic Ocean, effectively veiling the north shore.

"Coast guard headquarters here were advised by the Northland that there was considerable fog around the point, preventing her finding a way through the ice off Blossom Spit," Lieut. Comdr. Alfred Hipp's radio north of the cape.

Should the Lindbergs arrive before the northland reaches Wainwright, Alaska, the home of Barrow Cape, the coast guardsmen plan to hand over the fuel to the flyers out of the cove or in lagoon, depending upon weather conditions.

"It will be impossible for the vessel to reach Point Barrow until we have several days of fair weather," the message received here said. The wind would make a lane in the ice through which the cutter might find her way to her destination.

SALARIES WITHHELD

Sydney, N. S. W., Aug. 5 (AP)—By direction of the premier, Premier Lang, all salaries due civil employees tomorrow will be withheld. The premier said yesterday that the state could not meet the pay day unless the council granted a substantial advance.

MAY USE BAILIFF

Hamilton, Aug. 5. — The Joint court house committee may put the bailiff into the office of the county school inspector because the county will not pay $80 a year part of the rent of the quarters. If the seizure is made, it will be of equipment owned by the county.

The rent is due the joint committee and if the Wentworth County Agricultural Society does not council receive a refund of our third of the total.

In The World of Flying

(By Associated Press)

Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh, at Nome, Alaska, having flown there from Baker Lake. The next scheduled stop on their tour is Japan is Point Barrow, Alaska, but they may land beside the coastguard cutter Northland to refuel if that vessel can not reach Point Barrow in time.

Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, Jr., waited at Khabarovsk, Siberia, for the rain to stop. They have lost hope of entering the Post-Gatty round-the-world record and may even abandon their projected non-stop flight from Khabarovsk to Nome.

Russel Boardman and John Polando remained at Istanbul debating what to do next. They were reported to be considering a flight to Karachi, India.

The Do-X got away from Rio De Janeiro on her long-delayed flight to New York. She will come north over the Pan-American Airways route making stops.

C. C. Eberhart, flying from Sydney to Tokyo, was sighted over the Batanes Islands.

REMOVING VICTIMS OF FIRE

This graphic picture, taken while the fire destroying the "Little Sisters of the Assumption" Home for the Aged† in Pittsburgh was still raging, shows firemen carrying some of the victims down ladders as smoke swirls about them. The fire, which took its toll of 20 of the aged inmates missing and put at least 100 in hospitals, destroyed the entire home, which covered a square city block.

Statesman to Wed Girl Who Aided Him in Rise to Power

Marquis of Reading, 70, Will Wed Stella Charnaud

HIS CAREER

London, Aug. 5 (CP)—The Marquis of Reading, once Ambassador to the United States and later Viceroy to India, will be married tomorrow to the young woman who aided him in his rise to the rank of one of Great Britain's foremost statesmen.

His engagement to Miss Stella Charnaud, daughter of the late Charles Charnaud, who represented Argentine Britain on the International public debt mission to Turkey, was announced today. He is 70 years of age and she is 37.

Miss Charnaud, was a member of the vice-regal staff when Lord Reading was in India from 1921 to 1926 and returned with him to England in a similar capacity when he became secretary of Lord Irwin. She became his chief assistant in all political matters. She played an active role in his work in behalf of India at the first round table conference.

News of the engagement recalls Lord Reading's steady rise from the son of a London merchant to high honors from the Empire. Born Rufus Daniel Isaacs, he started his career as a cabin boy, running away to sea at the age of 13.

After an unsuccessful venture on the stock exchange, he studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1887. He married a daughter of Reading in the House of Commons for many years as a Liberal in association with Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George. He was president of the Anglo-French loan mission to the United States in 1915, and British commissioner and special Ambassador to America in 1918. He was elevated to the rank of Marquis on his return from India.

WEED KILLING DEMONSTRATED

A very interesting weed killing demonstration was held on Thursday, afternoon of this week, at the farm of Mr. Courter, Consecon, which was attended by a large number of local farmers. The demonstration were conducted by James Robinson, Weed Inspector, assisted by J. McLeod, a "Friend" Hippo Pressure Power Sprayer was supplied by the "Frood" Engineering Supply Co., Belleville, whose representatives demonstrated various means of applying the weed killer. The method of the spraying will be known in a few days.

EARLY MINING QUOTATIONS

Toronto, Aug. 5 (CP). — Gains and losses are about evenly divided throughout the early sales on the Standard Stock Exchange today. Nickel was weak at the opening dropping 1-2 to 31 1-2, while Noranda and Teck Hughes both moved up, the former gaining 15 to 18.25 while the latter advanced 5 to 1650 Edmonton was up 3-25 and Sherritt 3 to 102 while Granada Rouyn was firm at 1.70.

$1,500 Worth of Liquor is Stolen from Deseronto

Per the second time in less than a year, the Ontario Department of Liquor Store at Deseronto has been entered and a quantity of liquor taken. The store was entered some time early Thursday morning and after a check-up of the stock some $1500.00 worth of liquors was missing. Entrance was gained through a rear entrance that had been battered open and the liquor taken from under loaded from the back. The local police of Deseronto has undertaken the investigation of this break-in and theft, and are being assisted by the Provincial Police of this municipalities. The police have no clues at present on which to work but hope to have something tangible in a few days.

After the last break-in at this store it was some time before the guilty parties were apprehended but at present are serving sentences for the offence. At that time $900 worth of liquor was taken.

Mystery! Where are Bodies of Drowned Men?

Yet no Trace Found of Men Supposedly Swept Away

Montreal, Aug. 5.—Hurried repairs and the clearing out of debris have been completed on the north end of the northern side of the Lachine Canal, creat grain-bearing inland from the way, which was badly damaged in an accident on Sunday last. One grain boat and one coal boat were locked through yesterday.

The southern side, which received most of the damage when the steamer Norana crashed through the gates at each end of Lock No. 2, will not be in operation for some days yet.

A continuous search still failed to produce a single body near the scene of Sunday's crash. At the time, eye-witnesses told the sweeping away of many destitute men, who were on an embankment in the centre of the canal. The continued failure to find bodies, and the fact that no definite reports of anyone being missing, are available, caused authorities to believe that all the victims managed to get away or been rescued from the turbulent water which swept through the lock gates.

100 ARRESTED DURING STRIKE

Four Wounded And Walkout is Expected

Havana, Aug. 5 (AP)—Havana's 24-hour general strike was ended today with more than one hundred persons under arrest, four persons wounded and probabilities that a new walk-out would initiated within the next few days.

Bombing of street cars, exchange of shots between policemen and some of the 40,000 strikers, dissolution of groups and the arrest of a committee of laborers for carrying arms featured the general strike which was largely inactive to fifteen of Cuba's larger cities.

BOARD ORDER ON PAVEMENT

Council Will Meet Special Session Shortly

The order from the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board with respect to the pavement to be laid on North Front Street has been received by City Clerk J. W. Mayfred Holmes but it is said, the meaning is not perfectly clear and more information will be required. The Board ordered that the work be done on a 50-50 basis but the council wishes to know if that means that the city or the road water mains and also the intersections. The matter is being taken up by the city solicitor with the Railway Board and it is understood when the apportioned costs will soon be received from the Railway Board. A meeting of the city council will likely be held on Monday, August 17th, when the by-laws will be given their third reading and final passage if the Board's decision is definite answer is received, which is expected regarding North Front Street, the necessary legal machinery will be passed to set the work on this street in motion.

One In Four Is Foreigner

Victoria, B.C., Aug. 5.—(By The Canadian Press)—One in four, approximately, of those registering so far under the Provincial Unemployment Relief Plan are citizens of countries outside of the British Empire, preliminary reports in the hands of the unemployment committee of the Cabinet today disclose. In addition there are numbers of British and Canadian citizens who have come to British Columbia since January 1 seek employment.

Representations to Ottawa, asking federal help in respect to non-British applicants, is altogether probable on the part of the Provincial Government.

HOLIDAY TOLL 12 DROWNED

British Bank Holiday Saw Record Crowd at Resorts

London, Aug. 5 (By Thos. T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—Glorious weather which caused many thousands to seek the seaside and country during the British Bank Holiday failed to furnish an abnormal holiday death toll. Twelve bathing fatalities were reported but in contrast to road accidents, while plentiful, were rarely serious. One bathing party of ten men and ten girls starters at the Chicester Estuary in Sussex was drowned in dangerous currents.

Road scouts reported a general readiness to observe the rules and regulations and the common courtesies of the road but the only fault the many motorists who were abroad.

The holiday provided a disagreeable surprise for the authorities in charge of the open air zoo, where animals are kept in a wild state, at Whipsnade, Bedfordshire. DEATH PARTS OLD FRIENDS

Bishop and Invalid Boy Met at Football Accident

London, Aug. 5 (AP) — The Bishop of London and a boy who became an invalid from a football accident have been parted by death.

The friendship began some years ago when Dr. Winnington-Ingram met the lad walking in Fulham. He learned that his name was Allen Beaumont Bonsey and that his father had been killed in the war. Thereafter he acted as a kind of adopted father to the boy.

A few months ago Allen was injured at football. Complications set in and he was finally taken to London nursing home. Every day the Bishop managed to find time to spend at least a quarter of an hour at the bedside of his young friend. It did allen little good however and to three visits that the Bishop decided to more him to his own residence. The boy, his mother and a nurse all moved to Fulham Palace, but the boy failed rapidly and died.

The Bishop then arranged for him to be buried as near the palace as possible, and in a quiet grave corner at All Saints Church his grave was dug. The Bishop himself took part of the funeral service and on the grave laid a wreath with his own hands.

"They lie who say that love can die."

STATES ON BRINK

Lord Lothian Says Britain Will Move Without Revolution

London, Aug. 5 (AP)—If Russia's communists could hear him talk about them, said George Bernard Shaw today, they would call him one of the most monstrous paradoxes, if not the greatest liar, on the face of the earth.

He was talking at the Independent Labor Party summer school about his recent brief visit to Soviet Russia with Lady Astor and several other British leaders.

"The Communist system," said he "is as intensely religious system. They are working out the Fabian Society scientific, now, they are running to the edge of the abyss."

While Shaw was talking to the Lahorites Lord Lothian who also was with him on the Russia, addressed the Liberal summer school at Cambridge. Lady Astor has not yet given her official views on Russia.

The five-year plan, said Lord Lothian, can be accomplished more than on economic regards quite surely, "but quality is another consideration."

No one can go to Russia, he said, without being impressed that the country is conducting the "most gigantic and heroic experiment ever tried in history."

"There are some ideas behind the Russian experiment," he declared, "which will affect enormously all mankind, but if they are ever adopted by Great Britain it will be through constitutional progress and not by revolutionary and tyrannical methods."

EXPLORE GAS OIL FIELDS

Montreal Power Will Probe Prospect on St. Lawrence

Montreal, Aug. 5 (CP)—Early and vigorous exploitation of gas and oil fields on a well-defined area of the south shore of the St. Lawrence is promised in an announcement by J. S. Norris, managing director of Montreal Light, Heat and Power Consolidated.

Long thought by geologists to be rich in petroleum wealth, the oil fields, stretching from St. Hyacinthe to a point on the south shore opposite Three Rivers, have received the attention of private development but never before has the project received such significant sponsorship.

Associated with "power" in the enterprise will be Southern Canada Power, Shawinigan Power and Mc-Coll-Frontenac Oil Company, an interest of McColl-Frontenac in the project securing to the possibility of the mining of crude oil on a commercial scale when the refining plant is built and developed it, together with all by-products. The Hydro committee, all operating in or near this territory are more interested in the natural gas possibilities.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 5 (CP).— The Winnipeg trades and labor council has approved the 10 official stamp of approval on J. S. Woodsworth, M.P., and Edmund Bradbury, labor member, of parliament, as representatives of Winnipeg labor. A resolution unanimously passed by the council refused a request that they have labor stand during the East Hamilton, Ont., by-election campaign by C. W. Bell, K.C. M.P., of West Hamilton, that Mr. Bradbury did not represent organized labor.

GERMAN BANKS REOPEN

Berlin, Aug. 5 (AP).—Germany's banks, closed for two and one-half weeks as an emergency measure to stabilize the country's finances, reopened today for public business in an atmosphere of perfect calm.

PROBE CHARGE IN CASE OF SILVER

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 5—(CP)— Probe of a reported driving charge against Fred Silver of Toronto will be undertaken by Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney General, of Ontario, it was decided today at a complete record of the case.

Silver was reported to have been speeding on the highway near Casanova on the night of July 26 when the facts were laid before Magistrate James Thompson of Toronto by Provincial Constable Noble, the latter raised the charge of reckless driving. Silver pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and costs on a reduced charge of driving without due consideration for the reckless driving summons. Silver announced he would appeal.

8th-Tyendinaga

8TH TYENDINAGA—The berry social held on the lawn of the school was a success with a splendid crowd present and everybody enjoyed it.

The Misses Vera and Bernice Bedford and Miss Vera White and Miss Vera Copeland spent Tuesday afternoon with Miss Gladys Copeland, Latta.

Miss White and family spent Wednesday evening with Mrs. Robt. Copeland.

AIR ROMANCE IN DIVORCE COURTS

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 5. — The aeroplane romance of Lita Grey, movie star and screen ex-ress, and John Gilbert, romantic movie actor, whose marriage was termed the "ideal romance", has crashed in the divorce courts.

The actress obtained the decree yesterday on a charge of mental cruelty, saying Gilbert told her they were temperamentally unsuited to each other and that he wanted to be left alone.

Although a whole hearing had been sought before Superior Judge Joseph Scott, news of the case became public am . spectators troop to Judge Scott's chambers.

Miss Claire's low-voiced testimony showed details of the charges of the complainant, asserting a "course of habitual cruelty" and "extreme cruelty in denial pain and suffering."

Gilbert, who sloped by aeroplane with Miss Claire, in May, 1929, to Las Vgtas, Nevada, did not attend the hearing.

"I say he requested you to leave home!" Judge Sproul asked in questioning Miss Grey.

"He did," whispered Miss Claire. He said we were temperamentally unsuited to each other and——

LOCAL FILTER GIVEN PRAISE

Engineering Professor Visits Belleville Plant

While making a tour of inspection throughout Canada and United States, Mr. Thos. A. Camp, Associate Professor of Sanitary Engineering of the Massachusetts Institute, called at the local filtration plant. Mr. Camp spoke very highly of the Belleville filtration plant saying that it was the best and most up-to-date plant that he ever saw in a city of over 14,000 population. He said he was very well impressed with the sanitary conditions that he had seen everywhere in Canada. Mr. Camp has been in Ottawa and after leaving Belleville will proceed to Toronto, Windsor and Detroit, where he will continue his research work.

ACT YOUR AGE!

No matter how good a sport you may be if you are old enough to be a parent of any member of a certain crowd you are not entirely welcome at their gatherings.

Because you are willing and able to do the things in which younger folk engage and are a liberal spender you may think your presence is appreciated.

Mr. Man, don't flatter yourself.

If you pay for expensive entertainment you may be tolerated as an easy mark but that is all.

Often some people much older than a majority of a crowd are annoying in their efforts to be as young as the younger of a gay crowd.

Is it because you have not advanced with your years?

Is it because your actions make you shunned by those of your years?

You may think those of your age are regular old fogies.

You want to keep up with the times and you think the fads and the foibles of youth only to be laughed at by those you try to emulate.

Grow up.

You'll reach second childhood soon enough.

World Surplus of Wheat Increases Hundred Million

Washington, Aug. 5.—The world wheat surplus swelled more than 100,000,000 bushels during the crop year ended June 30. Government economists have unofficially estimated that the world carry-over at the beginning of the current crop year was 670,000,000 bushels, as compared with the unrevised total of 563,000,000 bushels a year ago.

While Chicago market yesterday September wheat touched 46 3-4, a new all-time low for that future, unofficial reports that Germany purchased wheat and cotton stocks controlled by the Farm Board on liberal credit terms as a means of extending further relief to that country, and also aiding American agriculture.

HARVESTING IS IN FULL SWING

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 5 (CP).—Harvesting is general throughout South ern Ontario, crops maturing rapidly due to the hot weather. Rust has developed in many counties, according to the weekly crop report issued by the provincial department of agriculture today. Damage to wheat crops through rust is larger than was expected in some parts, therefore, it is revealed. Bruce and Carleton counties and Algoma district suffered in this respect. Oat crops are affected by rust in Huron and Wellington.

Combining the rigidity of a mess ing rule with the flexibility of a tape, a steel rule which can be propelled from its case by pressing a button is now available.

BULLETIN BOARD

PRESENTED WITH UMBRELLA

A shooting match took place in the House of Refuge on Sunday afternoon last. As Rev. Mr. Geen was leaving after the service, little Miss Sandercock on behalf of her father presented the minister with a fine umbrella. Mr. Geen replied his appreciation of the gift but said it was the kindly feeling behind the present that he valued most. Mr. Geen has conducted many services during the absence of any other clergyman for the inmates.

FILLS POST TEMPORARILY

Mr. Frederick L. Ward, prominent Prince Edward barrister of Picton, has been appointed temporarily to fill the post of Crown Attorney of P. . Allison. The latter with Mrs. Allison has left for the Maritimes for an extended holiday. He will stay about a month.

RETURNS FROM HALIFAX

Messrs Wallace Salisbury, District Agent for Belleville for the Canadian Life Insurance Company, W. J. Whitty District Agent at Stirling and A. J. McClellan, Central Ontario Representative, have returned from Halifax where they were guests of the Company at the contest in memory of H. Marcus, taken on sight seeing tours, had a trip over the Evangeline trail and enjoyed several complimentary dinners. Mr. Salisbury and Mr. Whitty have attained special distinction in the Company, both in Canada and since they were first enrolled. In order to qualify, agents must sell $100,000 of insurance in the course of a year. The party spent a short time in Boston on their return.

HIGHWAY ACCIDENT.

Mrs. P. H. Wills and her two children had a narrow escape from injury yesterday when the car driven by the former was forced into the ditch east of the cemetery crossing. It appears that the car driven by Mrs. Wills was proceeding westward when another motor operated by H. Marcus, 78 Glen Avenue, Ottawa, while turning out to pass, struck the Wills' car, forcing it into the north ditch. It is alleged that Mr. Marcus was directly behind another vehicle which had slowed up near a truck parked on the side of the road. Before he was able to avoid a crash his side struck the front wheel of the Wills' car and both headed for the ditch.

Clair Morrison, four years old, was the only one injured and he sustained a broken nose. He was rushed to the Belleville General Hospital where he received treatment from Dr. George Stobie. Fortunately neither Mrs. Wills nor her children were hurt. Traffic Officer Byles of this city, investigated the accident.

SUFFERED LOSS OF MEMORY.

Mr. John Reid who was injured in an auto accident east of Trenton a week ago yesterday is suffering from complete loss of memory resulting from concussion, it is reported at the hospital. The condition of Mr. Stephen Ayles, another member of the party, is critical and both are confined to the hospital. Mrs. Ayles is confined to her home with a nurse in attendance and it is felt that the eyesight, which was in dangry of permanent injury, will be saved.

TWO FIRE CALLS

The local fire department had two calls last evening. The first call was to the home of Mrs. Woodhouse 1 Emily Street, where some curtains had caught on fire in a bedroom in the upstairs part of the house. The origin of the blaze is unknown but very little damage was reported. Again about 10 p.m. the department was called to the rear of a Front Street store where a bonfire had got beyond control. The department soon had the blaze under control with no damage before done.

PLANNING FOR BIG KARNIVAL

Kiwanis Club Name Committees For Annual Show

The Autumn season is just around the corner and with it comes the annual Kiwanis Karnival. On Tuesday the chairmanships for the various committees were announced and with the latest given out, the Karnival should again be one of the events of the season in Belleville. The general chairmanship has been given to C. Dayton Clayton and no member in the club deserves the honor more than this genial fellow. They've had all have other duties to perform instead of being confined to one booth during the week's festivities. His helpers will be Joe Imlah and Roger Hall as vice-chairmen. The other committee chairmen will be: Hall and Donaldson, Georges Program; Ferguson, George A. Forhan; Publicity, Ronald Music, Harry Greenleaf; Games, George A. Lee; Concessions, A. Collins; Dance, J. E. Bateman; Fashion Show, Eddie Shapiro and Joe Hickey; Refreshments, Ernie Dickens; Stage, Fred Smythe; Purchasing, Jack Hagerman; Decorations, Ernie Finale, and General Treasurer, George H. Orff. The Executive committee of the club becamep ublic an . spectators troop to Judge Scott's chambers.

All committees are functioning and will witness the best vaudeville that has ever appeared in the city every night of the Karnival.

PARTRIDGE DEATH WILL BE PROBED

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 5 (By The Canadian Press)—Inquest into the death of E. A. Partridge, whose body was found in a gas-filled room Monday night, will be held today, it was learned here from the prairie provinces.

He was the first president of Canadian Pacific Airways of Saskatchewan. Surviving him are two brothers, Dr. H. Partridge, who resides here and Mrs. S. M. Booth, of Blenheim, Sask.

BRAKE TESTING MACHINE READY

White Rose service station on Front Street, operated by Clarence Craig, is now equipped with the most modern brake-testing machine on the market. The Bowser Hydraulic Brake tester is guaranteed to be the most accurate and most-up-to-date invention in its line. It has the exclusive feature of allowing the motorist not only an actual test of his brakes but four brakes individually and simultaneously. R. H. Cummins of Toronto representing the Johnston-Manville Company completed installation of the new equipment this morning. The brakes can be actually tested at fifty miles an hour speed, and at any other speed desired. Bowser Hydraulic Brake tester is manufactured by Equipment Ltd. of Toronto. The machine operates on the hydraulic pressure principle and the motorist can see on the dials, the exact condition of all his four brakes.

SCOT'S FLIER AT ATHENS

Athens, Greece, Aug. 5 (AP) — J. A. Mollison, young Scottish airman who is making a great bid to beat Sir W. A. Scott's record flight from Australia to England in 10 days and 23 hours, arrived at Athens today from Aleppo and two hours later took off for London.

Mollison hoped to arrive in London tomorrow morning. If he does he will have established a new record.

4TH MURDER STIRS GOTHAM

Police Expect to Solve Two Murders Shortly

New York, N.Y., Aug. 5.—A police department spurred on by rewards and promises of rank promotion was confronted today with the fourth gang killing in a week.

In Manhattan and the Bronx, three newly impaneled Grand Juries went into the crime situation under warning by the presiding judges, to fully co-operate with police in dealing with gangsters.

The latest victim since five-year-old Michael Vengalli was mowed down by shotgun slugs in Harlem, was Angelo Martino, described by police as a petty racketeer. Martino's strangled form was found yesterday in a Long Island city garage, wrapped in blankets.

Police Commissioner Mulrooney said he expected several of the cases to be solved within the next two or three days.

South America once consisted of three islands separated by a sea similar to the Mediterranean. It is said.

$25,000 MISSED FROM POUCH

New York, N.Y., Aug. 5.—Postal inspectors and private detectives today were investigating the mysterious disappearance of $25,000 in currency consigned to the New York Branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, which disappeared from a mail pouch aboard the Cunard liner Mauretania.

The package had been shipped from Nassau, Bahamas, June 8, but its disappearance was not disclosed until last night. Bank and Cunard Line officials refused to discuss the case.

Postal authorities believe the currency was taken out of its inner pouch before being placed in the mail sack as the outer sack was securely locked. The inner pouch had been slit.

TORONTO STOCK MARKET

Toronto, Aug. 4.—Toronto Stock Exchange Market this morning was practically unchanged from the devel of last week, which developed concerning particular stocks appeared to have been previously discounted and such issues did not vary more than a small fraction. Nickel was a prominent instance. Directors yesterday cut the quarterly dividend rate from 15 to 10 cents per the stock this morning was 1-8 higher than it had been Saturday.

MAN AND WIFE ENDED LIVES

Montreal, Que., Aug. 5.—By The Canadian Press:—The bodies of a man and woman, taken from the St. Lawrence River at some thirty miles below Montreal last Saturday were identified as those of Diego E. R. Caroe, 51, and his wife, Gladys, 41, born in Denmark but for many years residing in Montreal. Investigation at the apartment which the Caroe's occupied here disclosed several notes from the couple indicating that they intended taking their lives.

The most tragic of these notes were addressed to their only child, Otto, aged 19, now attending a girls' summer camp in the Laurentian Mountains Young Women's Christian Association officers left for the camp Tuesday morning to carry the sorrowful tidings to the young girl.

WOMAN SHOT SELF

Lindsay, Ont., Aug. 4.—Mrs. William Davies, 42, of North Verulam, arose at daybreak yesterday morning and went to her kitchen where she shot herself through the head with a rifle, killing herself instantly. Her husband was awakened by the shot but thought it had been a noisy thunderstorm and went back to sleep again. Mr. E. A. White, coroner, decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

COLLEGE STUDENT KILLED IN DITCH

Sherbrooke, Aug. 3.—(CP)—Clifford Webb, a young college student of Stanford, Conn., was instantly killed and his companion, Palmer Griffin, son of Judge Griffin, of Boston, Mass., who has a cottage for the summer at Newport, Vt., was seriously injured when the motor car in which they were riding plunged off the Ayers Cliff road into a deep ditch, overturned and pinned the two young men beneath. Mr. Webb was instantly killed, while Griffin was imprisoned underneath the vehicle for three hours before help arrived.

BRUSH WITH POLICE

Victoria, B.C., Aug. 5.—(By The Canadian Press)—Open clash with constituted authority in the City of Vancouver by marchers who on Saturday and Sunday brushed with the police, using stones and other missiles, was brought fully to the attention of the Dominion Department of Justice yesterday by the Provincial Government.

BUILDING PERMITS

It was satisfaction to the city to see that the number of building permits for the month of June showed an advance over previous months. The construction work was, not only in garages, but in dwellings and in industrial plant additions, a significant fact in the days of depression. It is to be hoped that in Canada at least, the worst era will soon set in, and new industries in the city are prepared for the advent of the new day.

Building permits are a healthy sign if the permits are numerous and the amounts of individual contracts average. They mean a contribution in the form of taxes to the city, extensions to the city services and all in all, development.

FLYING GROWING

The sky is full of planes. The great Lindbergh is in the air saddle of Pegasus and in other parts of the world seeking to conquer the unconquered, are others of the race of airmen. A few days ago a brace of fliers flew over Europe and no one saw them. Perhaps a whole squadron of planes could drum across the continent and not be noticed. So grows the new adventure of mankind.

HORSE, MOTOR AND COW 'IN PHRASES

How long will expressions associated with the horse and the old style of conveyances last in the language? Will the phrase "a buggy ride", or this other "felt his oats", or "took the bit in his teeth" or "kick over the traces", or "stood without hitching"; "hitch your wagon to a star" be heard?

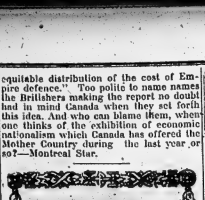
The new means of conveyance are adding new words to the language and people think in terms of the new vocabulary. But the motorcar can never be called "friend of man" in the sense in which the horse enjoyed that distinction. But the words "to feel one's oats" are so expressive that with others it will undoubtedly last.

The Monitor uses one of the most striking of phrases associated with the horse, "a horse of another color", which has engrafted itself into thought and language, and will likely long last. Yet the Monitor fears for the ultimate repair of the equine phraseology, lest it almost disappear.

Now we speak of a "flat tire" a "one cylinder", but the word "drive" used with the horse has not been superseded by the word "motor".

The horse and the cow have been associated in the minds of the people since time immorial, but the language associated with the cow will linger still for no robot cow has yet been invented. The cow may be replaced milk and there may be condensing plants, but the cow remains in the background, the moving principle of milk and a square meal. With the horse it is different. Of course man has dehorned the cow, so a word used with "hook" in the word is disappearing but the word "dehorn" remains and will remain until cows if there are horns. Then many words of development or evolution. The cow has probably not inspired so many sta*king phrases as the horse in the language, her contribution is striking enough for did she not name the starry path across the heavens, "The Milky Way"? Of course the cow has faced no rival like the motorcar.

Synthetic milk and beef are not yet on the market. Cow-power remains, while horsepower refers to mechanical equipment, not to horses, though the horse inspires the word "Horsepower".



"DRASTIC ECONOMY"

Britain is now contemplating that last resort of ineffective statesmanship, "drastic economy". A government commission which was set to work on finding ways and means to cut expenditures has reported and proposes reductions totalling $483,000,000.

The principal item proposed is a decrease in unemployment benefits by which $332,000,000 will be saved. The unemployed, of course, will have something to say about this suggestion, and it is not hard to foresee that the Labor Government will think twice before it makes any cuts in unemployment insurance payments. Indeed, it will think three times and we feel on safe ground in saying that the proposed cuts will not be made. Some adjustments and economies may be possible, but it is doubtful in the extreme that the wholesale reductions proposed will ever reach accomplishment.

Teachers' salaries are also to be cut, which is taking advantage of a defenceless and deserving class. So are grants to higher education and to public road construction. These are dubious in the extreme. Only less so are most of the others put forward.

To Canada and the other dominions, perhaps the most interesting suggestion is that "consideration be given to a more equitable distribution of the cost of Empire defence." Too polite to name names the Britishers making the report no doubt had in mind Canada when they set forth this idea. And who can blame them, when one thinks of the exhibition of economic nationalism which Canada has offered the Mother Country during the last year or so?—Montreal Star.

TROUBLE
By Miss Michaelis

Trouble? Well, let's meet it,
Let's not run away;
Maybe if we greet it
Bravely, we'll defeat it
By the close of day!

Trouble? Others bear it,
Why should we alone
Claim we can not share it?
Rather, let us bear it
Like a precious stone!

Like a ruby glowing
In an amulet;
Let each care be showing
How we still are owing Strength to cares we've met.

Trouble? Why believe it
Must be wholly wrong?
Dauntlessly receive it,
Brave souls, then, and weave it
Into light and song!

IT IS ALTOGETHER too "moto" in Manhattan for Waisini-Bin-Juma and Manweri, the two African native lads who are living in Central Park Zoo, tending the gorillas and chimpanzees brought back from the hot country by Martin Johnson. When Waisini and Manweri say "moto" they place their fingers to their temples and rub briskly. They mean that it is too hot. They already have taken to eating ice cream in great quantities as they sigh for the cool land of the Equator. They have been to see a talkie and it only served to convince them further that "these white people are all crazy." Their favorite diversions, beyond eating ice cream, are watching the fifth avenue buses, which are cool on top, and using the telephone. The latter instrument has seized their fancy, not because of the queer gibberish it gives off, but because it tickles their ears.

ESKIMO HOUSEWIVES at Point Barrow, Alaska, are getting ready to enter tain Anne Lindbergh. Word was started to-ne-cleaning, in an Associated Press despatch dated July 30. The native dwellings, known all over the world as igloos, although they are not made of ice blocks, are being scrubbed and straightened up. The Eskimos also are cleaning up the streets of the tiny settlement at the northernmost tip of Alaska.

AN AMERICAN, staying with a hospitable ten-planter in Assam, thought he would send a cable home. It read: "Am well. Staying with ruler of Mongolia." His hostess pointed out that Mongolia was hundreds of miles away. The American replied that his people knew where Mongolia was, but most probably had never heard of Assam. The hostess was rather hurt. In due course they went to the telegraph office, where the cable was handed in. In a moment a dusky face appeared at the pigeon-hole, and the clerk said: "Sah . . . where is New York?" "What," shouted the American, "never heard of the United States?" "Oh, yes, sah," said the clerk, brightening. "Part of Canada, eh?"

WHAT SHAKESPEARE EARNED

American Shakespeare investigators are more original than the English, says the "Diarist" of the London Evening Standard:

"In this country Shakespeare research is confined largely to those people who seek to prove that the good man did not write his own works.

"An American professor has been working for years on the task of elucidating Shakespeare's income. He has arrived at the conclusion that his fame as the bard's average earnings as dramatist, poet, actor, and producer were only £250 per annum, $1,250.)

"In present-day values it is equivalent to about £2,000.

"Modern authors will not be envious. There is at best only one living dramatist who must pay five times that amount in income tax."

SIAM'S KING

The King is an absolute monarch in a unique sense. Not only king but lawgiver, not only ruler but creator of judges, he makes all government appointments and all officials are directly responsible to him. There is no other instance, in modern history at all events, of a king who, exercising an unrestrain ed authority, has led his country from non-bankruptcy to financial stability, from turmoil to peace, and from corruption to honesty, as he is recognized and honoured place among the nations, alike as a member of the League of Nations and of the World Court. King Prajadhipok, though an absolute monarch, has organized a thoroughly modern and accidental system of government, and Siam has today a full degree of mental administration with all the routine ministries—such as foreign affairs, interior, finance, agriculture, war, marine, and public instruction, besides a privy council, a cabinet council and a supreme council of state. He enjoys complete religious freedom and a liberal measure of economic liberty, and she offers exceptional opportunities to foreigners who settle with in her borders.

Much of this is due to the distinguished young man who is our present today. His ancestors have ruled Siam for a century and a half, and their rule has been dependent upon the free will of their people, not upon force or authority secured by arms. King and Queen are beloved by their subjects, and the throne is established less uncertainly than ever when the ruler finding upon his accession that the country finances were in a bad way began at the very top and put into effect the most drastic cuts in expenditure in the royal household itself.—Montreal Star.

ON BEING GAT

The kingdom of laughter has no stage. Today we have men who have inherited the mantle of poesy; the children love them, and from what they write no appeal. What greater ambition can there be than to arouse innocent laughter? Anybody can be sad—it is later-life that to be gay. So we must laugh with the clown, the fool, the pierrot and Columbine and Harlequin and believe in them. Laughter is a creative force, introducing it into our own and others' lives. It is the reason once why his marriage was so happy. Laughter is thoughtlessly given, we wife belonged to a generation of women born happy. What a delightful inheritance! It is the gay ladies that happiness is another name for being good.—Lady Decies in Woman's Magazine.

WORK AND WORSHIP

In choked and confusing forgrounds, the pine trees and firs are like men lost in the forest. When I sat in the moss one cannot see the highest tree in sight. From the top of it one would be able to see where he is and where he should go next. One looks ahead and shapes his course, keeping a straight line between tree-climbing, and the greenhorn in the forest does not. He is not ready to move in circles in hope of finding himself. The experienced man knows that the best way to get ahead is sometimes to stand still and see where he is. So it is with worship. Sometimes we do look over our stumbling path and look around anew where we veered from the track we should be on. It is then, some time, but it gives meaning and dignity to work, to plan, to love and life.—Montreal Star.

FRONTING WORK AT HOME

It is announced that the Ontario government has practically completed the construction of a section of pavement in the north end of the county as an unemployment measure. It had been planned, owing to local road conditions and the need for economy, not to go ahead with this work this year. If, however, the government feels that the road conditions warrant it can be saved in materials and work furnished by men who need it, few if any will resort to criticism.

In the Ontario provincial government employment schemes it will be a good thing if some work can be provided as close to home as possible. The municipalities, no doubt, will there work is available, will have to pay in one way or another, and it is always much more satisfactory if some money can be kept in the county. Certain it is that most municipalities will be glad to find something to do to provide employment to their local men.—Oshawa Times.

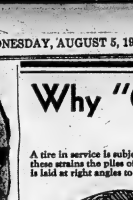
A man was released from prison in Kansas soon recently after serving ten years for a crime he did not commit.

When asked by an interviewer what he had been doing since he came out, he smiled and said:



"Loafing around, and feeling the grass."

He had been spending his time at the tables. They would have been all new to him, and one might expect him to be confused at first. He had not been going to ball games, nor to movies, but perhaps one might expect a man to do after spending all those years in prison walls. It wasn't because he did not have the money to indulge whatever little fancies might have attracted him, because during his incarceration he had earned $453 for his prison labor.

But he lay under the trees and felt the grass.

The law found this man guilty and then it found him innocent. In the meantime he had suffered, and although his innocence was firmly established, it will not be an easy matter for him to get on in this busy world. Some will think he should have been out looking for a job.

It is entirely probable that the way he chose to use his newly found freedom was the most profitable one possible. In the quiet happiness of those days the conviction was perhaps borne upon him that there is an immutable law of justice operating in the affairs of men, however clouded and tardy the human expression of it may seem. Such realization would give courage to carry on with a stout heart and help dissolve the memories of years of unjust imprisonment.—Oshawa Times.

A meeting for the purpose of organizing a cheese for the cheese people of this line was held at Mrs. J. Donaldson's on Saturday afternoon, some twenty or more being present.

We are sorry to hear of Bill Lashbrook falling and breaking his arm. A bone was broken and some cords strained and he will be able to be around again soon.

Mrs. C. Kelly has returned to her home at Stoco after an extended visit with her daughter, Mrs. D. Cronmore.

Mr. Michael Kelly of Toronto visited his sister, Mrs. D. Winslen, his brother and sister, Mr. D. Haley, returned home with him.

Bryson Castle, Belleville, spent a few days last week at his uncle's, Mr. J. Donaldson.

Mrs. Mitchell has been staying at her grandfather's, Mr. Mitchell, Wooler, who has been very sick. Mr. Mitchell is 93 years of age.

Miss Tena Meaghen of the C. S. Co., cousin of Mrs. Whalen, has gone to Rochester to visit her mother and other relatives.

Mrs. F. Hicks of Toronto is at her parents', Mr. and Mrs. A. Hall, helping to get ready to move next week.

Why "GP" Cord Material is "cut on the bias"

A tire in service is subjected to severe stresses from every angle. To successfully stand these strains the plies of cords are criss-crossed .... For greater strength each ply of cord is laid at right angles to the other. The strength is in this angle-wise construction ....

These plies are accurately cut "on the bias" by a machine adjusted to the fraction of an inch .... "GP" insulated cords absorb the road shocks .... hold against all strains and add to the strength already imparted by the Gum Cushions and Resico tread. "GP" Tires are sold at all "Gum Cushion Tire Stations."

Me and Glasses Mgee started to have a fite today, me saying, Hay, if youre not careful youll see so many stars youll think its a frewerks exhibition, ony you wont injoy it because youll be the pinwheel.

O is that so, well you heiter look out why youre tawking to or elts youll wake up in the hospitle with all your ribs missing and about 6 broken legs, Glasses sed.

Well me and Glasses went to the ferst thing you know youll think theres a big explosion, and youll be rite because it'll be you going up in smoke and never being herd of again, I sed.

O it will, heh? Glasses sed. Well in just about a minnit something will happen to you so serious that your own relations wont recknize you, and if they see something that slitely looks like you it will turn out to be a grease spot. Hay, G wizz, look out, whats these? he sed.

Meeming about 4 big fearse looking insecks buzzing around looking as if they was trying to stab us, and me and Glasses started to run, and we could hear them coming after us, and we ran in Glasses vesterbule and slammed the door, and after a while we peeked out and they was gone, me saying, O boy what a narrow escape.

Ill say it was, I bet if one of these things ever stung us it would make a bump as big as a monument, Glasses sed. Good nite we're lucky, he sed.

And we went in his house and his mother was just getting through making chocklit ice cram and she left a lot on the fridde for us to lick off, which we did both-at once, him licking one side and me licking the other, having a swell time.

Fashionably Speaking

By Lucille

Dear Readers:

The French Colonial Exposition influence in costume jewellery will continue strongly next season. Much metal, some wood and metal combinations, big bizarre shapes and bright colors, either in one piece or colors used together. And then, just for contrariness, pearls are coming back more strongly than ever, "it is likely to be an important season for earrings, bracelets, necklaces and such whimsies as little jewelled hair ornaments; for necklaces not so big. What with draped necklines and low backs of dress, time dresses, and the beaded and oddly shaped decolletes of evening, the necklace is likely to appear only occasionally. When it does, in the formal affair, it is apt to be small and lie close to the throat.

Fashion necklaces go in for different lengths, from the choker to set affairs. A novelty in this class combines metal with felt which is used to match any color or dress. Tweed tones are repeated in three-strand necklaces of dark brown, red and green, one color is a strand, with a matching bracelet fastened with a dull silver clasp. Another effective combination is chocolate brown, olive green and orange. A showy string is made of beads the size of marbles, one half in light basalt, the other pure white coral. Formal jewellery reminiscent of the Second Empire is beginning to appear.

Once the mode was for sports jewelry, and real jewels were packed carefully away for safe keeping, but now the opposite is true and so up-to-the-minute women are having their jewels set in modern designs and are wearing them with their everyday sports frocks. Floral motifs, copies of flower stamens, and clusters resembling acorns, buds and fir cones are seen. Delicately carved roses, lilies and other lovely flowers appear on chains and are copied in various pieces of semi-precious jewelry.

Much rich, glowing color is the vogue in jewelry. Such combinations as ruby-and-white, and blue-and-white are specially popular because of the dominancy of those two fads in fashionable color scheme. Sapphires, lapis, and blue onyx or gadstrand necklaces of dark brown, red, green in such variations as pistachio, aquamarine, emerald and jade are second preference.

Fashionably yours,
LUCILLE

"Chances," the spectacular 100-minute First National picture which is the feature attraction at the Belle today and Thursday, matinee daily, is the initial starring vehicle which Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., has made as Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.

"Chances" is adapted from the best-selling novel of A. Hamilton Gibbs. Screen play and dialogue are by Maude Fulton and Garrett Dwan directed. It presents in its sequences the whole story of the artillery during the war.

The production opens at two young British soldiers—brothers — who both fall in love with the same girl. Temporarily miffed at the one brother, the girl promises to marry the other if he comes back alive. She later reveals the fact that she is not in love with the youth to whom she is engaged. The working out of the romantic conflict comes in the midst of a night bombardment on the Western Front.

The enjoyment of the program now at the Belle is augmented by the additions to the four capable features, Rudy Vallee in "Betty Co-Ed," a delightful and melodious musical harmony treat. The Lure of Hollywood, a funny Cameo comedy with a host of filmmakers enacting themselves, and the latest Pathe sound studio. The popular Metrotone Sound News and a silver screen classic, Pathe paint cartoonings in God's country

"THIS MAD WORLD" IS INTENSELY DRAMATIC

The story of "This Mad World" given here starting Sunday is based on the drama which stars Louise Brooks as Mme. Pauline, Kay Johnson as Victoria and Basil Rathbone as Paul and which ends at the Capitol to-night.

Mme. Pauline, a French woman is ordered by her German officers to give shelter to Victoria, a Hapsburg princess traveling incognito to meet her German husband behind the lines. On the day of Victoria's arrival, Pauline's son, Paul, risks his life to see his mother. He is a spy with the French army, and has an all-important mission to accomplish for his country.

From the family album in Pauline's home, Victoria learns that Paul is a French spy. Paul and his mother recognize this dangerous fact, and determine to kill her, rather than have him betrayed, and his mission fail.

But Victoria and Paul are young and life and love are sweet. Victoria realizes her imminent death at his hands, and deliberately entices him. Then overcome by her emotions she gives herself to him. Her husband has refused to see her, and she has ten hours before she returns to her home. She spends those hours in Paul's arms. In their intense love, they forget war and hatred and are simply lovers.

In the morning, Paul speaks of a success of his that cost Victoria's country the lives of thousands, and her patriotism surmounts her love. She finds a messenger to let the Germans that a French spy is in the house, but the man she picks is one of Paul's assistants, who carries the news to him and his motive.

Once again patriotism is paramount, and love is forgotten, as they realize that Paul's mission must succeed, no matter what that happens. Pauline and her son determine to kill the German and who would cause his capture. When she faces the fact that she has sent the man she loves to his death Victoria takes her own life.

The German troops approach and escape for Paul is cut off. He says that he doesn't know him, and sets up for a spy, and the murderer of Victoria. Paul will let her go free and she can go to Paris with the secrets that will help the cause of France. Pauline sees that this is her chance to save her son's honor, so she gives her son into the hands of the Germans, who will shoot him at dawn. Paul's assistants arrive, served their warring countries, but with their love for each other. Maternal love has also been sacrificed to serve France.

The inauguration of "Opportunity Silverware Gift Night" last night was a complete success. This popular and attractive action which our readers have missed when they were originally distributed has added a large number to the many already saving the set and will continue each Tuesday until further notice

JENNY LIND'S LIFE AT THE CAPITOL TO-MORROW

To-morrow, (Thursday) will mark the first day of Jenny Lind at the Capitol Theatre in the first place as the Birrymen Opera Singer and dessert fork is the scheduled gift, and the second place as the sweet, eagerly awaiting. Second, Grace Moore, famous Metropolitan Opera soprano, makes her debut on the talking screen as Jenny Lind, historic lady who is known as "The Swedish Nightingale" of the 19th century. Metro-Goldwyn- Mayer's colorful romance based on the life of the opera celebrity of the past, which comes to the Capitol for one day only on Thursday.

The picture deals with the career of the "Swedish Nightingale" and her sensational appearance in New York under the auspices of P. T. Barnum, famous showmanship, and the romance is between the singer and a blind army officer, Hans Kraly, famous for "The Student Prince" and other plays, and Claudine West adapted the sensational story by Carl Sandburg Parnum.

A notable cast appears with the singer, Reinhold Denny, bit of "Madam Satan" and "Min and Bill." Frank Craven, Brandt, and Wallace Berry of "The Big Parade" and "Way for a Sailor" is seen as P. T. Barnum. Johnya Howland, famous on the stage in "The Gold Diggers" and on the screen in "Outlaw," appears as a gamin's-nous companion; Gus Shy of "Good News" on stage and screen is the Bowery entertainer and minor parts are played by Gilbert Emery last seen in "Let Us Be Gay," George F. Marion of "Anna Christie," Frank Darien of "Broadway," Giovanni Martino, Metropolitan opera singer, Rolf Nordin, Swedish character actress, Joan Standing, Hilda Vaughn and Ethel Vosselli.

The picture marks the first talking screen work of Carrie Jacobs Bond, composer, of "The Perfect Day," whose song, "Lovely Hour" was specially written for Miss Moore. She sings it in the operatic numbers the "Casta Diva" from Bellini's opera "Norma" and aria from "Daughter of the Regiment" by Donizetti. "It is Destiny" was composed for her by Oscar Straus, Edmund Goulding, composers, and "Barcarolle" is from the same composer, lyrics for both by Harry Graham and Herbert Stothart, composer of "The Rogue Song" is represented in the "Waltz" with lyrics by Harry Wood and Sidney Mitchell. Other musical calls include a chorus sung by students, a Swedish folk song by Stothart and an Italian song by Giovanni Martino.

Sidney Franklin, producer of "Wild Orchids," "The Actress," "A Lady of Scandal" and "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," directed the new production.

"A Lady's Morals" will remain at the Capitol for another day, Friday, also offering a two-day engagement only to see this gem.

The Beauty Box

By Helen Follett

Something more than muscular activity is necessary to attain the grace of body movement. There must be co-ordination between body and mind. The self conscious girl is seldom graceful. She doesn't know what to do with her feet, or she kicks up the rugs. She feels that her hands are as big as hams in the way. Her beauty stunt is to try to forget that she is there from chest up, hips back and tummy flat. Then she has a subconscious mind will take care of themselves. They can't be watched.

Scars are caused by the destruction of tissue. If only the skin and upper tissues are injured. Missing cells soon come and close up the good mending job. Deep wounds that have dug alien cells and torn muscles may produce scars that can be made less noticeable by massage. A new incision is made, the edges of the wound are carefully united together. Fresh injuries should be kept clean and protected from outside influences.

A healthy girl should fall asleep quickly. If she is restless, stays awake, there is a reason. Constipation is a common cause of wakefulness. The hearty a dinner will interfere with sleep. There should be a moving current of air in the room. The fullest sleep is the best. Nothing light. And the mind free of worry.

Knife pleated throats are tragic afflictions. They call for massage with a heavy cream and the palms of the hands stroking from abdomen or blades upward. Follow with a heavy application of the cream into the skin. Witch hazel should be used. It is a fine astringent to close up the chin. Place the clasped hands behind the head and turn the head slowly.

Short hair is as popular as ever. The long bob is as popular as ever. It is trip and tuck between times. The long bob with the little walnut knot at the back makes a girl look older, and that's why some of the models are chopping off their locks again.

When using lemon juice as a bleach for the skin add to it an equal amount of rosewater.

WORK IS MADE PLAY FOR CITY CHILDREN

Montreal, Aug 4 (CP)—"Boys and girls from fourteen years of age—if you like stories and songs and games, if you like to make things, come and bring your chums to the vacation school

That is the invitation in the form of a large lettered poster on the door of some eight or nine schools and basements in different parts of the city. Here the location of the Daily Vacation Schools in Montreal are in their eighteenth season. That the invitation is accepted with warmth by many boys and girls who are evident to visitors who inspected some of the schools recently.

In a large room in the Verdun high school, more than two hundred and fifty boys and girls were listening to a story being told by one of the leaders when the visitors arrived about ten o'clock, half an hour after the opening exercises. Bright eyes were fastened on the leader's fine face, and restless little figures forgot to wriggle as the story of the adventures of the little heroine proceeded to its climax, in which was, of course, a carefully wrapped-up moral.

Then the story-teller's place was taken by the singing teacher, and rich, tuneful, and modern songs were sung with gusto. By request a visiting member of the committee was known for his fine singing of old songs, went to the piano and gave an interpretation of the old of a bird familiar even to city children and greatly enjoyed. Similar installations sounded from different parts of the room.

At the sound of a whistle, the little kindergarteners marched off to their room, the older girls to the sewing room and the bigger boys to the making of baskets. An open door at the end of the corridor gave a glimpse of many white enamelled mugs, the use of which was apparently known for the first time. Each pupil was provided with a tooth brush, supplied in the training course for the future teachers before the schools open with scope afforded, however, for original details.

Frank Pritchard Winner Five Mile Swim at Madoc

Finishing in a drenching downpour and a severe electrical disturbance, Frank Pritchard of Buffalo, N.Y., won the five mile professional swim, held under the auspices of the Madoc Old Boys Re-union Committee Tuesday at Crane Park on Lake Moira. George Blagden of Memphis, Tenn., was second, Stanley Pritchard, Buffalo, third, Samuel Shields, Miami, Florida, fourth, Joe Markus, Toronto, fifth and Dave Perlmuter, Toronto, sixth. Ann Bernot of Whitestone, N.Y., who finished second in the women's swim at Port Credit on Monday, finished ahead of Cheslwood, Toronto, the two women being the only starters of the female sex. The time was one hour and forty eight minutes for the five miles, good time, when it was considered that water the conditions had to encounter. In the early part a heavy sea was running and it was quite choppy, which made rythmatic stroking impossible.

One accident and the heavy rain were the only incidents, that marred an otherwise perfect afternoon. David Chagnon of Gardner, Mass., one of the contestants, on the second lap struck a stone as he was making an overhand stroke and dislocated his shoulder. He was some distance from land when the accident occurred but he plucked made shore. He was rushed to the emergency ward where Dr. Hubbs of Madoc pulled the arm back into place, but not before a local ambulance was given. After taping the injured members, Chagnon enjoyed watching the remainder of the race. Every swimmer excepting Harry Watson of Hectorvl, finished the course or were in the water when the five hour limit expired, the men and two for women had finished.

It was nothing but Pritchard from the time the starting gun was fired by Shiler Mendelssohn of Toronto, who directed the swim for the Madoc Rotary. Shields a powerful bradgeon with a four beat flutter kick which he used with swiftly and powerfully through the choppy water and it was evident that nothing but an accident would prevent him finishing first. As the finish he had easily 400 yards on Blagden, who finished strong but did not have enough sprint to catch the leader. The prettiest style in the race was the third position and brother Stanley Pritchard only was one of the real battle with Samuel Shields, who holds a world's record. There was never more than 50 yards between the two and sometimes they swam neck and neck for some distance. Pritchard displayed a little more courage in the lap and took the better course and that was his margin of victory. Joe Markus and Dave Perlmuter swam plugging races and were not in the same class with those that finished ahead of them.

Ann Benoit was easily the master of Jewel Chesswood but the girls were game and stuck it out to the finish. Miss Benoit seemed to master the rough water better than Miss Chesswood, who simply struggled along for two laps due to having on boat and herself steering a poor course. George Blondo, who has swam in all the swims in Toronto bay, also from Toledo, Ohio to Madoc for the swim but he was never a contender. He intended however, making his way back to Toronto and entering for the big five money. There were 21 entries with three local boys taking part. Tommy Peddar, no bigger than a pint of cider swam the course and was never worse than seventh the entire trip. This kid, who tips the beam at 100 pounds hails from Belleville and will be a swimmer in another couple of years. Jack Westfall of Trenton also finished the course as did Charles Schneider also of Belleville.

EARLY SCORES BOOSTED TEAM

Juniors Back in League Running by Defeat of Point

Scoring five runs in the first two innings the B.A.A.A. juniors jumped back into the league running by winning from the league leading Point Anne juniors by a score of 5 to 4 last evening. The Association kids are now in a position to strike for second place in the junior league by virtue of their win at the Pair Grounds last evening. The local kids fought back to win from the league leaders and they will be heard from before the league is finished.

The feature of the game was supplied by the visitors when Point Anne's right fielder raced the proverbial miles, to catch Culhane's line drive. It was a catch that was worth going miles to see.

By virtue of their win last night the Association kids are still in the hunt for the junior league race, being two games behind the league leading Point Anne juniors. Line-ups:

Point Anne: Whalen, MacDonald, W. Brant, Senn, Benatti, Scott, Lott, Whitehead and Roseberry.

B.A.A.A.: Wilkins, McIlroy, Graham, Tobe, Saunders, Folwell, C. Bartlage, J. Bartlage and Smith.

B.A.A.A. ....2 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—4

Point Anne—7 hits, 1 error.
B.A.A.A.—7 hits, 1 error.

Yesterday's Stars

Vic Frazier, White Sox — Scattered Tigers nine hits in win 5-1.

Vince Barton, Cubs, battered Red Sox hurling for two home runs and three singles in double header driving in five runs.

Ray Benge, Phillies, and Willie Sherdel, Braves — Former gave Braves six hits in first game, latter scattered Phillies' eight in second for even break on day.

FIGHTS

New York—Jack (Kid) Berg, England, outpointed Jimmy McNamara, New York (10); Sammy Dorfman, New York, outpointed Mel Aragon, Akron (8); Mike Ryan, Arizona, outpointed Frankie Petrolle, Fargo, N. D. (8); Jack Rosenberg, New York, outpointed Nick Testo, Troy, N.Y. (8).

Newark, N.J.—Primo Carnera, Italy, stopped Robert (Kid) Colleclon: five dollars and ten cents.

MISFITS GOING GOOD IN NEW TEAM REGALIA

Castoffs of One Team Stars When Sent to Another Home

LEAD INCREASED

Cubs Take Giants For Double Win and Maintain Second Place

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer)

One of the big problems in major league baseball is found in the "misfit" players—the men who don't do well with one team or have no real place on it, who often become great players, when they are sent to another club.

Two Brooklyn castoffs, Harvey Hendrick and Jake Flowers, who were merely good but not particularly useful utility players with the Robins, have attracted a lot of attention this season by their performances since being traded. Hendrick, a regular with Cincinnati, is one of the National League's outstanding batsmen and Flowers, sent to St. Louis for the waiver price, has proved almost invaluable as a substitute for Frisch and Gelbert.

Another such player has cropped up recently in Bill Hunnefield, who was traded earlier in the year by Chicago White Sox. Who has filled nicely into the Clark machine in the hole left by the injury of Hughie Critz. He has proved an expert defensive player and while not a hitter, has hit a good enough man at the plate.

Does His Share

Hunnefield will not share toward New York's double victory over the Brooklyn Robins yesterday day getting in one run in the first game and batting in two in the second. Travis Jackson was the big gun of the Giants attack, getting a triple off Ed Pfezinnova and Bill Walker did the mound work for New York, the latter besting Dazzy Vance in a six-inning relief role.

Cubs Take Twin Bill

Chicago's Cubs managed to let the Giants gain an inch in their struggle for second place, took a double decision from Philadelphia Cincinnati Reds by scores of 4 to 2 and 7 to 3. The Reds finally broke into the scoring in the sixth inning of the first game after 45 runless innings, but their losing streak went to six straight games. Two hitters and two pitchers divided the honors. Vince Barton, young Chicago outfielder, product of Toronto, Orchard Park, and Kiki Cuyler, each made five hits. Barton clouting two homers in the second game, while Guy Bush and Sheriff Blake limited the Red batters in subordination.

Pittsburgh ran its string of shutout innings to 45, then saw it broken with a lead crash. Henry Meine, trying for his third straight shutout victory over the Cardinals made an error in the sixth inning and the league champions broke through for seven runs in two innings to win 7 to 1.

Phillies and Braves Split

The Phillies and the Boston Braves split the double twin-ball on the National League programme. Ray Benge stopped the Braves with six hits to gain a 3 to 2 victory in the opener, while Wes Wille Sherdel, making his first start in a month, outpitched Clite Dudley in the second clash and Benton won 4 to 2. Chuck Klein featured the second game with his 20th home run of the season.

Vic Frazier's pitching enabled the Chicago White Sox to gain an even break with Detroit in their "relay" series. Frazier, who won the opening game Saturday with a six-hit performance held the Tigers to eight blows to win the final clash 5 to 1. Hain lost the battle between Cleveland and St. Louis while the other American League teams had an off day.

Wesley W.A.

The monthly meeting of Wesley W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Geo. Hall on Thursday, July 30th. A good number were present, the president, Mrs. Wright, presided. The meeting was opened by singing "A Better Day is Coming." Prayer by Mr. Hunter followed by a scripture reading. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. A song by several girls and an instrumental piano solo by Neia Bush was enjoyed by all.

Plans were made for placing a quilt, one block from each member, to be sewn at the next meeting.

Readings were by Audrey "My Faith Looks up to Thee," followed by the singing of the hymn.

Refreshments were served and a social half hour enjoyed. Collection: five dollars and ten cents.

TRADE OPPORTUNITIES

Montreal, Que., Aug. 5.—Splendid opportunities for trade between China and the Orient generally are opening up in the near future, but up to last year Canada has not been getting the proper share, Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, stated yesterday before a luncheon tendered him jointly by the Board of Trade of Montreal, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and La Chambre de Commerce, of Montreal.

"BAWLS and STRIKES"

Perhaps never in the history of the Central League has there been two games played on two successive days as were played over the week end by the "Pesies" and the Nationals. On Friday the two teams booked up in a 4 to 4 tie at the local ball park, which lasted nearly ten innings before Umpire Kay called the game on account of darkness. Returning to Peterboro the following day these two teams staged one of the best ball games that has been seen in the Central League in years. Both teams battled for eight innings tied by the score of 1 to 1 but in the fatal ninth the Nationals out-hacked the fast failing, Peterboro team when they got 5 runs on four hits, a walk, a batter hit and an error. The "Petes" with their backs to the wall staged the greatest ninth inning rally that has ever been seen in James Stevenson Park only to fall two runs short of tieing the league leaders. (It was a game.)

The feature of Saturday's game was the return to the mound of the "Al" Heckman. After an absence of three years "Heck" once again ambled into the fans at Peterboro an exhibition of pitching that the "big blonde" only is able to put on. His control was uncanny as he was able to "toss" the "old apple" just about where he pleased. It was too bad that "Heck" could not have won his game as the expression on his face when Gibson singled, while pinch-hitting in the ninth was pitiful. "Al" had the game within his grasp only to see it fade away in the dying moments. When the "Petes" return to Belleville if Heckman is slated to pitch the local park should be filled to capacity as it is worth going miles to see the veteran perform.

Tommy Pointer hurled Saturday's game for the Natz and the local "southpaw" turned in about the best game of his career. He had everything that a pitcher desires to win a ball game, curve, fast ball and his control was about the best ever. Pointer, if he watches his step, is in for about the best season of his varied career and coupled with "Hoot" Gibson go to make about the best pitching staff than any one team has got in the province. The Nationals are scheduled to play a league game in Kingston today and they took their fulll team in order to try and win from the "Pesies."

The first round draw of the O.B.A.A. play-offs have been announced and the different league winners in Ontario know who they have to meet. The draws for Eastern Ontario are: the winner of the C.O.R.A.L. will meet the winner of the Kingston and District league, while the winner of the Ottawa and District league, Point Anne on the season's showing should win the local league.

Down east the winners of the Kingston and District league hook up with the winners of the Lennox and Addington league. All indications are that Napanee and not the latter town will represent them in the league this year. "Walt" Gerow is coaching Napanee and he thinks that the Napanee team will have a wonderful chance to go quite far in the intermediate "B" play-downs. "Walt" has worked long and hard with the Napanee team and it is through his efforts that the club are in the fine condition which they now enjoy.

The Central League play-offs start about August 19th and all indications are that Kingston and Belleville will again hook-up this year. After looking over the pitching staff of the "Ponies" one cannot give them much of a chance against the hard-hitting Belleville team. They have no outstanding pitcher to throw in against the locals, while Belleville have two real good pitchers, that, barring accidents, should beat the "Ponies" any time they start. On the receiving end there is no comparison between "Penny" Mills and any receiver that the "Ponies" ever had. There is only one "Penny," although the Kingston fans do like to "rise" him.

TWO PLAYBOYS MEET TONIGHT

Fight for Light Heavyweight Crown in New York

(By Herbert W. Barker, Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, N. Y., Aug. 5—Two young men, who have had their share and the boxing business in particular a triple lightly, will battle tonight for the world's light heavyweight championship.

Maxie Rosenbloom, the clown prince of Harlem, will be the defending champion; Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo, the challenger. Slattery has been challenging for the 175-pound crown for a long time but always has succeeded in coming out second best. The odds favor Maxie at 6 to 5. The close, smoke-filled atmosphere of New York night clubs has put Rosenbloom in fine fettle for his title defense. Maxie fights so often that he never bothers to train. He has been known to frequent gymnasiums but usually it has been to watch somebody else workout.

Both Playboys

Slattery, another playboy, has taken the fight a bit more seriously. Realizing apparently, that his title go on November—He's been fighting since 1921—"Slats" has worked out faithfully for a month in a desperate attempt to get in shape for the big event, that has eluded him for so long. Slapsie Maxie and Slattery are foes of old. In fact their feud has been renewed annually since 1925 with the single exception of 1928. They made up for this lapse by meeting twice in 1929. Slattery won their first bout in 1925 and repeated in 1926 and 1927. In 1929 they broke even but in 1930 when Rosenbloom held the 175-pound crown. Slattery was beaten on a close decision.

The Record Speaks for Itself

THE erection of the Gouin Dam marked another milestone in the development of Canada's natural resources and the increase in new industries. Likewise the creation of Turret Cigarettes marked another milestone in the art of blending mildness and fragrance, and in giving smokers a cigarette that has established a record for Canada.

After all, nothing can replace good, honest tobacco grown and ripened right out in the field under nature's own sanlight—nothing artificial about that—and the high quality is "inbred."

Montreal and Baltimore Virtually Tied for Third Place

New York, Aug. 5.—Billy Southworth's Rochester Red Wings were beating the Montreal Royals in League parade today for the first time since April 16, the second day of the current season.

The Red Wings, League champions for the last three years, opened this season yesterday by whipping the Newark Bears, 4 to 1, in the first game of a double series. Baltimore's Orioles, at the same time, conquered the Jersey City Skeeters, 9-4. To retain the lead they won the first four clubs of the league have played the second today showed Rochester a half-game ahead of Newark with the Orioles and Royals in a virtual tie, one game behind the leaders.

Standing of the leaders:

Rochester	63	48	.567
Newark	62	49	.559
Montreal	63	51	.553
Baltimore	61	51	.545

Pitchers Brilliant Hurling

Al Foreman's brilliant pitching featured by a home run helped him to victory. Foreman allowed only three hits. Every man on Coach Cohen and one to Ike Boone. Don Brennan went the route for the Bears and was reached for only seven hits. Two runs were saved in the game in the first inning, when they scored three runs, two on a wild throw by Herb Thomas, Newark shortstop, and another charged to his own defeat by walking eight men.

Went 13 Innings

Baltimore nosed out Montreal in the 13th, when, Jim Gaffney, first man up, clouted the game's sixth home run. Gaffney's drive to deep center, Orioles catcher, had slammed the ball out of the park, scoring Oriole base in the seventh to give Baltimore a 3-2 lead. The Royals' rivals came back gamely however with one in the eighth and two in the ninth to tie it up with two in the ninth. Gaffney's circuit clout was the first for the Royals. Each team collected only nine hits, half of them for extra bases. Montreal got its eight runs from Buffalo by the same margin of 9 to 4 yesterday. Selker Frank Dolisch, obtained from Detroit, was given his first game for the Keys, clouted a homer with Wrightson on base in the eighth. Bill Gould allowed the Bisons eight hits but would have won, 2-1, had he been able to keep the Jersey City batters off Dolisch. Johnny Welch went the route for the Keys although touching for ten hits, and that's the score at 1-1 in the seventh with a double. Heinie Mueller clouted the ball to center for the Bisons, cored one run and drove in the other.

VISITORS DEFEAT THE MAPLE LEAFS

Fast Game Was Played on Armouries Last Night

In the fastest game that has ever been seen on the Armouries lawn, the Kingston Capitols defeated the local Maple Leafs by three scores of 9 to 1 last evening. The game was played in two halves, during which established a league record for time. The first half, which lasted 45 minutes, was at top form all through the game and no time was lost, between innings.

Mary Powell, the veteran pitcher of the Kingstonians, bettered the youthful Maple Leaf, by pitcher's battle. Both pitchers hurled masterful ball but Miss Powell received only eight hits, while the Leafs collected both errors of combination.

Thelma Gow at short-stop for the visitors made the fielding sensations for the Capitols when she ran wild to take all chances with ease.

The Capitols presented a well-balanced machine to battle the youthful Maple Leafs, who battled back to the last run. The Leafs have a young team that will be heard from in the near future.

Tonight we see the fast-climbing Frontenac back-up with the league leading National Maids.

Capitols, Kingston: Bridgen, Connolly, Collier, Wilson, Grimwood, Gow, Joyce, Cruik, Powell, and Mutchmore.

Score by innings—

Maple Leafs	..0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	—1

Umpires—Colling and Woodley.

LINDBERGHS FLY OVER CANADIAN BAD LANDS IN 1100 DASH THRU ARCTIC

Will Try to Cover 1,100 Miles to Aklavik in Single Hop

DROP FORMER PLAN

Receive Warm Reception on Their Arrival at Baker Lake

Aklavik, Northwest Territories, Canada, Aug. 5 (A.P.)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh landed here at 3.06 a.m. Pacific Coast Standard time (606 a.m. Eastern Standard time) today, completing a 1,115 miller flight from Baker Lake.

Col. Karl Denzer, who accompanied them in a flight from Edmonton—(By Canadian National)—On the Arctic coast of Canada's mainland, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today left Baker Lake, Hudson Bay, for Aklavik today, after an epoch-making non-stop flight across the barrens of northern Canada. Little Mrs. Lindbergh waved a handkerchief from the depths of the rear cockpit as the big low-wing monoplane glided to a landing at 8:05 a.m. E. S. T., on the smooth waters of Peel Channel.

Baker Lake, North West Territories, Aug. 5.—(By Wireless to Edmonton)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, starting 1,100-mile dash across the most treacherous stretch of Canada's Arctic coast, Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife hopped off Tuesday for Aklavik, on the topmost rim of Canada's mainland. The departure was at 5:35 p.m. E.S.T., after the flying idols of the United States had spent a day checking over their plane.

Abandoning their original plans of the one-time lone eagle and his mate, it was announced just before the departure that the weather permitted a single jump would be made to Aklavik, Arctic settlement on the Mackenzie River delta.

Mrs. Anne Morrow Lindbergh is a daughter of Dwight W. Morrow, late senator from New Jersey and ambassador to Mexico.

Col. Lindbergh mentioned before the speedy Lockheed Sirius rose from the waters of Baker Lake.

The decision to swing along the Arctic shores of Canada on the way to Aklavik—possible a single hop—loosed to the winds the plans for a more leisurely route from Baker Lake to Aklavik. Col. Lindbergh was quoted at Churchill as saying he would fly over Chesterfield Inlet, Repulse Bay on Great Bear Lake, then to Fort Norman and up the Mackenzie River to Aklavik, making three hops instead of one.

For more than a full day, the visitors to the north country stayed at Baker Lake after their arrival from Churchill, a mysterious harbor 370 miles to the south. They had reached Baker Lake sharp at 4 p.m. E.S.T. yesterday, three hours and a quarter after the take-off from Churchill, Hudson Bay terminus of the Canadian National railways.

Greeted by the dozen white Eskimo resident at this little trading-post, Col. Lindbergh and his wife smiled at praises of their navigating ability. The flying colonel made light of the splendid feat of navigation that brought them safely to a resting place in the city of Belleville, on Hudson Bay, 1,100 miles to the south. SYNOPSIS

Leaving Hawaii shortly after her father's death, young and beautiful Panchon Meredith goes to San Francisco, where she meets and loves a handsome man named Tony. Panchon is shocked to learn that Tony is a racketeer, implicated in a recent murder. She, too, is now wanted. Panchon escapes in an airplane under the name of "Smith." Evelyn Howard, whom she had met on the boat coming from Hawaii, is aboard. Evelyn is enroute to New York to live with her aunt, the wealthy Mrs. Carstairs, whom she has never met. After Panchon confides in Evelyn, the latter treats her coolly. The plane crashes and Panchon is the only survivor. She decides to escape Tony and the past and start life anew by masquerading as Evelyn. She requests a doctor to wire Mrs. Carstairs that "Evelyn" is safe. A wire comes from Mrs. Carstairs saying that Collin cannot meet Panchon. Panchon learns Collin is Mrs. Carstairs' only son.

CHAPTER VIII

She had not. But a camera man was there. Panchon raised her hands protestingly. No pictures! she begged.

She hadn't thought of that. Tony might see the picture . . . Tony might recognize her. . . .

The picture was, however taken. She thought gratefully that it was all, some hope was left. Newspaper pictures were notoriously unrecognizable; the borrowed hat had shadowed her face, and her face itself was pale and almost gaunt with the shock and grief she had been through. He might not see it; or, seeing, recognize her.

They asked her about "Miss Smith." To all their questions she replied—all but one. She could not be left of all the party to bear witness against Tony—that she had never seen the other girl until they boarded the plane together. That she understood she had made her home in San Francisco and was leaving it to take up work — library work, Panchon thought — in New York.

And that she had heard "Miss Smith" say that she had no living relatives. No, she had not heard the given name; had never heard it.

One reporter remarked carelessly, that the girl had died . . . an hour or so before the plane boarded Panchon's train.

Panchon's eyes filled with nervous tears. Dead, Evelyn Howard constituted no danger for her. Living, she would have been a perpetual menace. Dead, Panchon could remember that she had been young, that she had loved life, that she had looked forward with eagerness to what life was to hold for her. Dead, Panchon could forget that in Panchon's own trouble Evelyn Howard had been cold, unkind and condemnatory. Dead, Panchon could forget that Evelyn had refused to help her—and had branded her—without words—a gangster's girl . . . a girl that one "didn't know," whom one couldn't "afford" to know.

Dead, Evelyn Howard was free; and her death made Panchon free.

The reporters left, apologizing, pleasant, hurrying back with their news, "Role Survivor's Story of the Plane Crash Which Killed Seven." They would pick out on their keys. It would presently be flashed over the wires of the Associated Press.

The train moved on. Panchon leaned her head against the dusty plush cushions and closed her eyes. She couldn't go back now. She had irrevocably committed herself. There was nothing to do but to permit herself to be carried on—and on . . . and eventually to step off the train at whatever destiny awaited her.

She found herself speculating upon Mrs. Carstairs' son, Collin. Possibly the reason why Evelyn had not mentioned him was that she would have been more natural had Evelyn mentioned him. Instead of keeping with Evelyn's character, Evelyn had been secretive. She had been almost shadowy when it came to Jessie Carstairs; the mother, Evelyn had said, was "proud," more than a little anxious to impress upon Panchon the glories of the Carstairs' social position and money, of the wonderful people the Carstairs' social position and money, of the wonderful people the Carstairs knew. All hooked at her, whether curiously or kindly. One woman spoke of Collin, saying something breathless and hurried about . . . dreadful accident—fortunate escape . . . People drew aside to let her pass, whispered among themselves. Everyone knew them. There might be more reporters waiting. The old sense of being hunted, the cold panic seized her again. She was conscious of a hysterical desire to laugh . . . long, shrilly. . . . If the porters, eager, intent and courteous, back there at that big station, sifting there in the drowsy room, that porter, as they questioned her, that it was not alone the "kids survive" who answered them, who replied wearily and reluctantly but with a like courtesy, that it was not Evelyn Howard at all but the little Panchon Woman, the gangster's girl, who had occupied the pros for some days . . . what would they have said? How looked? What done?

For the press had been so unhappy as the police at not finding Panchon "broad." They had not yet learned her name. For Tony, although Panchon had not realized it at the time, had been rather careful where he was seen with her. He had not been 'seen' with her at all . . . until that last fatal night. And often it had been Rosie who had upset the applecart. But Rosie had not known Panchon's name, either. Yes, the press would have been very happy to have found her as happy, almost, as the police, for the press would have made a front page human interest story out of it which would have echoed from coast to coast.

But they had questioned her as the "sole survivor" and as Mrs. Carstairs' niece, and had gone away, ignorant and perfectly satisfied in their ignorance.

Now she was walking up the stairs. Now she was approaching the barriers. She bit back the giddiness for reckless hysterical laughter. Tears were in her eyes. Tears of fatigue; tears of relief; of shaking nervousness.

"Evelyn — my dear!" — said the woman.

Her voice was very deep — very low. She was, Panchon realized instantly, for a moment of stunned amazement, the most beautiful woman she had ever seen. She carried more than sixty years like a banner. She was tall and slender. She had great blue eyes and a clear pallor and a sweet curved mouth. Under her small hat her hair was silver white. She had lovely hands. And there were tears on her cheeks to match Panchon's own tears.

For a brief moment Mrs. Carstairs held Panchon away at arms length. Then she exclaimed, puzzled, incredulous . . .

Reeve Whytock Welcomes Crowds in Madoc Park

(Special to Ontario Intelligencer)

Madoc, Aug. 4—Saturday, August 1st, saw the registering of over seven hundred Madoc old boys and girls from every province in the Dominion, except one, and from about sixteen or more of the States, was the remark made by Reeve Why tock of Madoc Village, in his public welcome to all old boys and girls or rather the young folks and girls, at the large community gathering at the Centennial Memorial Park on Saturday evening, with the Campbellford Salvation Military Band, delighting music as each interval in the public programme. About twelve to fifteen hundred people gathered for this community gathering which depends well for the annual public reunion of Madoc and district, as well as the spirit of neighborliness of the visitors.

The first day of the old boys' reunion saw an immense crowd throng ing the streets of Madoc, that evidence was good-natured, was to be found in the Community Park on the evening of the 1st, in a friendly greeting, and an old-time story, followed by a contagious laugh; was the rule rather than the exception and the crowd on the street seemed to accept the spirit of the day's festivities as a very necessary consequence.

Sunday's Services

Sunday morning was a busy day with time. Madoc I. O. L. No. 160 held their annual church parade from parade to the Church of St. John the Baptist, where the Rev. Canon Rockets, pastor, preaching. About one hundred members of the Order were present. The processional hymn was "Onward Christian Soldiers," followed by the Lord's Prayer, Creed, Confession and Absolution. Psalm 67 was chosen for the Psalm of the morning and the usual lessons from Old and New Testaments. The Apostles' Benedictus and Creed followed in their order, and prayers were followed by "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

Rev. P. Galley Reynolds chose as his text, Romans 12:3, "For I say, in the name, to every one body in Christ, and every one members one or another." Speaking to the membership of the Orange Lodge as an organization, he dwelt upon their duties and obligations as a religious body, and their privileges to the Church and those in distress, then individually like members of the body of Christ, each to be very careful for the reputation and standing of their order, closing with the Recessional Hymn, "O God Our Help in Ages Past", and the Benediction followed by flowers adorned Chancel, Altar and windows.

At Trinity United Church, Madoc Lodge No. 44 and L. O. L. and L. were the visiting organization, and Rev. C. O. W. Ellerby, B.D., the preacher. The opening hymn was "Holy, Holy, Holy" followed by the prayer of invocation, "Stand up and Bless the Lord" was sung, followed by the responsive table. Psalm 8, "O Lord, our Lord, how excellent is Thy name in all the earth," and the Gloria. The Scripture Lesson was from St. John's Gospel, 15th to 26, followed by prayer and the Lord's pray er in unison. The sermon feature of the service was the choir of old boys and girls, whose selections were given by Miss Dorothy Sager of Toronto, and "Lead Kindly Light Amid Pass This Way" and the other, "O God Be Merciful."

Sermon Attached

Rev. Mr. Rivers took as his theme "The Master Builder," and chose as the text, "Quit ye like men, be strong." In Corinthians, and the building out with an acrostic "A. F and A. M." He spoke of the origin of the manhood of the order, and their duties and responsibilities, and the necessity of the development of the higher and grander qualities of the manhood of the Master Builder.

There were in attendance over one hundred members of the sister brethren of the Masonic Order, besides the usual membership of the church, and also visiting relatives and friends, so that all the seats of the vast church were filled, and the choir were augmented for the occasion and then some were standing throughout the service.

The closing hymn "Rise Up, O Men of God" was followed by the Benediction.

The afternoon service was held in St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, with Madoc Lodge No. 178 L.O.L., who thus celebrated their one hundred and eleventh anniversary, and the Oakdale Rebekah Lodge No. 134. After the organ prelude, the hymn "Onward, Christian Soldiers," sung as the Brethren marched to their places. Rev. Mr. Ellerby led the invocation, and the reading of the Scripture lesson was from Matthew 35: 31-46, by the pastor, Rev. T. G. Marshall. The hymn, No. 20 "Who is the man that shall ascend into the hill of God? followed, and prayer, then Psalm 111 was read responsively. A beautiful solo, "Dear Lord, I Pray," was given by Mr. Frank Gillespie of Bleshkim, a former Madoc banker. The address by the choir, "Praise Ye the Lord" was splendidly rendered.

Oddfellowship

The sermon by Rev. T. G. Marshall was on "Oddfellowship and its work". Taking as his text, Matthew 25: 40, "Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done I. unto Me." Jesus good Samaritan, the great lesson taught us by the parable of the help to the sick, the helpless and the friendless. So many passed by, but the Samaritan stopped to help. Today, we call them "Oddfellows." The great principles of Brotherly love and truth are lived and practised by them, and without love and truth, the friendship is impossible. Depending on these as foundation principles, Mr. Marshall spoke eloquently on the possibilities of service and the responsibilities that surround the members of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, concluding with the lines:

"Let me live in my house by the side of the road,
And be a friend to man."

After the sermon, the mixed quartette of the choir, Mrs. Ackerman, Mrs. R. Sedford, Mrs. Eggleson, and Mr. John Barton rendered "Rock of Ages" and "Abide With Me." Organist Mrs. Bedford. "Thine are the gifts" was the hymn sung in closing.

The organ prelude used by Mr. Dougald Wright, the latest, was "Overture in E. Flat" by Chopin, and the Anthem by the choir was "My Faith Looks Up to Thee."

Evening Service at St. Peter's Presbyterian Church and Trinity United Church were withdrawn.

Madoc Lodge, No. 178, Royal Arch Masons attended Divine Service at the Church of St. John the Baptist, on Sunday evening with nearly one hundred members in attendance of march, filling the Church to and beyond capacity as seating accommodation, with a considerable every available space and then the overflowing of the people into the grounds. The Processional Hymn was "The Church's one foundation" followed by Exhortation and Confession, Absolution, Lessons read by the Rector, Rev. P. Galley Reynolds, and Psalm 133 read by Rev. Harold Cross, of Nova Scotia.

The Evening Service of morning was Rev. J. F. R. Belford of Warkworth, taking as his text Hebrews 2: 7; "I will shake all nations, and the desire of all nations shall come." Retracing the years to 3000 years ago when the Temple was built by Solomon was built with never a sound of a tool on the glory of might building, the Temple was there lost; then at the re-building by Ezra and Nehemiah appeared the book of Law was found.

The Temple is the type of society and business in any town or village in the Masonic Membership. Men prominent in business, men of high standing, men life are in its membership. Yet the revelations of recent weeks are the credit in the Masonic Order, and no credit to any party or any home.

To the Masons, your obligation is to live up to the highest standard. The greatest danger of yet to face, but the same power of love does believe in God will rescue the world from destruction, and restore the Glory of the new temple not made with hands will be greater. The Temple of Solomon is a type of what Christ shall prevail.

During the offertory, a beautiful solo was given by Mrs. P. Galley Reynolds, "Consecration" and "Thy Dwellings, O Lord of Hosts." The closing hymn was "Praise God from Whom all the Blessings flow" at the close of this service was the choir of old boys and girls, whose selections were given by Miss Dorothy Sager of Toronto, and "Lead Kindly Light Amid Pass This Way" and the other, "O God Be Merciful.

Rev. Mr. Rivers took as his theme "The Master Builder," and chose as the text, "Quit ye like men, be strong." In Corinthians, and the building out with an acrostic "A. F and A. M." He spoke of the origin of the manhood of the order, and their duties and responsibilities, and the necessity of the development of the higher and grander qualities of the manhood of the Master Builder.

There were in attendance over one hundred members of the sister brethren of the Masonic Order, besides the usual membership of the church, and also visiting relatives and friends, so that all the seats of the vast church were filled, and the choir were augmented for the occasion and then some were standing throughout the service.

The closing hymn "Rise Up, O Men of God" was followed by the Benediction.

The afternoon service was held in St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, with Madoc Lodge No. 178 L.O.L., who thus celebrated their one hundred and eleventh anniversary, and the Oakdale Rebekah Lodge No. 134. After the organ prelude, the hymn "Onward, Christian Soldiers," sung as the Brethren marched to their places. Rev. Mr. Ellerby led the invocation, and the reading of the Scripture lesson was from Matthew 35: 31-46, by the pastor, Rev. T. G. Marshall. The hymn, No. 20 "Who is the man that shall ascend into the hill of God? followed, and prayer, then Psalm 111 was read responsively. A beautiful solo, "Dear Lord, I Pray," was given by Mr. Frank Gillespie of Bleshkim, a former Madoc banker. The address by the choir, "Praise Ye the Lord" was splendidly rendered.

Oddfellowship

The sermon by Rev. T. G. Marshall was on "Oddfellowship and its work". Taking as his text, Matthew 25: 40, "Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done I. unto Me." Jesus good Samaritan, the great lesson taught us by the parable of the help to the sick, the helpless and the friendless. So many passed by, but the Samaritan stopped to help. SOVIET PLAN UNDER DOOM

No Chance of Success of Five-Year Undertaking

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 5—The five year plan of Soviet Russia is doomed to failure, according to Hon. G. S. Henry, Premier, Provincial Treasurer and Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, who returned from Commissioner in London, England, Conservation Congress in Toronto of Ontario. In an interview given at the Provincial parliament buildings here he asserted his belief that the collapse of the plan was inevitable.

Russian exports to England constituted a menace, declared Premier Bullier was now vieing with grain exports from the United States country in the English market. "They have a wonderful organization, but its spirit is wrong. The whole thing doing I honestly believe it will fail," he said.

Greater empire trade in the future was declared by the Premier. Next year emulsion parties will be dispatched from Canada across the Atlantic to visit Canada and see what the Country had to offer them.

THREE THOUSAND AT HAY BAY

A checkup of the attendance at the Pilgrimage to Hay Bay Church on Sunday afternoon, on Monday last, revealed there were 656 cars on the grounds with an approximate attendance of 3,000 persons. Lieutenant Gordon of Ottawa flew a hydroplane to Picton yesterday and the Capital under orders from the Provincial Police. The machine was landed on the Bay near the Church. After the service he returned to Ottawa without incident.

TOLMIE PROTESTS

Victoria, B.C., Aug. 5—Protest against the Dominion Act by British Columbia from the benefits of the Canadian Government's five-cent-a-bushel export wheat bonus has been telegraphed by Premier S. F. Tolmie to Prime Minister R. B. Bennett. After being informed that the farmers of the Province of Country had been definitely excluded from the bonus under recent legislation, Premier Tolmie is considering a request for the appointment reversed to Federal Order-in-Council.

WAS GOAT FOR FORTY FIVE YRS

Suicide Left Possessions to Child Who Had Warmed Heart

—Toronto, Aug. 5. — Leaving his body to the Medical School for research, and his possessions to a ten-year-old child who had warmed his heart as a "little pal," Edward B. Malone, 70, of Dewson Court Road, pencilled two notes, sat down in his Jarvis street dooryard, and shot himself through the head, late last night, according to what he "been a goal for 45 years."

The body of the suicide was heard by James McGurk, 244 George street, who was driving past with his wife and daughter when the car and die covered the body in the doorway. Mr. McGurk went to the home of the city morgue. There Chief Coroner Dr. Jarvis issued decision, and shot himself through the head, late last night, according to what he "been a goal for 45 years."

One note was addressed to "my dear little pal, Jimmie Malone, 24 Lake Shore Drive, New Toronto," who is the grandson of the body. In it he left all he had to "little five-year-old son of H. E. Reid's bolt.

The other, unaddressed, said: "There is nothing happen to me unexpectedly, I leave my body to the Research Society for medical and scientific research. I am sure that some good will come from it. Please notify Mrs. Reid."

VARIED CAREER COMES TO END WITH DEATH OF E. R. DURAND

Stage, Business, Politics and Poultry Breeding Attracted Talents

Toronto, Aug. 5.—Egbert Ralph Durand, newspaperman, thespian, business executive internationally known poultry expert, and a prominent public figure in Toronto's political circles, died yesterday at Grace Hospital after an emergency appendicitis operation. Resident for many years at 27 Dunbar house, 115 Erskine Avenue, last Friday, Mr. Durand underwent an operation which, it was failed to rally. Peritonitis developed and he succumbed shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Durand was born in Northampton, England, on October 31st, 1861, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Durand and grandson of the late Charles Durand, C.E., noted author of legal works. He was a graduate of the City of London Street and of Merchant Collegiate, where his historical ability and literary flair was designated for leading roles in amateur theatricals. From the amateur to the legitimate stage was but a step and at the age of seventeen Egbert Durand was playing a leading role with Rosalie Knott, in "When Knighthood was in Flower."

CAVERLY RE-UNION

Despite the threatening weather on July 29th, about eighty of the former residents of Caverly with twenty invited guests gathered at the Caverly Hall for the annual re-union. Fourth Caverly re-union. All present enjoyed a good time in the park playing ball while others enjoyed a social chat. Games for the Old Tabics were well-filled at the noon hour and after the dinner which was the good things provided by everyone present, the latter part of the public was settled with Mr. O. W. Tucker as President again for the coming year and Mrs. Zd Stanley as Secretary. It was decided to meet again in the same place next year on or about the same date.

Clore, of London, England, was read ,wishing Madoc every success and hoping that he may be soon called as his representative, who was called away from England, and disappointment that he was unable to travel over three thousand miles to be with this gathering, and also his own enjoyment at seeing the old place of which he heard much in his earliest days. He wished all the best of good luck.

Among the over seven hundred visitors to the Pilgrimage there was difficulty in selecting speakers, so called on only one boxer, Mr. Wesley McKight, who spoke for the old days, and the new beginnings in New Ontario, and the visit improvements made in that northern country.

The evening closed with an excellent programme of music by the Band, and much time spent in greeting of friends, old and new.

Midnight Sun Guides Lindy

Ottawa, Aug. 5 (CP).—Winging their way over the rim of the world, Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh were last night flying in a light which normally affords excellent observation. Within the Arctic circle the sun would be for him just over the north horizon at midnight, while in southern latitudes there was complete darkness. The bright light would continue with the Lindberghs until they reached Ottawa.

At Coppermine—should they stay there—they will find a Canadian Government radio station, a post of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and a Hudson Bay post. There is also an Eskimo settlement, and a mission station.

The metropolis of the Arctic, however, is Aklavik, situated at the mouth of Mackenzie River. It is a thriving community, has all the official elements in its police and Indian stations, and boasts a couple of hospitals and mission schools.

Radio communication with Aklavik passes through a series of stations by the Mackenzie River. These are conducted by the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals, under the Department of National Defence. The next word of the Lindberghs will, in all likelihood, come via Edmonton, Alta.

Governor William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray Declares Martial Law

STATES' TROOPS

Unusual Step is Taken in Effort to Force Price of Crude Product up

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 5.—Governor William H. Murray late today declared martial law and ordered shutting down 2,106 prorated oil wells in Oklahoma, in an effort to force a higher price for crude.

The Governor's order includes all oil wells completed in violation of the State Corporation Commission and conservation laws and regulations, and he defined as producing twenty-five barrels a day.

Brigadier-General Charles F. Barnett, Adjutant-General of the Oklahoma National Guard, was directed to post National Guardsmen in the oil fields. Troops and officers were directed to establish and maintain martial law, subject only to orders except from the President of the United States or Governor. The troops, the order said, are to be under direct control "of the Commander-in-Chief," the Governor.

Murray issued the order when his demand for a per barrel crude oil price was spurned by purchasers of crude.

GREATEST ADVENTURE IS OFFERED YOU TH OF THIS DAY

Religion Leads, Says Speaker at Y.M.C.A. World Convention

Cleveland, Aug. 4.—Religion offers youth the greatest adventure in life, Dr. Sherwood Eddy told the first conference of the Young Men's Christian Association here last night. He was by Dr. John Mackay of Mexico, a former Princeton University professor, and Dr. Ralph Diffendorfer, chairman of the executive committee of the Young Men's Christian Association of the United States.

"The new adventure can only be successful in the measure in which youth personally and loyally by the side of those who need help and the Kingdom of God," he said. "The consequences of such a stand. The expression of this adventure in life upon every problem. The great adventure must be carried out in the world by walks hit on the highways and byways of the world."

The conference was scheduled over by Dr. John R. Mott of Cornell, president of the World's Alliance, who declared the major world problems economic, social and religious, will be treated extensively during the course of the six-day meeting.

Rio de Janeiro, Aug. 5 (A.P.)—wite of one of the German pilots. The German flying boat Do.X took off toward Bahia at 8.34 a.m. (4.34 a.m. E.S.T.) today on her way to the United States

She was in command of Lieut. Clarence H. Schildhauer, U.S.N., and carried ten passengers. Four for New York, one for Miami and five for Washington. There were also two women aboard, Mrs. Clara Adams, and Frau R. Clavebruch.

The giant seaplane, largest in world, arrived here June 26 after a 1,000-mile flight across the South Atlantic from the Cape Verde Islands to Fernando Noronha, off the coast of Brazil. She had left Altenrhein, Switzerland, in November, 1929 and travelled by short hops to Pernambuco, Brazil, Argentina, across Western Europe and down the coast to West Africa.

Authraz Spread From Deer to Horses

Winnipeg, Aug. 5.—Ten miles of country between Reindeer, Man., and Ingolf, Ont., has been barred to the public because of a virulent epidemic of anthrax. The highly contagious disease has broken out among the horses engaged in highway construction, and has claimed the lives of sixteen animals.

The Manitoba government has placed a strict quarantine out of the area affected by the disease, which is believed to have originated among the deer in the region. The disease is thought to be spread by bites from horseflies and deerflies. Three cases have been found inland.

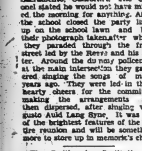
Anti-anthrax serum is being rushed to the district from Winnipeg, New York and Kansas City for use in combatting the disease. The Manitoba government has the disease started among deer in the district and spread to the horses by flies.

That prehistoric man in North Africa developed scarcity and made for food is proved by huge mounds of small shells contained by members of scientific expeditions into that country.

SCHOOL BELL CALLS PUPILS OF YEARS AGO

Ex-Madoc Folk Go Back to School In Ancient Style

3 GENERATIONS



Old Class-Room Used for Boys and Girls of Other Years

Memories flew back over the years on Tuesday, when the older residents of Madoc along with those who had moved from this district in years gone by gathered at the little brick school on the hill, there to receive learning from teachers, who had once walked the halls and applied the strap, where necessary. The back to school programme was a feature of the Old Boys Re-Union, which came to a close in a blaze of glory early on Wednesday morning. Old folks and those of younger generation were children again and when the old bell tolled off the hour of nine o'clock, soon in rompers with the hair tied with bow knot, others with the hair hanging down in pig tails, wended their way through the village, along with Tom, Dick and Harry, barefooted and with coat of tan, marched in and took their accustomed seats in the school room.

Many were eager to find the seat where in years gone by they had carved their names in deep letters on the back of the seat or the desk in front of them. The old catagoli was taken along for good measure and before the school session was over many a word had telling of wet paper, as it landed against the head of the boy in the neck. A number of teachers who had in some way been kind to impart knowledge to these pupils again stood before the class but that time, old times were talked over and short addresses made. Mrs. McIlmoyl, Toronto, and Miss Cowan, was one of the oldest teachers present and others to address the classes were, Mrs. Lickley, nee Jean Rollins, Mrs. Archie Martin, nee Myrtle Wrylock, sister of the Reeve of Madoc, Miss Ina Bernhard of Madoc, Mrs. Rev. Morton of Kingston nee Tilly Thompson, Edward Striegley, now a teacher in Windsor Ont., Mrs. W. Phillips of Belleville nee Annie Barnum, Mrs. Edward Striegley, nee Lillian Wrylock, sister of the reeve and many others.

In two instances there were three generations present at the school on Tuesday, Mrs. B. Richmond, her daughter Mrs. B. Bailey and Mrs. Bailey's daughter Madeline, also William Brooks of Belleville, his daughter Mrs. Windsor Gowan and Mrs. Smith's daughter, Harley. Col. John R. Orr probably travelled the farthest distance to be present at the school. He was also a former editor of the Madoc North Hastings Herald is now a resident of Sacramento, California. The Colonel stated he would not have missed the meeting for anything. After the school closed the party lined up on the school lawn and had their photograph taken after which they paraded through the front street led by the Revys and his sister. Around the town policeman at the main intersection they gathered singing the songs of many years ago. They also had in their hearty cheers for the committee making the arrangements and then dispersed, after singing with gusto Auld Lang Syne. It was one of the brightest features of the entire reunion and will be spoken of more to store up in memory's chest.

Fatal Bullet Fired in Road House Brawl

Thetford Mines, Que., Aug. 5—(By The Canadian Press)—Napoleon Poirier, 30, died here yesterday from the effects of a bullet wound in the leg received during a brawl in the road house Monday night.

Rouleau, also of this place, was held by police as a material witness for the inquest. Thomas Lafrance, proprietor of the Poirier road-house, was the only other witness, according to police, but has stated that Poirier received his wound while cleaning a gun. Mrs. Napoleon Poirier died from shock and loss of blood after an operation in St. Joseph's Hospital here.

BRITISH RIFLEMEN ARRIVE

Long Branch Rifle Ranges, Aug. 5.—(By the Canadian Press)—Members of the British rifle team which will compete with the Canadian marksmen at the Dominion Rifle Association meeting this week arrived Tuesday and by seeing in noon. The arrival of the British team closes a party of English and ... who are to meet Canadian sch... boys in a series of marksmanship tests. The entire group will go to Ottawa and meet the Dominion Rifle Association meeting.

A COUNTRY DAWN

Along the lar horizon breaks
A haze of silver light,
And swiftly every star forsakes
The shade, that fade in flight.

Now morning's first awakened bird,
Begins his merry trills,
Par-off a farmhouse dog is heard
Barking shrills.

And by the tinkling bells that sound
From unseen pasture lands,
The cows are wending their slow round
Home to the milking-stands.

The hollow glades still glimmer grey,
But on the hills, behold,
The first pale sunset of the day
Melts into shields of gold.

Doukhobors Cannot be Admitted Officials Say Under Present Rulings

Only Two Classes of Immigrants Can Be Admitted

SOVIET RULES

No Doukhobor Migration to Canada is Possible

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 6.—(Canadian Press)—Doukhobors cannot qualify under existing immigration regulations and their admission to Canada is therefore "absolutely impossible," according to a statement made today at the Department of Immigration and Colonization.

The Department has not been approached by Peter Veregin or anyone else regarding the immigration from 30,000 to 30,000 Doukhobors," officials said. Astonishment was expressed at the statement in Winnipeg by Veregin, head of the sect, that such a movement would shortly take place.

From Continent

Regulations provide that only two classes of immigrants may enter from continental Europe—wives and unmarried persons under 21 years of age joining family heads established in Canada and in a position to look after their dependents, and agriculturists with sufficient capital to farm in Canada.

"Under the present regulations," it was declared, "Doukhobors could not bring any money or capital out of Russia, and it therefore follows that they cannot qualify." Mr. Gordon, Minister of the Department, asked the Provinces last autumn for their views on Immigration and the Western Provinces, in which it is said the majority desired to be settled, definitely stated they did not want any immigration with the exception of immigrants and others already in Canada.

"By 'view of this understanding,' officials added, "there will be no Doukhobor immigration to this country."

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 6 (CP)—Between 20,000 and 30,000 Doukhobors will migrate to Canada from Europe "within the near future", Peter Veregin, leader of the sect in the Dominion, said here Wednesday night. He said Doukhobor communities in the four Western Provinces would assume responsibility for welfare of the new comers, but it was not known what province they would settle.

Veregin said all immigration requirements will be met and declared that arrangements had already been completed for the transfer of Doukhobor settlers. They will be supplied with land, livestock, seed and farm implements on their arrival. They would not require public charges, the leader asserted.

The gigantic movement would start as soon as final reception arrangements in Canada were made. Though Veregin made no mention of where the immigrants will be placed, it is understood they will be scattered in Doukhobor communities of long standing in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

Strengthening his statement that the influx of Doukhobors will not put a burden on either Provincial or Dominion governments, Veregin said that while the settlements under his charge are feeling effects of the depression, Doukhobors have no money and have discharged all taxation obligations. He said the sect of those who have deserted the communities, he said if they return they will be treated as if they had not left.

Veregin appealed to the Canadian people "for a Christianlike and humane welcome" to the new settlers. "I am confident that the citizens meet with the same measure of sympathy that they have extended former migrations of Doukhobors into the Dominion."

WHILE STORMS RAGED, LINDY ENTERTAINED

Fliers Held Up at Aklavik, Maybe For Days

PLAN REFUELING

Point Barrow Waits in Expectation Coming of Party

Ottawa, Aug. 6 (CP) — Stormy weather is holding Col. and Mrs. Charles Lindbergh at Aklavik, From the far north's radio message to the National Defence Department here from noon today said bad storms and fog prevented their take off to Point Barrow, next stop on their flight across the Arctic. Unless the weather changes greatly, their flight to Point Barrow may be delayed for days, the message indicated.

Aklavik, Northwest Territories, Aug. 6 (CP)—Col. Charles Lindbergh, white trader and Eskimo alike, were hosts of the flying Lindberghs here all day, as rainy weather set in and uncertainty over their refuelling point held the Canadian north at the mouth of the broad Mackenzie.

With clearing weather here after the overcast of the forenoon yesterday, weather reports from Point Barrow, the next scheduled stop for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife on their flight to the continent, told of rain and a stormy sea on the Alaskan coast.

Arctic Ice Pack

In addition, the Arctic ice pack encircling Point Barrow, 526 miles north of Aklavik, was driven by a northeast current Northland from arriving there with the aid of refuelling. The Northland was near the ice off Icy Cape, 150 miles from Barrow.

The entire population of Aklavik and visitors and Eskimos from miles around spent the day examining the glistening low wing monoplane and the courageous couple who had come to entertain them.

Under a pale blanket of darkness here, 130 miles inside the Arctic Circle, Aklavik prepared to sit pat, and I am, Pacific Standard Time, was visiting the Lindberghs after rising to see Eskimo life for the first time.

Meanwhile, 700 miles to the west, coast guardsmen aboard "The Northland" made plans to refuel the Lind bergs plane if the Colonel decided to fly to it. Calm waters of Point Barrow, northern most point of the Arctic Ocean, with only a light wind, were reported today as such refueling possible.

At Point Barrow, weeks of preparations to greet the Lindberghs have been under way with house cleanings of the entire settlement part of the work. The medical missionary, Dr. Henry Ortien, has prepared his home, the only one with room enough to entertain the Lindberghs as honored guests.

NEW RECORD IS MADE BY AIR

Australia — to England Time Cut to 10 Days 23 Hours

London, Aug. 6.—(AP)—J. A. Mollison landed at Pevensey Bay, near Eastbourne, at 5:45 o'clock this afternoon, completing the Australia-to-England flying record of 10 days 23 hours 20 minutes established by W. A. Scott.

He started from Wyndham, West Australia, and was held up by bad weather at Singapore and Allahabad. He will bring his ship into Croydon late in the day.

TESTING FARMER PREMIER TODAY

Charlottetown, P.E.I., Aug. 6.—Canadian Press)—Premier Tweedie, first administration of Prince Edward Island Government, and a farmer was being recorded at the Provincial Court House here today, preceded to the Premiership more than a year ago, is the first agriculturist to attain that position in a Province since twenty percent agrarian. His chief opponent in the 1931 election, Premier Stewart, leader of the Conservative Party, who were contested the opposition by the anti-wet landslide which swept the country. Saunders led the Liberals to a 24 to 6 victory, later handing the reins of Government over to Lea.

With fine weather prevailing, heavy vote was in prospect.

WORLD GIRDLERS IN LONDON

In The Air Lanes

(By The Associated Press)

This is how the major aeroplane flights stood today:

Lindbergh and Mrs. Lindbergh resting among the Eskimos at Aklavik, Canada, more than a hundred miles inside the Arctic Circle, waiting for the weather to clear before the next hop on their flight to Japan.

Amy Johnson, British flyer, chosen by the International League of Aviators as the world's premier woman pilot, got to Tokyo at the end of a leisurely flight from England.

R. A. Morrison reached England from Australia, leaving the world's mark at 8 days.

Parker Cramer, of th United States, turned up unheralded at Angmagssalik, Greenland, on the way to Iceland on Scandinavia, apparently having flown from Canada without announcing his plans.

Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon Jr., having abandoned their efforts to lower the Post-Gatty round-the-world flight record, reached Tokyo and said that they would try for a flight across the first seen.

Dan Maloy, of the United States pilot, reached Tokyo by boat to enter the Seattle sweepstakes.

E. M. FARRELL SENATOR, DIES

Victim of Stroke on Sunday Passes Away Early Today

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 6.—Victim of a stroke he suffered Sunday, Senator Edward Maitby Farrell, of Queen's N.B., died early this morning in Civic Hospital. He was 71 years of age and had been a member of the upper house since 1920.

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 6.—(CP)—The death of Senator E. M. Farrell (Queens N.B.) early today placed Conservatives and Liberals equally in the present strength in the Upper Chamber.

The party standing now is: Conservatives 47; Liberals 47.

Two vacancies now exist in the Senate, in addition to the vacancy created by today's death of Senator Farrell, an appointment is yet to be filled by the naming of a successor to the late Senator G. G. Foster, Liberal, of St. Stephen, a few months ago. Appointments to the vacancies will give the Conservatives a majority of two in the Upper Chamber.

YEAR'S WHEAT CROP FINANCED

Ottawa, Aug. 6.—Satisfactory arrangements for financing the crop this year of wheat crop have been made by the Government, it was announced last at the conclusion of the wheat conference between Premier R. B. Bennett and Western representatives.

Discussions on financial arrangements for the handling of the 1931 wheat crop were attended late today by representatives of several banks including the Royal and Bank of Commerce.

While the terms of the arrangements are not yet complete it was understood they met with the entire satisfaction of the Prairies attend by the meeting.

FINGERBOARDS ERECTED IN CITY

Thursday the Department of Public Highways had men erecting finger boards at the corner of Bridge and Front streets. The boards were fastened to the electric light standard at the south-east corner known as the old Standard Bank corner. The finger-boards are large enough to be seen at quite a distance and will be utilized by the tourists that are on the road. One reads Toronto and the other pointing south reads Montreal.

TEN YEAR OLD KILLS SHERIFF

Lad Was Promised Two Dollars and Trip to Canada

Lacotin, Wash., Aug. 6.—Sheriff John Worrell, aged 72, was shot and killed yesterday by a 10-year-old boy whom he intercepted during a robbery. The lad said he had been promised two dollars and a trip to Canada for the robbery.

The boy, Hubert Nichols, Jr., was found robbing the Klaus Mercantile store, and was cornered by the sheriff, Deputy Wayne Green, and Peter Klaus, owner of the store.

While the sheriff was searching the store, the deputy said, the boy hidden behind a vinegar barrel, fired at him. He missed with the five feet, the bullet piercing the officer's hat. Then the boy fled from Post Office at Ivanhoe," said Mr. Cowan, "pleading a complete and of bodily orders. So well was the story assembled, the accused sat down and stamped all the money orders knowing they would be valueless without the Post Office stamp. From his farm in Gilmore Green he dashed to see the robbers, cashing these orders but was always a step for Sunday afternoon in Toronto regular church services. He bought a car from Ben and Duggie in Toronto by note and cash, later disposing of same by a mortgage sale and through this money order was apprehended."

Purchases

"He also purchased from the T. Eaton Company of Toronto a quantity of farm machinery and household furniture, paying for same by Post Office orders. He bought a number of horses

PHONE 128

FOR APPOINTMENT

Wednesday, August 5th, of William Davis, in his 94th year.

Mr. Davis was born at Chatsmister, a suburb of Dorchester, England, on the 14th of September, 1837. He came to Belleville with his parents when eight years of age, sailing across the ocean in the Atlantic in a sailing vessel. For many years he conducted a harness business in Belleville. In 1887 he went to Montreal where he has since resided. In religion the late Mr. Davis was a Presbyterian and very interested in the Masonic Order, being also oldest Past Master of Moira Lodge No. 11 A.F. & A.M.

The old home town was always very dear to him and he paid yearly visits to renew his old friend ships.

He is survived by his son, Mr. George C. Davis of Montreal, and his daughters, Mrs Edith Williams of Montreal, and Mrs. J. E. Wallsley, Belleville and his niece Jessie Mint Keith Macdonald, 72 Alexander Street. His wife predeceased him in 1929.

The body will be brought to Belleville.

THREE HUNDRED ATTEND PICNIC

Second Annual Reunion of Sine Family Held at Stirling

The second reunion of the Sine family was held Aug. 5th with well over three hundred attending at the Agricultural grounds, Stirling.

At 2.30 o'clock over 250 sat down to dinner. Many came from Detroit, Toronto, Belleville, Picton, Eldorado, Actin and many other places.

At 7.30 o'clock a business meeting was held, with the programme as follows:

President's Address, by F. Sine Forbes, dealing with the origin of the Sine pioneer, "Peter Sine."

He also stated that since the last reunion a record of a brother-in-law William Sine, had been found.

Mr. C. M. Sine then gave the treasurer's report with a big balance on hand over last year of $35.74.

C. M. B. Sine, corresponding Secretary, then gave report stating over 30 letters had been sent out to relatives. He extended an expression of sympathy to Mrs. A. W. Sine and the whole family in the loss sustained by them in the demise of Dr. Sine and Mrs. Robert Johnston.

Addresses were then given by Mr. Morden Bird, Mr. L. B. Faulkner.

National Maids Defeat Frontenacs

Continuing their march to the league title the local National Maids last evening by the score of 14 to 3. The score about indicates the play as the Frontenacs seemed to be able to score at will.

The Nationals have presented their strongest team bill since the younger and inexperienced players were not match for the fast travelling Nationals. The Frontenacs have a team of young players but the fine baseball training will become league contenders in a couple of years. Throughout this year has been the old story of "too many cooks," as they have had three or four managers already this season.

Their ability to run bases gave the local Maids a big edge over their opponents as they would get a good lead and then base on most of their hits. Both teams played a good ball but Morgan on the mound for the Maids received air-tight support.

Lineups:

Frontenacs — Hedger, Wilkins, Smith, P. Knoll, Dracup, Haslip, Rickett, A. Knoll, Geyer and Symons.

National Maids — Threadgill, Kelleher, Gray, Morgan, Mitchell, Howbotham, Empey, Tuttle, L. Mitchell M. Kelleher, Ofbb and Scott.

Score by innings:

Frontenacs ..... 000 000 300—3

National Maids ..... 402 410 30x—14

Umpires—Flagler and Vanderhoof.

WILL ATTEND CLINIC

John A. McFee of this city will be in attendance at the three day clinic which opens in Toronto which is to be held in Toronto, August 3rd, 4th and 5th. This clinic will be conducted by Dr. A. M. Skeffington of Chicago, Director of the Graduate Clinic Foundation, an International authority on eye diagnosis and correction.

YACHTS WERE HERE

Two yachts were tied up at the Government dock here today. One of the boats is owned by Wm. I. Hendry of Hamilton carrying a crew of five with a number of passengers. The other vessel is the property of G. K. Wade, a member of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club of Toronto.

AN OLD PLANE

Mr. L. F. Elliott of this city is the owner of one of the oldest aeroplanes in the district. The plane, a 1918 model Curtiss-Jenny is probably the only one flying in Canada today. Mr. Elliott flew into Kingston this week and a large number of onlookers watched the manoeuvers at Kingston Airport.

The plane is equipped with an OX 5 motor and has a landing speed of between 45 and 50 miles per hour. The trip from Belleville to Kingston took 40 minutes to complete, and is the longest flight that the machine has made since it was taken over by its present owner.

OBITUARY

DAVID BROWNLEE LAZIER, M.D.

Notice has been received in this city by Stephen D. Lazier of the death and burial of his brother, Dr. David Brownlee Lazier, in Fraser Lake, B.C., after a short illness. The late Dr. Lazier was born in Belleville, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Stephen A. Lazier. After his early education in the public and high school of this city he entered Queen's University at Kingston, where he graduated in medicine. Shortly after his graduation he left for Western Canada and has resided in the Fraser Lake district for many years. He went overseas in 1914 with the Medical Corps and has not visited Belleville since the cessation of hostilities in 1918. He leaves to mourn his loss one sister, Miss Kate Lazier of Toronto, and three brothers, Col. T. C. Lazier, Vancouver, B.C., R. E. Lazier, Toronto, and Stephen D. Lazier, Belleville. All attended.

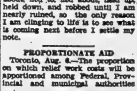
TAX PROBLEMS

Mr. E. R. Wadds, of Pembroke, N.Y., who is visiting Ex-Mayor Greenlaw, has the following clipping which gives a fair condition of the problems facing some people in these days of all sorts of taxes:

Oklahoma Man to His Banky

Bementia News prints the following letter from a resident of Oklahoma to his banker when asked for payment on a note:

It is impossible for me to send you a cheque in response to your request. My present financial condition is due to the effects of federal laws, corporation laws, bylaws, statutes, ordinances, laws and outlaws that have been foisted upon all unsuspecting public through the various laws. I have been held down, held up, walked on, sat on, flattened and squeezed until I do not know where I am, what I am, and why I am.



These laws compel me to pay a merchant's tax, capital tax, income tax, real estate tax, property tax, head tax, auto tax, wheel tax, light tax, cigar tax, streets tax, school tax, syrup and cream tax.

The government has so governed my business that I don't know who owns it. I am suspected, examined, inspected, circumspected, examined, reexamined, until all I know is that I am required to earn money for every known need desire or hope of the human race and be, if I refuse to do so, kicked, or out and beg, borrow and steal money to give away and if I refuse am cursed and boycotted, talked to, talked about, lied about, sued, indicted, held down, and robbed until I am nearly crazed. In the only reason I am clinging to life is to see what coming next before I settle my note.

TAKES TORONTO POST

Ensign Howlett, formerly officer in command of the Belleville Corps of the Salvation Army has returned to the city from his holidays and is leaving for his new position in charge of the Lippincott district, Toronto. The Ensign and Mrs. Howlett will be followed by the best wishes of the Belleville people for their success in their new field.

ATTENDING CONVENTION.

Captain C. W. Browne and C. A. Pinkney of the firm of Tickell and Browne, funeral directors, are spending a week in Toronto where they are attending the forty-eighth annual meeting of the Ontario Funeral Service Association of which they are members. The King Edward Hotel is the headquarters for the convention, the exhibits and lectures being held there and in the Banting Institute, one of the finest research departments in the world.

EXCURSION A SUCCESS.

Five hundred and fifty took advantage of the excursion arranged by the Young People of the Bay of Quinte Conference to enjoy an afternoon in the water yesterday on the boat trip from Cobourg to Port Dalhousie. The steamer Cayuga of Oshawa then proceeded to Port Dalhousie where games and sports were enjoyed. An opportunity was given for passengers to make a three hour visit at Niagara Falls.

MOOSE PLAY WELLINGTON.

Tonight the Moose juniors play the Wellington juniors at the Fair Grounds. The visitors must win the game to get back into the league play-offs. If the local Moose kids win they will be one full game ahead of the B. A. A. A. Juniors who now are tied on the heels of the lodge boys. Point Anne juniors are far enough out front of their league to assure them of a place in the play-offs. The league play-offs will start next week.

FACTORY SUPT. NEEDED.

The Chamber of Commerce is in receipt of an inquiry from an industrial corporation that is looking for a suitable man to fill the position of factory superintendent. The applicant must be experienced in the manufacture of standard builders' hardware and be able to give effective supervision to all departments from the punch-press to the plating tanks.

MEN NEED BOOTS

Any old shoes, boots or clothing? This is the cry from the local Y.M.C.A. and they have been supplying transients with these articles of wearing apparel. Mr. J. Storrie, secretary of the Y.M.C.A. states that their supply of old clothing and shoes is exhausted with the exception of one pair of shoes. The last time that Mr. Shortt made an appeal to the citizens they responded very well and he feels assured that the public knowing the conditions today will again receive the issue with their usual kindhearted-ness. Old boots and shoes are the main things needed.

GUNTER LAKE CAMP

Conditions are perfect for camping at Gunter Lake, according to Mr. G. G. Pailder of the Dominion Income Tax Bureau. Mr. Pailrick has returned to the city after spending a few days with the Boy Scouts at their camp at Gunter Lake. The Scouts of Troop No. 5 are under the direction of Capt. C. Watson and Robert Brown, while Troop No. 3 are under Scoutmaster "Jas. Varley." There are about forty in the camp and Mr. Pailrick comes back with the word that everything is in ship-shape order. The tents accommodate several in all are pitched on the side of a slope overlooking the lake. The boys go through a regular Scout routine every day and they are in the best of health and condition. The lake has a fine bathing beach for the younger boys while the more expert swimmers have a diving tower from which they can enjoy the waters of the lake. Only those who can swim are allowed out in the boats when the instructors are not with them. Mr. Pailrick stated that the fishing was very good in the lake and that the boys were catching plenty of fish for the table. On Sunday a service was conducted by Rev. Hope Simpson of Bannockburn in which all the members of the camp took part.

THROWN OVER HANDLE BARS

Failure to judge the distance between the car, which she was driving and a bicycle in front, caused Ernie Pope, Gilbert Street to be thrown over the handle bars of his bicycle, when it was struck by this car. He escaped serious injury although badly shaken up. The bicycle was badly damaged but the driver of the car took all responsibility and ordered the bicycle repaired at no expense to the owner. It is understood that Mrs. Alice Williams, 158 Bridge Street had recently purchased a new car. Mrs. Williams was driving the car east on Bridge Street, the light being against her car and in stopping she apparently did not correctly judge the distance, striking the bicycle and throwing the rider over the handle bars. Constable Isaard investigated and no charge will be laid.

STERN WARNING BY SINCLAIR TO LIBERAL PARTY

Will Not Associate With Some Until Cleared

PROBE NEEDED

Whole Lot of Explaining Necessary, He Believes

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 6 (CP)—While the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario is unable to absorb all the power purchased from the Gatineau Power Company the Hydro's own plant at Queenston is running under capacity and the plant of the Toronto Power Company owned by the Hydro is shut down, W. E. N. Sinclair, K.C., leader of the Opposition in the Ontario Legislature charged in a statement issued Wednesday. He demands an inquiry by a Royal Commission into Hydro administration and a further probing of the Beauharnois power deal by a commission.

The Liberal party of Ontario, Mr. Sinclair declares, can have no alliance with Beauharnois or with any of those, who received funds from the company or participated in its manipulations." It was for this reason, he said, he advised Liberal members of the legislature to stay away from a luncheon to which they were invited by W. R. P. Parker, Vice President of the Liberal Association of Ontario, Mr. Parker's name has been mentioned as receiving part of the Beauharnois money.

The allegation that the commission cannot use all the power now available under existing contracts of purchase from Quebec private ownership companies is rather disquieting," says Mr. Sinclair. The commission is now obligated to pay $61,000 horse power from five different companies, four of them in Quebec. The contract with the Gatineau company for 320,000 horsepower is now in operation."

The former Ontario Liberal leader said he visited the Queenston Hydro Plant on a holiday July 26 and found it was that day producing 350,000 horse power of which 50,000 was exported to the United States while its capacity was 700,000. The Toronto Power Company plant was shut down.

"If all the Gatineau power purchased at $13 per horse power cannot be absorbed while one of our own generating plants lies idle," he continues, "and the largest of all is operating at much less than half its capacity and at that is exporting 20 percent of its product, the question may pertinently be asked, what is going to happen when the Beauharnois and other contracts are available for Ontario."

"The Beauharnois inquiry has lifted the veil a little. A contact by Ontario for 250,000 horse power made it possible to sell the bonds. That contract was advertised as sufficient to enable the company to carry its interest charges on the whole undertaking.

"The Beauharnois episode has shown that the government has departed entirely from the basic principle of the Hydro power at cost. We are buying power at a cost established by private enterprise."

Parker Favors Probe

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 6 (By The Canadian Press)—Agreement with the demand made yesterday by W. E. N. Sinclair, K.C., M.P.P., House Leader of the Liberal Party in Ontario, for a Royal Commission into the Provincial Hydro administration, was expressed in an interview here by W. R. Percy Barker, first vice-president of the Ontario Liberal Association.

"I am satisfied that it will be granted by the Henry Government," said Mr. Parker. "I may add that I understand it has been the intention of Mitchell F. Hepburn, M.P., Ontario Liberal Leader, to precede by recovering his complete health, to demand such an enquiry in his first address to the House as soon as his physicians permit."

"Liberals have nothing to fear," Sinclair's statement will wonder why he did not make a proper effort to oppose these agreements with private power companies in Ontario, and when they were finally entered into by the Ferguson Government and the Liberals in the House."

"Victorious" Telegram Sent

Referring to the controversy between Mr. Sinclair and himself regarding a telegram allegedly sent by Mr. Sinclair asking Liberal members to stay away from a certain luncheon, Mr. Parker said: "I have not read Mr. Sinclair's statement but believe he now admits authorship of the alleged telegram requesting Liberal members of the Legislature to remain away from a luncheon arranged by some of the members themselves.

"He is wrong in stating that I was host. As first vice-president of the Ontario Liberal Association, I was invited to the luncheon as a guest.

Inquiry by a Royal Commission into the administration of the Ontario Electric System of Ontario is demanded by W. E. N. Sinclair, leader of the Liberal Opposition in the Provincial Legislature, in his statement. The plant of the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission at Queenston is running under capacity, and the Toronto Power Company plant at Niagara Falls, owned by the Hydro, is shut down, while at the same time the commission has contracted for power purchased from the Gatineau Power Company on the Quebec side of the river which it cannot fully absorb, he charges.

Demanding a further probe of the Beauharnois Power Project, Mr. Sinclair declares the Liberal party in Ontario can have no alliance with Beauharnois or with any of those who received funds from the company.

Retains Title in Dull Bout

New York, N.Y., Aug. 6.—The experts may not know how he does it but Hagala Mack Schmeling's ability is popularly supposed to bounce from the night clubs to the ring and then back again, remains the light heavyweight champion of the world.

Mack disposed definitely of the challenge of Jimmy Slattery last night at Ebbets Field by decisively beating the Buffalo Irishman on points for the second straight time and then hopped out of the ring to brp an engagement on Broadway. Rosenbloom's victory, although far from being impressive, was much more one-sided than in their previous title bout in Buffalo. He received the unanimous verdict of the three officials after ten rounds of listless cuffing and clinching. The bout attracted less than 10,000 customers and a gate estimated at $35,000, one of the smallest for any title match in New York in many years. It was sharp contrast in every particular to the terrific fight staged for the same title between Delaney and Berlenbach in that great arena a packed house and nearly half a million "gate" in the main.

Slattery Failed

Slattery failed to show a real punch and was unable to cope with Rosenbloom's shifty tactics until it was too late. The Irishman beg nning in the last three rounds, winning the thirteenth and fifteenth as he showed real aggressiveness for the first time. He cut Rosenbloom's chin slightly in the thirteenth but otherwise did no conspicuous damage. The champion's ability to land with his left hand from random angles, difficult and curious to parry gave him margins in 11 of the 15 rounds. He weighed 171 1-2 to Slattery's 170 1-2.

SKULL BROKEN BEFORE DEATH?

Preston, Ont., Aug. 6.—Results of the second examination of the body of Mike Waslewicz suggest his skull was fractured before death.

The right jaw was found to be smashed, indicating that the skull and jaw fractures were caused before death, said Inspector Hammond of the provincial police who is guarding examination of the disinterred body.

USE BELGIAN WHEAT

Brussels, Belgium, Aug. 6.—(AP)—With a view to protecting home agriculture, the Government plans to force flour mills to incorporate 15 per cent of Belgian wheat in their flour and to fix the price of home-grown wheat at $27 a ton. A slight increase in the price of bread probably will result.

Tokio, Japan, Aug. 6.—Amy John son, British aviatrix, was in flying from London to Tokio, left Seoul, Korea, Thursday, for Hiroshima, Japan, according to reports received here.

6 YR OLD DIES TO SAVE MAID

Womna Slipped Off Ledge and Got Beyond Depth

Midland, Ont., Aug. 6.—(By The Canadian Press)—A six-year-old boy died here yesterday in a vain effort to save a maid employed by his parents from drowning. Douglas McCarde and the maid, Christine McLean, 20, were bathing with the former's sister. Miss McLean, unable to swim, slipped off a ledge and got beyond her depth. Douglas, also unable to swim, was able to reach her with one hand when he lost his balance and both were drowned. His sister, right, reached the shore in a state of nervous collapse. A third life was lost by drowning when L. E. Roberts, 19, cook on the freighter Wm. P. Finch, drowned when he went in swimming an hour after the boat docked here. Roberts came from North Cobalt and his body is being shipped there for burial.

FARMS AND WOODS PREY OF FLAMES

Oliver, B. C., Aug. 6.—Roaring its way over the pine-clad hills of the Camp McKinney, Rock Creek and Bridesville district, a forest fire with a fifteen-mile front has swept away crops, cattle and ranches, and caused many families to flee for their lives.

Truckloads of fire-fighters are being rushed to the blaze in an effort to check it before it reaches the powerline of the West Kootenay Power Company, in which event all towns in the Okanagan Valley, from Kelowna South ,would be plunged into darkness.

Efforts are being made to check the fire at Camp McKin ney where more than one hundred men are mobilized. Every able-bodied man in the district as far north as Penticton has been pressed into service by the fire wardens.

The fire started several days ago, but until high winds came up it was under fair control. Fire wardens hastily warned settlers and prepared to be ready to flee. When the flames roared their way up the ravines, and while others fled, one prospector refused to leave his cabin. The fire swept over the place and fire-fighters thought he would be burned to death. Dashing through a hail-storm of embers, they found his sitting in his shack unhurt, the fire, in some unaccountable manner, having passed to one side.

The B.-C.-wept district is in the southern part of the Kamloops Valley of British Columbia, near the international boundary.

LIGHTWEIGHT ON WAY BACK

Benny Leonard Under Kearn's Wing Will Take on All Comers

By ALAN GOOLD
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, Aug. 6.—Benny Leonard, who quit the ring at the age of the lightweights six years ago on the spread of his nodder and with a fortune reputed to be $500,000, has positively decided to stage a comeback. He says so himself and so does dapper Jack Kearns, former pilot of Jack Dempsey, present manager of Mickey Walker and now Leonard's come-back mentor on a five year contract. Kearns launched the ballyhoo today for Leonard with the statement that Benny would do everything from "defending" the lightweight crown he relinquished in 1925, to campaigning for welterweight and middleweight honors among the present crop of gladiators.

BANK LOSES $1,000 TO ARMED ROBBERS

Winnipeg, Aug. 6.—In a quiet residential district of Winnipeg, bank robbers staged a sensational daylight excitement as they held up at gunpoint a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, escaping with $1,000. The robbers took place at the corner of Cavendish avenue and McGregor street, in the north end of the city, the robbers gaining their freedom in a speeding automobile, and followed by five shots aimed at them by the manager of the bank.

Entering the establishment five minutes before it was due to close its doors for the day, the two bandits forced the manager, K. L. Munday and Teller A. V. Monahan into a back room, threatening them with revolvers. The manager and teller were the only occupants of the branch.

CANADIAN MIGRATION EBBS

Washington, Aug. 6.—The State Department announced today a decrease of 71.3 per cent. in Canadian immigration into the United States during the fiscal year ending June 30 last. Fourteen thousand, seven hundred and seventy-eight visas were issued to Canadians in that period as compared with 41,364 during the previous fiscal year.

GIRL BURNED TO DEATH

Saint John, N.B., Aug. 6.—In the hamlet of White's Mills fire destroyed the home of Mrs. Thomas A. Wade and family and burned to death his second daughter, Rita, who had been sleeping after attending a dance.

C.P.R. VETERAN HONORED

Smiths Falls, Aug. 6.—After 40 years of employment with the Canadian Pacific Railways here, R. E. Stewart was honored at the conclusion of his last day of work when employees and members of the C.P.R. office staff drove to his home and presented him with a gold-headed cane as a mark of appreciation for his many kindnesses extended to them.

BAN FOREIGN GRAPES

Beamsville, Aug. 6.—Grape growers of the Niagara Peninsula, here this man among them, in considerable furore and anxiety over the dire problem of marketing, heard with satisfaction the reading of a telegram from Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett announcing that the government intended to ban all imports of foreign grapes this fall. Last year's imports totalled 16,000 tons, the Prime Minister's wire stated.

CONSCIENCE MONEY

Ottawa, Aug. 6.—The Department of National Revenue has received in a letter from Toronto which bears no signature, a $10 bill and the following note: "The writer states he or she brought in a muslin dress and a woollen suit, and finds duty to the extent of $19.65 should have been paid.

SHAW KNOWS A GOOD THING

You will notice that Bernard Shaw, wise old Socialist as he is, is now back from Russia, the land of enlightenment, to England, at which he has libed time without end. The Socialist may say Shaw sees Russia saved and England still to be saved, and so goes back to try to convert the Englishman. But perhaps the explanation is Bernard likes old England just a little more than Russia, the land of Socialistic enlightenment. One might have expected Shaw to stay a few months in this progressive country but no, he comes back with the rest of the party and is perhaps glad to get out of the Soviet land.

DID INVENTION SAVE EDISON?

Thos. Alva Edison whose collapse came as a shock to the world and whose recovery sufficiently to go out in a motor-car for a ride the day before yesterday, doubtless had his life saved by artificial means for the room in which he lay during his weakness was artificially cooled. If had been feared that the chances against his recovery were very slight on account of the oppressive temperature.

Edison deserves to have an invention, either his own or some one else's do him a good turn for his inventions have been peaceful inventions which have filled the days and nights with music, and which have linked the world with means which have brightened the lives of men, women and children. There is no doubt that the man to whom invention owes most owes his extension of life to the artificially created coolness in which he lay during the warm spell. No man more deserved to have an appliance put to his aid than Edison.

Inventor of hundreds of mechanisms which have proven of practical and artistic use to human beings, Edison, in many ways has created a whole new world. Take the Edison inventions out and all the influences which they have shed leading to other inventions and Thursday, August 6th, 1931, would have been quite a different setting to what it has. The world owes a great deal to this tireless workman and prober into nature's secrets, who labors twenty hours a day at his chosen work.

If his health continues to improve, he will be at work in his laboratory again without fail, inventing and yet inventing. It will be a good thing for those who follow him if Thomas A. Edison does live a few more years for what he invents will be of advantage without doubt to every person.

One hears no talk of retiring from work from this veteran. He still lives for his task and his work lives in him. He and his work cannot easily be separated.

NOBLE OR COMMON CITIZEN

The trial and sentence of Lord Kylsant to jail (though he is now out on bail pending appeal) for issuing a prospectus knowing it to be dishonest, is one of the best proofs of the impartiality of English justice. There is a feeling that Canadians can look at this action and learn a lesson therefrom instead of allowing such conditions as are believed to prevail "across the border" to gain a hold upon this land. United States courts could learn a valuable lesson from this case.

Such impartiality is what makes for justice and respect for law. If men feel that there is one law for the rich and influential and another for the less fortunate or, at least for the less wealthy, there is assuredly the likelihood of development of disrespect for the law. No nation can with impunity allow her people to believe that partiality does exist.

In England members of the nobility can be and are tried for offences like commoners. Nobles being never and under influences which do not make for their infraction of the laws, rarely appear in the courts, but once an offender they stand on the same footing as any other subject of the law.

Law and order form the willing yoke which the English people have imposed upon themselves. They are willing to enjoy the liberties within the laws and to face the penalties which follow infraction of those laws.

A NAME WANTED

Wanted—another word for gangster. "Gangsters" is either too common or too much associated with crime and the U.S. papers are tiring of it. Neither are they called racketeers any more. One papers calls them "hoods". But if they are not gangsters, bandits, outlaws or murderers and thieves, what are they?

Surely no softer name is wanted for this hard class!

Husband (seeing her off on the train) "Now, dear, as soon as you arrive you must telegraph."

Wife—"Very well, dear. How much shall I telegraph for?"

WANING SUMMER
By Aline Michaelis

Laughing Summer passes
Sunlight in her train
Golden on the grasses
And the bending grain.

Gaily she has brought us
Butterfly and rose,
Lightly she has taught us
Joys her warm heart knows.

Laughing was her greeting,
Laughing still she leaves;
Bright, her reign, and fleeting;
Next, September's sheaves!

Though her laughter perish
When the rose is done,
Still our hearts will cherish
Memories of sun.

Memories of Summer
That will never wane,
Laughing as she passed,
Into dreams again.

SANCTUARIES FOR INDIA'S WILD GAME

"This is holy ground. No one must shoot here."

Sanctuaries for wild game of India are advocated by the Calcutta Statesman, joining the campaign for the preservation of fauna of the old world, certain types of which are "being rapidly wiped out of existence."

"Wild animals are shot by hosts of people," laments this English daily of Calcutta, "because of the profits that can be made from their skins. This is the chief reason why the sambhur, the most lordly of the stags of the old world, has become so rare in India.

"There can be no excuse for those who having become possessed of modern firearms proceed to use them savagely against the whole animal kingdom.

"Bloodlust is the only explanation.

"We have seen in a pamphlet issued by a Belgian society for the preservation of the fauna of the world, an amazing and a disgusting photograph showing an African hunter, a white man, surrounded by his trophies of the chase.

"The collection is a mass of heads, and horns, and hoofs, probably all obtained in the course of the day, for there are evidently fresh gouts of blood adhering to the heads of the decapitated animals, and these are zebras, the least offensive of all the African mammals.

"Our own view is that the best means of preserving certain types of animals is to create sanctuaries.

"It was a sanctuary which preserved the saddleback, the socalled ibex of the Nilgiris, and the big sanctuary in Assam has resulted in the rhinoceros so multiplying that neighboring tea gardens almost speak of them as a nuisance.

"It would seem that though we can not protect game generally in India, even in the reserved forests, there is some kind of virtue in the word "pak." This is holy ground. No one must shoot here."

DON'T SHOOT, IT MAY BE WAL

Icebergs were manufactured from canvas, supported on rockers and rollers. The snow which filled the air and buried the houses was gypsum and cornflakes. The smoking breath of the explorers was produced by pieces of dry ice held in the mouth between rubber plates. The airplane which spectators saw taking a spectacular nose dive had first been raised to a height of seventy-five feet by a crane.

This information leaves my curiosity unsatisfied on only one point. Were those terrible killer whales really nothing but Wallace Beery coming up for air?—Detroit News.

MODERN ETIQUETTE
By Roberta Lee

Q.—Is it proper for a woman to wear gloves to a garden party?

A.—It is optional.

A.—It requires the removal of each plate as soon as the fork is laid upon it.

A.—Yes; etiquette requires it.

THROWING GLASS IN WATER

Criminal carelessness, and equally criminal stupidity on the part of picnickers is causing a lot of grief along beaches.

These picnickers have developed a habit of breaking their empty milk and pop bottles and throwing the pieces into the water. The result is that a lot of young bathers are now nursing badly cut feet and bathing in shallow pools is rapidly becoming a more hazardous pastime.

It is hard to curb the criminal foolishness that seems inherent in people on pleasure bent. But if a few offenders were hailed to court and made to pay for their lack of consideration it might have a tendency to make the others think.

Perhaps it is that no sane citizen who passed for one moment to think would condone a practice that is not only foolish, but is also a direct menace to the safety of others.—Toronto Telegram.

WAGES AND DIVIDENDS

The action of the United States Steel Corporation in declaring a dividends and its higher salaries to meet the present business situation while refusing to cut wages—even to meet the competition of the smaller wage-cutting rivals—may be the sign of a better day in American industry. Every day some person rises up to remark that capitalism is on trial in America. One day a labor leader says it, another day a banker. There must be some good thing in it. If it is true, the capitalists who control United States Steel seem to be moving in the right direction to prove the case. Four years ago United States Steel was enjoying earnings of such size that it declared a forty per cent stock dividend. If earnings again reach so favorable a place, it is not much to hope that the corporation, instead of passing the excess earnings among casual and inside stockholders, may set about building up a wage reserve sufficient to ride out any future depression. Not if they share the growing benefit that capitalism is on trial.—New York World-Telegram.

BLUEBERRIES AND SUBMARINES

When blueberries attain the size of hen's eggs they may be sold by the dozen instead of the quart. They have not yet arrived at that stature, but some of the "extra fancy" cultivated blueberries displayed by fruit dealers this year are of a size so much larger than the average "back-pasture" type that one can almost foresee a future "educated" blueberry only slightly smaller than a balloon. Such a variety is already within sight of realization. The result have been able to come.

With blueberries already almost as big as marbles and of excellent quality, it may be permitted at least to expect the partial disappearance from the markets of the teeny-weeny berries that can be run through a sieve ungraded and which skim off-and for which a fancy price often is asked. While the blueberry is on the way to greater dimensions the horticulturists are said to be experimenting with huckleberries. Already a sort of albino huckleberry, white in appearance, and a new and more husky raspberry have been developed. When one views the size attained by the grapefruit and note the proportions of various cultivated berries, one naturally wonders how much it will be before the horticulturists are started to grow watermelons as dry as submarines.—C. S. Monitor.

BIRD PEST CONQUERED

So far this season the starling and blackbird trap at the Miner Sanctuary has put an end to over 12,000 starlings—the most destructive bird pest that has ever entered America—and the birds are still coming at an average of over 500 a day. The trap which has been pending all over town driving out the song birds, peckers and even sparrows and other insectivorous birds, is becoming exceedingly rare, and a few more which will quietly walk into the trap and put an end to over the district fairly well. In Australia the English starling has become a serious scourge, and the people seem to be at a loss to know how to get rid of him. Blue prints of the trap may be secured from the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, free, by anyone who wishes to build a trap and put it into operation. We believe if our park board would purchase one of these traps in the country it would not be long before black-birds and starlings which have become a nuisance there would be cleared up. The Miner two years ago was the birds and none are ever known to escape, and is the only contrivance yet invented to successfully rid the country of these objectionable birds. There is no patent on it.—Kingsville Reporter and Mail.

PUTTING ON A SHOW

Your friends have suggested a form of amusement and you are too proud to admit that it is too expensive for you.

Instead you manage somehow to meet the financial outlay.

The result is very often worry and discomfiture.

Debts are piled up that might have been avoided.

What have you gained?

If your financial condition suffers to the extent that you are unable to pay your debts, those whom you wished to impress would be the first to censure.

They would think of you as weak and a poor manager.

They would have less respect for you than they would have had if you had admitted you were unable to join with them in things beyond your means.

The sensible and successful man schools himself to keep within his income.

He won't ruin his financial prospects by expenditures which good sense forbids.

Why are you hanging on to a social condition which is ruining you financially?

Just what can you expect to gain that will be worth what it will cost you?

GARDEN PATHS

Here mortal hands made beauty everywhere
With shy co-workers, wind and sun and dew.
And fashioned out of earth's most unrelated things
A charm forever old, forever new.

From trodden thoroughfares of din and toil
We enter here to peace that beauty lays
Upon the heart, and read in leaf and bloom
Prophetic words whose truth outlasts our days.

The fragrant paths run through the garden's peace,
And he who walks with vision clear
Ever beyond the borders shining, sees
That garden of the soul called Arcady!

Wives of Soldiers Join to Seek Aid

Edmonton, Alta., Aug. 7.—Wives of ex-service men in Edmonton seek support for the destitute among them. A committee that will interview with government and civic authorities has been formed. At a meeting recently, attended by wives of war veterans, Mrs. A. T. Bell, Mrs. J. Rutton and Mrs. M. Barrington were elected as the representatives to seek relief for the needy.

Pitiful tales were unfolded by women speakers at the gathering. Lack of decent clothing, it was declared, prevented a number of women from joining their sisters at the meeting.

Strong displeasure was expressed that suffering should exist among soldier families while so much money is being spent on relief.

Fashionably Speaking

By Lucille

Dear Readers:

Women students at the University of California have forbidden to student statisticians interesting figures as to the cost of clothing during a school year. The average expenditure for clothing was found to be $267.76, no effort being made to show the minimum that could be spent and the student still be a well dressed for all occasions.

This total of $267.76 was then divided, showing the amount expended for three groups of apparel —campus, afternoon and evening—with an additional group to include outside garments and miscellaneous items.

Under the heading of "campus" the total expenditure was $150.60— a large proportion of the entire yearly sum. Subdividing still further showed that dresses in this group averaged $14.20 each, shoes $6.25 a pair, stockings $1.40, underwear $1.68 a set, and hats $5.20 each.

Under the heading "afternoon" the total was $101.14 including dresses at an average of $16.74 each. The other items of the group averaged about the same as those of the "campus" group, showing only a slight increase for stockings, hats and underwear.

The "evening" group totaled an expenditure of $79.96, with dresses averaging $27.63 each, shoes $10.37 a pair, stockings $1.46, and underwear $2.05 a set.

The additional group of apparel, taken as outside garments and miscellaneous necessities, totaled an average of $56.92 for outside garments for all wear, and $10.11 as the average yearly expenditure for small, miscellaneous items.

The Brain and Its Thought Nerves

BY LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D.,

FAMOUS AUTHORITY ON HEALTH AND PSYCHOLOGY

The brain is a most complicated organ. For, in a sense, it is the directing organ of the whole body. The vast number of nerves that stream from it run to and connect all the other organs so that the human body may be co-ordinated and function as a whole.

There are four main parts to the brain. The largest of these is the cerebrum which occupies most of the space inside the skull. Next in size is the cerebellum, or little brain, underneath the cerebrum. The third part of the brain is called the "pons," which is Latin for bridge and so called because it is a connecting link in the brain between the cerebrum and the cerebellum. The fourth part is the medulla oblongata which is really the upper, expanded portion of the spinal cord and where many of the most vital nerve centres are situated.

Impulses to the brain enter the spinal cord, encased in the bony column or backbone, while impulses from the brain run down one of the nerve fibres of the cord and out to the limbs, liver, heart, lungs, digestive tract, etc.

It is in the nerves of the cerebrum that thought originates—just how is still a mystery—while thoughts are associated or thought together by fine nerve strands which are known as association fibres. These thought nerves store thoughts, give us the ability to think coherently, to associate ideas, to form memory, etc.

The thoughts which are present in our waking moments are spoken of as conscious thoughts and the whole process as conscious thinking. Those which we cannot recall, or which remain buried for years, are spoken of as unconscious thoughts and the whole process as unconscious thinking.

Buried thoughts are forgotten thoughts. Scientifically speaking, the process of forgetting means that offending, disturbing conscious thoughts are suppressed. That is, they are pushed out of the conscious into the subconscious or unconscious mind. These regions of the brain are spoken of in a figurative way to indicate the lower levels or layers of thinking into which all suppressed thoughts and ideas are submerged so as to get them out of the way.

Therefore, although we consciously forget, we never forget unconsciously! To forget a thing or deliberately to try and push a disagreeable thought out of one's mind simply means that the idea in question is suppressed to the lower levels of the mind. We may not be aware of the presence of such unconscious, buried thoughts; yet often they come forth, unbidden, and re-enter consciousness.

There are many people who can recall experiences that occurred in early childhood. Some can even remember happenings when they were three years old.

Myriads of suppressed thoughts occur during a life-time. These are all arranged, classified, and connected up by the thought nerves, the association fibres.

That is why seeing an old piece of furniture in an antique shop will bring back a host of memories of scenes, faces, and experiences that occurred in our early days. And such recalled memories astonish one because he or she believed such details forgotten forever.

Feeble-minded individuals, those whose minds are defective from birth, may very few associating fibres in comparison to normal and average individuals. The more intelligent an individual is, the more association fibres he has. Such a person has more ideas tucked away in his mind and, of course, there are no nerves aplenty to take care of them.

PONIES DEFEAT NATS. 11-9
SEVEN RUNS IN ONE FRAME OVERCOMING AN EARLY LEAD

Ground in Terrible Condition Being as Hard as Cement, Ground Balls Bouncing in All Directions. Umpires had Trouble Keeping Crowd Off Playing Field. Darrah and Mills Provided Fielding Features With Spectacular Catches. Both Teams Collected Eleven Hits, Although Kingston Hit For More Bases. Stone Was Winning Hurler.

One big inning in which Kingston Ponies scored seven runs was enough to defeat the Belleville Nationals in the Limestone City baseball league game last night and make the race for the O. B. L. pennant more interesting. The Nats-Sox by a score of 11 to 9, which score would appear more like a cricket score than a ball game. There were many factors contributing to the loss, the chief one being that Belleville was minus their regular shortstop, "Sunny" Green and the infield did not function in the same smooth manner as in previous games. The game was played at the Cricket Field instead of the Fair Grounds and it was in a terrible condition and not fit to put two ball teams on. There has been little rain in that district for some time and the ground was baked nearly as hard as cement. A ball hitting in front of the plate was liable to bounce to the outfield so hard was the ground. On ground balls, the fielders were in danger of having their shins taken off but of course this is no alibi for the defeat as Belleville had a real chance to win the contest.

Pointer Lost Stuff

Walter Gerow, manager of the Nats, started Tommy Pointer on the mound but he went well for three innings but completely lost the stuff in the fourth, and the opposition tallied seven times. Gibson replaced the shortstop but the damage had been done. Up to this frame, the Nationals looked all of the winners as they overcame a three run handicap and scored five times in the third and three in the fourth to be out in front. It looked like Pointer was too much. It looked as if the Nats thought they had the Ponies beat, but they put on a hitting streak, that simply could not be stopped. Dobson, Fuller and Gibson was Stone, the regular first baseman of the Ponies. The Kingston team is in desperate shape for pitchers, Stone being nursed back to pitch on account of a sore arm. Godfrey not being able to get the ball by the batters, and Hewitt Smith being needed more at third than on the mound. Stone can juggle his stuff around and seems somewhat to be a puzzle and then, which reflects credit on his management.

Hitting Equal

The hitting powers of the teams were about equal, Belleville collected eleven hits but in total bases the Belleville team was second best. Vern Watt cracked a double out of three hits while Gerow got one out of the slump to slash a triple to deep centre. "Jake" Quinn for the winners got a double, while Stone, Boyd and Quinn each had a double. Stone had a triple also and said old nost issue a free trip which he not had to travel for the fans who has not pitched a game this year. Young Pointer was relieved short for the losers and collected one hit, but his error paved the way for the big innings. He is only a youngster and will come along with a little seasoning. Gibson pitched well and ruled the fi ing features of the game were Darrah in the fielding. This boy raced into deep right field from first base position to drag down a bolst with his back to the plate and he received a real hand for the effort. "Penny" Mills also showed the fans how to go after a foul tip, and he was called into the crowd to gather in one of these tricky hits.

Players on both sides were hampered by the soft condition of the field. The game had to be stopped several times while the umpires with the help of others moved the crowd back. The infield could not place to play a ball game, but Kingston is handicapped for a good playing field. The ground is owned by Kingston does little to effect the standing of the club as it is not out in front by a comfortable margin and can finish ahead by winning at least one more game. "Pee Wee" Hutchings was the mainstay to retain his ankle but it was not serious. Mr. Darrah and Gibson took his place in right field and then exchanged with Pointer, when the latter lost his cap. Kingston plays their last scheduled game in Belleville on Wednesday next.

JIMMY AT IT AGAIN

There's no doubting the willingness of Jimmy McLaglin, the Waterloo scrapper, to do everything he has in a fight. And his fights are often, in pleasing contrast to the manner in which most of the contenders in all classes stall and battle—for alleged fights. As a matter of fact, there are only three first rank men of recent years who, to my mind, can be labelled as being colorful in this respect. They are McLarnin, Kid Chocolate and Mickey Walker. Now Jimmy is at it again, his next bout being a return match with Billy Petrolle. These two lads put on two hectic bouts in New York during the past indoor season. It's in the nature of a tubber and will be held August 20.

RAJAH'S CANADIAN MAKES GOOD

There's dirty doings afoot in the National League what with Manager Rogers Hornsby of the Chicago Cubs and Manager McGraw of the Giants being given the gate by the owners of their clubs for disputed decisions. But through Prexy Heydler filing the "Rajah" and suspending McGraw for a few days, he seems to have tactfully admitted there was something to the other side of the story. He issued instructions regarding the disposition of certain officials on the field. The fans rather like Hi all. A fight is always good fun. Speaking of Hornsby and his side kick, Charley of the Cubs, everybody in Canada can be tickled over the showing of Vince Barton, the Toronto boy, who has been recalled by Hornsby from the coast to fill the shoes of Hack Wilson, the most dismal bust of the major league season. They say in the Windy City that Barton is one of the most cold-blooded recruits to come up in a long time. The big league and its stars don't awe him a bit and Hornsby thinks highly of the young Canadian who patrols his right wing pastures.

JIM COMES HOME

Mother finished up the dishes and went into the front room. Father was eyeing the clock. "Expecting someone?" asked Mother. "Yes," said Dad, grinning. "Jim's coming home—by telephone. Little arrangement we made to surprise you! He's going to call every week."

DID BROKERS SECURE LISTS?

Claimed They Had Access to Assessment Rolls of Toronto

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 5—Claims that two mining brokerage firms in the province had secured lists of Toronto people with incomes exceeding $5,000 per annum were aired at a meeting of the Board of Control yesterday. W. George Farley, assessment commissioner, was instructed to investigate and find out about the matter. The charges follow revelations, that secret, but information to the assessment Rolls of the city are available to the public and that a certain company had compiled lists of people with various incomes and sold them to mig firms.

"BAWLS and STRIKES"

The local Nationals dropped a game to the Kingston "Ponies" in the Limestone City last evening. The score of 11 to 9 does not indicate the kind of a game it was, although baseball was dished up to the fans. The locals started "Penny" Pointer on the mound, after keeping Hewitt the first three innings fairly well, he went to pieces in the fourth frame when the "Ponies" pounded his offerings to every corner of the lot. "Bull" Gibson relieved Pointer and after a fairly steady start he settled away to set the "homesters" back, but it was too late.

The "Ponies" uncorked a new pitcher in the person of "Brick" Stone and although the locals hit him freely he managed to weather the storm. The game was full of good, bad and indifferent baseball, as a matter of fact as we said before: "most everything but baseball was dished up." "Penny" Mills, when he ran into the crowd to catch a foul fly, and "Moose" Darrah running catch into right field were the most spectacular plays of the game. But the big mystery is, why the locals could not hit the offerings of a pitcher like Stone. If they expect to get very far in the O.A.B.A. race they will have to hit much better pitching than they faced last night.

The Nationals have a perfect alibi—asking any team to play at the Cricket Field in Kingston is beyond human conception. First, it is by no means anything like a ball park, second the condition of the field was do not step in and put a stop to teams playing on fields unfit for baseball, something we don't understand. We might add that the infield was so hard that one would think it was wedded with cement, for a ball would bounce from in front of the pitcher well over the heads of the fieldiers. Such conditions endanger the lives of the infielders.

The Belleville Victorias have clinched first place in the Trent Valley League and are now waiting the second place team for the league playoffs. The Vics, under Manager Cord, McLean have developed into a smart intermediate team and are best wrestling in the intermediate series. Second place may be settled tomorrow when Picton go to Bellville. The "Northerners" are now in second place but if we hear from the Prince Edward County seat can win tomorrow they will be tied with Picton with a series of three games to be played in Belleville, Napanee, Sulphide. In case of a tie it is more than likely a Presqu'ile Bay team will order a sudden-death game to be played in Belleville. Neutral umpires will officiate at tomorrow's game as the last game in Sulphide with Picton was the cause of a league protest over officials.

Today's question:

Did Ralph Miller ever play the infield for Washington in a World's series? If pitcher gets the first two men out and third hits to shortstop, who makes an error, and the team at bat makes ten runs, are the runs scored as earned runs against the pitcher? These questions are asked by W. T. H.

Answer—Ralph Miller played third base for Washington against Clarke in third, fourth, fifth and seventh games of 1924 World's Series. Runs are unearned in instance cited.

A well-placed home run in the old days of baseball would often bring home the bacon, although every now and then it might be just a pair of socks, a straw hat, a tie, a bucket of fruit, or something else. A batter had something to shoot for when he was aiming to get a home run.

The outfield fences were, as they are in many cases today, covered with the advertisements of local merchants. It became a generally accepted custom for every merchant whose advertisement appeared on the fence to offer the player, hitting a home run into his particular advertisement, whatever it was he was advertising.

Thus, if the ball hit the sign proclaiming the strength of Cast-Iron Hose, the player would walk into the store that evening and pick out his choice in hose. So, a well-placed hit on the butcher's sign might bring a ham, or a steak, or something like that.

It was a good old system, but it had its faults. For instance, a consistent left-field hitter might, after a several weeks' home stay, have stocked up enough socks, or straw hats, for ten seasons. And if he tried to hit the other fence, his batting average slumped. Of course, if you could hit either way, and in addition tried to place your hits, you could get what you needed, when you needed it most.

But homers became too frequent, and the merchants must have decided that the advertising was too expensive, so they withdrew their generous offers.

What does a ball player get now for hitting them into the fence? Well, usually a dinner, a diamond scarf pin and maybe a suit.

And how many hams you can buy for that!

Eddie Collins wouldn't admit that the pennant race was over. "It be glad to hear that the other teams had given up," said Eddie, "as I haven't noticed them turning in their uniforms yet. It's a long way to the end of September. We've got to play a lot of ball games. We should be a cinch, and we've got a nice lead and the best club in the league. No question of that.

"Those three big innings have been wonderful for us. But accidents can happen and we may need all the games we can win. We'll keep trying every afternoon."

What did Eddie think of Ben Chapman and his base-stealing activities?

"I am glad to see somebody running the bases again. The game of the past few years was all slam-bang. They laid it to the lively ball, but the ball hasn't changed much. It was the style for long-distance hitting and all the players got those long bats with thin handles, grabbed them at the knob and swung from their heels. I don't think there's been a player in the league who could run around the bases running and other features of the old game I'm all for it. Maybe I like the old game better because I was brought up to it. But the fans are applauding Chapman, they tell me. So there must be some grandstand sentiment for the old-style game."

Eddie Collins once stole eighty-one bases in a season, a mark that Chapman won't touch this season unless he steps them three at a time in the next two months.

AL MAMAUX HURLS TEAM TO TOP RUNG

Newark Defeats Rochester and Goes Into First Place

RUNNERS-UP SPLIT

Leafs Collected But One Hit in Seven Frames Losing 3-2

Toronto, Aug. 5 — Al Mamaux, veteran pitcher of many baseball battles than he would care to admit, hopes to see his Newark Bears win the International League pennant this year, and apparently he intends to do them on top if he has to do the work of keeping them there himself. The Bears dropped into second place Tuesday as the rising Rochester Red Wings held them and took over the league lead. But Mamaux pitched into the breach yesterday and won back first place. The veteran twirler handed Rochester's powerful batters to five hits as he blanked the Rising Sun Baby in a mound duel and won out by a 3 to 0 count. Only 30 men faced Mamaux and two of those, who reached first were cut down by double plays. Charley Hargreaves, Mamaux's battery mate, accounted for one Newark run with a homer.

Reyals and Orioles Split

Fighting it out in another "crucial" series, Montreal and Baltimore dropped a half game behind as they split a double header and remained in a virtual tie for third place. Herb Thormahlen, who had not won a game since June 14, held the Orioles to seven hits in the opener while Montreal batted their way to victory in the closing game by a 3 to 2 count. Monte Weaver had a bit the better of it in the opener, but in the closing mound duel as each pitcher allowed only four hits and Baltimore pulled out by 3 to 0 decision.

Reading's Keystones, safe in sixth place, turned in their fourth straight victory when they went on a batting spree in the night game against Buffalo and hammered out twenty hits for a 18 to 6 victory. Jimmy Adair features the slugfest, hitting a homer inside the park with two on base, a double and a single to drive in six runs. Curtis Fuller-ton, who has not been able to break into the winning column since he came to Jersey City, gave Toronto only one hit in seven innings, then yielded three more and the lead in the eighth and retired. The Skeeters promptly came back with a ninth inning rally that netted Pearson and 3 to 2. A homer by Joe Rabbitt was the only hit off Fullerton in even frames but Jersey City could not solve Frank Barnes' delivery until the ninth.

AMUSEMENTS

JUNIOR LEIDE'S ROMANTIC LIFE STORY AT THE REGENT TODAY

The English vocabulary becomes very inadequate when a description of the outstanding stage and film productives have reached a state of threadbareness that no longer does justice to the common usage of such words as magnificent, terrific, masterly and titanic to such an extent, that doubt as to the real import magnitude arises and the words have lost some of their powers of persuasion.

In describing the film production, Jand, the "Breeding Nightingale" which appears at the Capitol Theatre today and tomorrow under the title of "A Lady's Morals", it is hoped we will avoid any of the foregoing than exquisite. The word exquisite sometimes means a flower, whose scent was fraught with all the tragedy and pathos of a broken heart, the lonely heart being the truest music of the symphonies and poems. Strangely enough, emotional strain has had great bearing on the successful creation of many of the greatest's rendering of the Prologue from "Pagliacci" was due to the discovery of his wife's infidelity.

The entire picture is one of beautiful theme song with which the original Jand thrilled the world, and the replacement of such beautiful exquisite lines as "Come Away, Death" from Shelley's "Norma", and "Home, Sweet Home" from Bellini's "Somnambula", Jacob Rosa's "Lovely Rose" and "Dear Sarah" "Oh Why" sung by Grace Moore, the Italian Prima Donnas Opera star who portrays Mary Lind in "A Lady's Morals" will be welcomed with both arms.

In "A Lady's Morals" Jand's character which is wonderfully played is that of Jenny Lind, known as the first brought Jenny Lind to this country, Barnum, the showman of talented, lives this part to perfection. Reginald Denny, the charming Englishman, Arthur Hamilton Brandt, the composer, who loves Jenny Lind.

The exceptionally interesting and talented cast includes Oscar Shaw, Marilyn, who is also a Metropolitan opera star, Charles Gilbert Bowman, Guy Sby (or "Good News"), Scott Nolan and Phil Porcasi.

The Italian element in this cast promises the best in the realm of song and an audience will positively revel in "A Lady's Morals" which is, as said above, just exquisite.

SYNOPSIS

Leaving Hawaii shortly after her father's death, young and beautiful Panchon Meredith goes to San Francisco, where she meets and loves a handsome man named Tony. Panchon is shocked to learn that Tony is a racketeer, implicated in a recent murder. She, too, is now wanted. Panchon escapes in an airplane under the name of "Smith". Evelyn Howard, whom she had met on the boat coming from Hawaii, is aboard. Evelyn is enroute to New York to live with her aunt, the wealthy Mrs. Carstairs, whom she has never met. After Panchon confides in Evelyn, the latter treats her coolly. The plane crashes and Panchon is the only survivor. She decides to escape Tony and the past and start life anew by masquerading as Evelyn. She requests a doctor to wire Mrs. Carstairs that "Evelyn" is safe. A wire comes from Mrs. Carstairs saying that Collin cannot meet Panchon. Panchon learns Collin is Mrs. Carstairs' only son. Mrs. Carstairs meets Panchon at the train explaining "But you're not Evelyn, are you . . . You can't be."

CHAPTER IX

Panchon's heart turned over in her breast. The flush of excitement faded, and her golden skin was gray with shock. To have travelled so far upon the difficult road of deception, to have gone herself, to have dared so much and then with the first word of greeting to face defeat!

"You're not really Evelyn Howard . . . you can't be . . ." this tall, beautiful woman had said.

Thus, with the first speech between them Panchon encountered, as she reached, bewildered, frightened and ashamed, shame, disgrace—perhaps worse. A mental vision of courts, newspaper headlines, perhaps even bars were on the slim bewildering screen of her mind. She swayed back from Mrs. Carstairs . . . diamonding . . . in vain, a mad protest.

Jennie Carstairs' arm went around her again, holding her in a close and comforting clasp. She said, quick contritely.

"Dear, I'm so sorry! I didn't mean to startle, to upset you. And after all you've been through! What a sad kind I am. Come, we'll go to the car. Let the porter take your little bag . . . I don't think we'll come for several days, but we'll attend to all that."

Talking, she half led Panchon on through the station and then across to the big parked car. The chauffeur jumped down from his seat, touched his cap, took the pitiful little bag-sent suitcase and opened the door mechanically. Panchon climbed in.

It was early evening. Fifth Avenue was at its best and liveliest under the slanting golden light. The car moved ahead smoothly and swiftly. A luxurious car, beautifully fitted.

Mrs. Carstairs still kept Panchon's hand in hers. Panchon understanding nothing, still not comprehending the older woman's gentle words, felt the blood come back to her cheeks and her cold hands, in a great wave of relief. The fear which had been so foreign to her nature until the last desperate days on the coast, rose easily in reaction to her magnificent, strange crisis. She tried to smile at Mrs. Carstairs, realizing that, after all, no real danger threatened her as yet, but her soft red mouth shook and her eyes pressed the hand she held.

"How silly I was," she said again, apologetically. "But I couldn't believe that anything as beautiful as you could belong to our family!"

So that was it! Panchon flushed deeply, rose and said, Mrs. Carstairs said, softly,

"What lovely coloring . . . you didn't tell me . . . your little letters were so stiff and funny. Dear hair, blue eyes, you said. I had only the little snapshot to go on," she drew out a small little photograph . . . "see?"

Panchon looked and felt her heart constrict again. There they were, she and—Evelyn Howard. Panchon herself stood at the boat rail, bareheaded, the wind blowing dark curls. She was laughing. Evelyn, rather prim in a sweater suit, stood behind her.

"I see now," Mrs. Carstairs said laughing, "what a foolish mistake for me to make! It is really a very good likeness. But I thought the other girl was—you. You said . . . the girl on the left." So it was your mistake as well, my dear."

Panchon said, low, and as steadily as she could,

"That was idiotic of me."

"Well, never mind. She," said Mrs. Carstairs, looking at Evelyn Howard shrivelingly, "is well enough. In fact, I thought that in her features I could see a trace, just a suggestion of your mother's." She sighed and her face clouded, vic.

"Oh, Evelyn," she cried, suddenly, "have you forgiven me, forgiven us all for our outrageous treatment of her . . . I and of you?"

"Of course," said Panchon, moved by the appeal in the blue eyes.

"You," said Mrs. Carstairs, "haven't the least look of May about you. You are much better than she ever was. Perhaps," she added, with an effort, "you are like your father's people?"

"I have heard so," Panchon said, honestly and took a deep breath of relief. She was still trembling a little from reaction.

"I won't," her aunt said, low, "ask you anything about the accident. It . . . is too close to you now. Later, perhaps, when you feel inclined telling me? I was half insane when the wire reached me, with gratitude, with a realization of what might so easily have been." She smiled, wavering and saw how Panchon shivered at the mention of the disaster.

"We'll be home soon." Mrs. Carstairs said, "and you're to go to bed and rest for several days."

"The doctor said so," Panchon admitted.

"I know, he did.Good man, he wired me, quite on his own, and gave his orders." But I would have insisted anyway."

She went on.

"I came up to the apartment to meet you. We are, as I wrote you, settled in Southampton for the summer. I was anxious for you to get there as quickly as possible as I wish to entertain you, when you are strong enough. In the autumn you shall be presented to society in New York and have a season here. Next spring, we may go abroad together. Would you like that, Evelyn?" she asked with real solicitude.

"I'd love it," said Panchon, softly. Oh, she thought, what a miserable coward I am! She looked about her frantically. She had expected to meet consideration, kindness, duty. She could have lied that she could have rendered something in return, for a measure, a time of safety. But to encounter this warmth of seeking, asking, wistful affection was almost more than she could endure; it was something she had no longer for since her father's death; something she had longed for all her life but left. Dear as her father had been to her, she had always dreamed silently and secretly of a gracious, beautiful understanding mother. And here was such a woman, the perfect answer to those childish dreams. But she was not what was offered her under the most hideous of false pretenses. She thought of Evelyn, of the shattered little body, gone by now perhaps to its lonely grave, surrounded by strangers. She put both hands to her face and shook with pity and despair and hatred of herself.

"My dear," said Mrs. Carstairs, gently, "I realize the strain you have been through. Let us try and not talk, forget. And all the vanished years between. You must begin all over again. With me."

Panchon murmured something "so terribly kind," she said.

"Kind! As . . . could make up for all the years of neglect and unhappiness." Jennie Carstairs told her strongly, "I or . . . can. It is you who are kind, Evelyn. If you knew how I have longed all my life, for a daughter! Collin is the best son in the world but most women wish for daughters . . . so fine and . . . like little, to dress, to spoil a bit . . . I've always wanted a daughter," she said. "You know . . . did your mother tell you—" that Collin was a twin? The other twin died. A dear little girl! Thirty years ago but I've never forgotten." she said. "I was nearly crazy with grief. I went to England and France to live . . . Your uncle," she added, very quickly, "was understood. He was not young at the time, I was thirty or so. But I knew I would have no more children. It was a great blow to me . . . to us both."

IDOL SMILES AS HE CLIMBS DOWN AT DAWN

Reaches Aklavik After 1110 Mile Hop By Arctic Night

UNKNOWN LANDS

Lindbergh Succeeds Despite Warnings of Airmen

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 6—Blanketed by a dense fog 24 miles west of Icy Cape on the Arctic shore the U.S. coast guard cutter Northland, carrying fuel for Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh on their vacation trip in the Orient yesterday abandoned any hope of reaching Point Barrow in time to meet the flyers.

Every resident of the busy little hamlet on the delta of the rushing Mackenzie River was gathered on the muddy banks of the channel when the Lindbergh plane soared into sight from the east. Shouts of scores of Eskimos mingled with the cheering acclaim of the score or so of white folk who had been waiting all night for the arrival of the flying couple.

The flying colonel was all smiles as he climbed awkwardly from his place at the controls and assisted his wife from the plane after its nose had been drawn up on the muddy shore. The hazardous 1,110 mile hop across the most treacherous and uninhabited country on the continent had been made in exactly 11½ hours.

The murky twilight of Aklavik's "darkness" had just given way to the Arctic Circle dawn as the bell-clanging ski sloop of the United States made their landing. They had flown throughout the night, much of it in the land of the midnight sun, tracing their route above the upper rim of Canada's mainland in a straight-line flight from Baker Lake, on the west shore of Hudson Bay.

Never before had the northwest territories been spanned in a single jump, even by the fearless aerial pioneers of the north. The made in flying over the lake-dotted tundra country. The take-off was made at 8:35 E.S.T. last night, after the couple's host had come to the conclusion that the Lindbergh would spend a second night at Baker Lake.

Along the edge of the Arctic circle the daring flight of the trim Lockheed Sirius had been directed, but not a word of the progress of the top-of-the-world dash was received by radio stations likely to carry to the north. Aklavik lies 130 miles within the Arctic circle while Baker Lake is a similar distance outside.

At Aklavik, the Lindberghs have completed more than 3,000 miles of their 7,000-mile tour from North Haven, Me., to Tokyo. They have completed the hop in as many days, resting overnight after each jump. At Baker Lake Col. Lindbergh was the first to extend through the night. Mrs. Lindbergh, the eaglet and his mate appeared fresh after their long flight. It appeared certain they would rest here overnight before pressing on to Point Barrow, 520 miles to the west in Alaska.

Shouts came to the silent pilot on his dash over the shoulder of the world despite admonitions from veteran northern airmen that a direct hop from Baker Lake to Alaska was courting disaster. Col. Lindbergh had been advised by Eskimo tribes located in the northland's way that heavy fog rolled down from the cold Arctic waters, veiling the north shore course.

Coast guard headquarters here are advised by the Northland that a fog continuous for several days, events the vessel from finding a way through the ice floes. Blossom point Barrow is about 150 miles north of the cape.

Should the Lindberghs arrive before the northland reaches Wainright, about forty miles north of Icy Cape, the coast guardsmen plan to hand over the fuel in the vicinity of the cape or in lagoon, depending upon water conditions.

"It will be impossible for the vessel to proceed to Barrow until we have several days' off-shore wind" the message received here said. The wind would blow a lane in the ice through which the cutter might find her way to her destination.

Mystery! Where are Bodies of Drowned Men?

Yet no Trace Found of Men Supposedly Swept Away

Montreal, Aug. 6—Hurried repairs and the clearing out of debris have permitted the re-opening of the northern side of the Lachine Canal, great grain-bearing inland waterway, which was badly damaged in an accident on Sunday last. One grain boat and one coal boat were locked through yesterday.

The southern side, which received most of the damage when the steamer, Rapids Prince, crashed the gates at each end of Lock No. 2, will not be in operation for about days yet.

A continuous search still failed to produce a single body near the scene of Sunday's crash. At the time, eye-witnesses told the sweeping away of many destitute men, who were on an embankment in the centre of the canal. The continued failure to find bodies, and the fact that no definite reports of anyone being missing, were available, caused authorities to believe that all these men had struggled to safety or been rescued from the turbulent water which swept through the lock gates.

100 ARRESTED DURING STRIKE

Four Wounded And Walkout is Expected

Havana, Aug. 6 (AP)—Havana's 24 hour general strike ended Wednesday day with more than one hundred persons under arrest, four persons wounded and predictions that a new walk-out would initiated within the next few days.

Bombing of street cars, exchange of shots between policemen and some of the 40,000 strikers, dissolution of groups by police and detention of laborers for carrying arms marked Havana's share of the strike involving twelve to fifteen of Cuba's larger cities.

BOARD ORDER ON PAVEMENT

Council Will Meet Special Session Shortly

The order from the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board with respect to the pavement to be laid on North Front Street has been received by the City Clerk, J. Wilfred Robbins but it is said, the meaning is not perfectly clear, and more information will be obtained. The Board ordered that the work be done on a 50-50 basis but the council wishes to know if that means the laying of gas and water mains and also the intersections.

The matter is being taken up by the city solicitor with the Railway Board and a definite statement on the apportioned costs will soon be received from the Railway Board.

A meeting of the city council will likely be held on Saturday, August 17th, when the gas by-laws will be given their third reading and finally passing. At the same meeting if a definite answer is received, which is expected from the North Front Street, the necessary legal machinery will be passed to start the work on this street in motion.

$1,500 Worth of Liquor is Stolen from Deseronto

For the second time in less than a year, the Ontario Government Liquor Store at Deseronto has been entered and a quantity of liquor taken. The store was entered some time early Tuesday morning and after a check-up of the stock some $1500.00 worth of liquors was missing. Entrance was gained through a rear entrance that had been battered down and apparently the liquor loaded from the back. The local police of Deseronto has undertaken the investigation of this break-in and theft, and are being assisted by the Provincial Police of this headquarters. The police have no clues at present on which to work but hope to have something tangible in a few days.

After the last break-in at this store it was some time before the guilty parties were apprehended but at present are serving sentences for the offence. At that time $900 worth of liquor was taken.

Statesman to Wed Girl Who Aided Him in Rise to Power

Marquis of Reading, 70, Will Wed Stella Charnand HIS CAREER

London, Aug 6 (CP)—The Marquis of Reading, once Ambassador to the United States and later Viceroy to India, will be married today to the young woman who aided him in his rise to the rank of one of Great Britain's foremost statesmen.

His engagement to Miss Stella Charnaud, daughter of the late Charles Charnaud, who represented Great Britain on the International public debt mission to Turkey, was announced today. He is 70 years of age and she is 37.

Miss Charnaud, was a member of the vice-regal staff when Lord Reading was in India from 1921 to 1926 and returned with him to England in a similar capacity when he was succeeded by Lord Irwin. She became his chief assistant in all political matters and played an active role in his work in behalf of India at the first round table conference.

News of the engagement recalls Lord Reading's steady rise from the son of a London merchant to high honors from the Empire. Born Rufus Daniel Isaacs, he started his career as a cabin boy, running away to sea at the age of 14.

After an unsuccessful venture on the stock exchange, he studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1887. He represented the district of Reading in the House of Commons for many years as a Liberal in association with Rt. Hon. Davis Lloyd George. He was president of the Anglo-French loan mission to the United States in 1915, and high commissioner and special Ambassador to America in 1918. He was elevated to the rank of Marquis on his return from India.

WEED KILLING DEMONSTRATED

A very interesting weed killing demonstration was held on Tuesday afternoon of this week, at the farm of Mr. Coulter, Redcrerville, which was attended by a large number of local farmers. The experiments were conducted by James Robinson, Weed Inspector, assisted by J. McLeod. A "Friend" High Pressure Power Sprayer was supplied by the "Friend" Growers' Supply Co., Belleville, whose representatives demonstrated various means of applying the weed killer. The result of the spraying will be known in a few days.

FLIERS LOSE TIME ON WAY

Damaged Wing Was Sustained in Landing

Tokyo, Aug. 4 (AP)—Contrary to reports in New York that they had abandoned their round-the-world flight in quest of the record held by a pair of their countrymen, Hugh Herndon, Jr., and Clyde Pangborn, United States aviators, awaited only favorable weather reports at Khabarovsk, Siberia, to start them off today on the transatlantic jump to Nome, Alaska.

Mango News Agency despatches said they were eager to be off, although hour they remained at Khabarovsk lengthened the margin between their time and that of Wiley Post and Harold Gatty at that point, if their record shattering globe girdling flight At 8 a.m. today Herndon and Pangborn had lost only 17 hours, 29 minutes, their delay was due to to damaged wing, suffered when they landed yesterday.

And while Gatty and Post, who is a round-the-world record of 8 days, 13 hours and 51 minutes, flew 2,000 miles faster plane, Herndon and Pangborn planned to alternate at keeping and piloting their ship, thus eliminating the necessary time of stopping for rest. Post alone piloted the "Winnie Mae."

Anglo-French Amity Praised by Kipling

Paris Aug. 5 (By The Canadian Press)—Rudyard Kipling, noted British author, poet and lecturer, at the final dinner of the Association France-Grande Bretagne here yesterday night was the chief guest of honor, spoke enthusiastically of his friendship for France and of Great Britain and France, and this sentiment was warmly reciprocated by his hosts. Mr. Kipling, replying to the toast to him, said that the two countries could look back together over many years. They were the first to disentangle themselves from the confusion that followed the fall of Rome and to start the great stabilizing nations. During that process it was repeatedly necessary for England to assimilate the invaders from France. It was true that the English invaders had ruled 100 years by the French method, and with just the same, that the invaders left their country. Now the English and French were assimilating speaking tours who annually invaded the pleasant land of France and who did not ruin the country. It was the same way. This minor assignment, typical of so many others took only 800 or 900 years, Naturally it was accompanied by certain differences of opinion.

"Mankind everywhere had been overtaken by the magic of new mechanisms which had saved them so much labor that it seemed to relieve the exercise of thought. Was it any wonder that this congestion of far-reaching powers—this sorcerer of modern wonders—should have wakened hope that the world itself could be speeded up and amplified so as to give man without too much thought an immediate millennium? The obstacle to this achievement was man's inveterate instinct not to confide his weight to a branch till he had tested it. Perhaps our forefathers had learns that reason on the Dordogne, before the (mechanical) seashores existed, that any rate that instinct formed part of the reserve of earliest experience by which the lives of men were unconsciously stabilized. And so two people learned them possessed the people learned them this experience in first-hand proven knowledge of each other's character, feelings, and peculiarities. It furnished to each patience and confidence through the recent ordeal by fire. And it now underlay Franco-British friendship," M. Reynaud, Minister for the Colonies, in thanking Mr. Kipling for his testimony of friendship for France, referred to the "white man's burden," to carry which England had sent forth her sons to distant Colonies. Things had changed, and today it was every white man's burden.

The Marquis de Vogue presided and in introducing Mr. Kipling said the affection the latter showed to went France and him to the French as well as the pleasure they took in his work, Discord between France and England would mean universal disorder and that their peace was the peace of the world.

Poet's Corner

MOONLIGHT

By Hiroshige

The sun set hours ago, the night is deep,
This is the time for men to be asleep,
And we are weary—worse—we are alive.
There is no sound; black-silent stand the pines,
Upon the sea far off the full moon shines
Out of the empty sky. Her light is cold.
If every man were dead, she would not mind.
The age is hugs, and hollow, and sinking;
The moon is very old.

EMPIRE IS STRONGER BY WIDER EDUCATION

Prince of Wales at Congress of Universities Stresses Closer Ties of Empire

LONDON, AUG 6(By The Canadian Press)—The Prince of Wales' greeting to the delegates to the Congress of Universities of the Empire in the Guildhall, London, recently was a Royal welcome more than one sense and it was received with evidence of hearty appreval. His Royal Highness began his address as President of the Congress, which held its business meetings in Edinburgh a few days later by reading a message which he had sent the King and His Majesty's reply thereto, the one of loyalty and devotion and the other expraying pleasure and welcoming the delegates especially those from overseas.

The Prince recalled the fact that the eight universities of a century ago had become 33 by the time the first congress met and the delegates now assembled or surveilling come from 70 different universities. Nearly 90 of them have crossed the seas to attend the congress

The core of the Prince's subject was the need for educated men today, not only to fill high official posts everywhere in the British Empire, but to serve our commerce and industry—vital needs at home and abroad. In a special word of welcome to the overseas visitors he spoke of the Old Country better link among them the Universities, which he liked to think, were displacing those more material links, now fast disappearing, which had bound the Empire together in the past.

"With the growth of our population, our commerce, and our national wealth has grown the need for advanced education. Small nearly every great city possesses its university," His Royal Highness said; "at the same time, the duties and responsibilities of universities have increased in equal measure The need of men today is greater than ever. Year by year, as the scope of our activities increases, we are called for in every part of the Empire, not only to fill the higher offices, the services, and the Government and municipal administrations, but to carry on the commerce and industry which are vital to our existence. Not only for the education of these men's, but for their training and for the formation of their characters, the universities are a great extent responsible. At the same time, it is borne in upon us daily more clearly that the material progress of mankind will depend in an ever-increasing degree on the application of modern science to modern industry. How this application can best be effected is one of the many problems which I know engage your constant attention

"Another question of a more domestic nature, which I imagine from my own experiences must sometimes perplex you, is how to fit time for a university training into the life of the young man who intends to devote himself to commerce or industry, and who is afraid of losing his start at the outset of a business career, when every month appears to count so much The difficulty must be insuperable, I hope not, because the more I travel the more convinced I am that the best brains and abilities are required for finance, commerce and industry, and that those who in the different countries of the world are endeavoring to maintain and to strengthen British interests should receive the best possible training to prepare them for their task.

"I particularly welcome the presence of so many delegates from overseas, because the old countries which joined our Empire together in the past are fast disappearing, and I like to think that they are being replaced by other and better ties, which, though not so formal, less tangible, in Burke's words, 'though light as air are as strong as links of iron' Among those links surely there can be none stronger or sounder than the universities of the Empire We have a common history and to a great extent community of race and language, of tradition and of ideals. This congress adds the advantages of personal contact, and enables us to meet together in social and intellectual intercourse, and to talk over the common problems which beset us all. In a word, it gives us an opportunity of realizing which is quite as valuable an education as it is to my mind, in most of the other phases of our lives. And it seems to me that you have it in your power not only to contribute to the solution of educational problems, but to strengthen the organization and to draw closer the bonds of Empire."

Port Hope Residents Benefit by Will

London, Ont., Aug. 6.—(By The Canadian Press)—An estate of $494,532 is disposed of under the will of the late A. M. Smart, President of the Ontario Loan and Debenture Company. The will which bequeathes $4,500 to education and charity has been filed for probate by the executors, the London and Western Trust Company and Georges C. Gunn is co-executor. Mr. Smart died at his home June 16.

ALBERTA MAY SEND JOBLESS TO FARMS

Edmonton, Alta., Aug. 6.—Merit system for Hon. R. C. Reid, Alberta's Minister of Lands and Mines, in the proposal that unemployed relief service men be settled on farms. The Unemployed Ex-Service Men's Association protests that back to the farm movement is only a camouflage for cheap labor, and mostly experienced farmers, who wanted to go on the land.

Practically all the men would require financial assistance, it was stated in a reference to Mr. Reid. The association has suggested that the government appoint a qualified inspector to supervise the proposed settlement and govern all expenditures for it.

50 Million Chinese Threatened by Plague Famine Thru Floods

Uncounted Thousands are Drowned and Multitudes Homeless

NO UNLOADING

Hankow, China, Aug. 6—Floods roiled over sixteen Provinces of China Wednesday and uncounted thousands were reported drowned, hundreds of thousands were homeless, threatened by famine and disease.

All Central China sent stories of distress and appeals for aid. Fifty millions people, for whom Canada's relief committee estimated, were at their door or soon would be, by the estimate.

China's great rivers, the Yangtze and the Yellow, fed by swollen tributaries after torrential rains, overflower thousand and thousand wide expanses of country.

Famine threatened.

Many cities were flood swept. Unable to keep their feet in submerged cemeteries, the Chinese allowed bodies to float down stream.

No tally of victims was possible, but the Chinese Red Cross reported "several thousand" drowned in the outer cities of Hankow, Wuchang and Hsiang-yang and their environs. Those cities, with a total population of 1,300,000 normally, 1,300 while foreigners, were partly underwater and fighting to keep back the Yantze and Han Rivers, which were now pouring through broken dykes.

Nearly all Hankow was flooded, but 300,000 refugees fled to higher places. Thirty thousand more were swarming daily to relief encampments and highways to join them. With pestilential conditions in refugee camps, it was feared disease would strike heavily.

Scores of thousands of Hankow homeless were taken across the two-mile-wide Yangtze by boating in small boats, hoping for shelter and safety in Hupeh.

Never in modern times had the Yangtze reached such heights. Shipping was unable to proceed upstream, and vessels could not be landed at docks.

Rains had ceased in the Yangtze Valley today, and a hot sun beat down, causing stench and danger of disease, but melting snow from the towering Himalyas was expected to add to the flood waters.

In the north, the old bed of the Yellow River, waterless for 25 years was filled with a devastating torrent, which was believed to have drowned scores in Kiangsu Province.

HYDRO IS FAIR IN DEALING ON RIGHTS OF WAY

Fair Basis is Object Says Hon. Robert Cooke, Chairman

MET FARMERS

Chairman Deals With Question of Threats to Workmen

Toronto, Aug. 6. — Discussions with an Hydro Radial delegation representing land owners between Pickering and Havelock took place before the Ontario Hydro Power Commission, Wednesday afternoon, on the question of compensation for rights-of-way for the commission's transmission line from Niagara River to the Leaside Station. The delegation was headed by Dr. A. Brohen of Norwood.

Although no definite decision was reached, following the conference Hon. J. R. Cook, Chairman of the Hydro Commission, issued a statement outlining the commission's policies in respect to compensation for easements over farm lands. In some easements distant, Hydro work men are said to have been threaten ed, and guards are stationed to protect them.

The statement mentioned that many whose lands were for the first time affected by new lines were non committal with the commission's policy, regarding those matters nor the proposed conditions made for dealing with them.

Co-operation Sought

Although the commission had power for expropriating easement rights in general policy had been to acquire such rights by co-operative negotiation and agreement.

The commission has always been specially desirous of maintaining the good-will of the owners over whose property these transmission lines run," the statement remarks. "During the last session of the legislature, the Power Commission Act was amended so as to afford any property owner who felt that he was not being fairly compensated, to appeal to the usual valuator appointed by the Government, and provision is made for appeal from the award of the board of valuators to the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board."

The basis of compensation is a fair value of the farm land crossed by the transmission line per acre. The main point at issue, during the presidency's delegation. The Globe learned, was that while the commission had been generous in considerations for lands of low value, it had not offered sufficient payment for farm property of high value.

Remunerative Rates

The Chairman's statement continues: —

"Whereas a tower occupies only about one-hundredth of an acre of land, yet the basis of payment proposed by the Commission covers the value of one whole acre for each tower of the first transmission line across a farm. For each succeeding line constructed across the same farm, there is an increasing amount provided for each tower. Thus, in the case of a fourth line, instead of paying for one acre, as in the case of the first line, payment is made for one and three-quarter acres. The same basis of compensation applies to strictly rural districts and it should be understood that it is for several conditions.

"Where, for example, ther are four lines on a farm, there is only one farm, on the above basis, the payment which the Commission would be prepared to consider for an easement is equivalent to from 35 to 50 per cent. of the value of the land occupied by the towers and lines under the wires; and this, notwithstanding the fact that the productive value of the land under the wires is not materially decreased and the farmer retains ownership of the land.

NON-STOP TO SEATTLE RACE POSSIBILITY

4 FLIERS ARRIVE

World Fliers Herndon and Pangborn Will Make Try

Tokyo, Aug. 6 (AP) — A non-stop race between two monoplanes from Tokyo to Seattle, with a large cash award awaiting the winner, appeared as a possibility today with the arrival here by aeroplane and boat of four aviators.

Hugh Herndon, Jr., and Clyde Pangborn, who abandoned a round-the-world race in quest of the record set by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, landed at Haneda Aerodrome near here at 5:56 p.m. (3:56 a.m. E.S.T.), today from Khabarovsk, Siberia.

A damaged wing and unfavorable weather had held them at Khabarovsk until their record-breaking aspirations went glimmering. They left Khabarovsk at 6:56 a.m. today (4:56 p.m., Wednesday, E. S. T.), with the announcement that they had come in Japan to attempt a non-stop flight to Seattle.

Tom Moyle and C. A. Allen arrived on the M. S. Chichibu Maru from the United States with the announcement that they were contemplating a non-stop flight to the Puget Sound metropolis in the monoplane City of Tacoma, now in a hangar at Tachikawa aerodrome. Seattle has offered a $25,000 reward for the first pilot making the flight.

The City of Tacoma was brought to Japan last year by Harold Bromley and Hamilton Cole, the latter Wiley Post's partner on the recent world-girdling flight that required but eight days, fifteen hours and fifty-one minutes. Bromley and Gatty flew 1,300 miles toward their announced destination, Tacoma, when engine trouble exhaust collector ring forced them back.

Subsequently Mr. Cole decided to tackle the north Pacific in the City of Tacoma. He renamed her plane the "Pacific" and flew it to Samushiro Eastern Hokkaido to lift the ship from the sand with its heavy load of gasoline.

LAD CRUSHED UNDER WHEELS

Neilson McDolle, Toronto Found in C.N.R. Yards

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 6.—(The Canadian Press)—The body of a youth believed to be Nelson McDolle 17, of Toronto, was found crushed to death Wednesday under the wheels of a freight train on the Canadian National Railway tracks. Several road maps, hunting knife and a small parcel of food were found on the youth's person. These led police to believe he had been on a camping trip and was slighting from a train he slipped under the wheels.

Gilbert, commander of the Canadian government steamer Aranmore, dropped dead on his bridge at six o'clock this morning as he was supervising the landing of supplies at the Cape Race, Newfoundland, station, Stuart Mallum was the cause of death, according to word received by Department of Marine officials here.

Captain Gilbert was sixty years old.

MANUAL LABOR FOR TORONTO

Toronto, Aug. 6 (CP)—In an effort to relieve the present unemployment situation as much as possible, the Board of Control passed a resolution, forbidding the use of steam shovel or other such machinery on civic works, which can be carried out by manual labor. Steam shovels and other machineries will be removed from civic undertakings where even possible and manual labor will be employed, Mayor W. J. Stewart said today.

Flier Startles World Lands in Greenland to Blaze New Mail Routes

Parker D. Cramer Goes Untrumpeted to Arctic

KNOWS GREENLAND

Was once Stranded There For Two Week Period

Copenhagen, Denmark, Aug. 6—(AP)—Unheralded and without benefit of fanfare, Parker Cramer, United States aviator, rested in Angmagssalik, Greenland today after a flight, the origin and purpose of which were in doubt.

Dispatches from Greenland said he landed at the Southern Eskimo village and that he would continue on to Copenhagen after a brief stop. He had valuable appointed by the Government, and provision is made for appeal from the award of the board of valuators to the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board."

The basis of compensation is a fair value of the farm land crossed by the transmission line per acre. The main point at issue, during the president's delegation. HON. LEOPOLD MACAULAY
Who relinquishes the Provincial Secretaryship of Ontario to become Minister of Highways.

Rockford, Ill., attempted a flight from Rockford to Greenland in 1928. They were missing for two weeks. They were found in Greenland. Cramer also was at the controls of the "Henry Bower," which came to grief on Hudson Bay on a later trial blazing from Chicago to Berlin. He accompanied Sir Hubert Wilkins on both the North and South Pole expeditions.

Persons connected with trans-American airlines and the Thompson Aeronautical Corporation, subsidiary, who could be reached here and in Cleveland were reticent, but others who protested to the newspaper of the venture said Cramer had succeeded in convincing officials of the air lines that the real route over Greenland was the most feasible connection by air with Europe.

No Reason for Secrecy

From Washington came word that assistant Postmaster General Glover, in charge of the air mail division was watching the flight with interest. The post office department is not connected with the aerial survey Cramer is reported to be making.

Detroit airmen said they believed Cramer had established caches of oil and supplies along the route, but there was no word from Canadian points that he had to where the plane has stopped.

FORGOTTEN PLAYTHINGS
By Constance Cameron
Not long ago a mother told me of a game she had invented which is working nicely toward keeping toys in their respective places. But to carry out this play-idea, the mother must first of all assign certain places for toys and cooperate with the children in making it quite clear where each toy or book belongs. A large box for the toys of younger children, or a certain shelf for balls, fishing tackle, etc., must be regarded as the right of each child.

This, the mother spoken of, had already done, but somehow after each day's play, the things were to co, dolls appeared in the living room chairs, Sonny's Meccia was stumbled over in the yard, while a basket and hat occupied the porch swing.

It was then that she invented the game which they call "Ransom." The mother told each of the two children plainly and clearly what she expected of them. Little Sister must have her blocks, dolls, etc. put back in the big toy-box before Daddy got home at night, for she had her supper at six and bedtime was at seven. Big Brother must see, before going to bed, that all his paraphernalia was stowed away.

Each toy found by Mother after the appointed time had passed was put in the "Ransom" box, and some work—or a forfeit of the boy for a half or whole day—had to be given as a ransom to redeem it.

So far, little Sister has done without her favorite doll for a morning, etc., while Brother has even offered a nickel of his week's allowance for his baseball bat which was needed instantly.

The forfeits are becoming fewer and further between, for the children have grown to remember their toys and put them in place. Children don't scatter things about just to make more work for mother. They only forget, and this seems to be an efficient way to make them remember.

COULD BE WORSE

The young Greenes regretted leaving their home town when Carl was sent to another city. They realized, however, that it might be worse. "Just think, if there weren't telephones!" exclaimed Little Miss Greene. "Wouldn't it be awful if we couldn't call up our friends!"

KINGSTON DRIVER IS FACING CHARGES

Brockville, Ont., Aug. 5—After, it is alleged, he had struck a car driven by Hubert Wilson, Brockville on No. 2 highway this morning, and forced it into the ditch, injuring one of the occupants, Alex Tope of Brockville, Alec McDonald, giving Kingston as his address, was placed under arrest on a charge of having failed to stop at the scene of an accident and will be given a hearing in police court later in the day. Tope is not seriously injured but the car, turned on its side, was badly damaged.

A public school has just been completed in Lesbeck, Germany, in which glass takes the place of the former brick walls wherever possible.

TORONTO CLERIC WAS REMANDED

Rev. Robert Brown Who Attacked Detectives, in Court

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 6 (CP)—Rev. Robert Brown, 79-year-old retired clergyman of Toronto, arrested recently, when he refused to permit city workmen to excavate a sewer on his property and who, attacked two local detectives with a pitchfork when they proceeded to protect the workmen, was committed for trial on a charge of intimidation when he appeared in police court today.

Brown was recently remanded to the psychiatric hospital but after examination by doctors he was adjudged fit to stand trial. He was allowed bail at $200.

ROAD BUILDING PLANS FAVORED

Hon. G. . Roberston, Minister of Labor Makes Announcement

Ottawa, Aug. 5—Highway construction will be concentrated upon throughout Canada as a means of finding care of single unemployed men. This intimation was given today by Hon. G. D. Roberston, Minister of Labor, in discussing the programme of the government respecting unemployed relief. Preliminary conferences have already taken place with several of the provincial governments, Hon. Mr. Roberston said, and within the next few days a definite announcement may be expected as to the working out of the plan.

"It is hoped to co-operate with municipalities," he stated, appears to be that they will be willing to redouble their efforts to find employment in the months providing the Provinces and the Dominion provide funds. Large cities for single men, particularly transients, are difficult problems. final decision has not been made but probability is that highway construction will be carried on without cities to take care of men without family ties.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dafoe and Mr. T. Mallory went on a motor trip Sunday to Belleville and other points east.

Mrs. Chas. Channell and sister Norma, also Mr. and Mrs. Leon and McCartney of Rosehall went on a Sunday trip to the Thousand Islands.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Ellis were Sunday visitors at Mr. and Mrs. Horace Thompson's, Pleasant Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Dafoe were entertained on Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Pettinaill, Rosehall.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Ford, July 30th a delightful Garden Party was held on the lawn of Mr. Hilton McCartney's home, Lake Shore Road. This was under the auspices of the W. M. S. of Rosehall United Church.

The lawn was gaily decorated with Japanese lanterns and small tables were placed for comfort in partaking of the lunch of sandwiches, pie, cake and coffee also ice cream. A fish pond was one of the centres of attraction and amusement as also was the mystery tent where a pleasant gypsy lady, with a real live bear told fortunes. While four months old bear cub owned by Port Rupert of Hillier was also there for its share of attention and good treats.

The program consisted of orchestral numbers by Betty Pillingham, piano, Geo. Pillingham, traps and Fred Rupert, violin. Solos were rendered by Mrs. Dr. Thompson, Mrs. Don Murray and Miss Winnifred Pearce, all of Wellington. There was also a duet by Greta and Muriel Bishop and readings by Mrs. A. N. Dafoe. This program was given from the Gazebo verandah. A goodly sum was realized by these ladies for their efforts.

FORTIFICATION OF WINE IS URGED

Beamsville, Ont., Aug. 6 (By The Canadian Press)—Feeling in Wentworth, Lincoln and Welland counties, heart of the grape-growing district in the province, has been roused over the question of fortification of wine with fruit spirit, and an active campaign is being waged to keep the matter before the attention of the Dominion government.

Monday, town and city residents of the district were spoken to by growers and asked to lend their support in the fight for the adoption of new standards. Beamsville has been designated headquarters and each meeting is being directed from here.

Municipal Councils, Chambers of Commerce and similar organizations are to be asked to attend a meeting here Wednesday night, when a committee of growers will report on the outcome of a conference with winery heads and Hon. J. D. Chaplin, M.P. for Lincoln

$100 REWARD FOR CAPTURE

"Preferred Class Pen" Fugitive Is Still at Large

Kingston, Ont., Aug. 7.—Reward of $100 has been offered by the Department of Justice for the capture of Harley Gardner, aged 22, a prisoner of the preferred class penitentiary, who escaped late on Thursday. It is an hour later this morning no trace had been found of the man. His preferred class record set his chance and walked away yesterday.

An intensive search is being carried on through the nearby country and the entire force of guards is being used in the hunt.

Ambrust was engaged in getting stone out of the quarry on the property. He was a short distance west of where the new administration building is being erected, when he managed to get away remains a mystery. Gardner is a married man and his wife lives in Welland, in which city he was formerly employed. He came to the penitentiary in December from the Ontario Reformatory to the preferred class penitentiary in April.

J. E. Chisolm is Given 6 Months

John E. Chisholm, arrested one week ago on a charge of intoxication, faced a more serious charge when he appeared in police court before Magistrate Ponton on Friday. He was found guilty of a serious offence against the Act under the age of 16 years and was sentenced to six months in the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph. The mother and two girls gave evidence against the accused, the court being held in camera.

At the time of his arrest, a complaint came into the police station respecting the actions of the man train, and the fact that two little girls had left a certain home in the city and had not yet returned. He was followed into a building in the eastern part of the city by one of the police officers and brought to the police station. The little girls mentioned also left the building with the man and had been with him the most serious charges were laid. Evidence given during the hearing was quite damaging to the accused and he pleaded guilty. He became guilty B. Crown Counsel Greene, conducted the prosecution, but the witnesses were not represented by counsel.

Blind Men Kill Man With Chair

New York, Aug. 7.—Two blind men, who said they had a grudge to settle, broke into a rooming house on East 34th Street early today and attacked Wallace Kopelasky, 60, with a chair until his skull was fractured.

The blind men, Henry Keenin, 34, and Timothy Shipp, 24, were arrested. Kelly said he was once a prize fighter in Boston and lost his sight there as a result of his fight ring activities.

GREATEST FAIR AIM OF BOARD

Committees Report Stage Set For Fall Exhibition

At a regular meeting of the Belleville Fair Board held last evening, the chairmen of the various committees reported that everything was in readiness for the opening of the Fall Exhibition, which, from appearances has looked after his part well and will be the greatest fair ever held in the city of previous years.

Fred Ketcheson, chairman of the booths and buildings, reported that all the booths had been taken for the exhibition purposes, this is the first time in the history of Belleville fair that all the booths have been sold before the opening of the Exhibition. All arrangements have been completed for the entertainment of the public and many new acts of amusement have been added.

The Board will meet every Thursday from now until the Fair opens. The building and privileges have been given to the ladies of Holloway Street Church and results will be announced later.

The buildings are all repaired and new glass has been put in the windows which were broken during the winter. Additional gate prize tickets will be provided as the entry list for cattle is expected to be far surpass any thing in that line in past years. The members of the Fair Board are greatly enthused over the prospects for this year as everything points to a banner year in every department.

SHOT BULL 8 TIMES, LET IT DIE

Welland, Ont., Aug. 7.—One of the strangest sights to appear in court here was tried this morning when Alexander Nicolais of Pelham admitted he shot his bull at his home. The animal was killed on July 23 August 1 and then left the animal to die, pestered by insects.

Nicolais, it is stated to have eight children, told the court the bull was frenzied and that he was afraid about the only way he could destroy the animal was to shoot it. He explain why he left the animal at the mercy of insects and flies through eight times. A fine and costs totalling $8.50 was imposed.

LUCAS WINS MATCH

GETS TRUCK OFF TRACK FLAGS TRAIN

Breaking a support beam, which held a large gasoline tank off the chassis of a truck, caused the truck owned by the Regent Oil Company and driven by Frank Tennis, Napanee, to stall on the Gibson Crossing, east of the city, on the Napanee highway, about the fifty flyer which was due to pass safely over the crossing at this point. It loaded with 400 gallons of gasoline and is believed that the weight of the gasoline sloshing back, when crossing the tracks caused the support to break, allowing the tank to rest on the chassis and act as a brake on the hind wheels. Mr. Hanna raced his engine and then left the chicch and in this manner jerked the truck clear of the tracks to flag the train which was due from Toronto. The city police force also responded to the call and brought the truck to the city where the damage was repaired.

LABOR WORKS HARD TO GAIN

Every Effort Made to Win Riding of East Hamilton

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 7 (By Edward Jolliffe, Canadian Press Staff Writer)—With voting only three days away, Labor party workers tonight quietly redoubled their efforts to return Alderman Humphrey E. Spence as their choice for East Hamilton in the House of Commons. Conservatives will gather at a meeting to be addressed on behalf of the Bennett Government by Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways.

Replying to a statement Wednesday night by M. M. "Bobby" Robinson, Conservative candidate, that he had appeared on the platform under the auspices of Inspector Lee was Jack Reilly O'Flaherty, and that Jack O'Flaherty told a meeting of Labor supporters that his full name he had been called Jack O'Reilly by his friends in the Parish temple for many years. Alderman Mitchell had not been present when he was introduced as "Jack O'Reilly," the Labor candidate declared, and was in no way responsible.

The policy of the Bennett Government was avowedly one of "Canada First," said Alderman Mitchell in a Dunnville budget," he continued, "recognized the existence of an empire of many nations. As for the Emmett policy, I think that no one should ask it. It is the policy to take what's left. That attitude of strength, this attitude of Tory wealth, does not make for the success of the commonwealth."

Advocating the speedy establishment of unemployment insurance, Mr. Mitchell said the Labor group had been prescribing this urgent remedy for years. "And now the old political parties are coming around. Even Premier Bennett's recent statement on the subject arose from Labor pressure," he said. Mr. Heap, a labor member from Winnipeg, Yet a few weeks before that, the Minister of Labor, Senator Gideon Robertson, had refused to receive me, spoke adversely of unemployment insurance. If the government is more sure now about this than they were in June of last year, I'm afraid we are a long way behind."

A Labor demonstration tomorrow night will be addressed by Mrs. Agnes C. Macphail, U.F.O. member for South Grey in the House of Commons.

SINKING PLANE MIGHT BE TUG

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 7.—(By The Canadian Press)—Considerable excitement was caused at Scarboro Bluffs, a suburb, today, by reports of an unidentified aeroplane which fallen in flames into the Lake off the point. Listeners who rushed to the scene were reported to have found the report to be a false alarm, but it was not known whether the plane had crashed or if it had been hired however, to have perished. Lifesavers for a considerable distance about this time were on watch for the wreckage but it was believed that it had sunken in the depths of the lake already. Contrasted with this was the report that the mysterious pilot who made a tug was towing two barges which were blowing off shore.

$250,000 SUIT

Boston, Mass., Aug. 7.—John J. McHugh, of Newton, today filed a suit in Suffolk Superior Court for $250,000 against the General Motors Corporation for alleged use of an invention of an adjustable automobile seat and steering wheel. McHugh said he invented and owned the device and that the defendant agreed to apply for a patent for it and to pay him a reasonable consideration. It charged that the company did not carry out the agreement. No alleged conversion of the invention.

WORLD HOPE SEEN ONLY IN CO-OPERATION

Chancellor Bruening Has Long Talk With Mussolini

COMMON EFFORT

Talk Follows Lines of Visits to Chequers, Paris, London

Rome, Aug. 7—(AP)—Common effort and co-operation are the only things which will restore internal and international confidence, Chancellor Heinrich Bruening of Germany said today after a long talk with Premier Mussolini.

"We hope," said he, "that through these international conversations the realization will become general that only co-operation and common effort can re-establish confidence in the world."

Foreign Minister Julius Curtius, who came here from Berlin with the Chancellor, Dino Grandi, Italian Foreign Minister, and Von Schubert, the German Ambassador, were present at the final conference today.

"The talk," said the Chancellor, "followed exactly along the lines pursued during our visits to Chequers, Paris and London and statements to Berlin of the foreign statesmen.

BODY FOUND ON TRACK

Mimico, Ont., Aug. 7.—(By The Canadian Press)—Identified as the cut-lead body of an unidentified man was found early this morning on the new about 50 yards from the Mimico Station. The body was severed in half and had been dragged about 18 feet along the tracks. The man is believed to come from Toronto as a label on the inside of his hat bore the name of a Toronto hat store.

ELECTION RUMOR KILLED

Winnipeg, Aug. 7.—Rumors of a provincial election in Manitoba in the fall were denied at the legislative building yesterday. The present administration has another year before its term expires, Premier John Bracken declared when the time came for an election the public would be notified through the proper channels well in advance.

MACDONALD AND STIMSON ENJOY BRIEF HOLIDAY

Rapart, Scotland, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and the United States Secretary of State, Henry L. Stimson, met together today in the front room of the Farmhouse where the United States statesman is spending his delayed vacation.

They had a long talk, but when Mr. MacDonald left the conversation after luncheon, he reiterated that the matter is not for publication. This informal meeting he described as a purely social function.

Mr. and Mrs. Stimson, Mr. MacDonald and his daughter Ishbel motored to the house this morning for a half hour's walk over the land moors before lunch. Mr. Stimson broke through the mist as they left the farmhouse at 9 o'clock last night, Mr. Ishbel drove out with Captain Reginler, Mr. Stimson's aide, after luncheon for some salmon fishing in the Spey, a nearby farm-house.

Mr. MacDonald and Mr. and Mrs. Stimson left together later to go up to Dornoch for the Highland games.

DOUKHOBORS WILL MIGRATE

If Not to Canad Then to Some Other Country

Winnipeg, Aug. 7.—While the four western provinces and the Dominion Department of Immigration unanimously posted up no-more Doukhobor immigration signs Thursday, Peter Verigin, leader of the religious sect in Canada, reiterated his plans for emigrating between 20 and 30,000 Doukhobors from Russia to Canada, their future and settling them on farmlands in western communities.

Immigration arrangements would be carried forward, Verigin said, despite general opposition to them. The thousands of newcomers would be brought to Canada, and, if the Dominion turned them away, they would be taken to "some other country."

"Besides," added the chief of all Doukhobors in Canada, "the communities of Doukhobors now in this country, also will be moved to another country."

All the western provinces protested against further immigration.

LIGHTHOUSE DEMOLISHED IN EARTHQUAKE

Electrical Storm and Quake Startle N.S. Counties

TREMORS FELT

Garage and Bunkhouse at Rapid Falls Destroyed

Digby, N.S., Aug. 7.—One of the most severe electrical storms in years, accompanied by shocks believed to be earthquakes, struck the Western counties of Nova Scotia last night and this morning.

At Cape St. Mary's the house and barn of Joseph Melanson were demolished by lightning, the ground. Several buildings were damaged at Meteghan, Meteghan River, Saulnierville and Lower Saulnierville. The lighthouse at Meteghan River was practically demolished. Trees were split and crops laid low by wind and rain.

Queen's County also suffered, the garage and bunkhouse of the N. S. Power Commission at Rapid Falls being burned down with a loss estimated at $10,000.

CRAMP ALMOST CAUSES DEATH

Girl Life-saver Rescues Boy in Answer to "Help" Cries

Believing that Ray Loney was playing a practical joke, Willow Mitchell, as Lasler's Dam on Thursday night, when he called "help" for the second time, resulted in a drowning fatality, as the boy was actually in the grip of cramp and nearly exhausted, when rescued by Elwyn Pickton, 15, who has, it is said, been a practice and, a dangerous one for young bathers in this popular swimming hole to pretend they were drowning and call for help, only to give those, who come to the rescue the mercy "ha, ha."

Had it not been for the presence of mind and skill displayed by Miss Pickton in saving Loney might have drowned. He was seized with a severe cramp in the deep water, he hauled when pulled out of the water by the quick thinking and expert handling of the rescuer. Miss Pickton has been a member of the life saving class taught by Ralph Morden of the Y.M.C.A. for the past two years and is in possession of the bronze medal from the Royal Life Saving Association.

HOLIDAY TOLL OF FATALITIES HIGH

Girl Guide Tried Valiantly to Save Victim

London, Aug. 7.—(CP)— Britain's holiday week-end was marked by no unusually high number of fatal accidents among those drowned, but a dramatic story from Berwick, where girl guides were encamped, was told by a scoutmaster and two boy scouts from Edinburgh.

The victims, belonging to Emsworth, Hants, were Margaret Adams, aged 25; William Butters, aged 14, and Ronald Adams. The boys were bathing in the Tweed and were caught by the current. The scoutmaster went to the rescue but the lads sank in deep water. A tug, holding a scoutmaster with the boys clinging to his neck, passed close to the bank of the river sought the help of an salvation company and was guided. A girl with a rope around her waist plunged in and reached the first boy, but was unable to do anything, as he was known to have taken holy orders shortly.

LEADEN SKIES FOR SHOOT-OFF

Last Day in Shooting For Trophies and Cup Branch

Long Branch Rifle Ranges, Ont., Aug. 7.—(By The Canadian Press)—Under leaden skies and with a slight wind, the marksmen competed for the final day's shooting of the Ontario Rifle Association meet here today, in a great test for the second stage of the Lieutenant-Governor's Cup. On the day's schedule, and the Lieutenant-Governor's Cup, the "General" and "General's" of Ontario. Only 80 of the 200 who fired yesterday were on the range qualified for the important event and among the 80 are some of the greatest marksmen in the world.

In addition to the big match itself there is the Le-Mesurier Trophy, presented by Lieut.-Col. Crawford of England and Sergt. J. H. Gary of Toronto, another big shoot in the Cornwall and York Rifle Ranges, the Dominion Rifle Company Sergt. Major Emslie plays the main rules; a trophy tie in the Bancers match, with Lt. J. Sinclair and Lieut. Burke and Williams of Toronto fighting it out; and another double tie in the city of Toronto and the suburbs between Sgt. Major W. Hawkin, Toronto, and Sgt. Major W. R. Ford of Deseronto, B.C., are knotted for third position.

14-YEAR GIRL SWIMS TO MAID OF MIST LANDING BREAKS RECORD OF HILL

First Girl to Swim Waters Below Niagara Falls

IN 10 MINUTES

Takes up Dare of Crew of Maid of Mist Steamer

Niagara Falls, Ont., Aug. 7.—(By The Canadian Press)—Fourteen-year-old Mary Hill, of Port Dalhousie, Ont., made swimming history yesterday when she climbed down from the boat landing on the United States side of the Niagara River, not far below Niagara Falls and struck out for the Canadian side of the Mist landing on the Canadian side. She is the first girl to make the dangerous waters below the Falls and she set a new record for the trip, crossing in 10 minutes, a minute faster than the record held by William "Red" Hill, veteran Niagara riverman.

HEAVY LOSS TO STOVE CO'Y

Roof Removed by Storms and Rain Poured on Crated Stoves

Guelph, Ont., Aug. 7.—Gangs of men are today engaged in clearing away the wreckage caused Thursday night at the Guelph Stove Company plant by storm and operations of the T. Eaton Company, when a miniature cyclone swept the warehouse, tearing away a large section of the roof and depositing it by the river.

Among the six thousand or so stoves standing crated, 50 are reported building were 50 or 60 destroyed for the Canadian National exhibition. These along with about 3,000 others were damaged by water which descended upon them.

BUTTERFLIES GET TIGHT ON BEER

Matamack Factory, Que., Aug. 7.—(Canadian Press)—Some 500 addicted "butterfly cocktail" has again been served to the local and summer scientists here collecting specimens of butterflies, but the scientists were plentiful and the scientists were unable to get enough to work so the butterfly cocktail was mixed. Nine parts of beer and one part of molted sugar, topped off with a dash of orange bitters. The cocktail was served to the moths on a log in the forest, and after about a forest path. Along came the moths, intoxicated and drugged from a state of intoxication into death. Hundreds came to taste the inebriating cup and hundreds died, easy victims of the bibophiles. Dr. Edmann, of Munden Forestry College, Hanover, and Dr. Mackay Wreglin.

Sword Battle over Politics

Mikolcz, Hungary, Aug. 7 (AP).—A vigorous sword duel between Geza Farkas, government supporter, and Arpad Vics, a political opponent, today resulted in Farkas receiving a grievous wound about the head.

The drawing of blood ended the sword play and the combatants were reconciled. Three other duels, growing out of the recent parliamentary elections, are expected to be fought soon by members of parliament.

SINCLAIR NOT MAKING REPLY

Beneath His Dignity to Answer Senator Hardy

Oshawa, Ont., Aug. 7.—When Senator Hardy's statement with which I raised in my former statement, I am prepared to discuss them with him, but I have no intention of discussing personalities such as he has introduced in his statement," said W. N. Sinclair today in an interview with the Canadian Press in reference to the published attack made upon him by the Provincial Liberal party.

"It is beneath the dignity of a member of the Legislature," said Mr. Sinclair, "to talk about anyone in the way that he has talked about me. He, however, says that he has special license which others do not have. I have no personal quarrel with Senator Hardy, and I do not intend to discuss personalities such as he raises in his statement. When he wants to discuss the issues which I raised in my former statement I am prepared to discuss them with him. I feel that any member of the Provincial Legislature, whether a party leader or not, is entitled to deal with issues which are before the public, and that is what I propose to do.

WEDDINGS

BROWN—LAKE

An interesting event took place last evening in the Gospel Alliance Church after the regular week night service when the marriage was solemnized of Miss Mary Elizabeth Lake and Mr. Egbert George Brown, both of this city. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. W. M. Willoughby. Miss Amy Cooke and Mr. Vernon Hoffman attended the bridal couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown are both active members of the Gospel Alliance Church, Mr. Brown being a member of the Church Board. They received the best wishes of friends and relatives and the congregation of the church which had assembled for the occasion. At the close of the services, Mr. Charles Hicks led in prayer and during the signing of the register Scriptural choruses with ukulele accompaniment was rendered by Miss Maahne and Miss Dahl. A reception was held at 145 Pinnacle St. after the services. Mr. and Mrs. Brown will continue to reside in Belleville.

SHEA—CHRISTIAN

A marriage of interest to Belleville people was solemnized on Monday morning in St. Bernard's Church, Pitchburgh, U.S.A., when Miss Patricia Christian, of that place became the bride of Dr. John Shea of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Shea, stirling. The bride and groom have arrived in Sterling and will spend three weeks at their summer cottage, Oak Lake. Dr. Shea is well known in the city having been associated with Dr. Robertson while studying medicine. He was an ardent sports enthusiast and was a member of the baseball team of Deloro the year that team won the intermediate championship of Ontario. Many will remember, Dr. Shea was pitcher for the Nationals.

LINDY LOITERS BIDING TIME

Flier May Lose Another Day Due to Storm Tie-up

Ottawa, Aug. 7 (CP). Patiently waiting a change in weather conditions, Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife were still at Aklavik early today. By radio and land lines word reached the Department of National Defence that bearing dung over the area between Aklavik and Point Barrow, next step in flight.

Lieut. Col. W. A. Bell, who collects weather information daily on behalf of flying operations through out Canada, predicted that the Lindberghs would lose another day on their journey to the Orient. For sometimes lifts quickly in the Arctic, he said, but there is little probability the flight can be resumed for several hours at least. At this season of the year there is daylight most of the time, 24 hours a day at Aklavik so the aviator and his wife may take-off as soon as they like.

Although disappointed at the delay, Col. Alex Lindenburgh are quite philosophic according to messages received here. They are guests of Dr. J. A. Urquhart, Canadian government medical officer, and Mrs. Urquhart.

NORTH HASTINGS RESIDENTS MEET

The third annual reunion of present and former residents of North Hastings was held at Crow Lake on Tuesday, August 4th, 1931. At that popular holiday spot friend shook hands with friend and old ties were renewed. Ten families were represented, as follows, according to: Hasard, Hinchcliffe, Pound, Sprague, Paul, Dowdney, Marshall, Wilson, Lidster, Moore and Lough.

After having partaken of an excellent dinner, the programme of sports was run off and games of all took part. During the latter part of the afternoon a number of young people enjoyed swimming in the lake.

The following officers were elected:

President—Mr. Jas. Hinchcliffe, Wallbridge.

Secretary—Miss Selina Pound, Toronto.

PRINTERS LOSE TO CANNIFTON

The Cannifton softball team by a score of 15 to 8, Thursday evening at Cannifton, defeated the printers team in a scheduled game of the Belleville and District Softball League. The game was staged at the school grounds in the village, and a large interested crowd was in attendance.

By scoring 4 runs in the first two innings the victors obtained a decided lead which the typos could not overcome, although they staged a rally in the fifth and sixth innings which netted them seven runs. Webb and Williams held the batting for Cannifton whilst Eggleton and S. Hardwick were on the mound for the printers. Despite the fact that the winning team scored 15 runs in the lead, there was considerable interest displayed.

J. Norris handled the game behind the plate with A. White on bases. Both of the latter's colleagues were by no means popular with the players. The printers feel confident they will reverse the score when they meet Cannifton again.

Cannifton stage a game in the above league at Queen Mary School grounds at 7 o'clock.

POLICE BLOTTER

Nick Diodeta, arrested one week ago on a charge of driving a motor car while intoxicated, received the benefit of the doubt from Magistrate Mikal Friday in police court, and was dismissed. He was stopped by Constable Taylor on Station St. who alleged in his evidence the man was driving his car in a zigzag manner along that street while Constable Cow, who later joined the traffic officer, stated the man was intoxicated but the magistrate found there was a difference in their evidence on the material facts and gave Diodeta the benefit of the doubt. Evidence was adduced by Diodeta, his wife and another woman, who were riding in the car, that the driver was not intoxicated in any degree. Sergeant Harman stated in his evidence, that in his opinion the man was drunk when brought to the police station.

PROBE BEGINS INTO FATALITY

It is Believed Joseph Thompson Stepped in Line of Fire

An inquest to enquire into the death of Joseph Thompson, Hamilton, who was shot by James Cowan, aged 16, of seventy years, at Crow Lake, Ont., north of Kingston, was opened today. At first it was decided not to hold an inquest but certain statements secured by the Crown Attorney of Frontenac County to institute proceedings.

Mr. Thompson was camping at the home of Mrs. William Simpson of Crow Lake and on July 31st, in company with Gossage went into the woods to shoot woodchucks with a 22 calibre rifle borrowed from Ambrose Wiley. A woodchuck was spotted and as Gossage was about to fire at the animal, Thompson, it is alleged, stepped in the range of the rifle and was hit the right side. He was attended by Dr. T. H. Hicks of that district but expired in less than two hours from the bullet wound. Provincial Constable Wood of Kingston, secured statements from the young boy Gossage and also from Mrs. Simpson at whose place Thompson was camping.

WATER-LOGGED TORSO FOUND

Wantagh, N.Y., Aug. 7. — The finding of a water-logged torso on the Jones Beach Long Island, started State Troopers and Nassau County detectives on an intense investigation today, to determine if the body might be that of Dorothy Force Craker, missing Supreme Court Justice.

The body, minus its head, arms and one leg, was found last night, hours after Justice Craker's wife had departed for the day. It had been washed ashore. Troopers were wire marks about the chest.

MEDICINE MAN DEAD

Mr. T. M. Kelly who was in Belleville in connection with the Shamrock Medicine Show at Coleman Park about a month ago, died and was buried at his home in Newburgh last week. Mr. Kelly was well known throughout the province, having been in the medicine business for the last forty years.

A WARNING

According to the Stirling "News Argus", taxicabs owned by a Stirling syndicate, which firm are using the village streets as a speedway and complaints have been received of reckless driving. The Argus says "A warning or a fine would perhaps impress the fact that the speed limit in Stirling twenty miles an hour and twenty ten miles at intersections." The taxicab owner who is concerned would be wise to check up on his drivers-in order to avoid a fine.

GRASS FIRE THREAT.

The local fire department was called to the lower end of Foster Ave., Thursday afternoon where a grass fire had gained considerable headway. The fire had spread into the marsh along the bay shore but the department soon had the blaze under control and little or no damage was reported.

EUCHRE AND DANCE HELD

A progressive euchre and dance was held at the home of Mrs. Simmons, 81 Station street on Thursday night over 100 being in attendance. Mr. L. St. Jarvis and Miss Jessie Mott were the winners in the euchre drive. After a dainty luncheon had been served the company enjoyed dancing, both square and round, until the early hours of Friday morning, music being supplied by violin, guitar and mouth organ. They were three "callers" present and were kept going the entire night.

WON GOLF TROPHIES

Ladies at the Belleville Golf Club played off during the months of June and July for the two trophies donated by Jock Mitchel, "Pro" at the club. Keen interest was manifested in the series and the races were exceedingly close. The cups were given for the two best scores minus handicaps. Mrs. Train won the cup in the first flight, with scores of 95-97 and 99 total 291. Her handicap was 22 which gave her a low net of 195. Hilton Stephenson was second and her score was 95-96-97—gross of 288—handicap 26—low net 262. In the second flight Mary Hurley was first and her score was 103-100-105, less gross, handicap 36, low net 199. Miss Frulick 106-107-111—329, handicap 36—low net 216.

CAN'T START FIRE IN AN ASH HEAP

Brockville, Aug. 7.—With the largest attendance in its history, the annual executive assembly of the 26th District of Rotary International of which D. E. Lewis, of Brockville is governor, is concluding its sessions here today. Of the 63 clubs in the International District, 56 are represented by delegates coming from Quebec to Rochester and from Ottawa to Binghampton. Speaking on "the risks of fire" at the noon luncheon dinner Thursday night, Rev. G. A. Clarke, Brooklyn, N.Y., declared that Europe was ripe for war some weeks ago but lacked the means. "It is hard to start a fire in an ash heap," was his explanation of the situation that existed. About 200 Rotarians are in attendance at the sessions.

MEETS MAN WHO LED REVOLUTION

Moscow, Aug. 7 (AP).—Countess Karol and Bela Kuhn, the man who overthrew her husband in the Hungarian revolution 12 years ago, met here recently for the first time since the stormy post—war period in her long country.

The crossing of their paths was not as dramatic as it might have been in other years. The Countess Bela, a brief visit, and Bela Kuhn, who holds a minor post in the Communist International, met quite by accident at an informal gathering at the home of a mutual acquaintance.

They greeted each other politely with a perfunctory hand-shake, chatted a few minutes and then were swallowed up in separate groups at the gathering. Count Karolyi now lives here with his wife, had left for the Balkans before the meeting took place.

Outlay of $50,000 by Ontario Hydro Made for Services not for Option

Commissioners Issue Statement on O'Brien Property Purchase

DEAL REVIEWED

Chairman Explains Use of Word "Option" is Regrettable

Toronto, Aug. 7—John Aird, Jr. was paid $50,000 for services in negotiating the purchase of the O'Brien properties on the Madawaska and Mississippi Rivers, and not for options held on these power sites, according to a statement issued last night by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission through its chairman, Hon. John Robert Gardiner.

Information and Data

These sites included the state ment explaining, submission to the Commission, of information and data obtained by Mr. Aird over a period of years, and consisting of further information respecting the properties, arranging details and adjustments, and the acquiring of outstanding minority interests.

A further condition to obtain ing the services of Mr. Aird, according to the statement, was that he had approached other possible buyers, and the Commission did not want the properties to pass into the possession of others, nor to be advanced in price through competition being stimulated. The Commission accordingly "sought to have the matter consummated as soon as practicable by definite co-operative effort through the agency of Mr. Aird, in which way we believe a substantial sum was saved, the actual expenditure being Not an Option

Mr. Gardiner personally desired to correct a misunderstanding that had arisen, namely, that the use of the word "option" in an interview on the subject on July 22, "which I now admitted," says the statement, "that the use of the word 'option' is regrettable."

Certain press references to the purchase of the O'Brien properties says the statement, obtain an understanding of the facts of the Ha-Hydro Electric Power Commission concerned.

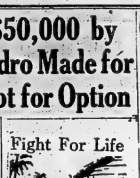
FIRED STUDENT FIRES SCHOOL

Edmonton, Alta., Aug. 7.—(By The Canadian Press)—Fourteen months after the Calgary Normal College, at Lacombe, was set afire in early spring darkness, Fred Hazlett ex-student of the institution admitted in court he had started the blaze in which the buildings were seriously burned. With a confession signed in his cell, he was sent to penitentiary at Prince Albert, Sask.

Victor Thompson, aged 17 at the time of the fire, expelled from the school last year, sought to destroy the institution, which closed its intended medical career—and succeeded—according to Hazlett, who Thompson, in court, denied he had set the fire for spite, saying he did it "simply for devilment."

"I could give you life for this offence," Judge Primrose told him, at St. McLeod. In view of the culprit's youth and previous good behavior he was sentenced to only five years. Elden Williams, another student, at the college, charged with preparing oil-soaked shavings which Thompson used to start the fire, received four years. Hazlett said he "acted on the spur of the moment." Thompson was arrested at his home at Cochrane, after he had been traced to Edmonton, thence to Vancouver and Portland and back home to Lacombe.

Britons to Compete In Tennis Tourney



New York, N.Y., Aug. 7.—Two young Britons have arrived in this country to bid for the National Tennis singles championship now held by John Hope Doeg of Newark, N.J.

They are Frederick J. Perry and George Patrick Hughes, members of this year's British Davis Cup team which eliminated the United States in the inter-zone finals and are due to lose to France in the challenge round by the narrow margin of three matches to two.

FAVOR SEPARATION

Cobourg, Aug. 7.—Overwhelming that a public meeting held Thursday night to discuss separation was very poorly attended, Cobourg ratepayers at the polls today carried a by-law to separate the town from the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham by a majority of 400. Only a small vote was polled; 499 voted for the by-law, and 99 ratepayers voted against separation. Last night's meeting was addressed by advocates of both sides of the question, and did not close until shortly before midnight.

NEW HOT WAVE PUTS MERCURY AS HIGH AS 97

But Cooler Weather is Promised Today by Weatherman

SUDDEN WAVE

Highest Reading at 9 O'clock This Morning is 82 Above

After a few weeks of comparatively cool weather, the thermometer again reached heights sometimes suffered from the extreme heat of the past few days. On Thursday afternoon the mercury rose to 94 degrees and there was little relief in the evening for the lowest temperature recorded was 68 degrees. On Friday the hot temperature continued high although there was not as much humidity as on Thursday and there is prospect of cooler weather. The temperature was 73 degrees for much was 82 degrees the lowest registered.

Hoodlums Attack Couple in Park

Robbed of Her Purse, Watch and Ring by Trio.

Toronto, Aug. 7.—Brutally assaulted in Riverdale Park at an early hour last night, Stanley Bird and her gentleman companion were robbed of their purses by three hoodlums in the clutches of the thugs. The girl, Helen Taylor, aged 23, of 61 Melcafe street, required medical attention before she was able to proceed to her home and her friend was suffered from the shock of the trio.

The couple were sitting on the grass at the rear of 223 River street when the three thugs appeared. One grasped the girl's purse, Stanley Baird, aged 23, of 210 Carlton St., by the throat and another held his hand over the mouth of the young woman. Then the third proceeded to rob her of her purse and watch. and then stripped the gold ring set with five diamonds from her finger.

Screaming for help, the girl ran and when about to make their get away, the hoodlums stopped to strike the girl over the head with some blunt instrument and then left when she screamed for aid. Hearing the screams, householders of 222 River street notified the police.

VETERAN FILM ACTOR KILLED

Santa Maria, Cal., Aug. 7.—Ulrich Haupt, veteran character actor of the silent drama, was accidentally killed while returning from a hunting trip, it was learned last night.

Haupt, whose characterization of the bearded old man was known to film wide popularity, had been on a deer hunting trip with his son, his chauffeur, Carl Anderson, and another man on Pyramid Mountain. Anderson, according to Frank Tunney, rancher, who brought word of the accident was removing shells from an automatic rifle when it suddenly exploded, sending two bullets into Haupt's body. He died within an hour.

GRASSHOPPER MENACE

Kingston, Aug. 7. — Frontenac County has a grasshopper menace. W. W. Baptie, provincial representative for this county states. The conditions were not as serious as reported in many other sections. The grasshoppers attack the head of the grain and destroy it.

London, Ont., Aug. 7.—Three months, for whom he had provided work, returned the kindness of George Hamilton, 61, with early Thursday morning by robbing his house. The trio disappeared at dawn and Hamilton, after locating his property preserved fruit, a small amount in change and some bread and cheese, Garlick.

CONSERVATIVES ARE VICTORS IN P. E. ISLAND

Stewart Will Have Majority of Eight in New Legislature

IVE MINISTERS BEAT

Premier Lea Elected By Narrow Margin of 14 Votes

Charlottetown, P.E.I., Aug. 7.—Conservative gains of thirteen seats in the general election in Prince Edward Island Thursday sent Hon. J. D. Stewart back to the Premiership of the Province with a majority of eight, after his four years as Opposition Leader in the general assembly. The standing of the parties will be: Conservatives, 19; Liberals 11. Returns from one poll are still missing, but they cannot possibly affect the issue.

The flat district in which there existed doubt as to the result of yesterday's polling was the Queens District of Prince County, in which Harry Lea, Premier and Conservative-elected as Assemblyman in the Second District of Prince, with a majority of 14 over Malcolm Gillis, Liberal.

In the last House the standing was: Liberals, 23; Conservatives, 6; two vacant seats.

Heavy Vote

Yesterday's summer weather prevailing through the day resulted in the recording of a larger vote than usual. The Premier of the Province and in the Fourth District of Prince by 1,200 majority. In 1927 he won by five of his colleagues in the Government were defeated in the polls were: Hon. H. W. Lepage, Peter Sinclair, Hunter Wright, J. J. MacNeill and Horace Wright, all members without portfolio The only member of the Government remaining elected apart from the Premier, was Hon. J. A. Mellish, Minister of Public Works, who was returned by a majority of 200. Hon. Thane Campbell, former Attorney-General, was defeated in his election last year, was successful today.

Hon. J. D. Stewart returns to the Premiership of Prince Edward Island after a lapse of four and one years. His Government went down to defeat in the general election of June, 1927, when he had appealed to the country on the question of government control of the sale of liquor. Prohibition was not an issue in yesterday's election. The Liquor Act having announced that if returned to power he would repeal the prohibitory law.

Hon. J. D. Stewart returns to power with four of his former colleagues in the Government, Hon. Frank MacPhee, formerly Minister of Public Works, and Hon. A. A. Dewar, Minister of Education and Hon. Dr. J. F. MacMillan, formerly a Minister without Portfolio. He appealed to the electorate on alleged extravagance of the Lea Government in the matter of highway construction, the Liquor Commissioner ment in technical and agricultural education, along with his book of-fairs and the Provincial Administration of the Duncan report. Hon. W. M. Lea, brother of the Premier of the Liberal Administration of the Province, was also unsuccessful bid for a further lease of power.

DOG USES HEAD VALUED AT $275

Consorting with Low-brow Friends has Fatal Result

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 7 (By The Canadian Press)—According to testimony, John Black, grower and breeder of Ramon, owned a collie dog that had little short of human intelligence. The canine could herd and round up the cattle and bring them home without ever making a mistake. Black refused to sell the dog at one error, for recently, during a thunderstorm and rainstorm, it wandered to the farm of Peter Berkes, a mile and a half away, and consorted with a number of low-bow canines who were no doubt about the matter. Mr. Berkes emerged in anger and shot the intellectual dog.

Mr. Constable Vance in county police court yesterday, Mr. Black valued the dog at $275, outside of any sentimental considerations. He declared that it did things that would work around the farm in a year Berkes was ordered to pay $275 to the owner plus $25 costs, or serve the months in jail. An appeal will be entered.

Bonus Proposed Upon Rural Dairy Butter Forecast by Saave

STUDYING IDEA

Federal Government is Also Prepared to Consider Easier Rural Credits

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—The possibility of the Federal Government's granting a premium on each pound of butter of good quality produced in rural dairies was forecast by Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, General as a Conservative convention in Two Mountains.

Some controversy having arisen as to just which was said in exactly the last business issued:

"Having on more than one occasion," said Mr. Sauve, "discussed the matter with Hon. Mr. Weir, Minister of Agriculture, I am authorized to state that the Federal Government is willing to discuss the question of granting a premium for each pound of butter of good quality manufactured in the rural dairies of the country. Consideration would also given to the various needs of the dairy industry in the Province and to the conditions of manufacture.

Tyberculosis Tests

"As regards the tuberculosis testing of bovine, I am authorized to state that the Federal Government is willing to grant examination assistance required and to pay, after examination, the indemnity in accordance with conditions governing herds in restricted areas.

"The president of the Executive Council has also, with approval of the mayor, states that there would be no objection to extend, for the present year, the time within the toleration granted until now, in order to permit the sale of instruments, Federal and Provincial, to the end that the legislation for the protection of the interested farmers rid consumers may be under way of office, I cannot say more for the present."

"The same consideration obtains in relation to the question of rural credits. One must await practical solutions and the various representations and the various representations made by those interested in order to determine the basis upon which modifications might be made in the present law.

"I may say that all these questions are under examination and the Federal Government is also looking into the pledge to protect the farmer. It has begun, but not finished, of it give you my word."

McFARLAND TO REMAIN

Winnipeg, Aug. 7.—The Manitoba Free Press says John McFarland will continue as head of the Canadian Co-Operative Wheat Producers' Limited, notwithstanding reports for the Prairie wheat pools, and that Premier J. B. Thornton of Alberta may join the pool management as a government representative.

Swift Plant at Belleville Ready to Open in Few Days

Creamery and Poultry Divisions Main Features

EGG STORAGE

The new produce plant of the Swift Canadian Company in this city is now nearing completion. If all goes well it will be ready for business by the middle of August.

The Paterson Construction Co. finished their part of the contract and turned the building over to the Swift Co. some little time ago. The character of the work required a special credit upon the contracting company and upon all concerned. The appearance of the building is attractive and substantial and fitting when a decided improvement to that section of the city.

Creamery Division

The plant is designed to take care of several lines of produce. At the north side a creamery is being installed and equipped so that is most efficient in design and equipment. Here the famous "Brookfield" butter will be made and be turned out in quantity.

The main portion of the plant, however, is the collection, finishing and shipping of poultry, particularly chickens. The chickens will be delivered alive to the plant by the farmers, A system of forced feeding will then be undertaken and in from ten days to two weeks the chickens will be ready for killing. After they have been killed and dressed they will be placed in the chilling room where they will speedily be reduced to a temperature of 36 degrees. Geese, turkeys and ducks will also be purchased in much the same manner as chickens.

Egg Storage

The plant will also be equipped for the handling and storage of eggs which will be supplied to customers as required. It is too early as yet to determine the extent of this latter branch of the business but the management confidently anticipates that there will be extensive development along the line of egg production and that the farmers of the district will find here another valuable outlet for their goods.

Swift and Company are by far the greatest packers of meats and similar products in the world. They have plants in every country in the Province of Ontario. They find located at West Toronto where all kinds of live stock are handled in large numbers.

Four years ago they erected this plant at Belleville for the purpose that are similar to those being erected in Toronto. The Belleville location was chosen only after an exhaustive survey of the whole field of eastern Ontario and Quebec. It is indeed a fine compliment to our city that the directors of its agricultural environment to be a suitable location for a field of competitors.

Mr. Sinclair, Manager

The general manager of the Belleville plant will be Mr. D. D. Sinclair. He arrived in the city on Wednesday of this week and will take up permanent residence there as soon as he procures a suitable abode. Mr. Sinclair attended and took charge of the Swift plant at that city during the past few years ago this coming fall. He has been with the company and will have the value of all his experience in the handling of eggs in his new work here.

Mr. R. A. Wilson will be plant superintendent. He comes from the head office at West Toronto, and thoroughly understands all branches of the business. Assisting Mr. Wilson are both natives of Ontario and will be thoroughly experienced as new citizens of Belleville.

Mr. L. Langley, Chief Engineer, who has been here about two months in charge of the heavy responsibilities connected with the erection of the building and the placing of the equipment will be returning to the head office in Chicago in the course of a fortnight. Since his arrival here he has made many friends who will be sorry that his duties do not permit a longer sojourn in the city.

SLASHING DOCTOR WHISTLES GAILY DURING WORK

W. A. Vanzant, Tree Surgeon, Tells of His Tree Patients

Saint John, N.B., Aug. 7.—"Trees are friends for life, and for generations after," can be seen a poor man tending a shrub and getting more pleasure out of it than if he owned a huge estate. And I've seen rich men more concerned over a motherless shoddy piece of hedge than over a broken arm," said W. A. Vanzant, who has resided in this city fourteen months, and to whom trees and the tending of trees mean a life work.

Vanzant is a tree specialist from circumstance. He came from Holland a number of years ago with his parents, and completed his school course at Allentown, Pa. In an effort to realize a life's ambition to become a doctor, he entered college at Mullenburg College, near Fall River. In his freshman year, however, he found that very shortly after he lost his mother. He was forced to leave college and work, eventually going with the firm of J. Dwyer, tree specialists and surgeons of Kent, Ohio.

This tree-surgeon work has bridged the gap of misfortune to a great extent. Vanzant has seen the world except for a younger brother Howard, a scientific entomologist, stated: "These trees are the best friends I have. I am confident that every boy should plant them."

Vanzant operates scientifically, without clambering for limbs off limbs, grows new ones, makes deep incisions, heals cuts and wounds, and whistles merrily through even the most difficult work.

"Pruning is one thing that few laymen understand," he explained. "Unlike human beings, the skin or bark of a tree does not grow over the end of a stump unless it is cut close to the trunk. We use a saw and axe only as a last resort, special preparation, a bi-product of asphalt."

Mr. Vanzant explained his work on the filling of cavities, decayed trees being hollow, being left in the trunk.

"It is one of the most serious diseases that trees have. Should the cavity not be filled, water will run into the trunk, and form a water pocket, in which the decay has its rotting which is sure to follow.

"One must then remove all decayed wood. This is done with a chisel or concrete, being sure to treat the raw edge with a tarry, creosote substance decay and to sanize the healing. No common shellac is used for this.

"Only an experienced tree surgeon can successfully perform the operation of this kind. Should the bark edges of the cambrian layer of the sap conductor which becomes the annual ring be injured, shattered struck with a hammer in the concrete filling process, then a conductor sacks and water will decay disease and prevents the growth of bark over this wound.

Fertilization is another phase of tree surgery. Trees in cities, towns and more care can easily be accorded. Boring holes and the use of the annual rings of twigs. If only the head and limbs are retarded, generally for want of better food.

Trees, he says, that appear otherwise healthy-looking tree is a sure sign of poor food," the surgeon explained. "Sometimes a tree with black earth is practically the only nourishment it has. Cases of rickets have become exposed through the tearing of the bark from the trees.

Among other phases of his work, Mr. Vanzant spoke of guarding unhealthy trees; girdling roots which, if allowed to twine about the trunk base, will eventually cause death; trimming of full grown trees, a thing seldom seen in this part of the country, but proven to be successful time by Upper Canada, and treatment of sun-scald, caused by the thinning out of upper limbs, thus allowing the hot sunmer sun to get at tree parts always used to complete shade and cool.

The biggest job he ever tackled with others was in Akron, Ohio, when an ash, 30 inches in diameter and weighing more than 80 tons, was moved by special truck and trailer through the streets which had been stripped of trolley and telephone wires. Today that tree, on the Firestone estate, is growing well.

YOUTH'S LEG IS CRUSHED

Montreal, Que., Aug. 7 (By The Canadian Press)—A fireplace for Sir Edward Beatty, president of Canadian Pacific Railway, at his estate, Dunstan Q. Rees, 21, was injured in an accident yesterday. Thursday and was taken to the Montreal General Hospital suffering from severe cuts and bruises about the head and body and his left leg in a critical condition but was kept under observation. Rees was pinned beneath his motor car and suffered a fractured skull. Allain's left leg was amputated several hours after the accident.

Rees, an employee of the local branch of Barclay's Bank drove his automobile into the rear of a stationary street car, police were informed. It was in charge of Const. Allain was about to board the street car and was crushed between

Robber Escapes from Collins Bay "Pref." Pen

Kingston, Aug. 7.—Harley Armored, and the getaway has created a sensation.

Armand was sentenced at Welland a short time ago to serve five years for robbery. He is described as being five feet five inches in height, of dark complexion and weighing about 135 pounds.

At 11 o'clock last night Inspector Jackson took the count of all in all directions on the man hunt. The inspector will look in inquiry into the escape.

The group of Toronto stock brokers recently convicted of malpractices are among the Collins Bay inmates.

WILKINS MAY DROP HIS POLAR VOYAGE

Will Confine Submarine Trips to Cruises From Spitzbergen

Oslo, Norway, Aug. 7.—The proposed undersea expedition of the submarine Nautilus to the North Pole is reported to have been abandoned by Sir Hubert Wilkins.

The explorer, whose plans for the polar trip met the chilly criticism as hazardous, was said in Spitzbergen dispatches to have decided to limit his Arctic explorations for the present to boat, to cruises out from Spitzbergen. It was said that Sir Hubert might return to his efforts to reach the pole in the submarine next year.

The Nautilus, which has been pursued by a series of misfortunes since it left the United States for England and Norway, sailed to Tromsoe Wednesday for a brief stop before continuing to the Spitzbergen base on the outskirts of the Arctic inhabited regions.

The reports that Wilkins had abandoned the polar trip were not definitely confirmed, and it was believed that the first decision would depend upon tests at Spitzbergen.

BIRD FLIGHTS

These are the days when the school-boy is learning much about nature. He is found in the woods studying closely the heart of the outdoors and the life of the birds.

But the boy is not the only one who studies birds. Men are ready to give many years of their adult lives to the study of the bird life, and particularly in regard to migrations. Dr. Rowan of Alberta University, has found one use for crows and he wants a thousand of them—to study flights and migrations.

Nature here tells that crows, storks, swifts, robins, bluebirds yellow-hammers, song-sparrows, and many other birds come back to the same bush or building year after year if they can...make the voyage and if conditions continue to be congenial. Young are able to imitate their parents even in this. How do the young know? That is one of the puzzles of birdlife. German storks go down into the swamps of the Lower Sudan. It is said that two thirds of the bird population of Europe makes for the Arctic during the summer season, whither they are led by the offerings of seeds, berries, insects and foodstuffs. Dr. Gatke, makes some remarkable references to birds. He says that birds are able to wing their way at heights of twenty-five thousand feet or more, and that the "sluggish hooded crow" attained an hourly speed of 108 geographical miles, whilst a very much smaller bird, the northern blue throat, had been found to travel at the rate of 180 miles per hour. How do these feathered things find their way? Some Scientists seek an explanation of this mystery. The ready answer is instinct. This is generally admitted. But the point to be settled is whether instinct is hereditary and transmitted by parent birds to their offspring. A good deal depends on this professor Rowan hopes to throw more light. The outcome of his experiment with crows will be of great interest to all students of bird-life and their habits.

MORE AND MORE AIR

More tents are raising on city lawns. This is but a sign of the rage for the outdoors which is a mark of this generation, which gets as far as possible from oven-like homes on hot nights.

Summer camps are getting more and more popular. There seems to be no end of summering and the enjoyments of living close to nature.

Sun-tanned have been constructed in numbers of homes for the winter-enjoyment of the sun.

Women, too, "dare" today to wear knickers, and walk stockinglegs upon the streets, and a couple of young men walked up Front street this week wearing only tan arms, legs, shoulders, faces and necks besides their shorts and jerseys.

What will this population seeking the outdoors do in the winter? Will this, in time, mean remodelling of houses to let a little of the great outdoors in? It probably will.

DEFENDING "RIGHT OF WAY"

A bulletin of the Ontario Safety League, through the courtesy of the Employees Mutual Indemnity Corporation, has been issued pointing to two cars in a crash at an intersection, adding that it is a mistake to take the 'right of way too seriously".

Men have been killed who contested their possession of the right of way. They are dead, though those who killed them were at fault, under the law.

The motorist has to use his judgment and prepare to fathom the mind of the driver he is near.

OF CUTTERS-IN

It would appear that deliberate "cutting in" without looking to see whether the way is clear is likely to result in the position that endangers others on the roadways, ought to be treated with the utmost severity. Terms of imprisonment ought to be imposed, especially where actual damage and injury has been sustained.

In many cases fines are unfair, for the rich can pay and escape prison, while the poorer man may not be able to pay, or if he is able, the fine is so heavy he limps along under a handicap thereafter.

WEAKENING DISEASE

A statement, that infantile paralysis is giving way to treatment and that the ogre is losing its terrors as was welcome news, for there are still quite a number of cases of the disease occasionally cropping up. Early and prompt immodiate summoning of a doctor are the means of forestalling the paralysis which is the really deplorable thing about the disease.

Science is gradually invading the domain of the diseases which have been holding the stronghold and creating a human terror.

Governor Roosevelt was a victim of infantile paralysis. Had he died when young, the world would have lost one of the leading men of the time.

As a rosebud dreams of sunlight,
As a lark desires the dawn,
So do my fond thoughts linger
With you, who now are gone.

Each trick of look or laughter
That made the hours gay
Comes back like drifting perfume
The while you are away.

In days when I went clasping
Your hand within my own
The thought of separation was not more near
Than now, that you have flown.

But with the morn returning
The lark will sing anew,
And I still thrill to music
...That day that brings me you!

THE AUGUST METEORS

Whether or not we can ever go to other planets, or even send messages to them, we are constantly receiving messages from elsewhere in the universe.

They have been coming for ages, and in August there is an unusually good chance to see them.

These messages are the shooting stars, or meteors, that occasionally land on the surface as meteorites.

In any case they might they can be seen, at the rate of three or four an hour, but at certain times of year they come in "showers." The most dependable of these occurs in August. On the nights of August 11 and 12 they appear in greatest profusion. This year the moon is new at that time, therefore the best nights will be dark from dusk to dawn.

Dr. James Bayley of the Franklin Institute, Philadelphia, writes as follows in Science Service's "August Star Story" (Washington):

The reason for any such shower is simply that the meteors are traveling around the sun in a more or less continuous swarm which crosses the path of the earth in the place that it occupies in August. Then, the earth intercepts a large number of the meteors, and as they fall they are heated to incandescence by the friction of the atmosphere.

Most of them are no larger than a grain of sand, or a pinhead for the largest. They are completely burned, and never reach the ground. Most meteors are seen after midnight, because at that time the earth meets them head-on. In the evening only those moving fast enough to catch up with the earth are visible.

"If you watch the sky after midnight on the eleventh or the twelfth, you will see them at the rate of one or two a minute. Of course, the weather has to be clear, and the sky should also be dark, if you want to see the greatest numbers. With the moon safely out of the way, one source of trouble is eliminated, but the glare of city light may be just as troublesome.

"They all seem to radiate from one part of the sky—in the constellation of Perseus. For that reason these August shooting stars are called the Perseid meteors. Actually, they are moving in a practically parallel direction, and their paths only seem to converge in the distance, like the parallel tracks of a railroad.

"At one time reputable scientists refused to believe that a stone or a piece of iron could fall from the heavens to the earth, and though astronomers now agree as to what meteorites are, there is a difference of opinion as to where they come from. Dr. Olivier, who is an acknowledged authority, holds to the theory that they were born of the sun at the same time as the rest of the solar system. Since some of the meteors appear to enter the earth's atmosphere with so high a speed that they must have come from outside the solar system, Dr. Olivier takes this as evidence that the process of planet building has gone on elsewhere in the universe, and that the meteors are visitors from distant spaces.

U.S. NAVY "SECOND TO NONE"

Mr. Secretary Adams of the United States Navy calls for an American fleet "second to none." There is nothing new in the slogan, but today, throughout the British Empire, few will so much as raise an eyebrow on hearing the words. Many Britons will even applaud such American determination to build up to treaty limitations, for Britain herself has lately had to warn the world that if competition in armaments go on increasing she, too, will have to add up to the treaty limits; or even revise those limits. But Britain and the United States, under the London Naval pact which rounds out the Washington treaty, have definitely abandoned naval competition. Each knows that if she does not, her own statutory limit will lower levels, it is not the fault of the other.—Montreal Star.

DISTEMPER IN DOGS NEARLY UNDER CONTROL

Research work in England on dog distemper results in the production of preventives, namely, a vaccine and a "protective serum" against virus. The efficacy of these preventives was tested by inoculation of 500 dogs, including hounds belonging to well-known packs. Not one per cent of these inoculated dogs has fallen victim to distemper, although the mortality among dogs not inoculated contracting the disease is 50 per cent or even higher. The cost of these inquiries, which started eight years ago, has been about $50,000. The Duke of Portland, president of the Field Distemper Council, is now asking for assistance, states that it is now desired to perfect and standardize these preventives so that they may all be produced unfailingly on a large scale. The investigators believe that one or two years more will be required to complete their task. When that point is reached the world will be practically in full possession of preventives against, distemper that will be as much in the control of the disease will be there's a question of time.—Montreal Star.

MOTOR LINES

The town of Radburn, New Jersey, was built a few years ago deliberately for the needs of the requirements of the motor age. In an ordinary city motor traffic is a continuous system, and wherever there streets go through traffic must go. But in Radburn through traffic is confined to the through avenues. From these no houses front, off motor lanes, each of which connects to a dead end. Therefore all residences can be reached only by motor lanes, and no car is tempted to enter a motor lane unless the driver has business there. Quiet homes and fast motor travel are thus combined—and by ignoring the attractiveness of motor transportation, but by boldly facing them and providing for them.

Details of the Radburn experiment are given in an article recently contributed to Harpers by Messrs. Benton MacKaye and Clarence Stein, both members of the executive committee of the Regional Planning Association of America. Speaking of the general problem, the authors say: "The insistent highways from residential neighborhoods and the connection of these two elements by side lanes are a necessary complement in urban planning to our modern system of transportation. The only by such a bold and radical departure in the planning of new cities or the extension of old ones that the congestion brought by motor transportation can be permanently relieved. If every city were side-laned within its limits, and if its freight connected with the main trunk routes by side lanes, the congestion and danger that the motor transportation so inefficient would be lowered.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

"OIL IN CENTRAL CANADA?

Canada's rocks, so long deemed worthless, are constantly furnishing surprises by their revelation of new wealth. The discovery of natural gas in the Three Rivers region, and the preparations of several large companies for extensive drilling there and in the Richelieu Valley for oil, are a fresh reminder that nature has hidden her secrets with much success in the Dominion.

It is ironical that the promise of oil in Central Quebec should come at a period of overproduction, especially in the Southwestern States, with price wars existing between large companies. This may be partly because of reduced consumption owing to depression, but at least Oklahoma fields production ordered stopped at thousands of oil wells.

Canada has long been an importer of nearly all of its oil. It is true Western Ontario, especially Lambton County, has had producing wells for three generations. The supply there is declining, and the Turner Valley, in Alberta, the other principal source, has not quite lived up to expectations. Therefore the promise of a new field in Quebec, even though the prospects yet are vague, is of importance. It recalls the discovery of lignite in Northern Ontario, as yet not proved of great commercial importance. Coal and oil are among the greatest of modern natural resources, and if Central Canada should be found stored with them, there would be little lacking in first-class raw materials.—Toronto Globe.

WELL DESERVED AWARD

Within the British Empire, the Victoria Cross is the highest award for valour in war. The Albert Medal stands in the same category for times of peace, and it has been awarded in a case of conspicuous gallantry at sea. Among the most appalling circumstances that might well have happened in the annals of the strongest man, Petty Officer Willis of the Royal Navy was the recipient, and surely no man ever had a better title to this rarely bestowed honour.—Montreal Star.

ALBERTA CLAY USED TO CURE AILMENTS

Edmonton, Alta., Aug. 7 (By The Canadian Press)—Scent-colloidally clay deposits, unique among mineral forms, have been discovered in hidden recesses of the Rocky Mountains near Jasper National Park, New York and London chemists declared samples of this medicinal deposit contained unusual characteristics. Apparently no other similar clay exists in the world.

A prominent Canadian doctor made the discovery accidentally. Camped in the Rockies with some friends, the doctor found himself without his usual supply of soothing cream. He then stricken with lumbago. Applying a plaster of the clay, he applied it to the affected back with effective results. The doctor staked the property and analysis have revealed the clay has certain uncanny curative properties and a commercial company is being formed, backed by the magical, if unsaid.

"Edmonton is the centre of this new industry, the product of which is carried from the Rocky mountains' deposits to laboratories here.

CHILD LOSES FOOT BUT SAVES KITTEN

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 7 (By The Canadian Press)—Four-year-old Claus Heidle has only one foot today because of his love for a pearl-grey kitten, treated on the grass with his kitten, watching his big brother Fred Heidle mow. Claus was galvanized into action when his little pet ran in front of the mowing machine knives.

The little fellow ran after the kitten but he was too late to save it from the blades. The boy's right foot was amputated by the cutting blades. Father and mother of the injured youngster rushed him to Orena...Man., four miles south, but the doctor was not at home.

The mercy dash was continued for seven miles to Altona, but still no doctor was available and the father with the injured boy raced in his arms sped onward by automobile to Morden and Claus was placed in hospital where he slowly recovered. ,

POLICE HOLD SUSPECTS

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 7 (CP)—Two men believed to have been implicated in the armed robbery of the Mountain Avenue and McGregor street branch of the Royal Bank of Canada here on Monday morning were taken into custody by police at Winnipeg Beach, 50 miles from here today.

Police wouldn't divulge the names of the pair involved, but it is believed a considerable amount of the money was recovered.

MAN HUNT NETS FOUR SUSPECTS

$2,000 Reward Offered For Capture of Murderer

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 7—Four suspects were held today as the man-hunt for the negro who killed Miss Augusta Williams, 24-year-old Birmingham society girl, and wounded her pal and companions after robbing them was extended throughout the State. Rewards totalling $2,500 have been offered for the capture of the slayer.

Meanwhile, the condition of Miss Jennie Wood, 27, shot in the spine by the negro, was reported grave by hospital attendants. Although she regained consciousness last night, physicians said she had slight chance to live.

The three girls were shot Tuesday night when they tried to escape from the negro bandit who held up their car, forced them to drive to a wooded section off the highway, robbed them, and then kept them captive four hours.

VARIETY, PLEASE

Change the family routine occasionally.

Parents can vary the every day programs and children should be afforded new experience and new scenes.

Many a marital wreck is due to the unvarying monotony of living.

Children become restless, parents dissatisfied and irritable if one day after day is the same.

When one tires of life men want to go on hunting and fishing trips. Husbands frequently tire and their wife wants to visit relatives or play visits in the world.

Parents often object when children want to go to summer camps and have their own way with the companions.

It is the desire for change and variety and, if possible, should be understood and gratified before it becomes an obsession.

Cases in point of one family stick too closely together—too little individual freedom till all are bored with the routine of life.

Sometimes it is one member of the family that tires of the round of monotony but whether it is one or all that have to be changed in routine, it is not wise in the long run.

GRAIN CROPS LOWER

Ottawa, Aug. 7—Excessively high temperatures during the early July further reduced crop prospects in the drought areas of the Prairie Provinces, but in the past week cooler weather and good rains have helped the feed situation, says a crop report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Taking Canada as a whole, the crop for the first week of the past two weeks has been unfavorable, being too rainy for haying in the Maritime and Eastern Canada and too dry for crop growth and filling in some sections of Ontario, the Prairie Provinces and British Columbia.

ANGLO-SAXON LITERATURE TIE

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 7 (CP)—In the great breadth and depth of Anglo-Saxon literature lies the strongest tie that binds the states binding force between the English-speaking peoples. This was the opinion of Judge Kind Dykeman, president of the British Chamber of Commerce, addressing the League of Western Writers in the course of a dinner tendered delegates by the city of Vancouver, on Wednesday night.

Judge Dykeman stressed the lack of appreciation of this fact manifested by the average United States citizen. He cited, in contrast, the tribute paid by the British to the great American writers, Longfellow and including George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. More than 100 delegates from as far north as Alaska to as far south as the California Mexican border attended the first day of the convention.

Four Silver Cups for the Shell Contest

STOP AT THE SIGN OF THE SHELL

ALREADY entries are pouring in for the Shell Fishing Contest, a competition for anglers which is a feature of the new Shell Service, providing information as to the most likely fishing places of Ontario.

Details of the Fishing Contest, as well as Entry Blanks, may be obtained from any Shell Station or Dealer. A silver cup is to be awarded the winner in each of four classes—Brook or Speckled Trout, Small-mouth Black Bass, Lake Trout and Muskellunge. Size and weight of fish are not the only considerations as the rules will show.

The Contest promises to be the most interesting fishing competition of the season. Anglers should have entry blanks and rules while on their trips.

They also will find the latest information on fishing in Ontario, as gathered by The Shell Road Scout, by calling into any Shell Station. No obligation.

Herd of Herefords Is Alberta's Pride

Camrose, Alta., Aug. 7.—(By The Canadian Press)—The world-famed livestock show in Edmonton next fall, this year will exhibit one of the finest herds of high-class prize two-year old steers ever raised in Canada. The farm of Hill brothers, of the Camrose district, produced the herd and J. Meddle, of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, will take the cattle across the Atlantic.

The exhibit, stockmen declare, should leave a very favorable impression in the Old Country regarding the type of cattle raised in the Dominion. The steers are over average in size and one freight car will hold only 18 head each. The cattle are of the Hereford breed.

MOTORISTS

YOU must do the thinking

The little ones playing in the street trust you, "the grown-ups," to protect them. Would you betray that trust?

Remember these little Canadians, the pride of some mother and father, are only as thoughtless—as innocently reckless—as you yourself once were, but in your childhood days traffic was slower.

A moment's thoughtlessness on your part may cost a life or a limb. Surely you won't take that chance.

BROTHERS MEET FIRST TIME IN OVER SIXTY LONG YEARS

Alexander Family Hold Reunion in City

Separated by two thousand miles of Atlantic Ocean, Samuel Alexander, of Baltimore, County Antrim, Ireland, a few days ago, saw his brother, Thomas Alexander, 84 Spencer Avenue, Belleville, for the first time in sixty years. Another brother, John Alexander, Church Street, greeted Samuel for the first time in forty-five years. The trio are enjoying a great reunion this week, reviewing old times in Old Erin.

It is Samuel Alexander's first voyage to Canada and he is mighty pleased with what he has seen of the Dominion. With a party of fourteen colleagues, he left Belfast on July 3rd, arriving in Toronto on the 13th where some of the travellers started in different directions. Samuel came on to Montreal last this month for the return journey. Mr. Alexander went on to Winnipeg by way of the Great Lakes and was impressed with the beauties of the Manitoba capital. Coming back to the East, he was lured to Niagara Falls, where he spent two days, going to Buffalo, New York City, Brooklyn, Jersey City and Boston. "New York is a great city," he observed. "And I guess I visited the chief points of interest." Coney Island big red monoplane was under lock and key at the Ministry of Communications hangar at Tachnaws Aerodrome, near here.

We are undecided yet as to when we will take off," Parigborn said, "but we may wait here until the arrival of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh. However, we may start next week."

Pangborn said he based his statement on the assumption that their difficulties with the Japanese Aviation Bureau resulting from their failure to obtain a permit to land in Japan soon would be straightened out.

MUCH MARRIED WOMAN IS HELD

Sydney, Australia, August 7 (CP) — A remarkable story was unfolded at the Kogarah Police Court recently when three men related how they all had married the same woman. One of them, it was stated, had even served a term in jail for non-payment of maintenance to her. The accused, a domestic, was committed by the magistrate for trial on three bigamy charges. After the hearing in police court the three men in the case chatted together outside of the court room, each one but his head around the door and called out: "Husband no 1" or No. 2 or 3, "you're wanted over here."

Miss Megan in Father's Place

Bangor, North Wales, Aug 7 — Megan Lloyd George, daughter of Great Britain's war-time Prime minister, substituted Thursday night for her father in presiding over the National Eisteddfod and made a record for being the first woman ever to occupy the president's chair.

She read messages from her father in London in which the famous political leader, now recovering from an operation for a kidney ailment, was reported so well that physicians' bulletins had been suspended and a complete resumption of his health indicated. The only part of his body that could be present at the Eisteddfod, Lloyd George wrote, was his heart, and that was wholly with his fellow countrymen.

His daughter's address made an appeal for the preservation of the Welsh language.

"We've lost our independence," she said, "but we can still preserve our nationality. If we lose our language, it will be the beginning of the end."

The lost independence of Wales was also borne of an ode that won this year's barbic chair for Gwenallt Jones.

WINKLER'S SKULL IS FRACTURED

St. Joseph, Mich., Aug. 7 — Trapped by an automobile accident in which he was seriously injured, Gus Winkler, alleged member of a gang charged with a dozen murders and many bank robberies in four midwestern states lies with a fractured skull at Mercy Hospital here.

The injured man admitted his identity to Sherriff Fred J. Cutler and State Police. Previously he had been registered as Fred King, a licensed air pilot of Chicago.

A man identified by police and dent, identified by cards in his pocketbook, as John B. Moran of St. Louis also is under guard in the hospital, and an effort was being made to link him with the same gang, which numbered Winkler and Fred Burke, notorious killers, among its members.

BUTTONS MADE OUT OF MILK

York, England, August 7 (By The Canadian Press) — The City of York has established a new industry it is making buttons from milk. As Ebor scum, York was famous when Roman Legions held the Province of Britain in tribute. The Emperor Hadrian visited it. Several died there. Now York has a factory which is described by the Department of Overseas Trade as "practically unique," for not only does it manufacture finished goods; it produces the raw material. The skimmed milk from which the raw material is made produces a powder which is mixed with dyes and by means of heat takes up sheet form. The sheets are impregnated with formaldehyde, which by hardening, renders them unresponsive to climatic conditions.

The present weekly output is 10,00 buttons.

Fashion Flashes

By Alice Alden

Gleadling moments occur quite often when it comes to the newest evening frocks. New and smart is the evening frock of changeable colored satin, characterized by a back decolletage formed of straps of shimmering paillette and made with a halter effect.

On the beach with you will be found many lovely evening gowns, especially if the beach is fashionable. New and smart are beach pyjamas of white wool sponge cloth, embroidered in green, the facings of the sleeves and trousers are of bright orange and green carved wood ornaments novel fastenings

You must hand it to the globe for remaining popular despite the summer season and attendant heat. For street wear there is a glove of white washable kid with a flaring cuff worked in appliqued circles and dots of black kid with white embroidery

You ought to walk right across the ball room floor as much as you can when you are wearing a pair of the new evening shoes. Lovely is the one in white crepe de Chine with antelope insets in gold, trimmed with two tones of green and light and dark orange. The heel and strap are of gold kid and the strap fastens with a brass button.

Bound to be felt in the sphere of Autumn millinery are smart hats of felt. An advanced model with a cloche brim, is of bright green felt. It has a fancy hornycombed crown and is trimmed with ribbons in white, navy and brown grosgrain.

A clever partnership is that of white with green and it is most popular as an evening combination. For instance a lovely frock of white organdie has tiers of green taffeta leaves forming the sides of the skirt and ends with a little wrap of green taffeta that goes with the girdle of the frock.

CUTS TWO DAYS OFF TIME

London, Aug. 7.—A young Scottish airman, James A. Mollison, landed at Croydon last Thursday, after having cut more than two days from the Australia-to-England record. His time from Wyndham, Australia, to Pevensey Bay, Sussex, was officially given as eight days, 21 hours and 25 minutes.

This compares with the previous record, made by C. W. A. Scott, of 10 days and 22 hours.

NATIVE SONS SUSPENDED BY AUTHORITIES

Trouble Brewing in Amateur Lacrosse Circles

CHARGES MADE

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 7 (CP)— Ontario lacrosse circles are alive with excitement today. The cause of the furore is suspension of Toronto Native Sons, one of the favored teams in the Ontario Amateur Lacrosse Association's senior league race. Suspension of the club occurred last night at a meeting of the O.A.L.A., executive following formal presentation of certain charges by a rooming house keeper at Highland Creek. The latter alleged that two officials of the suspended club arranged with her for accommodation for six players and two officials of Native Sons for a period of nine weeks, the club to stand responsible for all obligations incurred.

The league executive, suspending the club did so with the possibility in mind that the residence at Highland Creek, a hamlet some 8 miles east of Toronto, was established merely for the purpose of circumventing the residence rule, which requires players of Toronto clubs to establish residence in this city to enable them to play than to another municipality which has a lacrosse club.

The majority of the players cared for at Highland Creek are former members of the Six Nations Indian rocks winners of the Canadian lacrosse title in 1929. Some of them have permanent homes at Oshawa, it is charged." Frank Hall, Alderman John Winnett and Joseph W. Millard, both of which cities have powerful lacrosse clubs, Bert Smithson and Fly Sills, also members of the O.A.L.A. executive to give testimony. The club stands suspended until the matter is thoroughly clarified.

RESTLESS TO MAKE NEW HOP

Lindbergh Wants to Get Under Way to Point Barrow

Aklavik, N.W.T., Aug. 7 (AP). — Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh grew restless today over the delay of their vacation flight to the Orient, awaiting weather and weather reports from the West.

Comfortable conditions prevailed at this frontier post, 120 miles north of the Arctic Circle. The thermometer bounced to 80 degrees Fahrenheit with the sk Pnolc sbymOu shrdlsh with the exception of a slight wind whipping up the water of the Mackenzie.

To the west, however, at Point Barrow, Alaska, fog and mist had scheduled stop, at Nome, and at Fort Yukon on the Yukon River, rain was falling, making a landing there unlikely. With the delay here now more than 24 hours, the Lindberghs began to become uneasy.

Point Barrow was still locked by the Arctic ice pack, and gasoline supplies for the Lockheed Sirius Explorer Northland have not arrived. A flight from the Arctic outlet Northland which is lying 150 miles southwest of Point Barrow, to the Arctic southwest from here to Pair banks or even to Nome, 900 miles away, would be possible.

110 Out of 186 Motors Pass Working Signal

Kitchener, Aug. 7.—An inquiring motorist who took a trouble to observe conditions at a local level crossing knows now that there are so many fatalities. A wig-wag signal on the Grand Trunk C.P.R. line on South Queen Street became out of order, with the result that though there were no trains approaching, the signal kept swing ing normally. In the half an hour 186 motor cars crossed the track. Of these only 76 came to a stop despite the wig-wag. A total of 82 drivers in a hurry to get past ignored the signal altogether. Only 28 drivers got out their hands when stopping or slowing up.

Labrador to Have One Representative

Red Bay, Labrador, Aug. 7.—If petitions now being prepared at some of the most popular settlements between the boundary line and Indian Harbor are received favorably by the Newfoundland Government at their next session, Labrador will be given the opportunity of electing a representative for the Newfoundland House of Assembly, and will be constituted a district.

The portion of the coast to be included in the district must be decided by the Assembly, with regard to convenience during electoral periods.

For a number of years the people of this peninsula over which Newfoundland exercises jurisdiction, have discussed the advisability of such a move, and during the past month the subject was again taken up with renewed interest.

There is always a gloss of decency over politics that makes it more dangerous.—Dr. Chas. H. Parkhurst.

N.Y. YANKEES TAKE LEAD IN A'S SERIES

Ruth's 30th Circuit Blow Helps to Defeat Rube Walberg

SENATORS GAINED

First Team in N. L. Were Idle and Lower Teams Gained

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr. Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Yankees have a chance yesterday in the opener of a three-game series with the A's, figuring that if they could win all three they might have a chance to overhaul the leaders, the Yanks were out to win, and they staggered through to a 5 to 3 victory. Walberg, who has won nine games behind Philadelphia and exactly nine behind Detroit, started in relief in the second place Washington.

The Yanks jumped on Rube Walberg in the first inning, bunching three hits with as many walks for four runs. But they could not score again until the 7th, when Babe Ruth dropped his thirtieth homer of the year into the left field stands. Heathcote Vernon Gomes pitched a fine game until the ninth, when he let in the A's two runs on runs with none out and Henry Johnson was called in to relieve. Johnson struck out two men and forced Cedric Durst to fly out with the bases loaded.

Senators Gained

Washington, meanwhile, had an easy time defeating the Boston Red Sox 13 to 4. Ossie Bluege's three-run homer with the bases loaded. Senators staged a batting spree against Red Russell, who pounded out eight runs in five innings then finished up with seven runs in the last three innings, the eighth. They made 20 hits altogether, while Fred Marberry pitched the last four.

The rest of the American League teams, which range from 35½ to 37½ games behind first place, continued to fight in a lively manner yesterday. The fourth place Cleveland Indians split a game through to a 4 to 3 triumph over the last and fifth place Athletics, while Sorrell walked four men in the ninth inning of the first game to win, 7 to 6. Chicago took a 7 to 0 decision from the Browns on the strength of a seventh inning rally for four runs. A homer by Earl Averill was the finishing blow.

National League

With the first two teams in the National League idle, the New York Giants lost a good chance to gain when they made but one hit, but Fred Blake, the Chicago cast off, kept the Giants blows well scattered to record his first straight victory over the Phillies.

Brooklyn Robins were more successful, landing on Ben Cantwell for four runs in the first inning and holding that margin to defeat the Boston Braves 5 to 4. Dazzy Vance received credit for the victory, when he relieved Babe Phelps with the bases full and two Brooklyn scores in the fifth and prevented further scoring. Vance's first three Brooklyn batters, Fredrick Hasseman and Herman, collected eight of the Robins' 15 hits.

After going seven games without a win and taking four shutout defeats from the Pittsburgh Pirates in the course of the losing streak the Cincinnati Reds finally came through with three runs off Claude Spencer in the eighth inning of yesterday's clash with the Buccaneers and won by a 3 to 2 count. Spencer contributed a three base error to his defeat after giving two doubles in the big inning.

—American Chorus.

The 72nd renewals old fox, Cornelius McGillicuddy, handed the Philadelphians a laugh the other day by stating that the A's were "fatigued." The laugh came in the fact that the seventy-nine proceeded to win it in a row. (The superstitious have an opportunity of pointing out that their string of wins was broken by a 13 to 2 defeat). Nevertheless, I'm not going to visit a day longer to do the Canadian Rockies and defy the world champions. It'll be the Athletics—or the Cards. That could be a safe enough. And just for variety and to be differently disappointed, I'll look in terms of "Mac" and leaving out the K.

OLD GOAT—WHO'S THE NUT IN THE PULLEY, MAYOR WALKER DOESN'T KNOW, FRIEND, IS THE ENTIRE

OUR BRUMMELS THE BRONX

Mayor Ritchie of Halifax handed the wise ones of sport in New York a laugh the other day when he declared the general public didn't miss it either. The chief magistrate went down to the metropolis and startled the natives by appearing in all the baldheaded row fashion, cut-away, top hat 'n' everything, nudging right into Jimmy Walker's bowler. He wore the trimmings to the ball park and was spotted immediately by a hardboiled photographer in the easy parlance of his calling, but with on intended disrespect, the camera-man clicked off: "Who's the mug in the plug?" and sent the snap to the Hearst-Mirror's box. 'Tis the photographer's amazement the note went direct to Mr. Ritchie, who, not a bit disconcerted, scribbled his name on the back and returned it, but that the mayor stands ace high with the cameraman now, as a real sport.

Weddings

TOWNSEND-NICOLSON

On Tuesday, August the 4th at 1 p.m. there was solemnized at the Parsonage of the United Church, Bayside Circuit, by the Pastor, the Rev. F. R. Butler, the marriage of Ruth Ellen Nicolson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Nicolson of the Third Concession of Sidney, and John Garrison Townsend, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Townsend of Halloway, Ontario.

The young couple was attended by Miss Helen Hart and Mr. Ivan Garrison.

The bride looked charming in a gown of white georgette and lace with shoes, stockings and hat to match. The bridesmaid in red silk crepe and lace, with white shoes and hat. The lovely bouquets were present.

After the ceremony, the happy couple left on a motor trip to Toronto, Niagara Falls and Rochester. The bride traveled in a silk crepe dress of independent print and a red fox fur, the gift of the groom. On their return they will take up their residence at Halloway, where they will be glad to meet their many friends from Sidney and Thurlow.

INTER LEAGUE STAGES HOT PENNANT RACE

Teams Alternate in First Place Daily

LEAFS WIN

Orioles Gain Third Rung Defeating Royals 5-2

New York, Aug. 7.—First place in the hot International League pennant race has turned into a football with the Rochester Red Wings and Newark Bears kicking it around with reckless abandon. Rochester started with the lead by beating the Bears in the first game of their important series in Newark today but drop back into the second rung the following day, regained top position with a 4-1 victory over the Bears. Just as the first two games of the series, the Buffalo Bisons decided the issue. Herman Bell gave the Bears only six hits and would have had a shutout but for a ninth inning single by Herb Thomas.

Hub Pruett was touched for seven hits and three runs in the eighth inning before Bill Myles tossed for two more hits and another run in the ninth. Wally Holm led the Bisons' batted attack with two doubles and a single.

Other International Even Series

Nolen Richardson's batting and pitching combination has gone the Toronto Maple Leafs an easy 7-1 triumph in the Little World Series. Richardson restricted the Syracusans to seven hits, Jimmy Roberts drove in four runs with two doubles and a run with a single. Montreal Royals in a night game, 5 to 2. Montreal fell behind, but found Jack Ogden at the game behind the Orioles. Joe Hauser's hitting was responsible for the Royals' victory. After the Royals had tied the count, 2-all in the fifth, with a home run, Baltimore came back with two runs, one on a home run by Hauser. The Orioles first baseman clouted a triple to the right inning when the Orioles scored their final run. Beryl Richmond held the Royals to six hits, while Roy Sherid was touched for ten.

Hicks Home to Win

Jimmy Adair stole home in the ninth inning to give Reading a 4-3 victory over Buffalo in another night game. Adair singled and had committed a balk to force the tying run across the plate. Hub Pruett and Adair then dashed home with the winning tally. Jack Reddings' two runs came in the eighth when Fred Russell replaced Jimmy Harding the Keys for several innings. Ferguson came in with one out and the tying and winning runs were scored after him although Pruzell, who had put them on base, was caught for the defeat. The victory was Reading's fifth in a row.

The Sport Eye Column

Contributed By FAIR PLAY Boosts and Fair Criticism

Well sport fans here we are again.

One outlet to another—"If I could also like that I'd open a butcher shop."

The moments of the Bay of Quinte Country Golf Club entertained the members of the Napanee Golf Club on Saturday and what a match it was. At the end of the game the scores stood 18 to 18 in favour of Belleville.

The members of the Bay of Quinte Club are getting right sharp in the club championship rounds. Some of the players have not played their cards as yet, I hear, but they had better get busy pretty soon.

The "Old Boy's Reunion" out at Maple Leaf was enjoyed by many of Belleville's citizens, especially those who were glad to hear that the lacrosse game was a "wow," fights and everything.

"Scotty" Kline, Belleville's popular boxer, took on and got a draw with a boy named Whalley, a Toronto boy, who outweighed by about 48 pounds, I heard.

They also staged a football game in which Belleville won from Deseronto. I noticed that Jerry Hutchinson was also absent from the game. This is the first football game Jerry has missed since he came to Belleville.

Harry sure likes to have his game of football. Why he was not present I could not find out.

Did you hear what happened over the softball protest? The meeting could not decide whether or not "Pat" Paiterson was entitled to play in Belleville or not.

After a lot of "chewing the rag" they decided to let the Belleville Senior Athletic Association settle the question. What I wanted the fellows to "what do they know about the matter in question?"

So as a matter of fact what do they care. The league has allowed the girl to play this far, so why bar her now? (Think it over.)

The players of the Belleville Colonels tell me that they nearly got killed on the diamond in Kingston on Monday night. It seems that the infield down at Kingston is more like a cement tennis court than a baseball diamond.

The entries for the Athletic meet at the Belleville Fair are coming in fine. Entry blanks can be procured at the Y.M.C.A. or from Harry Pearson, Chairman of the Athletic meet.

The Belleville Tennis Club is scheduled to play in Campbellville tomorrow. The local net artists have not had much success but they are in the game all the time and will copyrights plenty of argumentts.

Alex Weir had a real experience last week in motoring. While the local Nationals were returning from Toronto after losing to the "Air Field" in Cobourg, where the Lavona Boys were playing, Alex had a blow-out.

One of the places was leaving for Belleville and Alex jumped at the chance to get to Newcastle. Leaves. He says that flying has it all over baseball for thrills. He'll never step one foot on the ground Alex.

Did you see last night's softball game? It was a real thriller with the Maple Leafs taking the long end of a 14 to 12 score over the Belleville Pruit. The Leafs fought hard to win and sure deserved the victory.

Nellie McMichael led the hitters with four hits, two of which were home runs. The little girl has more four-base hits to her credit than any player in the league, I hear.

The Kiwanis pulled a fast one when they defeated the K. of C. last night. As this is the first loss for the Knights quite naturally the "Terrible men" are all swelled up. In the other league the Rotarians "raise" have yet to lose a game.

TAKEN FOR RIDE

Belief Held That Man in Ditch Marked For Death

Richmond Hill, Aug. 7.—Considerable mystery surrounds the finding of a man believed to be Dyson Yackick, a Toronto Ukrainian, who was discovered lying in a ditch in Markham Township, lying precariously on from a deep wound on the side of his head. It is said that the man in York County Hospital at Newmarket where his condition is said to be serious and up to the present has not been able to furnish the police with any evidence that will be interpreted to him. It is, however, believed to have been the case of a deliberate attack, the man having been taken for a ride, and the police have been working on the theory of a gang killing.

At first it was thought that he had been struck by a hit-and-run driver, but this theory was upset by the fact that the man's clothes were said in no way marked or soiled, and the roadway bore no marks that would indicate an accident at the spot.

The motive for an attack is also a mystery, as the fact that no money was taken from his pockets, dispels the suggestion that it was a hold-up case.

Yesterday's Stars

Ad Liska, Indians—Held Tigers to six hits to win 4-3.

Ed Brandt, Braves—Blanked Bluegs, Senators—Former collected three hits including two home runs and single against Red Sox.

Al Thomas, Reds—Went in as relief pitcher and held Pirates to one hit in three innings as Reds won 3-2.

Fred Blake, Phillies — Hurled to 6-4 victory over Giants and collected three hits himself.

Adolfo Luque, Robins—Pitched effectively in relief role to hold the Braves in check.

Woods' Perfect 105

Scores Possible to Win Tait-Brassey Match

Toronto, Aug. 7.—Sergeant W. J. Woods, a young Hamilton marksman, added a history at the Long Branch Rifle Ranges Thursday.

In the Tait-Brassey match, which is the richest on the Ontario Rifle Association card, Woods scored bulls at 200, 500 and 600 yards to return a perfect 105 possible. Sergeant Higgs of Ottawa led the field with a total of 318. The prize list was one of the most generously presented by the association along with $25 in cash. A bronze medal with $15 goes to the runner-up, with money prizes in the balance of the competitors.

The Brassey Cup, presented by the Earl Brassey (deceased) of England, father of the late Lieutenant Viscountess Langdon, for the winning company team, was won by the Royal Highland Regiment, Toronto. The Tait Challenge Cup, presented by Sir Peter Tait Bart., England, for the best regimental team, was captured by the Queen's Own.

PROBE CRASH OF CANAL LOCK

Captain Says Orders were Not Promptly Carried

Montreal, Que., Aug. 7—A sturdiness in responding to a "roll proof astern" order from the bridge of the steamer Manoba Prince resulting into a gate in the Lachine Canal Locks on Sunday, Captain J. C. Cherry, master of the vessel, testified today at the inquiry of the Dominion Wreck Commissioner, L. C. Demers. The vessel struck the lock gates and was swept through the lock with the resultant rush of water freed by the bursting gates. Considerable damage to the Rapprince and to other vessels was entailed, as well as damage to the locks.

Captain Cherry said he had signalled "full speed astern" on the bridge telegraph when he saw his ship was going to hit the Lock gates. The order was not answered promptly by the officers on the ship's engines and the boat crashed into the closed Locks.

SEEK PRESERVATION OF GOOD LIVESTOCK

Regina, Sask., (CP)—Preservation of the best livestock in drought stricken Saskatchewan, on the part of the provincial government is the aim announced today when feed shortages, Stock is being carried as far as possible on local pastures and fodder is being shipped free to farmers who cannot obtain their cattle north.

It is highly important that we keep all our good breeding stock, in the province," Premier Anderson told our herds to run down, our livestock industry will suffer a setback from which it will take many years to recover," said Hon. W. R. Burks, minister of agriculture, in discussing the effect of drough on livestock.

Pasturing charges run from 50 cents to $1 per month per animal. The railways have reduced the freight by one half. The government will pay this reduced freight and take it the farmer's note for the amount. In some of the districts hay can be put up to carry the stock through the winter. The department of agriculture has a large list of persons who are willing to take stock for the summer months. In the case of the transfer of breeding stock to pasture, arrangements have been made for the free shipment of fodder to the districts in the drought areas. The department is purchasing fodder as requested. It is understood that the army worm or a municipal group will send an outfit with having machinery to cut hay. Many municipalities charges on the outfits are taken care of by the local government.

The railway companies will carry stock to points in Ontario and Quebec for feeding prior to export to Great Britain. The regular rate is charged to the feeding point and a half rate from the feeding point to the seaboard for export purposes.

There is pasturage available for many thousands of cattle in the northern portions of Saskatchewan and, with the co-operation of the farmers, can be maintained in districts because of drought conditions in the southern portions for the winter can be prevented, Mr. Burkie mentioned.

To Grant House Probe if Asked

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 7 (By The Canadian Press)—Premier George S. Henry stated that should a definite demand be made he is prepared to grant a probe into the Hydro at its next session the question of appointing a royal commission to inquire into the payment of $50, 000 by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power commission to John Air-y of Toronto, in connection with a contract negotiated between the commission and the Ontario interests of Ottawa. The Premier intimated that he does not himself see the necessity for such a commission.

"As far as I can make out there is no need for such a commission, but I am willing to appoint a commission if there is a demand for it it is though necessary," the Premier said.

The Premier referred to the Ontario commission's backwoods pensioners, stating that John Aird Jr. "was to be taken care of" in the purchase price of $13,500,000. Premier Henry however did not say the Hydro knew that Aird was to receive $50,000, but knew he was to be "taken care of" for bringing the parties together after the original demand had been more than $2,000 Premier Henry agreed this had been a "commission."

HORSE-DRAWN AUTO ON WAY EAST

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 7.—(By The Canadian Press)—A small-sized and hair-wagon, with a half-breed at the helm, a weird carriage in an old way "From Valmarie to Montreal or Bust." Two prancing grey horses draw the converted chassis which Alfred Choquette is driving from his farm at Valmarie in Southern Saskatchewan. Choquette, who for merly farmed in the Mariapolis area of Manitoba, left his Saskatchewan land after four years of crop failure. He carries as companions on his trip a gopher and a pair of badgers.

USES GASOLINE FOR KEROSENE

Fatal Burns Sustained by Mrs. Marriot of Thedford

London, Ont., Aug 7 (By The Canadian Press)—Mrs. Dave Marriot, aged 50, residing at Thedford, died in St. Joseph's hospital today as a result of terrible burns received when she poured gasoline into the kitchen stove to spur on a fire that was slow to start. Her husband was also badly burned in his frantic efforts to rescue his wife, it is said.

Mrs. Marriot was preparing the breakfast, and it is said mistook a can containing gasoline for an-other one, which contained kerosene.

Instantly she poured the gasoline on the slow-burning fire there was a terrific explosion, the blast scattering the blazing fluid over her clothing, and about the kitchen.

PROBE POLICE CASE ORDERED

Will Learn if Magistrate Received "Pink Copy"

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 7 (By The Canadian Press)—Investigation into Victor Williams, chief commissioner of Provincial Police, today ordered by the attorney-general into the charges of a motorist from the United States that Provincial Constable Hornick of Peterboro had taken charge of speeding until the motorist appeared in police court at Peterboro, after he had paid the constable $30 on the highway.

Inspector A. J. Cranch, in charge of the Provincial Motorcycle Patrol, will conduct the enquiry. He conferred with Constable Hornick and Magistrate Floyd at Cobourg Thursday afternoon.

The Provincial Police Commissioner explained the speeding system under which the motorist paid the Constable. Each Constable is supplied with a bond book and to the driver gives a slip in triplicate stating the amount paid, the name of the driver, the charge and where he is to appear. A yellow copy is sent to Provincial headquarters and a white copy goes to the Magistrate prior to the court appearance.

In this case the Provincial Police are seeking to ascertain if the Magistrate received the pink copy.

General Williams said the system was instituted for the benefit of United States motorists, the majority of whom were in favor of it.

SHIP FAST ON MAINE ROCKS

Lighthouse Vessel Struck Reef While Picking up Buoys

York Harbor, Me., Aug. 7.—The United States lighthouse ship Shrub aown aground on Bridget's Rock, one-quarter of a mile off shore here and was believed to be sinking.

The ship was engaged in picking up and replacing buoys when it struck the reef, ripping a hole in its bottom and flooding the engines.

The crew were endeavoring to load her on the rocks to prevent her sinking, but as the engines were out of commission had a difficult task. The navy yard at Portsmouth, N. H., was asked to send tugs and in the meantime a few boats were sent from shore to aid in taking off the crew if it was necessary.

AGED INDIAN CHIEF CHIPPEWA HEAD

Hudson, Ont., Aug. 7.—(CP) A link with Canada's romantic past has been severed by the death of Henry Ackinwas, at one time Indian Chief of the Chippewa Tribe. Born in this part of Northern Ontario 76 years ago, he lived the nomadic life of the North American Indian before the days of the railroad and the coming of the white man. Ackinwas became a lumberjack and respected by the white men, was by no means an exemplary character and with kindly disposition, the recognized leader of the band of Indians in and around this community. Left destitute by the death of his wife a year ago, he was since that time more or less living on the past, and at the recent treaty time in June, he explained to his people how he was "waiting for a call-away wailing" and implored his fellow Indians to listen to the Good Word.

He was buried with simple dignity beside his wife here, and the woods for miles around resounded with the mournful wailing of the tomtom, out of respect to the departed Indian Chief, and earlier belief the Indians no longer bury their loved ones complete with all their implements of war, hunting, fishing, etc., in preparation for their sojourn in the happy hunt ing grounds beyond. This belief may best be explained by the words of an old Indian woman, who, when asked the question, replied the ancient custom, replied, "No, Indians, like white men, die. Not since they hear the missionary much for the spread of Christianity.

SEA CADETS TO RACE FOR TROPHY

Toronto, Ont., August 7 (CP)—Visitors to the Canadian National Exhibition on Saturday, Aug. 29, and Monday, Sept. 7, will have an opportunity for probably the first time in Canada, to witness one of the oldest aquatic events in history. Sea cadets crews from the British warships will stage a 10-oared cutter race for the Seagram Trophy, competitors from Toronto, Kingston, Welland, Hamilton, St. Catharines and other points having been invited to participate, of this event will be one of the features of the water sports on the platform in front of the Automotive building and a great crowd is anticipated.

Each cutter will be under sail event will be preceded with a trophy by Rear Admiral Dewar, of the fleet. The traditional dress for this event is the British Navy will be observed and the Navy League crews will be stripped to the waist. Wide-spread interest has been aroused in this novel event and the various Navy League crews are extremely anxious to present a winning crew to Earl Jellicoe.

All the visiting Navy League cadets will be guests of the Canadian National Exhibition during their stay in Toronto.

USHER AT OLD BAILEY RETIRED

London, August 7 (By The Canadian Press)—The Central Criminal Court for London, commonly known as the Old Bailey, has seen during 38 years' standing James Phillips, who is retiring from the position of Senior Usher. Naturally Mr. Phillips has seen many changes since he first became associated with the famous institution. Women barristers are locked up overnight only in the Ladies' Waiting Room, but Phillips remembers the time when a jury empanelled to try any charge of felony was locked up overnight before they had delivered their verdict.

Undoubtedly the most exciting event in which Mr. Phillips has participated at the Old Bailey was when Dr. Crippen, the murderer, stood in the dock together on a charge of murdering Harvey Hill. The jury had retired to arrive at their verdict, when the bigger prisoner suddenly threw himself upon his fellow-prisoner. The glass and the wooden work which surrounded the front of the dock, were shivered as the two men fell. Gaolers were summoned and constables to Court, to the number of half a dozen, were clambered into the dock, were thrown down like sixties.

GOVERNOR ONCE BIG DERBY WINNER

London, Aug. 7 (CP)—General Sir David Henderson, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of Malta, has the distinction of having once ridden a Grand National winner. "It may interest you to know that, although on that occasion in 1886 my horse started at 40 to one, I was perfectly confident that I was going to win that race," he said at a luncheon here. "That is a very remarkable thing, because other fellows have since have I ever felt confident of winning my race. I don't know what the odds are for or against my proving a successor to Lord Jellicoe but I feel very strongly that with God's help and the aid of all the Maltese themselves shall be able to make a success of my appointment."

TRAPS IN COBOURG AREA

Cobourg, Aug. 7.—Motorists are complaining about the methods alleged speedy used by the police in speeders on the highway between Cobourg and Port Hope. It is claimed that the police dodge into side roads in the country and into side streets in the towns, waiting to catch motorists whom, they claim, exceed the speed limit. Yesterday a Hamilton motorist declared that he was pulled up after a trip to Ottawa he found a suspicious swelling him from Chief Gallow's car, and constables to Court, to the number of half a dozen, were clambered into the dock, were thrown down like sixties.

SYNOPSIS

Leaving Hawaii shortly after her father's death, young and beautiful Fanchon Meredith goes to San Francisco, where she meets and loves a handsome man named Tony. Fanchon is shocked to learn that Tony is a racketeer, implicated in a recent murder. She, too, is now wanted. Fanchon escapes in an airplane under the name of "Smith" Evelyn Howard, whom she had met on the boat coming from Hawaii, is also aboard. Evelyn is enroute to New York to live with her aunt, the wealthy Mrs. Carstairs, whom she has never met. After Fanchon confides in Evelyn, the latter treats her coolly. The plane crashes and Fanchon is the only survivor. She decides to escape Tony and the past, and start life anew by masquerading as Evelyn. She requests a doctor to wire Mrs. Carstairs that "Evelyn" is safe. A wire comes from Mrs. Carstairs stating that Collin cannot meet Fanchon. Fanchon learns Collin is Mrs. Carstairs' only son. Mrs. Carstairs meets Fanchon at the train explaining that you're not Evelyn, are you . . . You can't be." The girl's terror of being discovered causes whup Mrs. Carstairs explains she couldn't believe anyone so resourceful could belong in the family. Her kindness and affection prick Fanchon's conscience.

CHAPTER X

There was a little silence. Fanchon felt her heart lift on a sudden surge of hope. She was not Evelyn Howard. She was not of this world. She didn't know. But Evelyn was dead. You robbed the dead of nothing. Fanchon was alive. If she could be to this woman what Evelyn would have been, if, with her own longing for affection, for home and for safety, she could even be more than Evelyn would have been, would that not be enough, perhaps, in her favor? Evelyn, she knew, from the little she had seen of her, was less concerned with her emotional relationship to her aunt than what that aunt held out to her in the way of promises of ease, luxury, money—a means perhaps to marry well. With those things Fanchon had very little concern. What she wanted, and what she was prepared to give in return for something very different, something into which money and material things did not and could not enter.

She spoke, stumbling a little over the unaccustomed form of address.

"—I want to make you as happy, Aunt Jenaie," she said in her low, charmingly husky voice, "as you have made me already."

A little silence fell between them. And in it Fanchon vowed to dedicate herself to this woman's service, whatever it might be.

Presently—"Here we are," Mrs. Carstairs said blithely. "I'm putting you in one of the guest rooms for your own rooms are to be done over for you this summer."

"Gee!" was an apartment on upper Fifth Avenue; a penthouse apartment overlooking the Park and the reservoir. A man servant opened to them and Mrs. Carstairs said, "my niece, Miss Howard, Jameson."

Jameson, an elderly person, seemed genuinely moved. He made Fanchon a curious, stilted little speech of welcome and Fanchon smiled at him, gently. She realized then that all her servants adored Mrs. Carstairs. It was easy to see why. Jameson explained Collin had gone upstairs, leading the way in, "has been with me for years and was no one of the family. I brought him up from the country to look after us for a few days."

The apartment seemed enormous to Fanchon. She caught glimpses of a huge dining room, and music room, on the main, living room floor, library on the other, all opening off a square hall. Mrs. Carstairs explained Mrs. Carstairs further, all opened upon it. Fanchon's own section could see through the long French windows, a terrace, a formal small trees, gay chairs and couches and awnings.

"I want this apartment in livable shape," Mrs. Carstairs went on, "as Collin must be here for a few months and m. A have a "place to stay."

She hesitated and began again, her clear skin flushing.

"Collin . . ." she went on, "is up North. You ma: have wondered why he isn't in town to meet you."

"No," said Fanchon with perfect truth, I hadn't wondered at all.

"I wrote you," the other woman said, "about his attitude. But I would rather explain more fully later.

She took Fanchon into a lovely room on the second floor. It had a big connecting bath. "It is at the end of the hall from me," Mrs. Carstairs told her. "Your own room, when it is ready, opens on the pa-le—up—ors."

A middle-aged woman was waiting in the room. "This is Emma," Mrs. Carstairs told Fanchon, "she will look after you."

She had done so already. The bed was turned down, the windows open to what cool air there was. A sheer nightgown and a negligee and slippers lay nearby.

"I guessed at the size," Mrs. Carstairs said, "you are taller than I thought, but we will manage to get some little frocks for you before we go down to the island and with the minimum of discomfort. You wrote me, you know, that you had very little."

Fanchon flushed in shame for Evelyn Howard who could pack her trunk to come East and write her aunt that she "had very little." Had Fanchon been in her place . . . but she was in her place! — she would have gotten along with what she had and said nothing out of sheer stubborn pride. She said now,

"Oh, but I didn't mean — I can manage perfectly well with what I have."

She wondered a little wildly just what clothes the trunk would contain. Evelyn, as she remembered her, discovered, had rather run to frills and furbelows and clothes of an incongruous material and hue of them. Fanchon's own tastes were more expensive yet simpler.

"Never mind," Mrs. Carstairs said quickly, "you get undressed and take a hot tub. Then you climb right into bed. I'm having my own doctor come and look you over, after your dinner."

"You mean after I sleep," Fanchon protested, "please don't bother. Really, Aunt Jenaie—"

"I want to be sure," the older woman told her, smiling, "and you shall have your dinner on a tray and I will have one with you. Then the rest . . . And tomorrow we'll talk."

She left the room after a word to the maid. The little straw suitcase had been brought up and was being unpacked. The maid had already moved toward it.

"Very good," Mrs. Evelyn. May I run your bath?"

"Please," said Fanchon.

There had been plenty of servants on the plantation. Fanchon was perfectly accustomed to service. Although she had lacked it for eight months or more now. But it was easy to slip back into the old ways.

Presently she was lying full length in the great marble tub, the bendable arm a little awkwardly out of the water. There was a warm scene of fragrant bath salts. The bathroom itself was quite beautiful, tiled in green and white, and again Fanchon closed her eyes and dreamed.

But it was all a dream.

Later, rested and refreshed she was in the big green bed, with pillows piled in back of her, looking about the pretty room. Emma appeared, with a table that swung out over the bed and a tray. On the tray was supper—broiled chicken, a quaint little pottery bowl of soup, the salad greens of a delicate kind, baked potato and a vegetable, a glass of milk, a cup of custard and Fanchon, who had been hungrier than she thought, looked at it with delight, and at the silver, the pretty china, the bread and butter cover with cut wafer thin.

Mrs. Carstairs came in, in a dark negligee and long lounging robe. Her hair, free of her hat, was lovely masses of it, gray and yet very close to her fine head. Emma pulled a chair up to the bed, arranged a tip-top table beside it and Jameson appeared in the second tray.

"Your mother and I used to do this, now and again," Mrs. Carstairs commented, and sighed, heavily.

LORD READING WEDDED TODAY

London, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Lord Reading, ambassador to the United States and later Viceroy of India, was married privately this afternoon to Miss Stella Charnaud, his secretary, in the clergy registry office on Princes' Row.

The little place had been transformed into a bower of flowers and many friends of the couple attended the ceremony.

Miss Charnaud wore a long gown of white satin and carried a flowered fitting hat. She carried a bouquet of daisies.

After the ceremony they drove to Deal to spend the night at the Deal castle. Today they will go to Paris.

JELLICO TO VISIT LEGION

Oshawa to be on Fete for Ontario Legion Branches

Oshawa, Ont., Aug. 7.—(By The Canadian Press)—The city of Oshawa is looking forward with great expectation to the coming of its first big convention, the Fifth Annual Convention of the Ontario Provincial Command of the Canadian Legion, to be held August 25 to 28. With all the hotel accommodation already booked, hundreds of business men are opening their homes to the delegates. Private citizens, civic organizations and service clubs are all planning for the entertainment of the delegates.

On August 25, when the Provincial executive, drawn from the twenty-two zones into which the province has been divided for Legion organization, will have an all-day session. The executive members will be entertained at luncheon by the Kiwanis, Rotary and Kinsmen clubs, and in the evening there will be guests at a dinner tendered by the Oshawa Chamber of Commerce. On August 26, the delegates will be entertained by the Oshawa Branch of the Legion and the Ladies' Auxiliary at a picnic supper at Lakeview Park, after which a brief sports programme will be staged. Later in the evening a vaudeville revue will be presented at the General Motors Auditorium, in which holding all of the Convention sessions are being held.

Thursday, August 27, will be the climax of the Convention, and Earl Jellicoe, Admiral of the Fleet, spending the day in the city and taking part in the various functions. He will be officially welcomed by the civic authorities, the Convention delegates are presented, and will visit the war memorial for a brief memorial ceremony. In the afternoon he will inspect the Oshawa Corps of Sea Cadets on the grounds of Oshawa Collegiate, under Col. ang Mrs. R. S. McLaughlin. There is to be a garden party and reception for Earl and Countess Jellicoe. The British Empire Service League delegates from all over the Empire and the Canadian delegates at a Parkwood as guests of Col. and Mrs. R. S. McLaughlin. On this day's entertainments will be concluded with a banquet tendered by the City of Oshawa in the Armouries in the evening when it is expected that Premier Hon. George S. Henry, Hon. D. M. Sutherland, Hon. Murray MacLaren, Hon. W. H. Price, and other men prominent in the affairs of the Canada will be present to join in doing honor to Earl Jellicoe. The closing day of the Convention, Friday, August 28, will be given over to the election of officers for the next year and the selection of the place of holding the next convention.

PRINCE SVASTI KNEW ENGLISH

Does Not Like English he Tells Denver People

Denver, Colo., Aug. 7.—Denverites gathered Thursday to welcome Prince Svasti, father of Siam's Queen and one who may his new with a large handkerchief.

"Are you Prince Svasti?" inquired a solicitous welcomer.

"I'm dammed sure I was the royal reply.

Following disposal of the heat question, Prince Svasti turned his attention to opium, the British and other things.

"Opium smoking will never cease because the world will never end the production of opium," he declared. "Japan will always produce drugs from Chinese opium."

On prohibition, he said: "I saw speakeasies but no night clubs in this country. Siam has no prohibition."

"We kick Chinese Bolsheviks out of Siam. Speaking of exclusion, the United States bars by race entirely."

"I hate the English. Blooded aliens. Think they're over-lords of everything. I was educated in England.

"The old ladies, the idealists and the bigoted clergymen of the United States are responsible for forcing the problems of narcotic traffic upon the League of Nations."

ITALIANS ADVISED TO ASSIST CANADA

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 6.—(By The Canadian Press)—Premier Vincenzo Pinega's Italian colony gathered recently to welcome Count Delfino Rogeri di Villanova, royal Italian commissioner general to Canada. Shouts of "Viva Canada" and several vivas for "Italia" greeted the consul-general and his wife on their first visit to Winnipeg.

The Count addressed his compatriots with the command to be "good Canadians" and also to be "proud of your origin." He declared that disciplined and political leadership had saved Italy "from the depths of disruption into which we have seen in all parts of the world." He admonished them to aid Canada and "through your virtues save her from political and economic dangers."

ANGERED BEES KILL HORSES

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—(By The Canadian Press)—Stung by swarming bees whose hives they overturned, a team of horses dropped dead on the Valgardson farm near here recently. The horses had bolted when one was stung by a bee, and in the rush the animals overturned a number of hives nearby. The angry insects swarmed about the frightened horses, stinging them so severely both animals died.

ARABS ORDER GENERAL STRIKE

Jerusalem, Aug. 7 (AP)—Dissatisfied with measures taken by the government for dealing with possible renewal of Hebrew-Arab communal disturbances, elements of the Arab population today called a general strike to begin Monday. The Government announced it would take steps to prevent disorder.

The Arabs have protested against establishment of sealed armories in outlying districts, a move commended by the Hebrew press. The Jewish telegraphic agency said a delegation of United States consul to use his influence to avert any outbreak. The consul said he had been assured by High Commissioner Chancellor that the authorities were prepared to deal with any trouble but that they expected none

SAY POLICEMAN KICKED YOUNG MAN

Toronto, Ont. Aug 7—The suspension of a police sergeant for alleged brutal treatment of a youth is demanded on a petition signed by eight storekeepers of an east end district, which will be laid before Mayor Steward shortly. The petitioners charge that sergeant Reynolds of No. 8 division kicked William Vallery "at least ten times" and then struck him in the face at least three times, because the youth would not move fast enough when told to move on. Vallery, a resident of the district who has been unemployed, was one of a group of four men who were told to move along the street by the sergeant and a constable.

Sanitary Risk

in carelessly-made substitutes for Kotex

SAFETY should be your first concern in sanitary protection. Health safety. The kind of safety you are certain of in Kotex, the pad that is used in leading hospitals.

But how about those nameless substitutes, of whose makers you know nothing? What assurance have you of their sanitary safety? Who made them? Where? How? Are you sure you'd use them, if you knew their origin?

There's one certain way of avoiding risk. Ask for Kotex. Genuine Kotex. It's immaculately clean—made by wonderful, patented machines from start to finish, in surroundings of hospital cleanliness. Machine packed and hygienically sealed in dust-proof packages.

Kotex assures comfort

Kotex is splendidly comfortable. It may be worn with perfect safety on either side. Soft, filmy layers make adjustment easy. The gauze in Kotex goes through a special process to make it amazingly soft. Treated to deodorize. Readily disposable.

TRAVELLER MISSING

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 7.—Police have instituted a search for Arthur Ross ward Thomas, aged 34, a commercial traveller who has been missing for a week. His wife stated that he had been injured two years ago in a railway wreck and she thinks he may have lost his memory. He had never really recovered from the injuries he sustained then.

Two weeks ago he received a letter written from a Toronto hotel stating that her husband had to go to Windsor.

ALBERTAN TO HEAD

Edmonton, Alta., Aug. 7.—By The Canadian Press)—Reginald B. Jackson, 31-year-old Edmonton airman is to spread the air-mail services of the Government of Siam. Well-known among northern fliers, Mr. J. Jackson is enroute to Bankok where he will make his headquarters as operating manager of the Siamese service, under a five-year contract.

Trained in the Old Country, Mr. Jackson came to Alberta as a child. After flying for some time in Calgary he obtained his license as a commercial pilot, and later aided in forming Great Western Airways, Calgary. He was one of the founders of the Calgary Aero Club and was secretary of Commercial Airways, Limited, from last fall until suspension of services this spring.

Failed At 18 Jobs Before He Wrote "Tarzan"

Edgar Rice Burroughs Was Down to Half-Soling His Own Shoes and Lunching on Three Cents' Worth of Ginger Snaps a Day

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

EDITOR'S NOTE: Readers of this newspaper who have been following the "Tarzan" stories in daily picture strips will be especially interested in this autobiography of the author. Here for the first time Edgar Rice Burroughs tells the story of his life in some detail. It is a very human tale of a man who several times seemed to failure and who attained a way out for himself that resulted in one of the most dazzling careers in writing history. With the appearance of "Tarzan" last month, the publication of "The Lost Empire," his latest book, and the "Tarzan" picture strip are entering into their eighth million in the American and British editions alone.

I have often been asked how I came to write. The last answer is that I did not do it by choice.

I had worked steadily for six years without a vacation and for fully half of the working days at that time I suffered tortures from headaches. Economy was the keynote, the expenditure of a little family were far beyond my means. Three cents' worth of ginger snaps constituted my daily lunches for months.

I was thirty-five and I had failed in every enterprise I had ever attempted.

I was born in Chicago and attended the old Brown School on the West Side, partially through the chief incident of which those there was a diphtheria epidemic for my end much to be deplored my parents took me out of public school and put me in a private school which happened to be the only private school extant on the West Side.

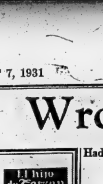
I next went to the old Harvard School, Chicago, but there was known as La Grippe and what was then known as La Grippe and my parents shipped me to a cattle ranch in Idaho. Unquestionably my destiny is in part written with pestilence, which may or may not account for my having become a writer.

In Idaho, I rode for my brothers, who were then recently out of college and had entered the cattle business as the best way of recovering their Yale degrees. I did chores, grubbed sage brush and drove a team of broncos in a rocky pasture. It proved no good as a chore boy they appointed me manager. I carried the mail to the old railroad at American Falls, sometimes on horseback, or if there was freight to bring back, I took a team and wagon. When I went to Pocatello I made the round trip of sixty miles in one day. We were then still a little bit wild and I met murderers, thieves and bad men. I suppose they must have constituted another epidemic, because I was transported away from them to Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass. I was elected president of my class, but I guess I did not make much of a hit with "Banty" who was then running Andover. I never got beyond the beginners of the second semester.

When I got home, my father, Major George Tyler Burroughs, who had served in the Civil War, took me to Michigan Lake, where the old Michigan Military Academy was located, and there I spent the next five years. The commandant was Captain Charles King, author of the many army stories that ever were written; a man who has been an inspiration to me all my life because of his outstanding qualities as a soldier, a cavalry man and a friend. But the inspiration he gave me had nothing to do with writing. He made me want to be a good soldier.

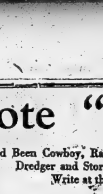
I was a member of the cavalry troop all the time I was there and received instruction from a number of army officers that proved extremely helpful to me, especially after I had enlisted in the regular army. We did a great deal of trick riding in those days: bareback, Cossack, Graeco-Roman and all the rest of it. It was known as "monkey drill."

During the senior years I received an appointment to West Point, where I went through the entrance examinations and passed for examination with candidates. Only fourteen of them passed, I being among the one hundred and four.



Upon my inglorious return, I got another job as a conductor for an ice company, but in the fall I returned to Orchard Lake, having been appointed assistant commandant, cavalry and putting gun instructor, tactical officer and professor of geology. The fact that I had never ridden geology seemed to make no difference. They needed a professor and I was it.

After having had the pick of the whole corps of cadets as my companions for four years, being an assistant commandant was a housemaid's job. I have been guilty of restrictions and always been impatient of them, I had at now I had less freedom than I had as a cadet. I still reserved for the regular army and I determined to enlist and try for a commission from the ranks. I landed in the Seventh Cavalry at Fort Grant, Arizona.



There was always a lot of excitement at Fort Grant. The Apaches were constantly at a post not far distant and there were frequent rumors of an uprising similar to those led by old Geronimo. The Apache Kid had his band of renegades and was giving trouble in the south and Black Jack, the famous bandit, was indicted for cattle rustling.

A week heart developed and I was twice recommended for discharge. As it seemed wholly unlikely that I should pass a physical examination for a commission, my father obtained my discharge from the army, considering Servetus' "surgery" (13) salesmanship "surgery" (14) sharpened (15) scratch pad business (16) magazine department manager.

whose "Tarzan" stories in daily picture form are now proving so tremendously popular, and whose Mr. Burroughs' world-wide success has been one of the phenomena of publishing. His books have been translated into sixteen languages and published in Braille, for the blind.

a stationery store with a large newsstand and a cigar counter. I also had a newspaper route and I delivered the papers myself on horseback. My store was not a howling financial success and I certainly was glad when the man from whom I had purchased it returned to Los Angeles and wanted it back. Providence never intended me for a retail merchant.

Shortly after this I returned to Chicago and went to work for my father, who was manufacturing storage batteries. I sold one set that time. He had been the proprietor of the old Trevnoct House in Chicago and was then proprietor of the Sherman and the Great Northern, in Chicago and the Kinsley Hotel in Evanston, Ill.

When I was married I was getting fifteen dollars a week and immediately thereafter I received a raise to twenty. Owing to the fact that we were so often as we pleased at my wife's mother's home or at my mother's, we got along very nicely.

In 1903, my oldest brother George gave me a position on a gold dredge he was operating in the Stanley Basin county in Idaho and Mrs. Burroughs and I went West. We pitched a tent on the hill while we were building our house in the construction of which was original and not too successful. Timber was plentiful and I felled what I needed at the sawmill three from our cabin site.

Our next stop was in Oregon, where my brother Harry was managing a gold dredge on the Snake River. We arrived in a freight wagon, with a cook stove and forty dollars. Forty dollars did not seem much to me anywhere on the globe, but to enter a stud game at a local saloon and run my capital up to several hundred dollars during the night. When I returned at midnight to the room we had rented, we still had the cook stove otherwise we were flat broke.

I worked in Oregon until the company failed and then my brother got me a job as a railroad policeman in Salt Lake City. For the next several months, I was kept busy walking between my beat and the railroad yards and off passenger trains. We were certainly poverty stricken there at Salt Lake, but pride kept us from asking for help. Neither of us ever dreamed that we were poor in material, but we had to do everything ourselves, including the washing. I was wishing to see Mrs. Burroughs do work of this sort I volunteered to do it myself. Second was so good he thought he might use it. He did, and for a time I did the management, I would never have delivered the story and my writing career would have ended right there if I had not been writing because of my urge to write and because I had a little money ahead. I was writing because I had a wife and baby to support and because I thought my work still without money.

I finished the second half of the story and got four hundred dollars for the two. Then I started in with three hundred all serial rights. The check was the first big event in my life. It was enormous, and I could not possibly give me the thrill that that first four-hundred-dollar check gave me.

My first story was entitled "Dejah Thoris, Princess of Mars." The editor changed it to "Under the Moons of Mars." It was later published in book form as "The Princess of Mars."

With the publication of my first story, I decided to make writing a career, but I had no time published in book form, and I put the job did not pay expenses and we had encountered considerable difficulty, sustained only by the thread of hope that I might make a living writing stories. I had a wife and a baby to keep and landed as a department manager for the Sears-Roebuck people in Chicago. While there, I wrote "Tarzan of the Apes" evenings and holidays. I wrote it in that my employer knew even then about the duties of an expert accountant then I did. I was with them a couple of years and left them at a raise of my own accord. I thought I could do better.

I had determined that I was a great failure in the mail order business and I landed a job that brought me to the head of a large department. About this time our daughter Joan was born and, having a good job and every prospect for advancement, I decided to go into business for myself, with borrowing resources, I had no capital when I started in the mail order business. At the time the mail order company offered me such a excellent position I was induced to come back. If I had accepted it I would probably have been fired for life with a good living salary, yet the chances are that I would never have written a story, which proves that occasionally it is better to do the wrong thing than the right.

When my independent business mark without trace, I approached my former financial backer and he gave me a check. Not, Hulbert, had just been born, I had no job and no money. I had to write Mrs. Burroughs's jewelry and my watch in order to buy food. I finished poverty and I would have liked to put my books on the pay basis and make literary is an honorable estate. It is an honorable estate, but I prefer to write more. There is nothing honorable or fine about it.

To be poor is quite bad enough. But to be poor and without hope—well, the only way to understand it is to be it.

I got writer's cramp answering blind ads and wrote a story about cleaning carpets. At last I got placed as an accountant for a lead pencil company. I borrowed office space, and, while sub-agents were out, my accountant-secretary to act as shorthand, I started to write my first story.

I knew nothing about the technique of story writing and now after eighteen years of writing, I still know nothing about the technique of story writing. Editors, who are the publishers of my new novel, "Tarzan and the Lost Empire," tell me are thirty-one books by me. I had never met an editor or even author, outside of Chicago, or a publication, and I had no idea of how to submit a story or what I could expect in payment. Had I known anything about it at all I would never have thought of submitting half a novel.

Thomas Newell Metcalf, who was then the editor of All-Story Magazine, published by Munsey (work me that by Hoe) liked the first half of the story and the second was so good he thought he might use it. He did, and for this and the management, I would never have delivered the story and my writing career would have ended right there if I had not been writing because of my urge to write and because I had a little money ahead. I was writing because I had a wife and baby to support and because I thought my work still without money.

HEROES OF OLD WEST IN NEW CONTROVERSY

Critics Oppose "LaVerendrye" as Name of Churchill's Main Avenue Favor Radisson

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 7.—Historians and history students of Manitoba are threatened today with being involved in a controversy about the name of a new existing street in his suburb northern town. Misty records of heroes of the early west are being called into question as a cause is sought for the avenue that is to be the lake-shore drive of prairie Churchill on the Bay.

"Avenue La Verendrye," announced Hon. D. G. McKenzie, Minister of Mines and Natural Resources, "will be the name of the broad drive which will run along between the motel town and the park on the sand beach at Hudson Bay." He said Beach Ave. Munck, Danish explorer of three centuries ago, Kelsey, first white man to see the Saskatchewan valley, and Governor Knight, who died in the west, would also be honored by new Churchill streets bearing their names.

"The unique plans for Churchill town, with its broad central spaces, wide streets, and cozy man-or-type terraces, lend themselves admirably to the notion of linking to the present with street names the old explorers of princes by which we promptly approved. But sudden criticism was what was defending approval — met the title of "Avenue La Verendrye."

Promptly a Manitoban criticised the name, saying it was based on the map drafted by S. E. McColl, director of provincial surveys, and that the name "La Verendrye" with only one "a" was correct. And then came a scurry of comment. The lake shore drive be called for Pierre Esprit Radisson, Sieur de Radisson Bay for years.

In Winnipeg they saw Hudson Bay, it is mentioned by the backers of Radisson, as one of his most applauded as far north as The Pas, where the 511-mile Hudson Bay rail way starts its north-east run over the muskeg to Churchill. Admitted-ly La Verendrye discovered Rock of the Red and Assiniboine rivers while Winnipeg rose to be Manitoba's capital, but his critics hold that given his name as right to be the name of the main street of the province port.

But "that magnificent old ruffian" Radisson, his supporters say in the bid for modern fame, spent forty years of a life-time brimful of adventure in and around the north-west. "Had it not been for Radisson there might not be today any Hudson's Bay Company," it is claimed by the Radissonites. "He started his will upon Bay events by ruse by strategy, by cunning, by force and by strait sense."

Meanwhile the La Verendrye men smarted little. They decry the critics as holding up for unearned honor a man whose allegiance was first to England was a bandied pawn in the great game of diplomacy. They question Radisson's permanency, his dependability, even his bravery in the face of the disturbing events in the seventeenth century days when Prince of Wales at Churchill finished a different flag sometimes there within a worried year.

The fact that Radisson was the means of awakening England to the great wealth to be derived from furs in the Hudson Bay region, with the consequent formation of the Hudson's Bay company under his inspiration, does not entitle him to recognition ahead of La Verendrye on the map of Churchill," Mr. McColl considered.

The street names selected for Churchill are not of purely local significance," he declared. "Such outstanding explorers as Hudson, Franklin and Thompson were not particularly associated with the port of Churchill. The fact that any one passed through Churchill or resided there for a short period would not necessarily give a claim for recognition, but the pioneer work that all these men have done in exploring and opening up the west is worthy of commemoration."

The government has gone no farther than to admit, through Mr. McColl, that "there may be a difference of opinion." And the difference of opinion continues to exhibit itself while surveyors and the base-lines for the town-survey and plots for a modern town on the shore of the blue Bay by next summer.

Saskatoon to Have Social Aid Bureau

Saskatoon, Sask., Aug. 7. — Ten years of discussion and agitation on the part of Saskatoon's Council of Women will culminate August 14 with the arrival of Miss Agnes Thomson, of New York, in this northern Saskatchewan city. She will organize here a social service bureau.

Born in Owen Sound, Ont., Miss Thomson was educated in Ontario schools and at the University of Toronto. She did a great deal of work among children and foreign-speaking groups in New York, journeyed to England for further experience, and returned to New York. She will commence work on social plans immediately on her arrival here.

BOY SUDDENLY SANK TO DEATH

Brockville, Ont., Aug. 7.—Alexander Smook, aged 14, Toronto, met death suddenly on Thursday at Grippet Lake, rear of Leeds and Lansdowne township, where he had gone to attend a picnic of the Baptist class of Athens. Although said to have been an excellent swimmer, the boy sank without warning and his body had been recovered after diving by his companion, Stanley Hopkins, son of Mr. Addison. Attempts at resuscitation were unavailing. Dr. J. S. Young, Seeley's Bay for an hour and a half worked while the boy, a stepson of Rev. Mr. Klochoff, missionary to the Ukrainians in Toronto, lay on the sand. Interment at the farm of W. H. Willson at Addison.

BOY IS DROWNED

Kingston, Aug. 6.—Word was received here that a 15-year-old boy, Reginald Hall, of 1 Cowan Avenue, Toronto, was drowned at Sandy Beach, Stoney Point, Scott's Bay and Lyndhurst Wednesday afternoon. Grippen Lake is about 20 miles from Athens.

According to meagre details which were received regarding Mr. Hall's death, the young lad, who was visiting in the district with his parents, when he went beyond his depth and was drowned before help could reach him. It was understood that the body was recovered at once. The body is being sent to Toronto. No inquest will be held.

ORIGIN OF ICEBERGS MENACE OF ATLANTIC

Icebergs All of Land Origin, Big Arctic Bergs Come From Ice-Sheet of Greenland

Manchester, England, Aug. 6 — (CP)—Robert Stenhouse, Manchester-born head of the Department of Geography, University of Sheffield, has given new impetus to the Greenland origin of icebergs.

"Icebergs are all of land origin, and practically all seaward ends of glaciers that have calved off through the buoyancy of the sea," the glacier has flowed outwards and downwards from its gathering ground at high Arctic lands. All iceberg is built entirely of consolidated snow, but nevertheless has a hardness that is amply sufficient to be a menace to the safety of a ship.

"The icebergs of the North Atlantic are from the seaward ends of western glaciers of Greenland. Most of this ice, after it has entered and meets the waters of Baffin Bay, Davis Strait and the Labrador Sea, their icebergs. The bergs drift with the current across the bay and southward along the coasts of Baffin Island and Labrador, eventually to the Atlantic ocean. In the North Atlantic to the routes between Europe and northern North America ports. They first appear in February, but are most numerous ice-free months, but on the Grand Race (Newfoundland) Europe track there is none entirely free from ice. South of lat. 40 deg. N, bergs are rarely seen. The area where they congregate, break up, and melt lies east of the Grand Banks between lat. 48 deg. and 43 deg. N. long. and covers an area of some 75,000 square miles.

"The annual variation in the number of bergs and the date of their arrival has been attributed to many causes. This year abnormal the lack of bergs has brought the question into prominence. Of course, as usual, the influence of the Gulf Stream has been invoked, but there are other causes that may be equally or more potent in this respect. The passage of the bergs begins when summer comes in the North not only allow calving to take place from the ends of the glaciers, but also liberate the bergs that have been imprisoned in the sea-ice during the winter. A prolonged winter season of firm-ice would prevent the usual generation of bergs. This is what materially happens in the North of Greenland. Another possibility is involved in the suggestion that an unusually large number of bergs stranded in shallow water off the coast of Labrador and so been checked in their passage South."

Red-Headed Gorilla is Quest of Italian African Explorer

Hopes Discovery Will Disprove Darwin's Evolution Theory

New York, Aug. 6 (UP)—Commander Attilio Gatti, Italian war ace and leader of seven expeditions into the heart of Africa, announced Wednesday he is sailing this month for a trip into the Belgian Congo in quest of a red-headed gorilla, which he hopes will aid him in his work of disproving Darwin's theory of evolution.

No living man has ever captured a gorilla with red hair, according to Gatti, who is credited with having killed the largest gorilla ever seen. His prize specimen, six and a half feet high and weighing 482 pounds, was bagged last January in the Congo country.

Commander Gatti is like Trader Horn and Henry Franklin, the Brooklyn matador, in one respect. He likes to pull up his trouser legs and show off his scars. He did it Wednesday. He showed where two snakes, deadly species of the cobra, had bitten him, and he maintains that he is the only man who has ever been bitten twice by these reptiles and, without benefit of serum, lived to tell the tale. African natives, he said, inserted red-hot irons in the wounds.

Last January, while in the Congo, Commander Gatti was talking with some of his pigmy followers and suddenly a big red-haired gorilla they had encountered. This creature, they said, stood head and shoulders above all the big black gorillas.

So, as a representative of the University of Florence and the Philadelphia Academy of Science, the commander is going out this Fall to look for him. He is firm in his belief that Darwin was wrong, and he thinks that Darwin can best be defeated by an examination of the primates.

Darwin, he said, explains everything with the word "instinct." "But what is this instinct?" demanded Gatti. "This instinct, I think, to hold Prosqu'ile.

GRILLS FAMILY REUNION HELD

Ideal outing weather and a happy-chosen locality for a picnic — Twelve O'Clock Point —helped to make the annual reunion of members of the Grills family one of the most successful of recent years. Sports and fairs were organized. From Campbellford, Trenton, Belleville and nearby points guests came and a pleasant afternoon was spent.

Races and races of all kinds were arranged for the younger members of the party and the splendid bathing facilities made swimming a popular part of the afternoon's sports program.

A chicken dinner was served, the delicious menu being provided. During the afternoon new officers for the association were appointed. Mr. William Scott of Campbellford was elected president, and Miss Violet Dunk, of Campbellford, secretary-treasurer. It was decided to hold the re-union next year at

WANT ALL AFRIKAANS FOR OFFICIAL FORMS

Dutch-Speaking South Africans Organized in Support of Their Racial Tongue

Cape Town, South Africa, Aug. 7(By The Canadian Press)—"Kultuurdag" in the name of a movement organized by the Dutch-speaking community here, with a number of societies co-operating for the encouragement of the use of Afrikaans instead of English. At a recent meeting in the Cape Town City Hall to celebrate "Kultuurdag" the chairman expressed gratitude at the fine support being accorded the movement and requested all present to act according to a pamphlet distributed.

This document urges Afrikaaners to speak Afrikaans exclusively; (a) in making telephone calls; (b) in dealing with any official or bank; (c) in sport; (d) in shopping; (e) in addressing strangers—using English if this proves necessary; (f) in speaking to professional men, such as doctors; (g) in booking theatre seats; (h) in trains and all other public places as well as in the home.

The pamphlet advises its readers to refuse any official form filled in through the medium of the English language, and to claim accounts, receipts, advertisements and tickets as goods in Afrikaans. Every Afrikaaner should demand Afrikaans cheque books, forms and other documents from banks.

Professor H. G. Botha, Superintendent General of Education, in a recent speech, stressed the right of Afrikaanders to propagate their own language and culture without incurring any suspicion of enmity towards others. Nothing exclusive was intended. As an instance he advocated undiminished attention to English culture. It would be cutting their own throats if they neglected this. He was also in favor of at least one modern language being taught, in addition to the two official languages, at the schools. Moreover Latin should not be jettisoned.

Dr. D. F. Maclan, Minister of Education, pleaded for the development of natural diversity which, he argued, could be reconciled with true unity. Everywhere, in the course of the evolutionary process, one saw new forms and species coming to life. There was a divine thought behind all this. Considering the severe handicap under which anything Afrikaans had labored, compared with the two older cultures in this country—English and High Dutch—its rapid rise was almost miraculous.

While emphasizing the great value of a national language, especially as a unifying force, Dr. Maclan pointed out that if it were isolated from other cultural achievements, a language would eventually become atrophied. Hebrew, Latin, Greek, were dead languages and yet lived, because the nations that had created them had enshrined in them their respective cultural achievements, and still served as guiding stars to mankind in different spheres. It should therefore be their object to achieve great things in science and other departments of human endeavor, so that their language might be vitalized, and the people men inspired to ever greater effort. He concluded with a reference to international anthem especially urgent.

Albertan to Head Siamese Air Mail

Edmonton, Alta., Aug. 7 (By The Canadian Press)—Pitting tribute to a pioneer of the north and was tendered Bishop H. A. Gray, aged cleric of the Anglican church, when members of the Northern Alberta Old Timers' Association met here recently to bid farewell to His Lordship and his wife. Gray will leave his log cabin in the exhibition grounds farewell addresses were made by prominent people of Edmonton who wished Bishop Gray bon voyage on his return to England after 25 years of service in northern Canada.

Bishop Gray's health has forced him to leave the rugged Canadian climate to take up his abode in his native England. The old-timers presented him and his wife with a beautiful Indian robe, framed pictures of the log cabin and life membership badges in the association were also presented to the guests of honor. An illuminated address read by J. A. McCool, secretary of the Old-Timers' Association, testified to the many valuable services rendered by Bishop Gray and Mrs. Gray as head of the Anglican church in Alberta, placed in

Beat the heat
WITH A TREAT

TOMORROW, beat the heat. Start at breakfast with a bowl of crisp Kellogg's Corn Flakes and cool milk or cream. It's a delicious flavor treat. And here's the logic of it:

Kellogg's Corn Flakes are so light and easy to digest, they furnish energy without heating up the body. They help you feel cool.

Kellogg's are great for warm-weather lunches too. Delicious with fruits or honey. Fine for the children's supper. Ideal for a late snack. Always crisp and appetising. Try them tomorrow and see if you don't feel fitter and fresher and cooler.

COPY OF OLD NEWSPAPER ON VIEW AT MADOC

School Bells Ring For Visitors at Madoc

An interesting relic, the property of Miss Alice Wood, was on exhibition at the Registry Office during the Reunion, that of a copy of "The Star," a weekly paper, 2 1-2 by 4 inches, four pages, published in Madoc by Willis Wood, a school boy in October, 1871.

The Queen entered court mourning when Garfield died. Severe cold with frosts, has visited the northern part of this continent this week. The speakers at the Social Science Congress in Toronto were mostly in favor of free trade. So far south as Virginia the tobacco crop has probably been injured. Discussion in the bank of England has risen to 5 per cent. There are now 10 cities in Ontario:—Belleville, Brantford, Hamilton, Kingston, London, Ottawa, St. Catharines, St. Thomas, and Toronto. Diphteria is making fearful ravages in Russia. 17 per cent of the cases are fatal.

Tree Planting

In the business part of the village they would keep much of the dust from the shop and also injuring the goods. They would afford a pleasing shelter from the heat and a most valuable defence against fire, while they would add immensely to the beauty of our principal thoroughfare. Trees besides streets they would prove equally ornamental, and being somewhat less exposed to mal-treatment, are likely soonest to be found. There is nothing we are aware of that is for less outlay, would yield so good a return. We hope the Council will take a deeper interest in the matter. As soon as the leaves fall we are taking probably the best time to begin the work and we hope many will be helped to turn their attention in this direction.

School Bells Ring

School on Monday morning was a "Howling Success," under the tuition of Mrs. Jno. McCaffrey, and Miss Martha Whytock, the school was called for the o'clock and soon before that hour the pupils were gathering and greeting the schoolmates of yore.

Harold Cross played "Hookey." Alex. Wellington, Charlie Whytock and Jim Burns came barefooted. Charlie Casement (as usual) had two rosy apples for the teacher. Several of the little brought flowers for the teacher. Annie Barnum and Ella Burns presented a request for a slate-rag to Jim Bernard tables, and were allowed to go so.

A class in reading was called, but was permanently dismissed after a second trial until the teacher should have time to teach them to read better. The spelling class was not a very prominent success as a class but caused unlimited fun.

The geography class was enjoyed by all. Alice Wood drew a map of Hastings (with numerous ah hints from schoolmates) unlimited criticism. Lottie McGregor drew a map of Ontario but couldn't ask her class mates in any particular. Mary Watson recited "Mary had a little lamb," but received very little attention, everyone being busy talking to some one else.

The largest family representation present, of those who had attended Madoc Public School was claimed by the Whytock's of whom was present the audience and were given hearty applause, cheers, and "For he's a jolly good fellow." Families present representing three generations were Mrs. Wm. Richmond, her daughter Mrs. Bert Bailey and Madeline Bailey, and Wm. H. Brooks, his daughter Mrs. A. Smith and Harley Smith.

A large basket of beautiful basket of gladioli and an ovation was tendered Mrs. Wm. Mackintosh as the oldest of Madoc's teachers present. Mrs. Mackintosh thanked all and contributed a list of the Principals of the Madoc Model School.

Mrs. Nicol (nee Miss Susan Moore was another of the oldest teachers was also tendered applause.

George Rollins and Mrs. Sine contributed stories of the discipline of the same under some of the old time teachers, Barney Richmond told of some early recollections, and Mr. Thomas Campbell told of the former schools and of some of the teachers.

The teachers of the day, Mrs. McCaffrey and Mrs. Lidstone were chosen, so related the chairman, Mr. Jno. West, as the first class for girls to teach in the Madoc School, there having been a by-law in force debarring Madoc girls from the position of teacher.

Beautiful baskets of Gladioli were presented to the teachers in token of appreciation for their willingness to help out in this way. Mrs. Lidstone, being called away the evening before left a request that her flowers be given to her sister, who is very ill, so these were presented to Mrs. Caldwell Hill for Mrs. Jas. Hill, by Mr. George West, President of the Community Club. School Days" was rendered and "The Maple Leaf" both heartily sung, (regardless of time and tune) ended the session. The pupils were marched out in line and down the street in good old style. At the four corners a large circle was formed and after again singing "School Days" the time was changed to "Auld Lang Syne" and the Friendship circle taken and held three hearty repetitions of the Chorus. So ended a school session that will be long remembered by Madoc's Old School Boys and Girls.

School notes—Among the old teachers present were—Miss Ira Brakell, Mrs. Trudeau, (Miss St. Charles Mrs. Nicol (Miss Moore) Mrs. Mack intosh (Miss Orvis) and Mrs. McCaffrey (Miss Whytock).

Some cases of discipline occured Alex. Wellington and Charlie Casement, Charlie Whytock were caught in the cigarettes were confiscated, later given to Allie Wood for excellent map drawing (a map which is a prized souvenir of the School Reunion.)

Some of the girls coming to school in silk stockings were ordered to take them off. Gum chewing was sternly punished while quarrelling and friction among the pupils, though present, was quickly detected by the vigilant teacher.

Emily Ballard and Cecil Caldwell were in attendance with the ever present licorice pipes. Lottie Whytock turned sky and wanted her big sister to take her home.

Only four of Mrs. Mackintosh's former pupils were present, Mrs. A. Watson, Miss Wood, Mrs. H. Conbor, and one other.

Miss Ira Brakell, former pupils gathered at noon to be photographed.

Those registering for school on Tuesday, August 4th, Old Boys' Reunion were:—

FOOLS UNDERTAKERS

Posing As Bereaved Father, Man Orders Casket

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—Orville Moffat, 25, was arrested on a brand new cheque-passing racket. Appearing at an undertaker's parlor he would order with every semblance of grief a casket for his poor, dead daughter. Cheque tendered in payment would be $25 or so more than the cost of the coffin. Orville would pocket the $25, and the undertaker would have a hard time delivering the casket to a fictitious address.

A dozen of these worked one day and succeeded the first time. Arrested on his second attempt, he broke down and confessed today. He was remanded a week for sentence. He has no daughter.

GRANT FLEMING, M.D., ASSOCIATE SECRETARY

FIT EVERY DAY

In our effort to prevent disease, we sometimes forget or overlook that what we are seeking to attain is a condition of health, or to be physically and mentally fit every day of our lives.

No one wants to be ill; the suffering that accompanies disease is an experience that we prefer not to go through. The damage done to the bodies of those who recover may become a more or less permanent handicap throughout life. There are a large number of persons, who are not suffering from any actual disease, but who certainly do not enjoy good health.

Health is not a matter that we can readily define. The person who has health is certainly free from disease but, in addition, he enjoys that sense of well being that comes to the mouth of the waiting in perfect harmony of all parts of the body.

There is no good reason why most of us should not enjoy health every day. Healthy days should not be the exception, they should be the rule. We can enjoy good health every day providing we are willing to make the necessary effort in this direction.

It has been stated that public health is purchasable. This means that where people are willing to support the money required through taxation, they can purchase, within limitations, protection from disease. Personal health cannot be purchased in such a simple, direct manner, because personal health is all health. Health is to be found in one's manner of living.

If you want health every day, if you want to enjoy life and to be as useful and happy as you can be, you must spend time not money, on your health. You must take the time necessary from work to get out of doors by day. You must take the time required to get the rest and sleep which your body needs. In addition, you must be prepared to let your intelligence guide you as to the foods you should eat and as to the proper hours of life.

To live healthfully does not mean to live a restricted, uninteresting life. It may mean that you must get up half an hour earlier so that you have time to walk to the office and thus secure the exercise and fresh air which you need. It may mean too that you have to cut down a bit on some food and make sure that fresh fruits and green vegetables are part of your daily diet.

It is just as easy and pleasant to follow the simple rules of healthy living as it is to live otherwise. The results gained make it well worth while to do so. These results are more years of health, more years of efficiency, more days when you feel the joy of living, greater happiness through better work and service to others.

TEARS ROOF OFF

Guelph, Aug. 7.—Sweeping across the eastern section of the city early Thursday night, an electrical storm, travelling in a narrow arc and accompanied by a wind of cyclonic proportions, tore off the roof of the warehouse of the Dolphin Store Company, Toronto. It was estimated that the damage would reach $4,000. Sections of the roof, which was carried ninety feet, just missed crashing into the new canmilling plant. Half an hour later fifty men were at work clearing away the debris in preparation for a start on the reconstruction of the roof tomorrow. The damage was fully covered by insurance.

HAS PIN IN LUNG

Miss Gladys Morris Will Go to Philadelphia for Operation

Oshawa, Aug. 7.—After an X-ray examination revealed a pin lodged in her lung, it was decided to send Miss Gladys Morris, daughter of Alderman George Morris, to Philadelphia, where she will undergo a serious and delicate operation. Miss Morris had been in poor health for the past two weeks, and when the X-ray examination was made the pin was found. Apparently it had been swallowed while an operation was being performed to remove it.

Windsor, Ont., AUG 7 (By The Canadian Press)—Asserting that a steady stream of unemployed men, in some cases with their families, was coming to Windsor from other parts of Canada and from outside provinces, Mayor Cecil of Windsor today issued a warning to unemployed of other cities to stay away from Windsor.

Neither John nor relief are sent while here, Mayor Cecil stated, "The city is having trouble enough to care for its home folks' needs. Those are in need, and no relief whatever will be granted new comers," he stated.

"LADYE'S MORALE" EXPRESSIVE FILM

Grace Moore's Voice Lends Rare Quality to Vivid Talkie Romance

Romance, drama, music, and spectacle are all blended in the advents of a brilliant lady personality to the talking screen, in the person of Grace Moore, famous American soprano and Metropolitan star. In her first Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "A Lady's Morale," a romance of the days of the Napoleonic wars, and playing at the Capitol Theatre for four days, beginning tonight, she literally brings to life one of the greatest characters in the history of music, and through her tells one of the world's sweetest love stories. Miss Moore is a gorgeous new screen personality, and her glorious voice is hers, in the new medium, to sing that is an integral part of the drama, and ranges from Verdi opera-like opera arias to the simple "Lonely Hour" written by Carrie Jacobs Bond.

The picture itself is really a new type of screen entertainment, elaborating the principle first invoked in "The Bugle Song." As in the Swedish opera star, Miss Moore is seen in operatic triumphs, an intensely dramatic scene being that in which she loses her voice following a strenuous rendition of the "Casta Diva" from the opera "Norma."

Reginald Denny plays the composer-lover, giving a splendidly balanced performance as the lover who, knowing he is doomed to blindness, sacrifices himself on the altar of his loved one's career. William Henry is seen in the interesting role as the late P. T. Barnum, in scenes showing his presentation of Jenny Lind in New York. Other clever players in the cast include Jobyna Howland, as the droll companion, Gus Shilling; Henry Georgi as Marion, Paul Porcasi, Giovanni Martino, Rudi Rosing, Jean Stanford, Mary Wilson and Judith Vosselli.

The settings are elaborate, including replicas of famous opera houses, Barnum's famous "Asiatic Garden" in New York at the height of its success, Bungay's palaces and other lavish details. Gorgeous costumes, gatherings of Europe's notables of the day, and other brilliant spectacles, add glamour to the film. Edward Franklin directed with the same deft artistry that marked "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney."

Vaudeville Popular

A large crowd of ladies received the R.F.N.B. Silverware last night at the Capitol Theatre. A phone message received early in the evening from a resident of Picton further testifies to the proven quality of this dinnerware.

ANOTHER DISTINCTIVE WEEKEND PROGRAMME AT THE CAPITOL

Stage and screen are always fascinating. Such a portrayal usually involves a number of lightning changes, with the performer walks off in one garb and immediately comes back dressed in a strikingly different fashion. He speaks in a distinctively seen character who is supposed to be his dual self and then goes back to voice his answer to his question. It is an intriguing simulation.

Rapid changes are seen to great advantage in "Brothers," the Columbia feature comedian starring Bert Lytell scheduled to come to the Capitol Theatre on Saturday for two days. In this film a twin unlike in manner and appearance character is interpreted by Bert Lytell.

He plays the part of Bob Naughton, son of wealthy foster parents —he is an aristocrat to his finger tips, perfectly dressed, faultless in his dictions and a rising young lawyer in the city where he lives. As the same time, and as effectively he is young Eddie Connolly, piano player in City Joe's Cafe. He is an untutored, uncultured lad of the streets whose dress is shabby, language that of a Bowery character the very antithesis of his brother.

The film adaption of "Brothers" with Bert Lytell in the leading role follows his playing of the same role on the New York stage for a brilliant and successful season and his equally triumphant presentation of the play on the West Coast.

A cast of well known players support Bert Lytell in this film. Among them are Dorothy Revier, William Morris, Richard Tucker and Claire Maynard. It was directed by Walter Lang.

"ADVENTURES IN AFRICA

In addition to "Brothers" another episode from the intensely "Adventures in Africa" series is included in the Capitol's Saturday and Monday programme. The episode, "The Lion Hunt" gives us some wonderful shots of the natives' methods of cornering the King of the Jungle.

"My Mistake," a vaudefilm and the Pathe Sound News completes the programme.

CHARLES RUGGLES AT BELLE IN LAUGH-FILLED COMLDY

Charles Ruggles, the dry-l but cherubic-faced comedian of "Young Man of Manhattan" "Her Wedding Night" and "Charley's Aunt" is to be seen at the Belle, today and Saturday, matinee daily, in his first starring picture "The Girl Habit."

In this picture, which was made at Paramount's New York studio, Ruggles is definitely launched by his sponsors into a career of stardom which will carry him to the forefront of screen personalities.

Ruggles has well-merited the distinction of stardom. His career has been featured by hard work and painstaking care. At a youthful age he began his stage career in San Francisco. It was not long before he was starring in musicals in New York and on the road. Among his biggest successes were "Sailing Bullet" and "Queen High."

When he played the part of the drunken reporter in "Gentlemen of the Press"—his first talkie, Ruggles won the favor of film audiences everywhere. Another distinctive characterization followed in "The Lady Lies' in which he portrayed the bored but beneficient bachelor. He was placed on long term contract as a result of this splendid work, and two great impersonations followed in "Roadhouse Nights" and "Honor Among Lovers."

In "The Girl Habit" which is out-and-out farce with one laugh tumbling quickly on the trailing giggles of its predecessor, Ruggles is seen in a role tailored to fit him, allows him full play for his ready talents.

He is the wealthy young bachelor engaged to a pretty girl (Sue Carroll). The fact that Charlie is so much in love with the pretty miss makes it difficult to keep the engagement from disrupting. Enter Mae Busch who alienate Charlie's wayward affections is Tamara Geva, the famous dancer of "The Last Waltz" who here makes her first appearance in the talkies.

Donald Meek, a favorite character actor of old and who's always the part of Charlie's manservant. The supporting cast from Ida-to-Jo is enacted by Margaret Dumont—who was last seen as the bedeviled mother in the Marx Brothers' "Cocoanuts" Mark Brothers.

Marmora

Word reached Marmora on Saturday evening of the sudden death that day at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ed. Williams, Portland, Oregon, of Michael S. Doupe. The deceased was born in Ireland on October 30th 1857, and spent the greater portion of his life as a blacksmith in Marmora Village. About five years ago he retired from his own business after conducting the same for a number of years. Previous for a great many years he had worked for Dan Dunlap and later for a Mr. Cowan. He was twice married, his first wife predeceasing him early in life. Surviving are two children by the first marriage.

Besides his widow he is survived by four children, Osborne and Fred of Detroit, Adelina of Portland, Oregon, of Michael S. Doupe. The deceased was a member of Marmora Lodge No. 494 A.F. & A.M. The funeral took place on Thursday upon the arrival of the 1:10 p.m. train, the remains from Toronto, the cortege proceeding to the Marmora Village Church for service which will be conducted by the Rector, Rev. H. Bell. Interment will take place in Marmora Protestant cemetery.

MRS. LETITIA McCANN

On Sunday, August 2nd at her home in Marmora Village, Mrs. Letitia widow of the late William McCann passed away in her 85th year. She was the daughter of the late John and Jane Carey of Marmora Township and had resided all her life in this community. She was of a kind disposition and retained a large circle of friends.

She is survived by three sons Charles of Madoc Township, David of Oshawa and Thomas, Marmora; Mrs. Arthur Peck, of Madoc Township and Mrs. Wesley Weatherall of Picton.

Her husband predeceased her about five years ago. The funeral was held at the residence on Tuesday afternoon. Interment in the adjoining cemetery.

ROGELL GOES TO DETRIOT TIGERS

Toronto, Ont., Aug 7—Billy Rogell, shortstop of the Leafs, has been sold to the Detroit Tigers of the American League. He will go immediately to Detroit in exchange for Shortstop Bervert and some cash. Rogell has been up with the International batting leaders most of the current season. He has been playing classy shortstop for Detroit part of this season, having come from the American Association.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Nicolson, Centenary, Third Concession of Sidney on Monday August 3rd, when about seventy friends gathered to tender them a miscellaneous shower to honour Ruth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicolson, who is leaving this community for her new home at Halsey. Ruth was the recipient of many valuable and useful gifts. After the gifts were received, Ruth thanked those assembled for their kindness in remembering her and invited them to her new home. All sang "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows," after which lunch was served and enjoyed by all. Best wishes for a happy future was expressed by the community.

Grade Crossings to be Eliminated as Means of Relieving Idle Men

Hon. Leopold Macaulay Says Work May Be Undertaken

FUND RENEWED

Work Will Start at Once Word Comes From Ottawa

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 8—Grade separation as a means of relieving unemployment may be undertaken in Ontario, Hon. Leopold Macaulay, Provincial Minister of Highways, announced.

He said he was in touch with Federal authorities at Ottawa now in regard to Ontario's road programme. He expected word that the grade separation fund exhausted last year would soon be replenished. Work would be started to eliminate dangerous crossings on receipt of word from Ottawa that fund was renewed, he said.

THREE MEN HAVE BEEN DEPORTED

Victoria, Aug. 8—Three agitators arrested in Vancouver recently in connection with Communist demonstrations have been deported by the Federal Government, it was understood at the legislative buildings here.

It is not proposed to divulge the identity of these men, and they have been ordered to quit the country. No court proceedings are necessary in the case of deportation under Canadian Government regulations. It was explained. Orders have been issued to effect the following it was stated at the legislative buildings.

ARGUMENTS ON EMPIRE ISSUE

Professor Underhill Alleges Insincerity of Imperial Free-Traders

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 8—Members of the Institute of Politics were told Friday that much of the fervor for Imperial trade development with talk of interchange and Empire-free trade, in bush Britain and the Dominions, was "insincere."

The conclusion of the Dominions to Great Britain and the Empire was discussed at the first of a series of three general conferences on the "Future of the British Commonwealth of Nations" by Professor —an R. E. Corbett, of McGill University.

The discussion was purely a "family" party in which representatives of the Dominions and of the United Kingdom exchanged views frankly. The atmosphere, however, was urbane and good-humored, the speakers meeting their points with a minimum of acerbity and a maximum of force and clarity. To the end, while there was disagreement on some points, there was general unity among the spokesmen for the Dominions that there was no possibility of breaking up the British Empire. Those who participated, besides Dean Corbett, were W. A. Riddell, Professor of History at Toronto; Professor Vincent Harlow, Oxford; W. Cross, of Springfield College, and Professor Lionel Curtis, of the London School of Economics.

Dr. Underhill said it was a bad habit of Englishmen to speak of "Imperial trade" and "Imperial policy"; when they meant "English defence and English trade." The reason why Canada did not contribute to the upkeep of the British Navy as the feeling that, even if Canada left the British Empire, the cost of maintaining the British Navy would not disappear. Professor Underhill who said that the fervor for Imperial trade development in both Britain and the Dominion was insincere. In Canada the late Sir John Macdonald and Sir Laurier, he said, first instituted the British preference in 1897, "the real functions of the preference had been to serve as a safety valve for grievances in general and farmers and consumers in general and in compensation for the high protection given at their expense to the manufacturers. He declared that in England, where Empire free trade was a camouflage for pure protection, the same was generally it wanted duties on industrial products, "but not on wheat and meat against foreign foodstuffs duties against raw materials, only duties that could be of any use to the rest of the Empire."

I believe marriage to be the best and most important thing that man can exist between two human beings.—Bertrand Russell.

Nationalization of Scheme Sought

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 8.—(By The Canadian Press)—Organized labor in Canada will sponsor a move to have the Beauharnois project become a national undertaking. This was decided at a meeting of the Allied Trades and Labor Association held here Friday night. Scoring the "unconscionable" activities of the Government of the Parliamentary Committee on the Beauharnois deal, a resolution passed at the meeting stated that the Beauharnois project was for the people's good. As such it should be publicly owned, and there should be no more meeting ground for the Dominion and the Province of Quebec.

DEBT COLLECTION AND ITS ABUSES

Halifax, Aug. 8—"While imprisonment for debt was long since abolished in this country, I find that in the working out of the Codification Act in the city of Halifax the abolition of this grievance was only in name," says a report made by R. H. Murray, K.C., to the Attorney-General of Nova Scotia. Mr. Murray investigated alleged abuses which have developed in connection with the collection of debts which fall under the statute, in Halifax. The report was made public yesterday.

TOMATOES IN PLENTY TODAY

Asked For Field-Acked For Field-Grown

Bright, cool weather brought out a large number to the local market today and there was a plentitude of produce of all kinds offered. Vegetables were the principal articles of trade and practically every kind was on sale. Tomatoes were in large quantity made their appearance Saturday, all being field grown. They sold readily for 30c a peck and in box lots at 15c. Corned beets, radishes, lettuce, were 5c a bunch, cabbage 5c and 10c a head and celery 10c a bunch. Cucumbers were plentiful at 3 and 5c a piece and pickling cucumbers brought 15c a box. A few shelled peas were offered at 25c a quart and beans brought 5c and 10c a box, according to quality.

Fruit was another article readily purchased and the market was surveyed with baskets containing all kinds of peaches, and peaches at 65c and 75c a basket and plums at 50c a basket. Some very fine shipments and were slightly under grade but were sold readily and the buyers were not fooled. Huckleberries were also plentiful as the season is later this year than previously probably due to the fact that the crop was heavier than for some years past. They sold for 15c a quart, which is somewhat cheaper than last week. Apples were more plentiful and better quality than last week. Red Astrakan and St. Lawrence were offered at 50c a basket per bushel. Potatoes retailed at 25c peck and were of fine quality.

Eggs sold steadily at 20c and butter was more picked near the close of the market for 18 cents a pound. Butter was plentiful at 20c a pound and honey sold for 20c a comb and 25c a jar of extracted honey. The market was aglow with beautiful flowers, gladioli being the favorite with marshal counters many customers were seen walking through the aisles, their hands filled with the splendid blooms. They sold for six stalks for 25c.

TALL TOMATO PLANT.

Nearly seven feet tall, a tomato plant growing in the garden of Arthur Wynne, of South Park street, is attracting the interested attention of many amateur and professional gardeners. The plant grew from one seed and bears numerous clusters of tomatoes, each bunch having seven tomatoes, some ripe and ready for the table. The plant is supported by an iron pipe on account of its great height. Wynne considers his plant somewhat of a curiosity and invites those who have other amateur gardeners if they have anything to match it in the tomato plant line.

GIVEN SUSPENDED SENTENCE.

William Cox arrested late night on Monday morning, appeared today in police court, charged with driving a car while intoxicated. He pleaded guilty and was given a suspended sentence of one year and also ordered to pay the costs of the court, which was paid into court.

REMANDED A WEEK

Alfred Sutton, Cataraqui, arrested in Kingston, appeared in Belleville police court today charged with obtaining money and goods under false pretences by means of a worthless cheque. He was remanded for one week in custody. It is alleged he gave Mrs. J. Elliott of Sine a cheque for $18.75 on which only $3 received and money and gasoline. The cheque was presented and there not sufficient funds and the charge followed.

ADOPT "PLANK" OF PROHIBITION

Disarmament Also Inserted in Indian Congress Platform

Bombay, India, Aug. 8 (AP). — Following United States' example the parliamentary committee of the Indian Nationalist Congress to day incorporated prohibition and disarmament as planks in the constitution which Mahatma Gandhi will submit at approaching round table conference in London.

The committee, a House of Representatives for endorsing the legislation of the Congress, also adopted as part of the magna charta a plan for universal accept for medicinal purposes, and state ownership of railways, steamships and transportation facilities.

"In order to terminate exploitation of the masses," the committee declared, "real economic freedom must include real economic freedom for India's starving millions." Gandhi was instructed to demand from the British among other things the following "fundamental rights":

Abolition of all debts incurred by the British in India during the last 150 years.

Protection of indigenous cloth and other native industries and the exclusion of foreign cloth.

Provision for the military training of citizens so as to maintain a means of national defense apart from standing military forces.

Right of every citizen to keep and bear arms.

Adoption of universal adult suffrage.

Creation of three primary education.

Reduction of all salaries to a maximum of 500 rupees monthly.

Freedom of labor from serfdom.

Special legislation respecting the rights and welfare of women and children workers.

Radical reforms in the present system of land tinure and revenue taxation.

Safeguards for the interests of industrial workers.

Interment took place on Tuesday, August 4th, in old St. Andrew's cemetery and service was conducted in the church of which deceased was a life-long member and an elder for many years.

He leaves to mourn his passing one son, Frederic William, also four daughters, Grace and Mrs. E. Leavens on the homestead, Mrs. W. Snider of Melrose and Mrs. Robt. McLaughlin of Tamworth, seven grandsons and two granddaughters also four great grandchildren.

The bearers were all grandsons namely, J. N. Leavens, A. M. Balcanquel, G. Snider, Donald Archer and Malcolm McLaughlin. One grandson, F. Snider of Toronto was unable to attend.

Until recent years the deceased took an active part in church work and a prominent interest in all community enterprises where his influence will be keenly missed.

The late Mr. Balcanquel was among the foremost farmers of the district for his interest in agriculture and stock raising, and was one of the first Hastings riding in the House of Commons in the interest of the Province of Ontario.

LATE WALTER BELNAP

Walter Belnap of Massassaga passed away at the Belleville General Hospital late Friday afternoon after a very short illness. Mr. Belnap was always been a resident of Prince Edward County all his life and had been engaged in the farming business during the most of his life. He was the son of the late Jarvis and Maria Belnap and was born in Rossmore 59 years ago.

Mr. Belnap was well known in the community in which he lived and his many friends will mourn his passing.

Besides a widow, he leaves to mourn, one daughter, Mrs. George Smith, of Belleville; two sons, Mrs. of Rochester, and Cecil, at home. One sister, Mrs. J. L. Simmons of Thorold and two brothers, William and Manley, both of Rossmore.

Mr. Belnap was a member of the United Church, Rossmore.

LATE WILLIAM DAVIS

The funeral of the late William Davis, who died as his home in Rossmore on Wednesday took place on under Masonic auspices from the C.N.R. station. Interment was made in family plot in Belleville cemetery. The Rev. Robt. Hall of John Street Church conducted the committal service. The pallbearers were selected by Wor. Bro. A. E. Barlow, Wor. Bro. Geo. Delmage and Bro. Wm. Bowerman, Bro. W. Barlow.

The bearers were Messrs. E. Walsh-ley, J. A. M. Walmsley, J. O. Hertz, J. W. Cook, F. G. Chamberlain and C. Ashley.

The funeral was well attended and the many floral tributes went to show the high esteem in which the late Mr. Davis held in the community in which he had lived.

MARGARET A. CAMPBELL

The funeral of the late Margaret A. Campbell was held yesterday afternoon from her late home on Brown Funeral Home to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church for service. The many beautiful floral tributes and the many friends of the deceased that attended the funeral went to show the high esteem in which Mrs. Campbell was held in this community. The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. W. S. MacTavish who spoke very highly of the deceased and the life that she had lived.

The bearers were, Harry Thompson, Wm. Leslie, John Maher, J. Campbell, Wm. McCreary and J. Alexander.

London, Aug. 8 (By George Hamilton Holden, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent) — Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson has handed an ultimatum to the leaders of Labor's left wing, the Independent Labor party, threatening Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, Rt. Hon. Mr. Henderson declared at the Labor party and on behalf of the Labor party executive that Henderson has daily spurned the rebel laborites they must either "get out or be prepared to be put out."

"The issue raised by refusal of the I. L. P. group parliamentarians to obey labor party discipline) is so vital to the future welfare of the parliamentary labor party," says Mr. Henderson in a letter to the independent labor party, "that it must be dealt with by the annual conference at Scarborough in October."

The trouble between the I. L. P. and the main Labor party, with which it is affiliated, has been brewing ever since the I. L. P. marched into battle in out their own banners. Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald and Philip Snowden were both keen members of the I. L. P. in its early days but both have resigned their membership.

BREACH IS HEALED

Melbourne, Australia, Aug. 8—(CP via Reuters)—The breach between New South Wales and the Commonwealth Loan Council has been healed. The Loan Council unanimously agreed to approve the issue of treasury bills to a total of $7,500,000 to cover the July monetary requirements of the state. The question of the cash requirements for each state government for August and subsequent months will be further considered next week.

VISION NORTH AS PLAYGROUND

Northern Municipalities Favor Development

Port Arthur, Ont., Aug. 8 (CP)—Development of Northern Ontario as a summer playground for tourists from America and other points entering the north as a whole were discussed here last night at a meeting of representatives of Port Arthur, Fort William and adjacent municipalities. Two representatives were also present from Sault Ste. Marie, J. A. McPhail and J. W. Curran.

The questions under discussion will be brought up for consideration at the Northern Ontario conference to be held at Sault Ste. Marie, August 20.

A request to the Dominion government for legislation to assist in the development of iron ore deposits in Northern Ontario and for the development of Lake Superior district as a summer playground for North America and establishment of a mining college school were all dealt with. The newsprint situation was also discussed but little is anticipated, will be left to the Provincial government.

Organization of a permanent publicity association for Northern Ontario is expected as a result of the day's meeting.

Saskatchewan Sees Further Frontier

Prince Albert, Sask., Aug. 8 — (By Staff Reporter) — Saskatchewan, heretofore regarded as purely mixed farming and timber area, is filled with bustling settlements if Mayor John Barnett's dream comes true. Deputy minister of natural resources of Saskatchewan, Major has completed tour of frontiery country north from Prince Albert and Lac La Ronge. He is a Crome and Lac la Ronge country.

A number of settlements, linked to the outside world by railway and other transportation facilities, situated in the Beaver River valley and along the Beaver river shores, are visioned by the deputy minister. He was enthusiastic regarding the area north of Prince Albert, and declared that there were areas suitable for settlement, judging by the large stands of spruce trees he saw from the air.

Around Smoothstone Lake he said, is another country suited for settlement along the Sled Lake and Montreal Lake areas. He declared two men will be sent into the country east of Montreal Lake to take a survey of land settlement possibilities. Land was fertile near Lac la Ronge and lie a la Crosse. At the latter place he saw the finest stand of oats he had ever witnessed. Throughout the north, the territory, he said, was not feasible, but he looked for it to be a string of small settlements connected by railway and roads.

Timber abounds east of Montreal Lake, he continued. Trees measuring three feet through the butt can be found and there are millions of cords of spruce, pulp and balsam suitable for pulp. It is possible, he said, that following the new immigration action will be taken to open this part of the north to agriculture.

THREE INJURED ON WAY TO FUNERAL

While motoring from Toronto to Belleville to attend the funeral of Mrs. Burke, Miss Dolan, Miss Nugent, Miss G. Burke and Mr. J. Burke were seriously injured in an automobile accident near Ajaxville. They were taken to the Bowmanville General Hospital where they received medical attention. All three members of the party are from Toronto.

FOUR MILLION SPENT YEARLY ON N.S. SCHOOLS

Remarkable Changes Have Taken Place in Nova Scotia Schools During Past Five Years

Halifax, N.S., Aug. 7.—Under the leadership of Dr. H. P. Munro, Superintendent of Education for Nova Scotia, there have been initiated a number of important changes and improvements in the educational equipment of the province during the past five years.

Previous to 1864, there had been a measure of educational equipment in the province, but the communities had been so poorly served that barely one-half of the children in the Atlantic province received any benefit whatever from the schools. But from the date of the passing of the Free Schools Act by the Government of Dr. Charles Tupper, in 1864, there has been a rapid increase both in the number of schools in operation and in the total number of pupils enrolled.

Perhaps one of the most notable achievements of the present head of the provincial educational forces is the Nova Scotia Summer School, which has been held annually for the last five years in Halifax. While intended primarily for teachers holding the higher grades of scholarship, and school inspectors and principals, its excellent curriculum and course of prominent Maritime and Upper Canadian university professors, have attracted the attention of many large citizens who have taken advantage of its professional and cultural courses. The school has grown to be now a permanent part of the provincial educational system, and the increase in students from 187 in 1927, to an enrollment of over 500 this year, is taken as a striking testimony of the esteem in which it is held by leaders of education and citizens in general.

At the present time there are 2,181 schools in operation attended by 113,208 pupils and taught by 4,448 teachers. These figures testify to the tremendous growth which has taken place in the last 65 years in the educational facilities and pupil enrolment in the free schools of the province. But while there has been a threefold increase in the number of pupils, there has also been a corresponding increase in the cost of education per pupil. The figures for 1896 show a cost per pupil instruction of $4.80, by 1930 this figure had soared to $46.57, testifying to a fenfold increase in the cost of educating the average public school student of Nova Scotia.

Nova Scotia is now spending on its public schools more than $4,000,000 annually, a figure that looms very large on the annual expense sheet of the provincial governments. With a population of scarcely more than half a million persons, the educational expenditure of public schools and specialized educational institutions is one of the largest in the Dominion. It costs every man, woman and child in Nova Scotia $8 a year to maintain the educational equipment now in use.

Besides the Summer School at Halifax, and a smaller one which is instituted for lower grade teachers at Truro, there is also a permanent teachers' training college in the latter town. The Provincial Normal College has excellent buildings and equipment, and with a staff of exceptionally well trained professors, it graduated over two hundred teachers at the commencement exercises this spring.

In an effort to cultivate a taste for the better class of literature in the average public school student, the Department of Education has been instrumental in establishing a number of school libraries throughout the province. The majority of the books are of non-fiction nature, and deal principally with Canadian, and foreign history of interest, especially as related to biography and historical matter. There also a library of professional books free for the teachers located in the Education Office, and it is interesting to note that this next library had a circulation of over 1500 volumes last year.

For many years teachers in the rural districts of Nova Scotia have received small wages for their splendid work, but at last many of these public servants are receiving a respectable salary due to recent provincial legislation granting specified cash aids to those holding a university degree or a recognized teach...r diploma. Another advance is the establishment of an adequate teachers pension scheme.

Nova Scotia was one of the first, if not the first, provinces in Canada to utilize the radio for educational broadcasts. For the past few years the Department of Education has arranged for radio broadcasts of school subjects, especially English and French lessons, and they have been received enthusiastically throughout the province by both teachers and students alike.

But while school work is the first consideration of the educational department, they have also not let slip the opportunity to educate the pupil in the proper use of leisure time. There have been many contests conducted by the beautification of rural school grounds, and there has been a great deal of interest shown in the appearances of the grounds and in the condition of the schools themselves in the province, due to these intensive efforts of the department. Interest in agricultural pursuits has been fostered, and the rural school pupil has been given every opportunity to take part in various prize contests.

French Painter's Work on Exhibit

LONDON—Camille Pissarro, the French impressionist, was born in 1830 and died in 1903. Paris celebrated the centenary of his birth last year, London's Tate Gallery is holding a celebration at the present time, a year late. Until October 3 his paintings will be on view in the Tate Gallery.

Some of Pissarro's paintings are carried out in the patient "divisionist" technique, turned into an embroidery effect with small streaks of colour. Sometimes single colours are employed, but always the result is a wonderful expression of air, light and movement.

Lucien Pissarro, the son, with his flowing white beard and broad-brimmed hat, is a familiar figure in London. He has made a solid reputation. Camille's exhibition consists of 70 paintings, including his only night scene, and others borrowed from well-known collections.

Much of today's Academism is a vague echo of the impressionist ideals, but the originators used only a palette of, roughly, spectral colors. Black and brown were taboo.

National Council Actively Prepare Exhibition

TORONTO—An extensive program of demonstrations and exhibits representing the work of nine national committees has been prepared by the National Council of Women who will again occupy the West Wing of the Women's Building at the approaching Canadian National Exhibition.

The nationally organized societies headed by Mrs. Arthur Murphy, convener, Women's Art Association, the Victorian Order of Nurses, the Canadian Girls in Training, Miss Madden W. O. T. U., the National Council of Girls, the Girl Guides, Canadian Girl Guides, the National Girls' Work Board, the Girls' Friendly Society, the Hadassah Women of Canada, the Canadian Council in co-operation with the Toronto Council on Child Welfare, Women's University Alumnae and the Humane Society.

A special feature will be the exhibit of the Canadian Mothercraft Association which will be featured with the National Council's program for the furthering of maternal welfare in Canada.

The headquarters booth will be one of the active centers of the big west wing. All musical programs will be given from this stand built in the general program of addresses, demonstrations, pageants, etc., will take place this year in a tent to be erected on the lawn south of the women's building.

An invitation has been extended to Lady Jellicoe to open the National Council Exhibit on Friday, August 28, the day on which will take place in the headquarters booth.

The first luncheon of the noon hour program will be held on Saturday, August 29, in the committee rooms and will be followed by a tea-dansant in honor of the sailor's day. The convener for exhibition purposes of the National Council is Mrs. J. W. Bundy, the president of the council.

National committees which will work in connection with the demonstration are: Public Health, Arts and Letters, Cinema and Radio, Immigration, Citizenship and Education, League of Nations, Trades and Professional, Natural Resources and Soldiers and Sailors.

LONG MEMORIES OF POLICEMEN

Police have retentive memories and are also on the job as a rest...ent of the C.N.E. grounds a few days ago. Of course this resident quickly saluted the officer, but everything was all right and he was allowed to proceed on his way. A short time ago a car was stolen in Belleville and recovered shortly after. The police not only at the time of the theft sent out a circular to all police departments on the watch for his particular car, but Belleville police departments were not notified of the recovery. A car was seen proceeding west in this car and arriving on Ontario St. on the evening of Sunday morning, apparently was the only one on the street. A policeman hovered in the vicinity and sighting the car remembered the number and immediately gave chase. The car was chased to Whitby and stopped. The driver being asked to return to Oshawa for questioning, the machine went straightened out in the Motor City and the trip was continued.

EXETER HERMIT FINDS MIRACLES IN MODERN CITY

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—There is a Rip Van Winkle with more than seventy years' retirement to his credit, living in the primitive scattered settlement in the western port of Exeter. In 1861 Reuben Lewis, then a 13-year old lad, drove a herd of sheep to Olneyville — now Providence. In 1927, Reuben Lewis, an eighty-three year old man, was driven to Providence in an automobile owned by 24 neighbor. The Providence of the present was decidedly not the Olneyville of the past and Lewis described the modern version as "terrible."

"I just didn't dare get out of the machine, because I never could have crossed a street with those automobiles around," he said. "They have policemen there, too. They kept waving their arms, telling automobiles to get along there. I was waiting to see if one of their arms would drop off, but it didn't."

Mr. Lewis did go to the moving pictures nor was he excited about the height of the buildings, but he couldn't quite understand why they were built so high. Nevertheless, there are many people came from. For most of his life has been spent in his little two-floored farm house twenty miles or so from the main road.

Asked what he did in his hidden, homestead home he said: "I am a nameless road his lone suggestion was: "Mostly I mow. I can mow for five or six hours, but I walk as long as that, I find a tree to mow and have a nap. I'm a pretty good mower."

Around his home which was once a post office, are scattered copies of current magazines, among them a New York air. But Mr. Lewis doesn't believe everything he sees in them. "You know," he confided, "there are many things printed in books and women, all in swimming together. I don't believe all that. I think that some of the folks down here saw those pictures."

All, there'd be the devil to pay."

SENATOR HARDY ASSAILS SINCLAIR

Accuses Him of Knifing Leader Hepburn

Toronto, Aug. 7.—Charging that the attitude of Premier-elect William R. N. Sinclair, K.C., has already been an attempt to embarrass Mitchell F. Hepburn at a time when his party's opponents absolutely forbid his activity in public affairs, Senator Arthur C. Hardy, M.P., president of the Ontario Liberal Association, last night plunged himself both flats flying into the war now waging between his organization and the Sinclair-headed Liberal faction.

In the whirlwind style, character istic of him, Senator Hardy claims that time has not softened the rage of Mr. Sinclair against the Liberal leadership; that although republican red rejected, by the party he has not changed his colors and has even made them, for attacking the Conservative party, the old Liberal political history of the Province, no counterpart of Mr Sinclair's "cowardly, shameful attempt at the betrayal of a leader is to be found."

Senator Hardy does not mince matters. Stating that the knife-thrust he hits out at the Liberal Legislature leader is alleged "stab in the back" (Mr Sinclair), in his seven years as leader displayed a tithe of the energy in the cause that he generalship "as he does in giving himself publicity" at the present time, the Provincial Liberal Party would be in the position in which it is today.

PLANES SPOT FOREST FIRES

Most of Three Hundred Fires are Fairly Well Controlled

Spokane, Aug. 7 (AP).—Forest officials today reported that most of the 301 Northwest forest fires were fairly well controlled by the smoke-eaters. Only the Priest River conflagration alone, fanned by high winds, jumped its lines, it was said by men, who held desperately at all points except north of the line where flames menaced the Federal forest experiment station.

Tens of supplies were sent from Spokane to Newport for reinforcement by pack mule train to the fire lines and aeroplanes were spotting fires with better results today, although columns of smoke still dimmed the air.

The Red Cross went into action today at San Pedro, Idaho, between Sandpoint and Priest River, to care for families made destitute when a wall of flame raged through the Priest River valley, Washington, Montana at more than $1,900,000. Fifty men were kept busy there yesterday hurled on the fire lines. Cattle and hill animals perished by hundreds. Game birds died by thousands, and fine trout streams were mae fish charnels.

GLASGOW DOCK FAITH SYMBOL

Recently Opened by King George, Cost Ten Millions

Glasgow, Scotland, Aug. 7.—(By The Canadian Press)—The new dock which was opened by the King recently, is a witness to Glasgow's faith in its ancient industry. Of the shipyards on the Clyde are standing idle today, but the Clyde basin constructed at Shieldhall at a cost of $10,000,000 is further 30 acres of water, and over a mile of quays, to the city's harbor.

Yesterday's formal inauguration of a scheme which will give the port six miles of deep-water frontage.

It was many years ago that the Clyde Navigation Trustees, having in mind the future needs of Glasgow, bought 90 acres of land between Shieldhall and Renfrew, but a beginning on the proposed scheme was not made until 1924. It took 4,000 men 1,000 of 400 ft. for the canting of vessels, and an entrance 600 ft. wide from the Clyde into the water area of the river. It is large enough to float the water of 32 ft. and a depth of 44 ft. at high water, and so made fit to accommodate the biggest vessels frequenting the port.

PREMIER'S SONS TREED BY LIONS

PRETORIA, South Africa — Albert and Charles Hertzog, sons of Gen. J. B. M. Hertzog, Prime Minister of the Union of South Africa, had a narrow escape last week while in the Kruger National Park recently. They were treed by lions while in a tree until rescued by a party sent in a motor car by their father. Torrential rains had turned the roads into mud and the Prime Minister's sons, who are part of the country where lions are so numerous that they frequently sleep in trees. Albert and Charles Hertzog walked ahead to seek help, but by the light of their torch they saw a lion in the middle of the road, then looked around for a place in which to retreat, but they found another lion behind them. They then scrambled into a tree.

Believe Attempt To Burn Family In House Fire

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 7.—(By The Canadian Press)—Believing some person deliberately attempted to take their lives by setting fire to their home early today, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Willison, aged residents of Scarboro Bluffs, a suburb of this city, had a narrow escape from death when they were awakened from their home by neighbors who saw the fire.

According to Mr. Willison and several others who were present at the scene, the fire commenced at the rear of a shed about 50 feet from the house and first consumed the garage before reaching the house.

"The fire was started by someone with a view to burning us up," Mr. Willison said.

FOUR TIE WITH SCORES OF 118

Excellent Work of Marksmen at Long Branch

Long Branch Rapids, Ont., Aug. 8 (By The Canadian Press)—Shooting in nearly perfect form, four magnificent marksmen tied with scores of 118 for three rapiers in the Lieutenant-Governor's match, blue-ribbon event of the meeting, at the Ontario Rifle Association's prize meeting here Friday, two of them shooting off for the gold and silver medals awarded to the Ontario-entitled competitors placing first and second while the other two were forced to take the medal shoot-off. Lieut. A. C. D. Lucas, of Toronto, was the eventual winner of the first medal, with Captain B. Kerr of Toronto, taking the second. Corporal C. Iddiols, of Calgary, Alta., had tied with them in the three ranges and gathered in the major money prize of $50. The fourth man to score 118 was J. A. Crawford a member of the British rifle team visiting here, and he too grill figure prominently in the prize money.

The entire week has been featured by Brilliant shooting. Scores according to the veterans, have been better this week than in the past since before the war. And among those participating are Canadian marksmen who are just, according to the same veterans, "finding out what it is all about."

Perhaps the greatest individual winner of the meet was Sergeant W. J. Woods of Hamilton, 36-years old. Woods broke all records when he won the Tait-Brassey match, richest prize of the week, with three perfect scores. He also annexed the Governor's match silver medal for second place; the bronze medallion in the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York match for third place; the Ottawa aggregate and Mercer aggregate, and figured prominently in nearly every other event.

The Province of Ontario was victorious in the Inter-Provincial match yesterday, defeating team of British Columbia, Manitoba and Alberta.

THE RED OR THE BIBLE

A Communist appeared the other day in a Toronto police court saying as if he spoke for the whole world, when the Bible was offered him for the oath: "I don't believe in that book." The magistrate told him to put it down lest he soil it with his hands. This Red is saying doubtless was prompted by the notion that he appeared big by this effrontery for daring to comment upon the Bible.

This Red, had he been a gentleman respecting the feelings of all true Canadians, would have taken other means if he did not wish to take the oath according to the prescribed style. But he attacked the Bible in a place where it is used as the instrument of justice. Now the Bible is substantiated every hour of the day, day after day, year after year, particularly in the police court where the constant limitation of the saying, "The wages of sin is death", is relentlessly driven home by the Book. Even he must have to attend criminal court many times to realize that in its views on sin and human conduct the Bible will stand when all forms of government have passed, when Sovietism is forgotten for thousands of years, for the Bible is the greatest record on the value of honest living and on the punishment of evil man knows of. In the police court the rough and tumble of life is seen as in the police less knows but he chose it as a place for a sermon against the Bible.

Reds cannot conquer because they blaspheme, and stir up bloody revolt. Reds cannot rule for bloodiness cannot rule. Under no circumstances could a majority of theirs come to the top. It is not in the constitution of men, and women and of human affairs that the wild-eyed and uncontrolled revolutionist should be the dictator of political and individual destiny. A man, generally flawed in perfect perfective faith, yet would sit in judgment upon all men.

Canadians are not made to take such a man as leader. The Communist's attack on the Bible but indicated his own puniness.

Yet, such a man becomes a pest and his ilk only lives because the doctrine is not put out of business. Therefore the little wit is allowed to live, he will live until he grows ashamed of his smallness, perhaps.

The Red, however, paid an unconscious tribute to religion and the Bible when he attacked the Book which stands for truth and life and liberty. His principles are largely opposed to his, besides it can teach him a true socialism which makes him jealous. The socialism of the Red and of the Bible do not mix, they are opposed. The Red talks of force and destruction, the Bible of love, service and construction.

CELESTIAL DISTURBANCES

Showers of meteors will be due after midnight of August 11-12 and so instead of heavy rain showers with electric disturbances there will be other disturbances besides those of static in the ether, lightning in the air and revolutions and political disturbances in the countries of the earth.

It is estimated that there will be from fifty to one hundred shooting stars an hour in the northeastern sky like rockets seeming to shoot from the constellation Perseus. The meteors never fail to appear on time.

Shooting stars, or meteors, constantly bombard the earth from outer space and occasionally land on the surface as meteorites. On any clear night they may be seen, but at certain times of the year they come in "showers." The most dependable of these showers occurs in August.

If one watches the sky after midnight on August 11 or 12 one will see meteorites at the rate of one or two a minute if the weather is clear and the sky dark. With the new moon scheduled for August 13 one source of light is eliminated and the glare of city lights may be just as troublesome. Therefore, the best place for observation is in the country.

The meteorites are not wandering about the sky indiscriminately like a swarm of insects, but all seem to radiate from the constellation of Perseus, and therefore are called the Perseid meteors. Actually, of course, they radiate from a point but move in practically parallel paths.

Besides the Perseid meteors, the August night sky after some other attractions. The planet, Mercury, which never travels far from the sun and is seldom seen, will be low in the west at twilight on the eight, and for a day or two before and after. Mars is now in the constellation Leo, and will be seen a little higher in the west after sunset. Saturn will be seen low in the south and the southwest all of the month.

Five first-magnitude stars decorate the August evening sky. In the west is Arcturus, in Bootes, the bear driver. Antares, in Scorpius, the scorpion, shines with its red light in the southwest. Almost overhead is the Vega, in Lyra, the lyre. Below it, to the southeast, is Altair, in Aquila, the eagle; and, to the east, Deneb, at the top of the northern cross, or Cygnus the swan.

TOIL

By Alina Michaelis

Toil is Earth's dower, a coin, a flower
That heaven has sent our cares to lighten,
Our days to brighten with sweet content.

Toil brings us laughter and peace comes then
The weariest day; all anxious scheming,
All futile dreaming, it bars away.

Toil . . . let us take it, this gift, and make it
Our greatest pride; and in this treasure
Find every pleasure, life else denied.

SHOPPING FOR EATS has become a favorite outdoor sport by a sizable army of the unemployed when are quite choosy of what they eat or else have friends back in the "jungle". who are not good salesmen of novelty. Friday morning one young man visited a residence on Victoria avenue where he was given a good meal with all the fixin's including his feet under the table. Then he was given a lunch to carry away. He departed profuse in his thanks, skipped a house and approached the back door of the third where he asked for a handout—he got it, a square meal wrapped up. Next he went to the corner grocery and begged a dime—he got it. Where he went next is unknown, but he certainly will not want for food for the next few days.

SHADRACH, MESHACH AND ABEDNEGO were thrown into a fiery furnace because they would not worship an idol fashioned by King Nebuchadnezzar. The King was so angry that he had the furnace heated seven times hotter than customary—so hot that the guards who threw the three Hebrews into the fiery furnace were themselves killed. All Bible readers are familiar with the story which tells how the flames failed to injure the young Christians. (Book of Daniel). To thoroughly appreciate the fiery furnace part of the story, it should be read on a day like last Thursday when even the thermometers were given a decided surprise and old General Humidity sure had a field day, and night.

VETERANS OF THE IRON RAIL who remember back to the days of the old "hay burners" which ate up cord wood like paper, gaze in wonder at the great machines which pull a flock of cars without any perceptible effort, and the end is not yet. A giant engine produced by the C. P. R. gave a demonstration between Montreal and Smiths Falls recently which seems to climb the hills with the largest and strongest locomotive in the world. The "8000" hauled a train more than a mile long and weighing 1,961 tons, equivalent to three normal trains on the division where the test took place. Nearly 100 feet long and weighing more than 300,000 lbs. some mountain of machinery, and lest the reader should pity the poor stoker, let it be known that this monster is provided with energy through an oil-burning system.

RUBBER TUBES DANGEROUS FOR NON-SWIMMERS

The drowning of a 13-year-old girl during a bathing party at Belleville directs attention again to the danger of using inflated rubber tubes in the water. Supported by the tube, the unfortunate child was tipped through it, and was drowned before her mishap was noticed. Many similar accidents in the past have happened during the Summer, but some of them have been fatal. rescued, but in others drowned. Tubes and other similar appliances are extremely treacherous for those who cannot swim. They quickly become slippery and bathers lose their grip on them. Unless lifebelts are present, find it difficult to tell whether the bather is in difficulty or merely playing in the water. These supports are not only dangerous, but also useless as a means of learning to swim. The authorities at Belleville have done well to properly, forbidden their use. This lead should be followed by municipalities at all bathing resorts throughout the province. Even though it happens, there is no one in authority at certain resorts, the publicity given to the danger arising from the use of tubes and other supports should be sufficient to keep bathers from the risky practice.—Toronto Toronto Mail and Empire.

BACKWARD HERE

This is called an age of enlightenment and progress. So it is—in some respects. Science has made efficient, blundering cruel. Take the report of the Canadian prison commission on the penal institutions of the United States. That is what it says of the prison system in that country:

"We conclude that the present prison system is antiquated and ineffective. It does not reform the criminal. It fails to protect society. There is reason to believe that it contributes to the increase of crime by hardening the prisoner. We find our present system of prison discipline to be unscientific, brutalized, unintelligent, and not infrequently cruel and inhuman. We are convinced that a new type of penal institution must be developed, one that is new in spirit, in method and in objective.

Does that sound like an age of enlightenment? It does not. It sounds more like an age of barbarity.

But, of course, that is in the United States. What of Canada? There is good reason to believe that in the matter of Canada's penal institutions is comparatively humane and scientific.

Nevertheless, both the penal system and the spirit that is behind the penal institutions which house those men, are based on the same fundamental concepts as prevail in Canada's penal system. It is precisely that of the Christian ages. It tends to better results, that is a matter of opinion, but not good judgment.

The truth is that the study of penology is but in its infancy. We are just groping along, one day each report as that cited will be looked upon with the same horror and amazement as we today look back upon the brutalities of the middle and very much later ages.—Ottawa Citizen.

CLEANING UP ROME

Benito Mussolini is never content unless he is doing something on his superabundant energy, which seems to run riot itself much after the fashion of Antaeus, by contact with mother earth. His latest plan is to clean up Rome. It is a stupendous plan, which will involve the reconstruction of a large portion of the Eternal City, the beautification of various historic areas, the demolition of slums, as well as the construction of a new central thoroughfare, to pass right through the city.

So far, so good. Nobody will deny that Rome would be better without her slums, and few will deny, we give that much of the existing tenement buildings are a disgrace, deservedly replaced by modern dwellings. Five-year plans are not evil here. Mussolini has just begun. It knows, however, his scheme will not allow for the preservation of many relics or ugly relics, though various ancient monuments will be maintained.

Now all Rome ii doubtless wondering what are useless relics, and what are the ancient monuments the Duce will decree worthy of preservation. From one point of view, of course, several of the vast relics of the past might well be regarded as both ugly and useless. That is to say, they present no beauty to the eye and they are not put to any useful purpose, with the exception of the tourist traffic.—Montreal Star.

AN EAGLE'S GOOD NAME

In justice to a dead eagle, we relate these facts.

On May 13 last, there appeared a picture in The Citizen of a man holding a large bird before him. Underneath the picture (which came from Cleveland, O.) were these words:

Here's John Trout, farmer of Manor, Pa., holding the gigantic eagle he shot when it swooped low and tried to snatch up Trout's five-year-old daughter, he says. The bird, with a wingspread of seven feet, failed in its first attempt to get the child, but swooped low again and was killed.

An Ottawa naturalist, knowing his birds, even "gigantic eagles," was skeptical about this episode. So he wrote to Wharton Huber, ornithologist, Academy of Natural Sciences, Philadelphia, concerning it, and this, in part, is the reply he received:

The "swooping and attack on child" was an excuse to the game warden to avoid a fine. There is not a word of truth in it, as I personally ran it down by the help of a reporter before I left home. (He is now in New Mexico.) The warden evidently followed it in spite of all we could do.

We reprint the above, as we say, to exonerate a noble bird. But we cannot resist adding the sequel. There was a parade in town, and Trout, dressed in—with the eagle on the front of the hood of his car. All went well in the parade, but going home the wind blew the eagle's lifeless wings across the windshield where it began flapping during a curve. Robbed of vision, he crashed into another car and went to hospital. Did poor old Bald Eagle get revenge!—Ottawa Citizen.

Health Service

OF THE

Canadian Medical Association

Edited by

GRANT FLEMING, M.D., ASSOCIATE SECRETARY.

Although childhood may be said to be the period of greatest wishing, there is no adult man or woman who ever lives this faculty out of the mind without which, indeed, we would only be leading a vegetative existence and would scarcely be classified as human.

For wishing is desire and desire is life. Without our wishing and hoping and striving, we would find life a most dull and horrendous experience. Wishing puts vitality into life. It stimulates and entertains our emotional as well as our mental lives, and makes us more animated and effective.

Not to wish is not to live. We wrestle at, sleep and rest. We wish to wake. We desire contact with ambition. We crave love. We wish to be well. We thought to help a fellow men. We plan for the future. We have thousands of wishes of every variety and description.

We wish, however—although a great asset because it keeps us from becoming dull—is also to think and long for better things—may become a drawback if we overdo it.

We should not live in an imaginary world too much. We must learn how to appreciate facts as opposed to wishes. We must learn how to unimpassioned reasoning check up on our wishes, ambitions and magic imaginations. Otherwise, we only become victims of wishful thinking at the expense of good sense.

For instance, wish for an automobile all you like, but don't get the notion that that is sufficient. Save and work and conserve so you can pay down the cash.

Wishful thinking can become chronic wishers, becoming so wrapped up in wishing that they waste precious energy that could be utilized in making their wishes come true.

Wishes can put color into life and make it beautiful. Wishes can bring you closer to aesthetic values but they can also lead to mental constipation. But wishes don't better your heart.

Wish nobly and richly. Always, however, make your wishes practical and possible. Don't become acquainted with reality!

Many persons develop neurotic states because their wishes have been held back. Others because they have been afraid even to express them.

Often, also, men and women have become morose and depressed because their wishes have been many and far-fetched that by no stretch of the imagination could they be realized.

Wishing absurdly also makes for disappointment and discontent. It can likewise lead to insanity.

As the years pass, and it is found that the material wishes of youth are but fairy castles without substance, being, indeed, the means for telling that life is little more than a mockery. Like so many other emotional states, wishing may result like a boomerang.

Wish wisely, sanably and practically. Wish to the point, toward a definite, practical goal. In short, wish straight!

Our economic life manifestly is seriously out of gear. — H. G. Wells.

LITTLE BENNY

By LEE PAPE

Pop was fixing his cigar lighter and making it werse, and ma sed, A little child's mind is certeny a misterious thing.

Its got nothing on a full grown womans mind, pop sed.

Proberly meening ma's. and ma sed, I was thinking of little Willie, I stopped in at Gladdises today to see if he was any better, and pop sed, Better from what, I dident know he was sick, and ma sed, O, he wasent sick in so many werds, he was just acting up with an unnormal frequency. Anyway while I was there I conceived the ideer of making a little sycological test to find out something about his little natural inclinations and future leenings.

Yes, yes go on, pop sed, and ma sed, So I cut 3 fotographs out of todays Tabloid Tips, you know there's practically nuthing but pictures in that paper. One was President Hoover and one was the former King Alfonso and one was Mussolini, and I spred them out in frunt of him, to see wich tipe of face would attract him the ferst. Of corse theyre all grate caracters in their way, and I thought if he picked out Hoover it would indicate that he would grow up to be a conservative caracter with upprotestant instincts, and if he picked out King Alfonso it would show an aristocratic temperament with sertain leenings, and if he chose Mussolini it would point to a strong minded leeder among men, and I went out of the room a moment so as to be sure not to influence him in any way. I wunted it to be an unsolicited expression of his own little personality, ma sed.

Finish this siapsnee, wich one was it? pop sed, and ma sed, Well, it all goes to show that you can't be a child of observation, because when I came back he had all the pictures turned over and there were 3 other fotographs on the backs, and they were Al Caponey and Texas Geenan and Jack Dempsey and Willie was poring over them as though they were a marvelious message from Mars or something, so of corse the whole thing proved nuthing.

Meaning if it did she wouldent admit it.

SALARIES OF CIVIL STAFF ARE REDUCED

Bill to Slash Stipend of Servants is Passed

Sydney, Australia, Aug. 1 (O.P.) —Word was received here today through with great speed today a new bill for drastic reduction in the salaries of civil servants in New South Wales. Premier J. T. Lang, extremist head of the Labor government, took opportunity for another criticism of the State Governor, Sir Phillip Game. The Governor died the Premier have waged an unceasing battle over the latter's decision to abolish the Upper House, where there is a so stantial opposition majority.

The Government had drafted the new bill in conformity with the system of "Crown Colony Government" now operating in New South Wales, the Premier said bitterly as he moved second reading of the bill.

The new bill, introduced today, passed without delay by both houses and immediately became into feres. It provides for a reduction of 8 1-2 per cent. on salaries of $1,000; the reduction being increased with every additional £1,000 until a cut of 32 1-3 per cent. is effected on calaries of more than $7,500.

EINSTEIN OF EAST LIVES IN POVERTY

Calcutta, India, Aug. 8.—Sir Chandrasekara Raman, "Einstein of the east," whom the Nobel committee made the recipient of the Nobel Prize in physics in 1930 has been obliged with invitations from all over the world to lecture, and yesterday received one from California, but the Indian scientist is too poor to travel.

He has no laboratory and only the most limited library. The man who has been honored by a dozen foreign countries with medals and degrees lives in relative obscurity and comparative poverty among his own people.

The home is a small dark flat in the poorer quarter of Calcutta. A sign reading "Professor Raman" is the only evidence that the man who has gained world fame lives there. Seeking him out requires passing through a narrow entrance, climbing a dark, narrow stairway, and finding a door on the second floor. Knocking on this door, a visitor is admitted by a native servant.

Raman is a native of Madras, and was born in 1888. He was graduated from the University of Madras at the age of 16, and at 18 published his first paper on physics. He was appointed professor of physics at the University of Calcutta in 1917, and remained there until 1930, when he resigned to devote himself entirely to research.

Raman's discovery, which won him the Nobel Prize, is known as the "Raman effect." It is a method of analyzing the molecular structure of matter by the use of light rays. Raman found that when a beam of light is passed through a transparent substance, a small part of the light is changed in color. The change in color is caused by the molecules of the substance. Each substance has its own molecular structure, and therefore its own "Raman effect."

Raman's discovery has been of great value to chemists and physicists in their study of the structure of matter. It has been used in the study of the structure of diamonds, and in the study of the structure of the atom.

Raman's work has been largely theoretical, and he has had little opportunity to put his theories to practical use. He has been unable to obtain the apparatus he needs for his experiments, and has had to rely on the generosity of friends for the money to buy it.

Raman's wife is a graduate of Girton College, Cambridge, England, and is a talented musician. She has given concerts in Calcutta to help her husband's research work.

LIBRARY CORNER

An up-to-date and detailed picture of that little republic created in the Great War is shown by Clive Holland in his book "Czechoslavakia, Old and New Europe." Mr. Holland aims to familiarize the reader with this small country whose position to many people is "somewhere in Eastern Central Europe" and whose boundaries are equally vague. The territories out of which Czechoslavakia was formed have most interesting histories and great economic attractions. The author interprets the land and its people and brings about a sympathetic understanding of its contribution to the economic and artistic life of the modern world.

Manners and modes of the Edwardian epoch are described by Sir Lionel Cust in his book "King Edward the VII and his Court, Some Reminiscences." As sovereign of the King's pictures, as gentleman usher and as personal friend Sir Lionel came much in touch with King Edward and his court both formally and informally. His narrative is enlivened by anecdotes and humorous touches.

"The Life of Sir Robert Owen" by G. D. H. Cole is an interesting account of that great social reformer in the turbulent days of the Industrial Revolution in England. Owen, himself a victim of the oppressive factory owners, was able to see the inhuman wrongs of the period. The author describes Owen's rise to factory ownership and his efforts to induce legislature in favour of the workingman. The volume is a comprehensive study of the life, influence and doctrine during the industrial war of Labour versus Capital.

John O'Hara Cosgrave, one-time editor of Everybody's Magazine and for many years European editor of the New York World, gives his intellectual and great social attention in his book "The Academy For Souls." The author has written a humorous current acicultic dogmatism in an age of the conflicting theories of Jesus, Zenstein, Russell etc. It is a challenge to the atheist given with clarity and humour.

The play which has been enthusiastically greeted on both sides of the Atlantic and which is still enjoying a successful run in New York, has been added to the drama section at the library this week. "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" by Rudolf Besier is a family chronicle based on the romance of Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning. Katharine Cornell and Brian Aherne bring to life these famous characters on the stage. The story of the play is a charming one in the period when epigrams made clever repartee.

RECIPES

TWO TESTED RECIPES FOR SALAD DRESSINGS

Now that salads are the order of the day, really good recipes for salad dressings will be welcomed. A salad is often made or marred by the adequacy of the dressing used, so that such recipes are very desirable. Since some prefer an uncooked dressing and others a cooked dressing, we give two recipes, both of which we know will please:

Salad Dressing (Uncooked)

1-2 teaspoon salt; 1-2 tea spoon salt; 1-2 teaspoon mustard; 1-2 cup Eagle Brand Condensed Milk; 1-2 cup vinegar. Beat the salt in a small quantity of vinegar for a few minutes, add the vinegar, mix well and let stand for a few hours to thicken. Serve on fruit or vegetable salad. Will keep for weeks. The Russian dressing add Chili sauce to taste.

Salad Dressing (Cooked)

1-2 tablespoon salt; 1 teaspoon mustard; 1 tablespoon flour; 2 tablespoon butter; 1-2 cup Eagle Brand Condensed Milk; 1-2 cup water; 1-4 cup vinegar; 1 egg. Mix dry ingredients, add slightly beaten egg, butter, milk, water and vinegar, cook until thickened. Strain and cool. Whipped Cream if St. Charles Evaporated Milk or Cream may be added before serving if desired. Yield 1 cuptul.

BODY RECOVERED

Mindi, Ont., Aug. 8.—(CP)—The body of W. S. McLinton of Midland, drowned November last, was recovered near Parry Sound on Georgian Bay yesterday. It is being brought here, where his widow and parents reside. McLinton fell from a launch while fishing.

STEP NEARER CHILD SLAYERS

Names of Three Men Allegedly in Death Auto Obtained

New York, Aug. 8.—Detectives have obtained names of three men alleged to have been in the automobile from which bullets struck down five children at play in a Harlem street.

More than a week after one of the wounded children died, two witnesses to one of the most brutal crimes ever committed here have consented to aid police, attracted, perhaps by the $20,000 in rewards offered for information causing the arrest and conviction of the murderers.

The man arrested today this means was given to newspapermen under a pledge of secrecy) corroborated the account of the shooting supplied yesterday by Anthony Trobino, who said he was the target for the bullets and who identified the shielded himself behind a young girl who was not injured.

Like Trobino, today's witness was held on a technical charge of robbery, although his brother, who preferred the charge, refused to prosecute. The man said he was standing in East 107th Street where the automobile said its four occupants. The man he was able to identify was driving the car, and he said the three who fired the shots were known to him as "Trigger Mike," "Louie" and "Greco."

Police refused to say whether the identification had been more complete.

The witness said Trobino was correct in identifying the murderers as members of the Vincenti Coll gang, known to police as narcotic dealers. In that connection it was reported Trobino was a stool pigeon for police and probably supplied Federal agents with information concerning the Harlem narcotic traffic. After 48 hours of questioning Trobino admitted yesterday, according to police, that he formerly was a member of the Coll gang, but had decided to desert along with one fugitive who established a rival business.

The witness said he obtained the license number of the automobile, and it was reported today police had found a car which might have been the one used by the murderers.

When the witness was arrested, detectives had no information connecting him with the Harlem shooting and it was only because Detective Andrew O'Connor once aid him a favor that the man was willing to talk. He had a lengthy conversation with O'Connor and then consented to aid police.

PETERBORO' BOY HURT

Peterboro, Aug. 7.—The 13 year-old son of Marcus Quackenbush met with serious injuries when his finger, wreath, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bowling of his left hand. The two small girls who were visiting at the Quackenbush home were with him at the time, and had a narrow escape from being wounded.

TWENTY-FIVE P.C. COST SAVED

Tenders Amounting to $425,000 Approved by Government

Toronto, Aug. 8.—That nearly half a million dollars' worth of road building contracts have been let by the Department of Highways at 25 per cent. below the cost of last year is the burden of a statement issued by Hon. Leopold Macaulay, new Minister of Highways, Friday.

The letting of highway building contracts in the amount of $425,000 was announced by the Minister. This brings the total of the work in the department this year to $5,000,000. The new contracts let include 14 miles of concrete road and 4 1-2 miles of asphalt surface. The work is scattered throughout the Province, and the successful bidders are as follows:

Belleville Bay bridge approaches and contracts on the approach, Belleville; Kilmer & Barber, Trenton, concrete; Kilmer & Barber, Trenton, McArthur Construction Co., Guelph.

Centre of York County Road, High-way No. 7, to Greenwood, 5.5 miles, concrete, Curran & Briggs, Oshawa.

Paris northerly to Brant County line, asphalt surface, 1.5 miles, Standard Paving Co., Toronto.

In addition to the above work grade crossing of the Pere Marquette Railway at Blenheim is being removed, and work let to Hadley Limited, Chatham. One small bridge at Cockburnie is also being reconstructed, the work being let to W. E. Macke of Midway.

The Beauty Box

By Helen Follett

During the swimming season, hair should be shampooed after every dip. Rinsing into the waves doesn't help the hair a bit, or make it happier. Salt water is very drying, and dust from the hair, or dead scales and salty pores finds nurture on the scalp. Only the rousing old sudsing does a good job of renovating. Thorough rising is next to impossible unless the hair is cut short. A fresh spray and a strong current of water. If any remains in the hair the brain mat is deprived of its natural glitzen and luster.

The latest to-do in the world of artificial beauty efforts is the bemused eyebrow, with lashes to match. We can't see the sense in it, but are doing our duty as a reporter of publicitudinous events. The prettiest eyebrows are black, perfectly arched, and combined with no wild hairs floating round the face. Brown ones are fine, but not so. Vaseline, brilliantine or olive oil will provide a shining dressing.

While hair is beautiful on the other woman. Few females are tranquil when they find a stray hair on their dress. The question is to get rid of it. Let those who face the problem be warned; the new growth will always be darker on the scalp to the tune of one inch every six months. Shaving doesn't finish the matter; there must be the frequent touch-up. In the long run, the economy in time and a beauty scrub when specialists do it is the wisest way.

Don't fail to have new laps put on heels as soon as they show signs of wear. Shoes look shabby. The possible for serious deformities of the feet. Two heels should not support a heavy strain upon the muscles of the leg, cause physical discomforts that not be easily cured. If there are ingrown nails and corns on piling feet, see that the nail is not too large, and stuff the toes with tissue.

Fattening foods are those that contain fats, starches and sweets. Cream, milk, butter, eggs, white bread, butter, cream, cereals and pastries.

EXPRESS WILL BATTLE TRUCK

Dominion Reception of Rate is Under Way

Ottawa, Aug. 8. — Determined to fight motor truck competition to a finish, railway express companies are undertaking a comprehensive downward revision of rates. Several schedules of reduced rates have already been filed with the Board of Railway Commissioners, it was learned Friday, and a Dominion-wide survey of the situation is continued further decrease may be filed later.

The reductions were stated, at the Railway Commission, to be due to a change of policy on the part of the express companies. At first it was believed the new rates by express could not continue in business at the low rates charged by motor truck shippers. As the encroachments on express carriage business have continued, however, it became apparent the threat was a serious one.

Questionnaires have been sent by express companies to manufacturers and jobbers in various cities of the country asking what rates would induce them to change their present package to the rail carriers. As the answers are currently received, companies are revising the schedules of charges. The general rule under the Railways Act, it was explained, is that rates may be reduced on one day's notice.

In lesser degree, similar action has been taken by railway companies who have suffered from truck competition. Last year 30 applications were filed with the commission in connection with hauls where the truck was getting a large share of the business.

REDWINGS HAVE SAFER LEAD IN HOT RACE

Win Over Newark Gives Them Lead of One and Half Game

ORIOLES SECOND

Overwhelm Montreal 15-0 and Threaten Leader

New York, August 8—Having put a fairly comfortable distance between the Newark Bears and themselves, the Rochester Redwings were confronted today with a new menace to their hold on the International League lead.

The Redwings chalked up their third victory of the four-game series with Newark yesterday, 5-1 and dropped the Bears into third place, a game and a half out of the lead. The Baltimore Orioles, in the meantime, walloped the Montreal Royals 15-0, and advanced into second place, a game back of Rochester.

For the fourth successive day, pitchers dominated the important Rochester-Newark series. Ira Smith limited the Bears to seven scattered hits and ran into trouble in the seventh inning only. Dutch Hitter Reese drove out a single, that brought Dusty Wallace with the only Newark run. Rochester made only six hits off Leo Mangum and Byron Speece but bunched the five they got off Mangum in the second and seventh innings for all their runs. Florence, Redwing catcher, drove in one run with a double and a single.

Orioles in Second Hole

Baltimore cleaned four Montreal hurlers for 19 hits in their overwhelming triumph. The Orioles attack included four doubles, a triple and home runs by Heffner, Harper and Cissell. The latter also collected two doubles and a single to drive in six runs. Ike Kompal held the Royals to five singles and added his own name with three hits. An eight-run rally in the seventh inning enabled Reading's Keys to beat the Buffalo Bisons, 9-7 and hang up their sixth straight victory. Jimmy Adair, who won Thursday night's game by stealing home, led the Keys attack with a three-run, double and single before he was chased from the field for exchanging punches with Pitcher Abe Ferguson. Adair charged the Bison pitcher with attempting to "shut him off." The Keys made only eight hits but bunched most of them in their one big inning. Eight pitchers saw service in the ball battle, started by a rousing game and finished under floodlights, four for each team. Reserve made four of Buffalo's 11 hits.

TENDERS CALLED FOR

Quebec, August 8—Minister A. A. Taschereau announced that tenders for the superstructure of the Island of Orleans Bridge, to span the North Channel of the St. Lawrence River, have been called for. The Premier added that already a staff of engineers and surveyors were at work at the approaches to the site of the proposed bridge and their reports will shortly be submitted to the Minister of Public Works.

Cannifton Loses Loose Game to Houstons

At Queen Mary School grounds last night, Cannifton was beaten in the strict Softball League game was played between the Houston Motor team and Cannifton. It proved to be a rather one-sided affair, with The Houston Co. team in the lead. At the conclusion of the first innings the score was 14 to 2 in favor of the local team and the game was called off on account of their opponents by a considerable margin. Many spectators from the city attended and enjoyed the game despite the fact that one team was completely outplayed. Umpires behind the plate, while H. Bawden looked after the bases.

On Monday night the Printers and Houston Co. will hook up in a league game. The Printers are trailing the league at present but expect to get in the win column by defeating the Houstons on Monday night. The game will be played at Queen Mary School grounds.

Dempsey Announces 1st Tour of Comeback

Reno, Nevada, Aug. 8—Leonard Sachse, manager of Jack Dempsey, announced last night that he had closed with Nick Kenny and Ed Waterman, Seattle promoters, for the former heavyweight champion to box six four-round exhibitions in the Pacific northwest.

Sachse said Dempsey had been guaranteed $35,000 for the six appearances with the privilege of retaining 50 per cent of the "gate."

Dempsey will begin his exhibition tour here Aug. 16. Then will follow engagements at Portland, Aug. 24, Seattle, Aug. 26, and Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 28, with dates yet to be chosen for Tacoma, Spokane and one other place. Opponents are to be selected by the promoters.

Festivity at Glamis Castle

London, August 8 (By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—Glamis Castle, immortalized in Shakespeare's "MacBeth", will be the scene of a double festivity next week when the Earl and Countess of Strathmore will celebrate their golden wedding, and Hon. John Patrick Bowes Lyon, Master of Glamis, his coming of age.

The Duke and Duchess of York left London today to be present at the events in honor of the Queen's parents and her nephew. Every ancient family in Scotland will be represented out of respect for the older and younger members of the Bowes Lyon family.

A ball Monday night will be follow ed on Tuesday by a Caledonian party ever held at Glamis.

The Castle, as seen nowadays, dates mostly from the 17th century, but the west tower is 14th century, and there still were built when Macbeth was Thane of Cawdor, shades of the dramatic liberty when he had MacBeth murder Duncan within these walls. Hon. Patrick Glamis is rich in romantic associations.

On the authority of Sir Walter Scott, we are told that the castle contains "A secret chamber, the entrance to which, by the law of the custom of the family, must only be known to three persons at once, namely the Earl, his heir apparent, and any third person they may take into their confidence."

If there still exists any such obligation upon these members of the family, it obviously troubles their minds but little, for Glamis is a very cheerful place of residence nowadays.

CHUCK KLEIN CLOUTS BALL TO BEAT GIANTS

Contrast Shown in Box Score Between Phils and Cards

PIRATES COMING

Whitesox Wins Only American League Played

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer)

One of the greatest contrasts in baseball is found in the first and seventh place teams in the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals and the Phillies. For a couple of years the Phils have been considered a pretty keen contender for the pitching staff, while the Cards have put money, work and brains into other departments of play. This year, a loss lively ball was expected to bring more of a change in the results, but the Phils continue to get the ball at a pace without quite getting anywhere in the standings, while the Cards are fourteen games behind the Phils and have a real chance for the pennant.

It took a great exhibition of hitting by Chuck Klein, star slugger of the Phils, and a clever pitching performance by Clarence Mitchell to give Philadelphia a 13 to 5 victory over the New York Giants yesterday, while the Cards with about the same amount of hitting, coasted through to an easy triumph over the Chicago Cubs. Behind an expert second work of Burleigh Grimes, St. Louis won by an 5 to 2 count. Mitchell handed the Phillies four walks and three hits in the first inning to give them a five run start. Lefty Kline clouted his 25th and 26th home runs of the season in the first inning counters, and Philadelphia needed every one of them. Three home runs gave the Giants 16 hits in the course of the battle. Thurston drove the round tripper with the bases full and broke up the game with a seventh inning single.

Grimes' Fourteenth Victory

Grimes' victory was the fourteenth of the season, put the Card eight games ahead of the second place Cubs and nine up on the Giants. Pinckney brought in the Redbirds' first run in the first inning on a double with the bases full and broke up the game with a seventh inning single.

Pittsburgh's Pirates settled into the fourth National League clash in fact it didn't last through the ninth and they lost a 3 to 2 decision to the Boston Braves. Thurston gave only three hits in eight frames then yielded two more in the final frame to run in the ninth. Jack Quinn pitched brilliant relief ball and allowed Billy Urbanski to double with the bases full and break up the game. Cincinnati's Reds were unable to get any place against Dutch Leonard and dropped a three game series to the Chicago White Sox, with Urban Faber on the mound, chalked up their ninth victory in fourteen games with the St. Louis Browns by pulling a 3 to 0 victory out of a tight pitching duel. Each team made only five hits but the 43-year-old Faber pitched too expertly that he never was in danger while he helped his own game along with a double in the third inning, that led to the second Chicago run. The other six American League games had an open date.

Yesterday's Stars

Burleigh Grimes, Cardinals—Blanked Cubs 5-0, with seven hits.

Billy Urbanski, Braves—Doubled with bases filled in ninth to drive in tying and winning runs against Pirates.

Pie Traynor, Pirates—Collected double and three singles off Red pitching.

Urban Faber, White Sox—Limited Browns to five scattered singles to win 3-0.

Chuck Klein, Phillies—Drove in four runs against Giants with 26th and 25th home runs and a single.

NEW SKYSCRAPER IS UNDER PLAN

Toronto, Aug. 8. — Another huge King Street skyscraper will be erected in the near future by the North American Life Assurance Company.

Thomas Bradshaw, president of the company, admitted last night that plans were under way for a mammoth structure, but said that until details were completed no official announcement would be made.

"We hope to have our plans complete in a few weeks," Mr. Bradshaw told The Mail and Empire last night "but until that time any outlook would be a bit premature."

It is understood, however, that the company intends to wreck its present building on the King street west and build on the same site.

Results and Fair Criticism

There ain't no golf jokn today.

Well the local junior baseball league pulled itself out of a mess at the meeting after Thursday's game. (The first shall be last and last shall be first) 'er something like that.

Well it seems as if the league leading Hurley Rubbers have been playing players that are not eligible all season. They dropped out at the meeting, for the Manor Rubbers took first place in the league.

That left the B.A.A.A. kids and Wellington tied for second place. (Get the idea, everybody's in the play-off.) The local committee then had the task and play the deciding game for second place in Wellington this afternoon.

In the meantime the league winning Manor juniors are waiting to see which the second place team carry next week. It would be nice to have the final games between the two Belleville teams as here is back to the B.A.A.A. kids.

I hope I did not pull a "Lou Marsh" on the locals by wishing them luck.

The local tennis players went to Campbellford today to play a league match. They took their racquets along with the "Hydro town" in order to try and pull through with a win.

The match calls for ladies' singles and doubles, mixed doubles and men's singles and doubles.

I saw "Pete" Cole in town last week. He has not lost a fiddle. "Pete" plays rugby and also souls for Bailey Bros. of Belleville. He has made quite a name for himself in the sporting circles in the "Queen City."

The town bowlers are getting ready for their annual tournament that is to be held this month. They expect a big field. Bowling on the Lava bowling seems to be coming back. It was quite a game some years ago the old timers say.

Well I see that the Victorias meet the Sulphide team in the intermediate play-offs. The winner will meet the loser out of second place by winning three games out of five. The score about indicates the games I heard.

The first game of the play-off's is to be played in Sulphide on Wednesday and the return game in Belleville on Friday evening. "Archie" Campbell turned his fastest back yesterday and they expect him to win from the locals in the play-offs. (Maybe.)

I see that the junior finals start in Belleville on Monday evening. When the Manor of today's game meets the Mesne juniors. The "dodge-boys" are out to make it three league titles in succession; but you never can tell. (?)

Manager Meagher, of the National Maids, is bringing the Falcons of Oshawa here today. This is the first out-side team that the local soft-ball fans have seen in some time. They play two games, one at 3 p.m. and one at 8 p.m.

The Falcons are led by the Elliott sisters. They need no introduction to the Belleville softball fans as they have played here in the past and gave the public real soft-ball.

Well didn't the C.I.A.C.O. girls make merry at the expense of the Tweedsmuir lad night? The score of 25 to 3 shows what how well the Corbyville girls hit.

"K." Generoux was the hero of the battle with seven hits out of eight times at bat. This is about a record for the girl's league, I believe.

DEMPSEY PLANS COMEBACK

In a statement issued at Reno the former heavyweight champion said he would start August 30 on a barnstorming tour of the country, meeting all comers at four rounds. His present weight is 186 3-4 pounds.

SULPHIDE WON SECOND PLACE

In a rather slow and listless game, Sulphide assured themselves of second place in the Trent Valley League when they were from Picton by the score of 15 to 6. "Archie" Campbell on the mound for the Sulphide Club, turned in a good game for the Amateurs, while both "Pete" Cole and "Ron" Church were hit far and often by the Sulphide batters.

Adams, the classy catcher of Sulphide, got bitten in the day when he helped himself to five hits out of six times at bat. He was closely followed by Campbell who had four hits out of six times at bat. Knox and Thompson were the only two batters for Picton who managed to get more than one hit, getting two apiece.

By taking second place in the League, Sulphide now play off with the Belleville Victorias for the right to go further in the Provincial championship hunt. The first game is to be played in Sulphide on Wednesday and the return game in Belleville on Friday.

Line-up

Picton—Cole, Church, Dunsford, Knox, Mason, Hudgins, Rorke, Thompson, Frederick, Hadden and Rondeau.

CAR CRASHES AGAINST TREE

Driver Fails to Make Turn Just West of City Limits

Failure to make a short turn on the King's Highway, near Col. Fonton's residence, a car driven by Frank William, Toronto, ran off the road, narrowly missed a tree and overturned in a field to the right of way. The impact was terrific and both the driver and his companion George Mills of Toronto were injured and required to be taken to the Belleville General Hospital. The driver, Mr. Williams sustained a broken shoulder and severe lacerations on the head, while Mills had his ankle fractured and also three ribs. The men were attended by Dr. Faulkner and yesterday the men are resting as comfortably as possible under the circumstances. The car was badly wrecked in front and was later towed to Corporal Garage for repairs.

Traffic Officer Byles investigated the accident, the men being taken to the hospital in Martin's ambulance. It is not known as yet how the accident was caused as the patients were in no condition from their injuries to be interviewed. Friday night, it is believed however the driver failed to see the turn and was in the ditch before he realized the fact. The accident occurred shortly after ten o'clock Friday night.

BRINGING UP FATHER, By George McManus

"MASQUERADE" by FAITH BALDWIN

SYNOPSIS

Leaving Hawaii shortly after her father's death, beautiful and penniless Pauchon Meredith goes to San Francisco, where she meets and loves handsome man named Tony. Pauchon is shocked to learn that Tony is a racketeer. Implicated in a recent murder. She, too, is now wanted. Pauchon escapes in an airplane under the name of "Smith." Evelyn Howard, whom she had met on the boat coming from Hawaii, is aboard. Evelyn is enroute to New York to live with her aunt, the wealthy Mrs. Carstairs, whom she has never met. After Pauchon confides in Evelyn, he latter treats her coolly. The plane crashes and Pauchon is the only survivor. She decides to escape Tony and the past and start life anew by masquerading as Evelyn, she requests a doctor to wire Mrs. Carstairs that "Evelyn" is safe. A wire comes from Mrs. Carstairs saying that Collin cannot meet Pauchon. Pauchon learns Collin is Mrs. Carstairs' only son. Mrs. Carstairs meets Pauchon at the train explaining "But you're not Evelyn, are you . . . ." She detects the girl's terror of being discovered and agrees that Carstairs explains she couldn't believe anyone so beautiful could belong to the family. Her kindness and affection prick Pauchon's conscience.

CHAPTER XI

When everything had been cleared away — Mrs. Carstairs talked of Southampton, of plans in the making time, Pauchon, with unrelated casualness, the doctor was announced. He came in his way — a big, spare, in evening clothes. A tall, good-looking man. Wrong, by name. With Mrs. Carstairs watching, he went at Avery Pauchon, looked at her arm, rebandaged it and pronounced her remarkably well in limb. Her arm was broken. Only rest would cure that and nature, he said, and added that she had had a severe nervous shock. He left her a nerve tonic and some sleeping powders.

"But I won't need them!" Pauchon protested.

"They will relax you," he told her, smiling. "Don't worry. Just keep up."

Mrs. Carstairs went out to the hall with him, as he left.

"She's all right," he told her in his manner to her anxious question. "I didn't of course ask for details. She's pretty badly shaken up. Had a very stressful business. And very nervous. Give her lots of quietness, fresh air and keep off any subject that seems to affect her disagreeably or emotionally. See that she gets plenty of recreation and good laughter. She'll need that to help her forget."

After a moment he asked,

"And Collin?"

Mrs. Carstairs made a gesture of despair.

"Terribly stubborn," she admitted. "Does she know?"

"Only what I wrote her. Which wasn't much. There are some things that you cannot possibly write," Mrs. Carstairs admitted.

She added, as the doctor stood there silent, frowning a little.

"I told her I would talk to her about it tonight."

"Not tonight," the physician advised, quietly. "Wait until she is more rested. She is struggling for self control, I could see that. But she is really tremendously upset."

He left and Mrs. Carstairs returned to Pauchon.

"I must," said Pauchon, "send back the suitcase to the Lawsons. They are the people who took me in after—after disaster. I borrowed the case from them and a hat and coat as well. I could have bought things in the town but there wasn't time and I couldn't get out to get them, she explained.

"Emma will attend to it for you," Mrs. Carstairs suggested, "you are not to worry. And you can send them a cheque in their kindness to you."

"A cheque?" asked Pauchon, astonished.

Mrs. Carstairs rose and went over to a rosewood desk. From the drawer she took a new bank book and gave it to Pauchon. Pauchon opened it. It assured her that in a certain New York bank a certain sum had been deposited to the order of Evelyn Howard.

"We can arrange for your signature later," Mrs. Carstairs said, "It is your silverance."

Pauchon stared at the check book. Money! Under false pretenses! But she had money of her own. No, it was not hers. It was Tony's. She could not spend more of it, she must one day manage somehow to return it to him. Yet how could she, without unravelling web of deceit which she had set herself to weave? Yet this money which was offered her was not her own, either.

Nothing could make it so.

"It is your allowance," said Mrs. Carstairs again, "and will be paid quarterly.

The amount was twenty-five hundred dollars.

Pauchon flushed and paled again.

"But I can't—it is too much . . ." she stammered.

Ten thousand dollars a year!

Mrs. Carstairs said gently.

"You will need pocket money. And clothes. I am going to give myself the great pleasure of outfitting you, first, from head to feet. And after that, you may use yours allowance as you see fit."

She added,

"I have more money than I can possibly spend. Collin has his own income. His father's fortune was divided between us and has more than doubled. Collin has a seat on the Stock Exchange as well and is doing famously. I have always felt that . . . that I owed you something. You see, while the estate left by your grandparents was not large, it all came to me. Half of it should have been your mother's. I shall never forgive myself," she said low, "and May never forgave me."

Pauchon said, low, quickly and anxious to help by some word of comfort.

"I am sure she did!"

Mrs. Carstairs' eyes lighted.

"Do you believe that? You don't know how happy you have made me! But I will not let you talk any more." She moved to the bedside table and took up the electric bell which stood there, poured out a dose of her, shook one of the sleeping powders into it and gave it into Pauchon's hand. "Drink that. Doctor's orders!" she said smiling. "and if, in two hours you are not asleep you may have another. If you wish anything in the night, ring for Emma. She is sleeping next door near you. But I, and not she, will call you in the morning."

She drew a sheet and a light blanket over Pauchon, and took the negligee from her shoulders. "Lie down," she said, and sleeping, looked her. Pauchon held her slightly for a minute. In another moment the lights were out and the cool breeze swept gently into the room from the open windows.

"I only want your happiness," said Mrs. Carstairs softly from the door, "I have made it my business, Evelyn."

Two hours later Pauchon snapped on the bedside light and took the second sleeping powder. Her brain was like a merry-go-round. She had had terrors, fears, a fit of fever of despair. No going back now. And she didn't want to go back now. The whole heart had gone out to Jennie Carstairs. If she had been poor and obscure and miserable and still herself, Pauchon knew she would have gone out to her. Pauchon was perfectly miserable with all the ease and luxury. It fitted into the picture and that was all it was to the honored family who had won her.

And she was an impostor.

Until Tony was dead. She could not hurt the dead. To confess now would be, she realized, to hurt the living tremendously.

After a long time she slept.

HAND WAS BLOWN OFF ACCIDENTALLY

Peterboro, Ont., Aug. 7 — George Quackenbush, 13 year old son of Marcus Quackenbush, of South Lake, has his left hand blown off yesterday when the shotgun which he was playing with discharged. The boy was playing with the gun at his home when it twelve miles north of Havelock and while holding his left hand over the muzzle he is believed to have kicked the trigger. Two small girls who are visiting at his home here were with him at the time and had a very narrow escape from being wounded.

A gray-green fish, called the puffer, defends itself when in danger by suddenly assuming the appearance of a balloon.

AMUSEMENTS

SUGAR NIGHT AT BELLE NEXT FRIDAY

An announcement of interest to all ladies in Belleville and district, is the Redpath Sugar night, at the Belle Theatre, next Friday night, August 14th.

Twenty aides attending the Belle next Friday night, will each receive a Ten Pound Packet of Redpaths Extra Granulated sugar, absolutely free.

With preserving and canning now being the order in nearly every household, this generous offer will no doubt be received cordially by every housewife.

An excellent program of screen entertainment will be exhibited, the feature offering is "The Public Defender," with the ever-welcome Richard Dix, star of "Cimarron," and "Donovan's Kid" in a splendid role.

CHARLIE RUGGLES AT BELLE IN LAUGH-PACKED COMEDY

If Charlie Ruggles doesn't this year get one of those awards given by somebody or other for the premier comedy-acting of the season, then a lot of people are going to let down their hair and cry in their beer.

For the eminently funny Mr. Ruggles has a following of the most the honored gentry who take (or leave) their amusement on the talking screen—and he'll add thousands of the hosts of Ruggles's admirers after "The Girl Habit" gets circulated around the country.

The plot is not a complicated one. It doesn't have to be—for the abundant comedy situations provide all the complications required to give Ruggles full play for his genius as a fun-maker. His own deft style of making laughs grows where another lesser comedian would fail to thorn to great advantage in this farce.

Our hero is seen as a wealthy bachelor-about-town whose attentive habits where girls are concerned bounce back at him when he gives up the chase of all girls and centers his devotion on Sue Conroy, society debutante, to whom he becomes engaged.

The preparations for their marriage are blighted by the appearance of an ex-flame with a bundle of old love-letters from Charlie. At first she threatens to blackmail him, but later reverses, promising to hand over the damaging epistles if he will come to her apartment. When he arrives there he is discovered by her jealous husband—a tough gangster, who swears he will "get" Charlie.

The ensuing events keep Charlie in a prolonged state of "hot water," His must, dodge the gangster, keep the ex-flame out of sight, and prevent his fiances and her mother from discovering his plight.

He finally has to get himself arrested to elude the pursuit of the gangster and his mob. But even in jail his troubles continue for the old "girl habit" crops up again; he becomes attentive unmaliciously, of course, to the warden's wife— and his prospective mother-in-law, as chairman of a prison reform committee, finds him in a seemingly compromising position when she visits the institution

But the laughs are untangled to the end to the accompaniment of roars of hilarity.

ELEANOR BOARDMAN IN NEW BELLE HIT

Dressmaker Night Monday

As the loyal wife and mother in "Women Are Only Human," the feature offering at the Belle Monday night, Dressmaker Gift Night, and Tuesday, with the usual matinee daily, Eleanor Boardman is provided with a very powerful rol—ons of the most important in her career.

The star of "The Crowd," "Three Wise Fools," and "The Great Meadow" and a score of other pictures both silent and talkie, is seen in "Women Love Once" as the central feminine interest of a story that is crammed full with dramatic intensity.

Paul Lukas plays the part of the artist-husband in this play written by Zoe Akins from her stage success, "Daddy's Gone A-Hunting."

They live happily in the big metropolis with their adorable four-year old daughter (Marilyn Knowlden). As a commercial artist, doing routine drawings for advertisements, Lukas earns a moderate competence and all three live very happily—a model family.

But the spell of contentment is broken by the appearance of Juliette Compton, wealthy social lightlette Compton, wealthy social lightlette Compton, wealthy social lightl

GIANT CUNARDER'S NOVEL FEATURES

Largest Merchant Ship in the World will Develop Power Enough for a City of 100,000

Halifax, N.S., Aug. 8.—Less than a century ago Samuel Cunard pedalled vegetables through the streets of this city to secure money with which he could embark on his sensational career as one of the Empire's greatest steamship line operators. Today, the line which he founded in this old sea-faring city is building an express liner on the Clyde which, when completed in 1932, will be the largest and most luxurious merchant ship afloat.

This gigantic new ship, grandchild of the faith which Samuel Cunard had in the future development of his native land and in ocean transportation between the old and new worlds, is truly the scientific marvel of the age.

Known in the yards as Number 534, this 1018 foot Queen of the Seas will send the Cunard line and the British government a total of 200,000,000 miles of travel gracefully down the ways in 1932. Other expensive ships have come in connection with the harbor facilities for the giant new liner—the 200,000,000 piler on the Hudson, while a new graving dock to cost approximately $10,000,000 will be built at Southampton.

Sea sickness, that disagreeable feature of ocean travel experienced by many travellers, will, it is thought, be a thing of the past on this new ship. She will not only, even in the heaviest seas, for the steadiness of the ship will be assured by a 12,000,000 pound gyro device which weighs over 300 tons. The reading of the log is one of the features of this new giant of the seas will mount 24 funnels, some of the marvelous developments being, it is said, a huge ocean liner construction by British maritime engineers.

Her engines will generate 200,000 horsepower.

Ten miles of carpet will be used to cover her floors.

She will have 16,000 electric light fittings.

A total of 30,000 tons of steel will enter into her construction.

She will have 12 turbines, 7 turbine generators, and 200 electric motors.

The catering department will have 200.00 pieces of crockery.

Decorations for the ship alone will cost $1,500,000.

There will be an elaborate chapel where services will be held daily.

About 5000 men are now busily engaged on construction of the ship on the River Clyde, Glasgow, and it is hoped that she will depart on her maiden voyage in October, 1932. This immense transatlantic express liner will have accommodation for 3000 passengers and with a sister ship soon to follow, will maintain weekly service on the New York and Canadian service of the line. It is expected that with her speed of thirty-five knots she will be able to make the Atlantic crossing in four days.

JAIL IS PLACE FOR WAYWARD LASSIES

Saskatoon, Sask., Aug. 8.—(By The Canadian Press)—Jail is not the place for wayward girls who are not criminal, according to Magistrate F. M. Brown. Institutions should be provided for these girls, His Honor declared. He deplored the fact that "despite all our so-called religion of the present day, apparently the only place we have for girls like this is the common jail."

The judge was presiding over the case of Miss Adelaide Wilkinson, charged with vagrancy. The 18-year-old girl informed the magistrate she left home at the age of 13, when her mother thought she was "tough" because she smoked. The judge declared he could see nothing wrong in smoking "as most girls smoked in these days."

TERSE TALKS on TIMELY TOPICS

by

Sam Slick the Little Plumber

FELLOW CITIZENS:

Five million more automobiles will be manufactured this year and I am wondering where we are going to put them. I wouldn't worry about the other 4,999,999 if I knew where a fellow was going to put even one.

When a man takes his car out now on a nice day he meets everything but his payrowls. Half the people in the world seem to be living the same place he is, and the other half where he came from.

It takes 35 minutes to pass a given bolding stand. The world seems to be going to two funerals, and if you get out of one you meet the other and remember a darned sight sooner than you expected.

But always up ahead of you is your own line is some patriot who says, "They shall not pass!" There is no object to some men who buy a car, and then go to see it for.

And, when you get where you're going, where are you going to go after you get there? You can't keep on driving, as a firefighting because other people have all the fireplugs plugged.

There is one thing certain: A man who has a place to go and can certainly does see the city. If a man has a place to go he can't be seen for dust.

A visitor in Chicago got into a traffic jam, and it was three days before he got clear. He ran out of gas, of course, but the taxicabs surrounded him and he got a ride.

It is too bad that parking hasn't developed as much as driving and steamlifting by our new and modernized methods. If we could take the old wheeze he heard of the fellow who drove his car home for tools and charging up time.

We bring the shop and tools with us. We are Plumber Shop on Wheels. If you have a plumbing job, big or little, let's give you a figure on it. our specialty of first-class work at reasonable prices always produces a satisfied customer.

Yours for satisfaction.

IS AN OYSTER A FISH? IS QUERY

London, Aug. 8 (by the Canadian Press)—Whether or not an oyster is a fish was a question raised before the Colchester Area Assessment Committee recently when Joe Hunt, County Valuation Committee sought to have the Colne Oyster Fishery Assessed. The oyster fishery is a lessee from the Colchester Corporation who from time immemorial have enjoyed the rights and privileges of the river. Counsel for the company, Gerald Benham said he would admit that an oyster was not only a fish but a super-fish.

Frederick Levy, who appeared for the Committee said that from the scientific point of view it was not certain that an oyster was a fish, but legally it had been established a long ago as Richard II. that an oyster was a fish. If that was so a fish was something that swam in a fishery, and a fishery was something that could be assessed.

Remarking that it was the first time in history that it was sought to asses this kind of oyster fishery, Mr. Benham argued it was not a corporeal hereditament but an incorporeal one, and therefore not taxable. He also contended that it was no exclusive and beneficial occupation, it having been previously held that the rights of the Corporation were subject to the free passage of ships.

Mr. Levy replied that if somebody took some oysters or did anything irregular he would be prosecuted, and the river police protected the company's rights, the Corporation receiving £3,500 for same. The committee held that the fishery was subject to assessment and that it fetched a figure of £3,500 on the property. Mr. Benham gave notice of appeal.

LATEST ENTRIES FOR BIG SPLASH

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 8 (by the Canadian Press)—Tom Adams, 200-pound Youngstown, Ohio, meat cutter and Abe Sussman, Bronx clerk, who has made swimming around Manhattan Island his hobby, are the latest entrants in the Exhibition's 1931 race for $25,000 and world laurels.

Another in Jim Tuska, winner of the 12-mile Kapuskina River swim La Japan in competition with 300 Oriental marathoners. The Japanese star, nevertheless, is a British entry. Tuska was born on British territory. His father was Japanese and his mother was French. He is a chef and his training rules, plain food, plenty of sleep.

TUGS SEARCHING SURFACE OF LAKE

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 8 (By The Canadian Press)—Two tug-boats and a life saving crew were cruising the waters a mile off the shore of Scarboro Bluffs in an effort to locate the remains of a seaplane which was reported to have crashed into Lake Ontario yesterday. Although a number of eye-witnesses reported seeing a plane fall into the water at a late hour last evening, the wreckage had not been discovered.

DR. THUNA BALSAM REMEDIES, LTD.

Located at 316 Front Street, Belleville, Offer Herb Compounds Which Have Been Used for Many Years in the Relieving of Human Suffering.—Try Ba'sam to Get Well and Keep Well.—"Without Health Life is Like the Contents of an Empty Tea Bowl."

In the distant past of the human race, the slave-man had certain herbs native seven of which benefitted his health. When he fell ill, by instinct, he'd eat the herb that he knew in some mysterious way, would benefit him.

With the advent of our modern civilization and all its glories, certain disadvantages have also come in. We have lost that ancient instinct, and in addition due to hundreds of modern life in the machine age disorders unknown or uncommon to ancient man have sprung up.

Illnesses are more and more common with the artificial conditions under which we live. Realizing this state of affairs, The Dr. Thuna Balsam Remedies, Ltd., undertook a serious investigation of the problem and evolved formulae of Balsam Remedies which may be used with very good effects in many disorders.

The formulae from which their Balsam Remedies are manufactured have been tried and tested; today they are in the first place in the medicine cabinet of many households. At the first sign of illness, administer the remedy which is suitable; you will find it will effectually check the progress of the disorder and set in in a way almost miraculous.

Dr. Thuna Balsam Remedies Ltd. have a wide knowledge of the uses of herbs and are students of an old civilization which produced some of the healthiest specimens of the human family. Their marvelous success is attested to by people all over this section of Canada who have benefitted by the use of their remedies.

A whole-hearted devotion to the good of one's fellow-man is rightly said to be one of the noblest attributes of the human being; in promoting these Balsam Remedies to the public the originators and manufacturers deserve the utmost praise.

ALBERTA WOMAN OREGON LAWYER

Edmonton, Alta., Aug. 8. — Once resident of Alberta, Miss Mary Jeanette, LL.B., returned to Edmonton recently a full-fledged lawyer and deputy district attorney of Portland, Oregon. Large circles of friends greeted the young lady on her return from a stenographer to a high place in the legal profession, noted for her social work among the poor.

Graduate of Alberta College and Northwestern University law school in Portland, Miss Spurrin told how she became involved in social work while her practice was in its infancy. Straightening out difficulties among needy people, she said, soon injected her into the career of social worker, although she continued her practice.

Institutions in Oregon, where unmarried mothers are provided for, send the unfortunates to school or to their homes for the week until they are properly fitted "to fill a useful place in society. Much of her work deals with the unmarried parents and obtaining support for children of divorced parents," Miss Spurrin said. For the luckless she advocated the teaching of crafts, trades and agriculture.

Joseph H. Gunter, Hickory Flat (Miss.) farmer who recently celebrated his 91st birthday, said he has never been inside a barber shop. He said he "swopped haircuts" with neighbors.

Work for All Who Wish for Jobs in Labor Units Premier Henry States

Denies That Labor Battalions Will be Military In Type

SINGLE MEN

Better That Married Men Find Work Near Home, He Says

Toronto, Aug. 8—"It is not a matter of military battalions at all as some one has thought fit to lead the public to believe—but work battalions in the sense that those who wish to go North will get employment and will be welcome," said Premier George S. Henry to 900 people who crowded the auditorium of the R. H. McGregor School (Soat York), to the capacity last night under the auspices of the East York Workers' Association.

The foregoing statement was accorded enthusiastic applause, and the Premier continued: "It cannot be too clearly understood that there is nothing of a military character with regard to those Northern camps. The wage will be a fair one, but the wage will not be large enough to hinder men going back to their regular employment later.

Answering a question, the Premier said the Government was studying the matter of mortgage foreclosures and the question of land taxation. Discussing unemployment, he added:

May I say that we are in close daily association with the Federal Government's representative in this whole problem, Senator Robertson. I am glad to say that he has not yet limit the provision to the Administration's relationship with this situation, beyond stipulating that an arrangement should be made for all expenditures decided upon. In a word, they have given a blank cheque to the Administration to go ahead and treat this situation adequately—seeing to it that every one is clothed, fed and housed during the present season and the coming winter."

To Meet Situation

Premier Henry hurried to add, in the above statement, "I am speaking frankly to you, and through you to the people of Ontario, with full confidence that we are going to meet the situation. It may be hard for everybody, to progress this fast upon a man who has no longer barter what are termed 'square meals' every day. He may be somewhat doubtful, and I don't blame him for it. Yet, I do assure him that we are considering every thought and energy to the speedy solution of this problem. I have received assurance, and more than confidence in the people of this Province that, without party thought or thought of the Legislature, or passing of municipal or political boundaries, I have a mandate from them to do what I think is required as circumstances develop. I simply feel and know that the people are behind me when I say that we are going to meet the situation in an adequate way, and that in the no distant future."

Married Men

Indicating that the work camps in the North will primarily be in the interests of the transient "single" unattached workers, Premier Henry added: "Some one may inquire: 'Why not the married man?' For my part I would not say that. But in the first instance, we would like to provide employment for the married men at home. They would be handicapped in providing for their board in the North, and also the maintenance of their homes here. It is the simpler and more direct solution of the problem. I think you will agree with me when the ideal situation that employment be made available in the married man's home." (Applause.)

The loan of what were called "personal financial reserves" during the past year to meet the difficult situation was referred to by the speaker, and linked up with the promise "the shrinkage in purchasing power of the people with whom Canada has been accustomed to deal, both at home and abroad" leading him to conclude that "in my estimation, therefore, the present situation is of much more gravity than a year ago. Last year there was a higher percentage of purchasing power during the country buy season. Consequently as we move once again into the next few months, the problem is more acute for larger numbers of our people whose "reserves" are going, or gone."

CHURCHILL SEEN AS TOURIST RESORT

Winnipeg, Aug. 8 — Paradise for the sportsman and tourist lies in the Hudson Bay territory where fish and wild life abound, declared John Hooper, first bona-fide United States tourist to visit Churchill. Accompanied by Prof. S. G. Pettingill, of Carnegie Museum, Pittsburg, Mr. Hooper has just completed a trip to Manitoba's northern seaport. He is president of the Canadian Tourist Association.

Both are twenty-seven white whale, from 12 to 18 feet long in Churchill harbor. Trees which make great snag factory stock, and which withstand much good weather, they off," Mr. Hooper said. Steamers, 100 and 12C pounds in weight were served for sale for fifty cents each by Indians and trappers. "As soon as the interpretation plans of those points, and as the law protection permits, I am told that considerable ship this fish out," the visitor stated.

The first of the Hudson's Bay Company's fleet of steamers that ever have shipped out while Mr. Hooper was in the northern port. The pack consisted of more than 2000 prime Arctic white foxes, hundreds of silver fox, black fox and cross fox pelts, rare sables and marten. "For the hunter, there is all the caribou, walrus and seal sport that Churchill has anyone could wish for," he said.

Mr. Hooper believed the seaport of Churchill had opened a permanent route to Europe, and that liners would ply from Boston, New York, and Halifax, Quebec Montreal, direct to Churchill. Then they would proceed by rail to all points in the west. He hoped that rates would soon be installed in Churchill for the tourists and that the government would erect hotels.

CRAMER FORCED DOWN IN OCEAN

Machine Overhauled and Flier Expects to Resume

Copenhagen, Denmark, Aug. 8 (AP)—Parker Cramer, arriving from the United States landed at Angmagssalik, Greenland, at 9 o'clock last night (8 pm. EST) Cramer and Lloyd Cheney came down in the North Atlantic by engine trouble.

Radio advices said his aeroplane had been overhauled and that he expected to resume his flight to Copenhagen for the purpose of making a non-stop flight to the Arctic from the United States to Europe.

Cramer said he planned to be back in Newark in a week's time to see whether he would fly direct or go via Bergen, Norway.

Hindenburg Defends Freedom of Press

Berlin, Aug. 8.—President Paul von Hindenburg has issued a letter to Chancellor Bruning in defence of freedom of the press.

The president sharply rebuked the Prussian Government of Premier Otto Braun for forcing all the Prussian newspapers to publish a political manifesto denouncing the Sunday's plebiscite for dissolution of the Diet and exhorting the voters to stay away from the polls.

Von Hindenburg also ordered the Central Government to prepare modifications of his presidential decree of July 17th, under which the Prussian cabinet assumed dictatorial powers in forcing publication of the manifesto.

PYJAMAS NOT FAVORED BY WINNIPEG WOMEN

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 7.—Taboo on pyjama parade on Winnipeg's broad avenues will soon be sought by the city's organized women's bodies is being correctly interpreted from the attitude of executives. Certain offenders, as older girls and women limit the wearing of the garb to the beaches or their own home. Many women see in this phase of the pyjama craze the main reason for taking action, as they regard the long dress styles as favored by the youngsters a menace to their morals.

"When pyjamas for outdoor wear, aside from beach costumes, were first shown they were merely crass adaptations with a skirt for each leg, and, as such, were all right if one cared for that sort of thing," one woman said in discussing the matter recently.

"But the more extravagant the style the more popular pyjamas have become with the younger girls until, today, some are however, positively sheer as disgrace."

Winnipeg women confirmed this statement to the extent of admitting that they were doing a flourishing business in the more bizarre types. Big pajama legs, sweat-necks and flimsy slips are the popular thing. Some managers declared that the trend had not been taken up so universally as the one for summer pyjamas, and that the most daring styles were the most popular.

He Never Knew

By Mary Ethel White

Mary Lou threw herself across the narrow iron bed. "If only, if only," she sobbed into the pink bedspread, "she hadn't told me. If she hadn't told me she couldn't go to that party in the new dress! If only she'd told me the reason, instead of the reason she'd asked her—because she told me that I couldn't go in the old dress!" She smoothed a small wet place that the tears had made and dabbed at her eyes.

"Oh, dear, dear, Mary Lou," Jim had exclaimed. "All the fellows will be there with their girls. Gosh, he'd said—and his eyes had been sweet when he'd said it, "I'm going to be proud of my girl."

Mary Lou sobbed again and reached for her powder puff and the purse for a dry handkerchief. It hadn't been her father's fault that, at the last minute, he had to have her salary for the week. It was only that he'd been saving to buy that dress and he had hated it almost as much as she had, but carpentry jobs were scarce. He was glad she'd been able to keep a stiff upper lip as long as he was around.

Mary Lou sat up and pushed a tall, wrinkled pillow behind her head. She'd been saving for a special dress for Jim; a blue green so he'd be sure to notice it. It was trimmed in a water nymphs, a dress with a lot of cotton to be full—and it was cool. All that day she'd kept watching for Jim. She was glad she'd been able to keep a stiff upper lip as long as he was around.

Another tear slipped through Mary Lou's thick, curly lashes. Jim was dear. He was sure his eyes would be all red. But it had been very thoughtful of him to say that her feel floaty and unreal and silvery. That was glad she'd been. Jim might well be—proud of. It would be fun having Jim come in her. There were so many girls who didn't have.

Mary Lou sat on the edge of the bed and reached for her slippers, but slipped. She wished she hadn't talked about that dress so much to Jim. She could tell by the way he'd her feel floaty and unreal and silvery that he was glad she'd been. Jim might well be—proud of. It would be fun having Jim come in her. There were so many girls who didn't have.

Mary Lou put her hand over the lump in her throat. It was getting tighter every minute; she had to stop crying. But she kept seeing Jim's face. She went to the mirror she came down the stairs. At first she'd been glad that Jim hadn't he'd recognize the same old pink dress that he'd seen on four dates with him. He'd frown, and then she'd tell him it was borrowed, and after that, well, she'd know she'd lost him. She would have on her new red dress and everybody would look at her and envy her. Jim would be sorry he hadn't taken Sally!

Mary Lou looked at the alarm clock: almost eight. She would have to hurry. She went into the bathroom and held a wet cloth to her eyes. Then she took a long lump start in her throat again, she bit her lip hard. She poured hot water in the basin and put her head in it. Soon long enough to set her waves. She looked in the mirror and tried to smile. If she counted all the times she pressed her pink dress, she couldn't think that Jim would be glad to see her in front of his friends. It would have been fun to see his face when that pink dress. But he didn't. He had taken Sally instead, even knowing that dress. Mary Lou clean- ed her teeth furiously, creating a cream while she ran the water for her bath. If only the world would come to an end. If only she'd get sick, before the came. Or if she did! If she died, then Jim could always think how she would have looked in a Paris model, even if it was only a copy.

"Mary Lou," Tommy called. "Jim's here. Jim always laughed when Tommy called me 'Tommy' had such a deep, serious voice for about a four-year-old.

Mary Lou said she'd be down in a few minutes. She slipped into the pink dress, crushed the waves in her hair, and went down the door. She'd have to keep a stiff upper lip, that was all.

She had telling Tommy an exciting tale about a bunk robbery when Mary Lou came in the room. "Gosh, you're pretty!"

"Thanks, Tommy." Jim exclaimed, his eyes shining. He took a step towards her, and, "Mary Lou, you my girl in a Paris gown!" He took her by the hand, swung her round. "Why Mary Lou," he said, "you're a marvelous!"

Mary Lou drew back. Was he making fun of her? Didn't he know? Surely he recognized her old pink dress. He was just being nice.

"But, but," she stammered.

"Sal darling, I'm proud," he said, "to be the swellest thing on the floor. I'm glad I'm the only fellow with a girl in a gray living room.

"Mary Lou," Tommy's voice was shrill. "Jim ordered, "come here and let me kiss you good-by."

Mary Lou went into his arms. If he didn't know the difference between a Paris model and a dressmaker's an old pink dress, well, what difference did it make?

WILL CLEAR AIR ON HYDRO OVER PURCHASE OF POWER

Every Angle of Hydro Activity to be Covered Says Globe

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 7 (CP) — The Toronto Globe says "complete investigation of the Hydro situation from the government the Globe was informed, be undertaken at the next session of the legislature.

"A special committee from the House investigate," says Globe Chairman Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests, as chairman of the committee, "it will be understood, make the inquiry.

"Every angle of Hydro activity," the paper says "including the power purchase, with which the commission payment of $50,000 to Sir Adam Beck is connected, will, it is said, be thrown open to the committee.

"The government, it is reported, is determined to clear the air with regard to commission purchases and commission policy, to 'set it at rest, once and for all time,' as the Globe is informed 'stories and suggestions regarding commission administration that have been in circulation, particularly since the Beauharnois probe at Ottawa and the disclosures therein brought

MENNONITES DRIVE TO NORTH ALBERTA

Edmonton, Alta., Aug. 8.—(By The Canadian Press)—Mexico to Alberta in three months is the goal ca1led record of a ton-and-a-half truck which reached northward recently on its way to the Peace River country 300 miles northeast. The truck, a modern covered wagon carried 24 Mennonites, most of them from the prairies.

It was in April that the truck left Duranito, Mexico, according to P. F. Klassen, the driver. For years a member position of the group had lived in communities of Manitoba and Saskatchewan, though they had spent a year in Mexico. One hundred and fifty miles from Manitoba to Edmonton 30 years ago.

BLOW WAY THRU HILL IN ROAD

Highway Three Miles West of Marmora Scene of Blasting

The big blast was set off a few days ago which is to open a way through the hill of rock on No. 7 Highway about three miles west of Marmora. For some weeks a gang of men had been busily tunnelling under the hill. The main tunnel, together with the cross tunnels, is about 300 feet. About 3 1-2 tons of dynamite and the same amount of black powder were then and placed at the selected spots and the final fuse lighted. When the tunnel was filled up again. At the proper time by the use of wires by a powerful battery.

In spite of the fact the blast occurred only an hour and a half earlier than was expected a large crowd gathered to watch the event. They were kept at a safe distance by Provincial Constable Percy Gray of Marmora, and Frink of Belleville, but were able to see the result of the estimated some 18000 yards of rock the explosion quite clearly. It is said that there was no loud noise into the air. When the mass was at the highest point it hung there in a sort of fan shape and then dropped back, covering the hill. The place it came out of, but the rock was so shattered that it can be taken out with the big shovel and used to fill in the grade of the road to the west of the hill.

The construction work the tunnel is being carried out in charge of Mr. Tony Baldazzero superintendent of the McMillan Construction Co. He is considered one of the best men in Canada on rock excavation and blasting. The fact that only two or three telephone wires were cut and not a pole or telephone was damaged shows how well the work was planned. A gang of telephone men were on hand to repair any damage, but they had very little to do.

REV. DR. E. SCOTT DIES AT MONTREAL

Montreal, Aug. 8.—Rev. Dr. Ephraim Scott, formerly moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, and for over 30 years editor of the Presbyterian Witness, died in the Montreal General Hospital last night at the age of 78 years and a half of age, succumbed to a throat malady.

Rev. Dr. Scott was a keen opponent of church union and took a prominent part during the discussions which preceded the vote. He also broke away again. The boy continued his search until he himself disappeared. A search party found 15 miles from home, tired and hungry, but still seeking the elusive pet.

He was a native of Nova Scotia, having been born there 78 years ago from New Glasgow, N.S., where he was pastor for some years. Dr. Scott was twice married, his second wife predeceasing him four years. Three sons was born to his first union but have died before him.

Orderly Marketing and Initial Payment Ordered for Wheat

Premier Issues Statement That Pools Will Have Ample Capital

POOL PRINCIPLE

But Operations Will Be Same Way as Private Concerns

Ottawa, Aug. 8.—Premier R. B. Bennett Friday issued the following statement regarding the marketing of the 1931 wheat crop:

"The Dominion Government will take the elevators operated by the Pools in the seven Western Provinces, which own near or eleven hundred country elevators, as well as terminals at Vancouver and Fort William, and will operate this year in the same way as privately owned enterprises. They will have ample working capital, and the Provinces will not be called upon to guarantee their operations.

"As a substantial number of producers desire to market their grain on the Pool principle, the elevators operated by the Pools in the seven Provinces will afford to such producers an opportunity to have their grain dealt with by the organization of a voluntary Pool. The elevators will make to such producers an initial payment of 35 cents per bushel and the same basis as to quality, and point of delivery as in previous years.

"The Dominion Government will take whatever action may be necessary to maintain orderly marketing of the crop of the year. Pools will produce as much wheat as they can for the prices obtainable for this year's Western grain crop."

RUSSIA WILL BE NO MENACE TO FARMING, SAYS WADLEIGH

Exports Prove Unprofitable and Standard Living Will Rise

Williamstown, Mass., Aug 8—(AP)—Jacob Viner, Professor of Economics at the University of Chicago told members of the institute of Politics that Soviet Russia is not a menace to agricultural prices in Western World.

Professor Viner said the danger from Russia's agricultural exports is exaggerated and pointed out that Russia suffers from a "serious disbalance economy" in which she is not economically self-sufficient.

Russian exports he said are so unprofitable to Russia and to the standard of living there is so low that as Russian productivity rises, home consumption will rise proportionately.

H. J. Wadleigh, member of the Economic staff of the Federal Farm Board, said that the agricultural protectionism in Europe had been greatly intensified in the last two years by the fall in agricultural prices.

He pointed out that in the case of wheat, indirect forms of protection had been found more effective than tariff duties.

"It must not be thought," he said, "that these new restrictions on imports are one of the primary causes of the depression in agriculture; they are a consequence rather than a cause, but have nevertheless helped to intensify the fall of prices and are a partial obstacle in their revival."

Undersellers are feeling the stress of depression when even a funeral is a luxury, Arthur W. Holcombe, Professor of Government of Harvard University told the institute.

Death rate figures are "startlingly lower" in democratic countries of than in non-democratic countries, he asserted.

OUTLINES PLAN TO HELP IDLE

Manion Says Beauharnois Moneys Must Be Spent Properly

Hamilton, Aug. 8—Canada, with in 12 months or even less, will be back upon its feet again and the only one in this country shall be no hungry this year so Premier R. J. Bennett Government can prevent it was the cheerful assurance given Friday night by Hon. Robert Manion, Federal Minister of Railways and Canals. He spoke to the Technical Institute in the interests of the Conservative candidate, Conservative candidate in the East Hamilton by election to be held on Monday. The large auditorium was filled to capacity and many stood throughout, those present appeared to be confident of victory for Mr. Robinson.

Hamilton being an industrial city would be one of the first centres to recover when a change for the better came, Mr. Manion said, and it also would thus gain more from the tariff policies of the Bennett Government than any other city in Canada.

Proper Purpose

In touching upon the Beauharnois question, Mr. Minister said that while the Bennett Government backed the arbitration ruling the huge project under public ownership, Premier Bennett was determined that Beauharnois affairs shall be conducted in future in an honorable manner and that its moneys with the interest due, be used so far as the Government can protect them, "Moreover, the Government will see to it that the money invested shall be spent for the purpose for which it was raised and not for the purpose of attempting to create a "boom" throughout this country," Dr. Manion said.

In the relief problem for this and winter, Dr. Manion said: "We are faced with the identical task. Conditions are, and we intend, so far as we can, to deal with it. We intend to confer with the Provinces of sufficient size and importance that can be devised. We also promise to give direct relief to those who would otherwise be found; in fact, we hope to do everything within the financial power of this country to relieve conditions.

LINDBERGH AT POINT BARROW

Make Seven and Half Hour Flight From Peel Bay

Point Barrow, Alaska, Aug. 8 (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh set his monoplane down on the beach at an open lead beside the ice at 2 p.m. Alaska standard time (5:00 p.m. E. S. T.) today, completing a 526-mile flight from Peel Bay, on the Mackenzie River, was made in seven hours thirty minutes. The way the plane was in frequent radio communication with a station here and at Aklavik reporting its progress.

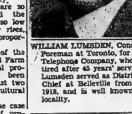
When the flight was about half over, a radio message from Aklavik was met, and Lindbergh turned his course inland to find better flying weather.

Within a few minutes after their arrival Mrs. Henry Grimes, medical missionary, put out to the pontoon plane and a small boat to extend the official welcome. Natives in their kayaks paddled their craft beside by.

Last minute preparations for the welcome consisted of raising flags and bunting on buildings. Work was put in place shortly after the word was flashed from Aklavik that Lindbergh was coming, although "night" here is only a few hours of darkness and not the dark.

The plane was moored safely in shore and Lindbergh and his wife came ashore and were taken to the mission house.

There were no gasoline supplies here and such scarce things as hot coffee, potatoes, eggs and tobacco were on hand to satisfy appetites.



No ship had arrived through the ice this season to replenish them, but native foods and delicacies were ready in large quantities.

SAFFRON, WHITE, GREEN FLAG

Bombay, Aug. 8.—Heneforth India should be represented by its own national flag, a committee of the Indian National Congress decided at its session here today.

It will be composed of saffron "courage and sacrifice, white (typical of peace and truth) and green (standing for faith and chivalry).

In the centre will be a spinning wheel of dark blue, representing the hope of the masses of India. By the inclusion of this device the authors of the flag hope to emphasize that the colors do not belong to any one community in the country.

Fifth Conference of British Empire Service League to Be Held in Toronto

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 8 (by the Canadian Press)—What H.R.H. the Prince of Wales described as the "greatest British institution that exists," the British Empire Service League, an organization uniting all the service men's and women's organizations in the Empire, will hold its fifth biennial conference here from September 3 to 7. At this meeting delegates from the British Isles and fifteen other countries within the Empire will be present. The League represents 7,000 branches and millions of British men and women.

The presiding officer at the Conference will be Admiral of the Fleet Earl Jellicoe, hero of Jutland, who will succeed the Duke of Connaught as President of the B.E.S.L., His Majesty the King is Patron-in-Chief and the Prince of Wales is Patron.

Earl Jellicoe will be the greatest number of the delegates from all parts of the Empire will be England on the R. M. S. Duchess of York, on which they will embark at Quebec on August 22 in order that ample time will be given them before the conference opens to fulfil several important engagements. On August 28 Earl Jellicoe will formally open the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto and the following day will take the salute when thousands of Canadian and Imperial ex-service men and women march past the grandstand.

The next most important engagement for Earl Jellicoe and his staff will be to attend the Empire Reunion Convention of the Canadian Legion of the B.E.S.L., which will be held at Niagara Falls, Ontario, from August 31 to September 5. This convention will be attended by delegates from 1,125 branches and units throughout the Dominion and will be presided over by Major John S. Roper, K.C., M.C., of Halifax, Dominion President of the Legion. His Excellency the Governor-General, Governor General of Canada, Right Hon. John Buchan, Lord Tweedsmuir, has a distinguished record served in the Great War, has intimated that he will be present at the opening session of the Convention.

Meanwhile arrangements for the reception of Admiral Jellicoe and the other delegates to the B.E.S.L. Conference are in charge of Lieut.-Colonel L. R. There are in official and unofficial receptions at Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Niagara Falls and other places in Canada, for the B.E.S.L. delegates.

While the final agenda for the Conference of the Empire has not yet been delivered it is already known that among the matters to be discussed are the suggestion of the extension of membership in the desirability of sons and daughters of ex-Service men participating in official demonstrations; maintenance of preference in employment by ex-servicemen; Empire unity and Empire development with special reference to Empire economic problems; Empire migration and settlement within the Empire and Empire trade.

There will also be discussed Pensions difficulties, as affecting men who have migrated from their original domiciles; the co-ordination of pilgrimages from overseas to the war graves of France and Flanders, and suggestions that standards and organs may be adopted for "member" organizations. A special conference for British films throughout the Empire wherever possible will be advocated.

A proposal on the agenda provides for the placing of permanent plaques on War Memorials in Allied Countries, such as Australia, South Africa or New Zealand, or on the Tomb of the Unknown Warrior in Paris.

ALBERT MEDAL TO DUKE CONNAUGHT

London, Aug. 8 (by the Canadian Press)—The Council of the Royal Society of Arts at Clarence House recently presented the society's Albert Medal to the Duke of Connaught "in a fitting appreciation of his presidency of the society since 1911." His Royal Highness, in his reply, recalled that his father, during his presidency, instituted the society as a means of carrying out his scheme for the great Exhibition of 1851, which gave an enormous impetus to the trade and industries of the day.

This is the fifth joint congress sponsored by the National Recreation Association of the United States, when the congress in public recreation has been held during the past ten years.

The Earl of Bessborough, governor-general of Canada, has agreed to act as honorary patron of the conference, and Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of the Dominion, is the honorary president.

Dr. John J. Tigert, United States Commissioner of The New York Times, will preside as chairman of honor, president of the N. R. A., will summarize the findings of the conference at its last session. Sustaining public support of recreation during the present period of industrial depression will be one of the most important topics on the programme. Among the other subjects will be recreation problems, facilities in park and recreation systems, the extension of recreation service trends in pre-school play, music and community singing among religious groups, industrial recreation, winter sports and trends in girls' athletics.

A concert by the Toronto Mendelssohn choir of 300 voices, a programme by the 48 piece symphony band of the Niagara Falls, New York; native folk dances by Swedish and Ukranian groups and Hamilton, Ontario, social dancing and games will end a busy week. Tennis and among the attractive entertainment features arranged for the convention.

The American Institute of Park Executives is scheduled to meet in the same city a week prior to the opening of the Niagara Falls, Congress. Exhibits of playground and recreation apparatus, books, and supplies will be on view in the Royal York Hotel, headquarters of the convention. Consultants in nearly every phase of the public recreation programme will be on hand for free service to all delegates.

TRINIDAD IS BRIGHT VIEWING THE FUTURE

Port-of-Spain, Trinidad, B.W.I., Aug. 8 (by the Canadian Press)—The Island Trinidad is viewing the near future with confidence, as expressed in a leading editorial in the Trinidad Guardian under the title, "With him representing the Guardian says in part:

"With the end of the second quarter of 1931 a general increase in confidence in trade and industry has become apparent throughout.

"Most authorities agree that an improvement will be seen within the next 12 months, and it is to be hoped that the prime ministers in different countries have realized their responsibility in the next fiscal period on this assumption. Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer in Britain, plans to collect this year, part of which he expended last year. Andrew W. Mellon, United States Secretary of the Treasury, has based his estimates for the year ending June, 1932, on expected improvements in the economic outlook.

"The sugar and cocoa markets have shown signs of responding. Sugar futures in London having come up three pence from 19 shillings, seven and one-half pence which they had elongated for a long time, while in New York cocoa has touched seven and one-half cents although sugar there has shown no signs of recovery.

"The situation in regard to cocoa is in one respect more favorable than that of sugar, as was emphasized at a recent meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, that quality sugar and coffee this commodity is also surplus and has to clear the market, the low quotations having been due chiefly to the prevailing economic depression. Nevertheless His Excellency Governor in his address at the recent International Conference said that the producers of sugar and cocoa should not expect on to be optimists than the producers of cocoa in the dark crops on which Trinidad relies.

"Neither in the case of sugar nor cocoa is there any attempt to induce a feeling of optimism on false premises. The factors upon which we have referred could not have been more full months ago. We are not made now with any fanciful belief in a speedy return of overwhelming return of prosperity. Rather they are based on data in indications, small but probably reliable, which presage the close of the cycle of depression which has afflicted every country in the world.

BUILDING ON HISTORIC SITE

Halifax, N.S., Aug. 8.—New buildings for old! An old landmark of Barrington Street, opposite the Province Building, has been removed to make room for the Young Women's Christian Association building, a fire-proof construction, to be erected on that site. The old building to be erected about one hundred and nine years ago by Laurence Doyle, a Halifax merchant, the father of the noted Laurence O'Connor Doyle, K.C., M.P., and Joseph Howe's colleagues during the struggle for responsible government.

The removal of the historic relic is regarded with much regret by citizens of prominent Halifax families. After the death of Laurence Doyle the house came into the possession of Edward Kennedy, Barrington Street merchant, who lived there for many years and raised a family of boys and girls who became prominent in business and society f - many years the late Dr. Brenton Kennedy. Dr. Kennedy's residence was the property of Wi- ley Smith, of the firm of S. and W. Smith, wholesale grocery merchants.

The house was situated on Pleasant Street, now Barrington, the once well known residential section of the city, which commenced at the head of Sailor Street and ran south to Point Pleasant. In the old days it was named the "Terrace," on account of the pleasant walk afforded residents from Sailor to Inglis Street. In the fi.- summer days in the last decade of the eighteenth century, this walk was much frequented by the duke of Kent and the officers of the garrison.

CHINESE DESTROY FORTUNE IN OPIUM

Nanking, China, Aug. 8 (by the Canadian Press)—The Chinese government recently celebrated the 22nd anniversary of the confiscation and destruction of the historic cargo of opium brought to Canton in 1839 by British merchants.

A huge bonfire marked the anniversary. More than 7,000 cases of opium and 8,000 smoking sets were publicly burned by the Nanking District Court, with government officials and members of the International Opium-Suppression Commission looking on.

Seizure of the "contraband" opium in other parts of the country provided the first big stock-pile assembled at Tientsin more than $500,000 worth of drugs were also burned at Peiping, known as Peking when it was capital of China, 17,000 cases of opium were destroyed, and at Taiyuan, 11,000 cases.

The meeting here was addressed by Dr. J. Heng Liu, chairman of the Opium-Suppression Commission, who described Viceroy Lin's bold seizure of opium at Canton in 1839 and the war with Great Britain which followed. China, he said, suffered from the drug for nearly a century, he declared, and in spite of the government's efforts the traffic was still flourishing. This he attributed to civil war, "unnatural calamities" and the foreign concessions in China. The first prevention was the enforcement of the law to remote districts, the second led to stamping out the cultivation of the extra-territorial rights, while the concessions harbored smugglers, he asserted. He urged the removal of these obstacles through the co-operation of the entire people.

An anti-opium demonstration was inaugurated here on the same day, to be continued for ten days. Wall posters, pictures and cartoons were shown to illustrate the evil of opium-smoking. Thousands visited the exhibition.

The drive was also commemorated in Nanking by the opening of a French hospital for opium addicts near the District Court. There are accommodations for 100 patients under the care of six physicians.

BURKE WINNER BANKERS' CUP

Long Branch Rifle Ranges, Aug. 8 — Lieutenant-Governor Burke, Ottawa, won the Bankers' Match with a perfect score of 25 after a tie shoot with Lieut. P. Storrar, Toronto, and Lieut. J. Williams, Ottawa, at the Ontario Rifle Association Friday.

Sergt. J. Gray, Toronto, won the Tell-Brassey individual prize for which he had been tied with R. A. Crawford of England, in a second shoot-off.

In the third tie shoot, for the first prize in the Cornwall and York Match, Company Sergt. Major G. M. Emslie, emerged victorious over Sgt. W. J. Moss, Toronto.

In a smashing battle for second prize in the Bank of Nova Scotia match which was won by Lieut.-Col. Upton of Toronto, Lieut. Donaldson, W. J. Woods, Hamilton, defeated Company Sergt. Major W. Hawkins of Toronto, by a single point, separating the two after the lagg round had been fired.

ADVISES RADIO CAREER FOR YOUNG AIRMEN

Lindbergh Held in Alaska by Heavy Storms

EXPECT CUTTER

Says That Radio is Coming Thing in Aviation

Point Barrow, Alaska, Aug. 10 (A.P.)—Rain-swept skies and barriers of fog today delayed Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh from resuming their transoceanic flight to the Orient. For two days a storm has held them here, and another 1,600 to 2,500 miles away, and late yesterday the last weather reached here. Nearly a fifth of an inch of rain fell in 12 hours and continued today. Col. Lindbergh, reportedly his determination to await better weather before again taking off, although anxious to be on his way.

In addition to the flight to Nome this next stop from there to Kamchatka Peninsula, Siberia, Lindbergh also will be over an area where storms and fog arise suddenly.

A storm of blustering wind accompanied the rain and a large lead began to open up to the north half a mile off shore here last night and it widened again. Mrs. Patterson and Lindbergh, messages they were 60 miles away and proceeding slowly toward port.

The outlook Northward, with such skies and seas as Lindbergh had last night passed its way into Wainwright, 80 miles to the southeast, was encouraging. Lindbergh's hop for two days and the favorable weather reports the Lindbergh may arrive before he leaves.

Wiley and Post had visited with the flying couple spent much of the day looking over the Lockheed Sirius boats. Dr. and Mrs. Henry Cribel. Their daughter, Ruth, is a member of a church service at the Presbyterian Mission here. She has also been with half the native children of the village following them, and a visit to a reindeer range 1 1-2 miles up the lagoon. At the camp the Lindberghs saw a herd of 1,000 reindeer and a reindeer herd of about 5,000 animals. They were much interested in the work of the natives, who were herding the reindeer for meat and fur collection.

During the day Col. Lindbergh commended the natives here on their radio during the trip. "I advise any young man looking to aviation as a career," he said, "to take the radio side of it. That is the coming thing."

Celebrate Anniversary of First Long Distance Call Today

"What is the significance of the Bell Telephone Company's new building today?" the Ontario Intelligencer asked Manager Colley of the Bell Telephone Company this morning.

"It is the anniversary of the world's first long distance telephone talk," said the latter.

"On August, 10th, 1874, Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, told Dominion Telegraph Company officials in Brantford, Ontario, from Brantford to Paris, for the first time in history, a telephone conversation. The test proved highly successful. The Dominion Telegraph quite distinctly various selections of music and poetry shouted into the crude instrument received. eight miles distant. They could not use the telephone, but replies being telegraphed back to the operators. Bell was thrilled at the practicability of the telephone for more than merely local talking."

TWO FATALLY INJURED IN EXPLOSION

Picnickers Examine Box, the Dynamite Contained Therein Exploding

TWO DIE

Five are Blinded and Also Burned About Face and Hands.

Joliette, Que., Aug. 10.—Examination of a box which they found in a small child brought fatal injuries to two men and blindness to five women, here yesterday when dynamite packed in the box exploded.

The dead: James Mickewic, 27, and Joseph Szyalwich, 28.

The blinded: Mrs. Joseph Lacy Senkwitch, 22; Margaret Mickewic, 25; Blanche Walter, 19, Thomas Barry, 30, and Stella Gordon 23.

Authorities said that all of the injured women were permanently blinded with the possible exception of Miss Mickewic.

The dead and injured were all members of the family of a pitch party, which was to have spent the day at a picnic in Kildare, a village fifteen miles from here.

The five women sitting before the burns about the eyes and face and several internal injuries.

Nine other members of the picnic party were some miles away from the scene of the explosion when the accident occurred. They heard the blast and hurried back to the scene, where they found James Mickewic, one of the other members of the party scattered about the ground. Szyalwich died shortly afterward.

Dick Whittington and Cat Enshrined in Stained Glass

London, Aug. 10 (By George Hamilton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—One of the largest glory of stained glass windows in her Great Guildhall, London has enshrined the story of old story of Dick Whittington and his cat.

Generations of children the world over have thrilled at the story of Dick Whittington, poor London apprentice who, resting with his cat by the roadside, heard Bow bells turn again to the city as he hears the melodious chime of Bow Church. Fond fathers, as they told the bedtime story, have linked it with Jack and the Beanstalk. Yet Dick Whittington was no fantasy of the mind. Historians say otherwise, he became one of London's pioneers of industry, and his cat was his mascot. His exploits ventured distant seas. He was a great benefactor, profit from his ships went largely into the building of the Guildhall which stands today—the Guildhall where successive Prime Ministers of Canada have received the freedom of the City of London.

The new window, the gift of Lord Mayor Harmsworth, depicts scenes from Dick Whittington's life. He is seen welcoming King Richard to the Guildhall. He is seen as, a boy, he sits on the milestone at Islington, dreaming of ships to be. And delightful children, to-day they see the sights of London town, turn scornfully from huge memorials to departed statesmen. One figure they seek above all others. There is Dick Whittington, gradually down on the statue of the Lord Mayor Pitt he was.

It is the figure of Dick Whittington—the Canadian Press.

QUEBEC IN TURMOIL OVER ELECTION

On August 10th the election of Quebec will choose their representatives for the Legislative Assembly, and the short, sharp contest is expected to be fought largely on the Beauharnois Power issue. ALL EYES TURN TO QUEBEC BY-ELECTION

Federal Constituency of Three Rivers, Ste. Maurice Voting

MAY HAVE BEARING

Provincial Election Only Two Weeks Off

Three Rivers, Que., Aug. 10.—(By The Canadian Press)—With the Quebec General Election expected to break away, early in the Federal constituency of Three Rivers, St. Maurice were casting their votes today for a new representative in the House of Commons. For a few hours all eyes are turned on old Sept.-election. It is the first test of Conservative strength in the Province since July 28, 1930, when the almost solid 'bloc' of Quebec yielded its Conservative appeals for the first time in many years and sent 25 supporters of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett to Ottawa. The contest today is a result here, although it is a Federal by-election, is given because of the result here, although it is a Federal by-election, is given because of the election last summer this constituency returned the late Mayor Arthur Mettes, Liberal, by a majority of 1,940. The candidates today are Charles Bourgeois, K.C., Conservative, and Hon. Wilfrid Gariepy, K.C., Liberal, formerly a Cabinet Minister in Alberta.

DENIES REPORT OF FILM STAR

Mrs. Von Steinberg Blames Delay of Filing on Miss Dietrich

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 10—Mrs. Rita Von Sternberg, former wife of the motion picture director, Josef Von Sternberg, today denied reports that Marlene Dietrich, film star, that filing of a "love affair" and interfering her and Sternberg had been derailed with negotiations a settlement out of the court might be avoid publicity. The directory former wife blamed for the delay in the German actress's presence of the alienation of affections suit, asking $500,000 and a libel suit, demanding $100,000, was disclosed Friday at a conference of counsel. Von Sternberg, Dietrich's husband, issued a formal statement, declaring that although the suits were two months old, they had been withheld from actual filing pending negotiations to evade that publicity could be avoided if the whole settle.

Miss Dietrich and her husband, Rudolph Sieber, German film executive, maintained the suits are "absurd, unfair and unfounded." Sieber said today.

Mrs. Von Sternberg, plaintiff in both actions, said actual filing of the complaints in court had been delayed for 60 days at the quiet request of attorneys for Miss Dietrich and that at no time had publicity been used as a "trick." The alienation suit, Mrs. Sternberg said, asserts the director permitted Miss Dietrich to use his charge accounts in Los Angeles and furnished an apartment for her. The libel suit charges the actress was responsible for publication of derogatory statements about Mrs. Von Sternberg in an Austrian newspaper.

ACCUSATIONS BANDIED IN BY-ELECTION

East Hamilton Electors Go to Polls Today

THREE IN FIELD

Conservative and Labor Candidates are Chief Contestors

Hamilton, Aug. 10 (CP)—Electors of East Hamilton are going to the polls today to elect a successor to the late Col. George S. Rennie as their representative in the House of Commons. While three candidates are in the field the campaign was waged chiefly between the Conservative nominee, M. G. (Bobby) Robinson and the Labor candidate, Alderman Humphrey Mitchell. An Independent candidate, W. H. Connor, is also seeking election.

The campaign, short but strenuous, brought the record of the Bennett Government since assuming office to the first test at the polls. Mr. Robinson, placing himself squarely behind the government, said conditions in the country, though bad, would have been infinitely worse had it not been for the unemployment relief and tariff measures of the government. Personalities were freely exchanged. The Labor candidate was accused of being a "tool" and the Conservative candidate's long association with amateur sport was called in question, while it was alleged he was not a genuine amateur.

With no Liberal in the field Alderman Mitchell is counting on the joint support of all anti-government forces. Even with this he has a considerable lead to over-come for the late Col. Rennie in the general election last Summer had a majority of 4,751 over his Liberal opponent.

POVERTY CAUSE

Left Letters Showing Reasons for Murder and Suicide Pact

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 10.—Victims of what police said was a murder and suicide pact, Mrs. Florine Williams, widow of Bert Williams, stage and screen star, her two small children and her mother were laid by prison in their apartment here yesterday. Officers concluded that Mrs. Williams and her mother, Mrs. Caroline Wyatt, discouraged over the loss of their small fortune and the prospect of contemplative poverty, agreed to die along with Mrs. Williams' children, Joan, 7, and Billy, 4.

Mrs. Williams was unconscious when neighbors broke into the apartment and found the other three dead, but she died soon after-wards. Police said the actor's widow evidently had played the role of executioner in the room four letters were found—two addressed to Mrs. Williams said she could go on no longer, and in which she gave directions for the funerals and disposal of property were given.

DOG WAR HERO DIES YEARS LATER

Macon, Ga., Aug. 10.—Jim Whiteley Maxaie, famous police dog, died Saturday, 13 years after he was wounded in the World War in France, and received three decorations from the French Government.

The dog, who understood commands in three languages had been owned since the war by Mr. and Mrs. Maxie E. Pace, who survive here.

Born in St. Nazaire, France, May 17, 1917, the dog arrived first with the French Red Cross and then with the Thirty-Sixth Field Artillery in the Argonne. Whiskey suffered broken legs from shrapnel.

His three citations were for rescuing a runner under heavy fire, for making a record time in delivering despatch and for displaying "almost human intelligence."

BUFFALO LEADS AS U.S. GRAIN PORT

Washington, D.C., Aug. 10.—The titles of "leading flour milling centre of the world" and "greatest lake wheat port in the United States" are awarded the port of Buffalo, N.Y., in the annual report of reviews of the principal Great Lakes ports by the Board of Engineers for rivers and harbors of the War Department and the Bureau of Operations of the United States Shipping Board.

Buffalo is given second rank among the ports of the Great Lakes in point of tonnage of water-born commerce, the report saying it is surpassed only by the twin ports of Duluth-Superior.

CANCER PROBLEMS INVESTIGATED

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 10.—Problems of Ontario in dealing with cancer will be viewed in the light of the world-wide activities in combatting the disease, when Dr. Charles R. Bell of Toronto, chairman of the Provincial Commission Investigating the cancer situation on his return to Toronto. Further sessions of the Commission will be held here in September and particular Ontario problems in dealing with the disease will be studied in relation to what was learned of activities in other parts of the world, he said. The commission is studying preventive methods and treatment in the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

FOUR CARS IMPLICATED IN ACCIDENT

Slippery Pavement Direct Cause of Pile up Sunday

NO ONE INJURED

Two Cars Badly Wrecked and Towed Away for Repairs

What might have been a very serious accident was narrowly averted in a bad mix-up of several cars, opposite the Government Meteorological office on Dundas Street, East, about eleven thirty o'clock Sunday morning.

Miss Jean F. Rutherford, Woodruff Avenue, Woodcuff, Ontario, was driving east on Dundas Street. There was a car parked on each side of the road, near the government building and at this point, Miss Rutherford was immediately behind a car, which suddenly stopped to let a car pass which was going west and had the right of way. She applied the brakes with the result that the car swung around on the wet pavement and came to rest left sides of the cars.

Car, J. Ed. Dowling, R.R. 7, Napanee, who was close behind Miss Rutherford's car, put on his brakes as quickly as possible, but unfortunately he was too late to prevent colliding with her car, damaging a door, fender and running board of Miss Rutherford's car. Mr. Dowling's car was not seriously damaged. Mr. Clarence Dingwell, 177 Dufferin Avenue, Belleville, arrived at the scene at this time and parked his car near the cars of Miss Rutherford and Miss Burnham, 420 Ridgeway Avenue, Rochester, N.Y. Mrs. Jessie Burnham was in the car at the time of the accident. She was heading west. When she discovered the entanglement which had left the former had caused her to be a partial witness to the accident, but her car skidded and collided with Mr. Dingwell's car, damaging the wheel, damaging fender and axle of the Campbell car. Miss Burnham's car and Mr. Dowling's car were also towed to their way near the Rutherford car, under their own power but Miss Rutherford's car and Mr. Campbell's car were hauled to a garage for repairs.

Officer Kidd, who was promptly on the scene, states that it was a very fortunate affair that he had was kept wondering what would happen next. He states that the accident was caused owing to the slippery pavement and that the drivers were not to blame. Fortunately no one was injured.

NO PLANS FOR FUTURE

Reykjavik, Iceland, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Bearing flown here from Europe, without advance notice, Captain Wolfgang Von Gronau, German conqueror of the North Atlantic air route, said today he would remain until Wednesday before he decided to reveal his future plans. He arrived here from Berlin and planned to be traversing the same course over which he flew from Germany to America in a Dornier Wal last year.

FRACTURED SKULL CAUSES DEATH

Owen Sound, Ont., Aug. 10.—Marshall Flanagan, 22, died in hospital here today from injuries received in a motor accident Wednesday night last on the Lion's Head Road north of here. He suffered a fractured skull, wounds at the time but it was not until Sunday, that there were indications that he would not recover. He was then taken to the hospital and died there today, due to a fracture of the skull.

TWO ESCAPE FROM MIMICO

One From Timmins and the Other From North-Bay

Belleville police have been notified of two young prisoners escaping from the Victoria Industrial School, Mimico. Escaped are Charles Walter Moring of Timmins and Fred Hicks of North Bay.

Moring is fifteen years of age, height five feet, dark brown hair, grey blue eyes, fair complexion, average build. He was wearing a bright brown suit and peaked cap. Hicks is sixteen years of age, height about five feet, brown hair, brown eyes, medium complexion, is well built and was wearing a grey suit and peaked cap. The authorities state that all clothing is marked and will readily show from where they came.

FALLS ASTRIDE 150 LB. BUCK

Rides Cowboy Fashion Falls off and Shoots Deer

Plimore, Cal., Aug. 10—Edward S. Hicks comes forward with a deer story to match Canadian Moose stories. Hicks said he stood on a cliff when a 150 pound buck came along the horizon for his prey. His foot slipped, he tumbled more than 100 feet, and landed astride the big bound buck.

Riding the buck cowboy fashion, holding on to the antlers, Hicks said he went a short distance before being thrown. Then he grabbed his gun and killed the deer.

FINE IN TICKETS
Answering a call Saturday to the Dominion Store recently taken over from Arnold's the local fire department extinguished a blaze that had originated in a box of celluloid tickets. The store was filled with smoke but little or no damage was reported from the setting. How the fire started could not be ascertained as the staff were all busy in the front store at the time.

A FINE PERR.
Whilst trawling over the week end on the Moira River under the Bridge, Mrs. Bert Shefield of Canniff, hooked and landed a fine smallmouth. The fish drawed tonighed 3½ pounds. This is an evidence that there are some fine specimens of the finny tribe in the old Moira.

RESIDENCE BURNED.
While Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lewis were attending a celebration on the Mohawk Reserve their home was burned to the ground. Nothing was saved, and there was no insurance. A pet dog was burned. The house was owned by Mr. Lewis's mother, Mrs. Thos. Maracle.

REPAIR BEVETMENT WALL.
With the water of the Moira River at its lowest mark, the city officials are taking advantages of the situation by repairing a portion of the west side revetment wall. The wall is fast crumbling south of the low bridge and the workmen are replacing the stones that have become dislodged. It is a very opportune time to do such work as the wall would need no beyond repair if left much longer.

ORIOLE IV STILL HERE.
Power yachts put in at the Port behavior yesterday, according to of Belleville over the past week-end than any week-end of the season. Only one craft was reported during the past few days. The Oriole IV, the flagship of the R. C. Y. C. is still anchored in the harbor. The reason for the failing off of the water craft may be the sudden change in the weather during the past few days. This season has been one of the most successful seasons the water craft has known, no damage was reported from the setting but when the fire started could not be ascertained as the staff were all busy in the front store at the time.

SWIM CREATES INTEREST
Sponsored by Mr. Harry Ketchenson, the annual Ride-a-Wee swim will be held on Wednesday afternoon. The swim is of the novel—the-bay nature and the swimmers ride on the Wee Coon. All Ketchenson has raised considerable interest in the annual Ride-a-Wee swim and many entries have been received. The fine silver cup that goes to the winner is now on display in Bortridge's store window and should be highly appreciated by the winner. There will be no admission charge as in other years as the entries do not warrant the women's race. All Napaneeites, both ladies and men, will start in the same race. Last year's swim was a very fine success and it is expected that this year's race will be somewhat better than previous years as more interest seems to be taken in the water-down swimmers.

DYNAMITERS DERAIL TRAIN

Over 100 More or Less Injured in Derailment

Coalition Still Strong
Prussia's moderate coalition government, the date of which has been closely identified with Chancellor Bruening's regime, today stood firm against the legal and liberal onslaughts of the enemies of the right and left. The combined efforts of the Communists, National Socialists and Nationalists failed to dissolve the Prussian Diet and to compel new elections called by them and a half million votes at a plebescite yesterday.

Though Revolutionist Dynamiters derailed the Basel-Berlin express and the whole of the east central district of Berlin was in a throes of fatal rioting, the police obtained full control of the situation.

Police Attack Central
Two police captains were slain in the Rosiner Platz Communist centre in Berlin, and a steel helmeted leader was killed in the last days as a result of conflict between authorities and radicals, a score of persons were believed to be dying in Berlin as the aftermath of a night that was replete with bullets and bloodshed.

By remaining away from the polls and refusing to vote for the steel helmet proposal the vast majority of Prussian voters were pictured as having shown the world as well as the radical groups that they were not inclined to indulge in fireworks or in any political campaign so long as the nation is struggling with the economic crisis.

Before Chancellor Bruening departed for Rome with Foreign Minister Curtius today he heralded to his countrymen to help restore confidence in Germany by demonstrating the country's essential trust quality and internal peace.

Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius are returning to their home conference with President Hoover and Premier Laval happy that the Prussian plebiscite failed to put regrating the attendant disorders.

Statement of Bruening
The first news of the following statement from the Chancellor: "Most important of all is that three million less Prussian voted for the Socialist Nazi and for the Communist parties last September. That success should not lead to a false revival vave is ebbing. It is interesting to note that in the large industrial centers of the Communism of radicalism is not marked. Things more most anywhere in the country the farms and in little communities." He also declared that the assumed foreign political aspects far beyond his control and the only local issues were involved a victry for the left parties could not be interpreted as a vote against the government's policy of international conciliation. The vote, he declared, gave him new courage for the difficult months ahead.

Col. Lindbergh Made Member of Amateur Aviation Assoc.

New York, N.Y., Aug. 10.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, the most famous flier in the United States, is raised as an amateur flier by a newly formed United States Amateur Air Body" announced today. The organization was formed to organize amateur aviators for promotion on individual flying and to secure members more advantageous insurance coverage. It describes a profession- al as one who is paid, directly or indirectly, for piloting or giving instruction or who engages in the sale of planes or motors. Membership is made for executives of aviation companies who own private planes entirely for personal use, and this Mr. Lindbergh in. John S. Reeves, who heads the U.S.A.A.P.A., said that Lindbergh's status was also settled by the fact that he occasionally pilots one of the first planes over new routes of companies by which he is employed in an advisory capacity. "He receives his salary regardless of such flights," Deaves said, "and therefore it cannot be said that he being paid for them, even indirectly."

CHEVROLET CARAVAN ARRIVES ON SCHEDULE IN CITY TODAY

Caravan Consists of 25 Chevrolet Trucks Greeted by Officials

ATTRACT INTEREST

Maintaining to the minute a time schedule that is carrying it over 500 miles of highway to reach Ottawa at noon on August 21st, the Chevrolet Commercial Caravan paid its visit to Napanee today and was officially greeted by municipal officials. The Caravan consists of a total of twenty-five Chevrolet six-cylinder trucks, is something new in the way of truck merchandising, and attracted crowds and great interest. A truck equipped with microphones and loud speaker attachment, and another truck with a calliope playing any latest musical numbers, proved an excellent means of drawing attention during the parade here. The Napanee and local police are assisting the progress of the Caravan, and every help was given the drivers in the short time they might achieve greatly to the program. R. M. McAdams, manager, Oshawa, is directing the Caravan en route.

The stay here was brief, but hundreds inspected the trucks, and were impressed with the wide range of commercial vehicles offered by the Chevrolet line. According to some officials of General Motors of Canada, the whole purpose of the enterprise is to demonstrate the versatility of the Chevrolet truck, and they expressed their satisfaction with the reception which had been given to the display so far.

There were special displays of all kinds shown in the display of twenty-five trucks, this equipment being supplied by a number of well known Ontario manufacturers. All the Chevrolet trucks and Chassis are the products of Chevrolet plants in Canada.

In addition to making a parade of the Caravan stopped at the premises of J. T. Warren, Bridge street.

The caravan drivers include several prize winners in a contest, from college courses, and the whole stock of trucks is for sale. A profitable enterprise as well as an adventure.

SALVATION ARMY BAND IN RECITALS

The residents of Picton, Wellington and the Sandbanks were during the past week favored with a visit from the Salvation Army band of Belleville. Saturday evening the band held an open air concert in Picton. Sunday morning gibby furnished the musical portion of the service in the United Church in Wellington. The band conducted by Ensign Calvert of the Belleville Army Citadel. In the afternoon an open air sacred concert was given in Picton.

Solos with full band accompaniment were rendered by the following members of the band in a most creditable manner. Cornet solos by Mr. Jack Green, Mr. George Wardle and Mr. A. Brown. Ensign Calvert gave a very enjoyable solo on the Xylophone.

The excellent class of music so admirably executed by the band was greatly appreciated by the large audiences and most favorably commented upon.

COOKING QUESTIONS

Overcooking any green vegetable or cooking them in the presence of much air, will cause them to turn brown. The reason for this is that chlorophyll, the pigment responsible for the green coloring of vegetables, reacts to acids. When this it is subjected to heat for any length of time. To prolong the cooking, the less there remains of the attractive fresh green color.

Another factor having a distinct effect on chlorophyll is acidity. The more acid in the water, or surrounding the vegetable, the sooner they become discolored. Acidity sounds far fetched, for we don't deliberately add acid. Actually we do not need to, for the vegetables supply enough of it during the cooks into the cooking water and turn them, some goes off in the steam.

One way to keep down acidity in a minimum is to cook uncovered, thereby allowing steam to escape and some of the acid with it. This is the preferred method for all green vegetables with the possible exception of spinach, which has such an abundance of chlorophyll that it can stand somewhat different treatment.

Using a large portion of water to boiling for further dilute acid and to help to keep a more intense green. This allows more dissolving of undesirable flavors, but the loss of nutrients is small. The fruit is quite possible to obtain a very satisfactory green by boiling in just enough water to cover the vegetables provided the cover is left off and there is no overcooking.

Cooking in a pressure seems to be another way of helping to preserve the fresh green. To every quart of water, use one teaspoonful of salt.

In cooking eggs, the most important precaution to take in cooking them is to avoid high temperature and overcooking.

Overcooked eggs at approximately one-third fat, one-third protein and the rest water, with some mineral salts dissolved in it. As cooking continues, the protein in the one and shrinks, and the fat melts and is released. The result then is a stringy, rubbery egg white and only unpalatable but difficult to digest. Cooking eggs at low heat is barely softened give a sandy curd that is not only tender but harmless to people with average digestion.

COMBINING VEGETABLES WITH THE MAIN DISH
By Hannah Wing

How to plan short cuts to meal preparation in the summer. There is no more satisfying way of accomplishing this end than a one stroke than that of making the main dish, combining it with the main courses. Particularly nice for summer suppers are these suggestions.

Salmon Salad Loaf
Flake two cupfuls of canned salmon in large pieces, removing bone and skin, mix with one cupful of finely boiled potatoes, combining with green pepper, finely shredded, four small sour pickles chopped, with salt, pepper and paprika to taste. Soften one tablespoonful of gelatine in a quarter cupful of cold water, dissolve over boiling water and add to the salmon mixture, with a tablespoonful of lemon juice. Cook and fold in one cupful of stiffly whipped cream or two well-beaten eggs, mix well, turn into moistened mold and chill, turn out on an attractive bed of shredded lettuce leaves and garnish with sliced pickles.

Beet Greens with Hard Cooked Eggs

Pull the greens if possible with the tiny immature beets attached, wash and cook in a little water as possible ten to fifteen minutes. Drain well, chop and season with butter, pepper, salt and vinegar. Garnish with hard-cooked eggs, cut in eights.

Cream Custard Dried Beef Sandwiches

Prepare hot baking powder biscuits, cook inches in diameter, split, butter and fill with dried beef creamed cried beef. Serve with baked tomatoes sliced and creamed with vinegar, pepper and salt.

Desserts of Lime Sauce and Sunshine Cake are delightful. Fresh Limes for the dish, first soaking and cooking the dried, or precooking the fresh for ten minutes. Make one and half cupfuls of sugar syrup and when cooling of pre-cooked or canned Limes, add the pigment required to sensible for the green coloring of vegetables, reading for the dish. INEXPENSIVE SATISFYING

COMPLETE COMMUNION WITH ANGLICAN AND OLD CATHOLIC CHURCH WILL BE ESTABLISHED

Bonn Conference a Continuance of Lambeth Conference of 1930 Will Make This Recommendation, which Will Help Restore the Broken Unity of Western Christend om

London, Aug. 10 (By Thos. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent) — The Daily Telegraph's Ecclesiastical correspondent stated today there is every prospect that before the end of the year complete communion will be established between the Church of England and the Old Catholic Churches of the continent. It is understood, the newspaper adds, that the report of the Bonn Conference held in continuation of the Lambeth Conference discussions on the matter will contain unanimous recommendations for the establishment of full communion and will therefore herald the first step since the Reformation towards restoring the broken unity of Western Christendom.

No Bar to Minister

If such communion is established there would be no legal bar to a Dutch, German or French Priest or the old Catholic Church ministering in England, or against an English priest ministering in those countries, and similar communion to that held at Bonn has been appointed to meet representatives of the Eastern Orthodox Church, which opens up the possibility of tri-partite conference between Anglican, old Catholics and the Eastern Orthodox bodies in London in the near future.

Church union has been a matter of deep interest for a great many years, one of the earliest definite steps being the recommendations of the Lambeth Conference of 1920. The conference declared: "It the authorities of other communions should so desire we are persuaded that, terms of union having been otherwise satisfactorily adjusted, Bishops and Clergy of our communion would willingly accept from these authorities a form of commission or recognition which would commend our ministry to their congregations, as having its place in the one family life. It is our hope that the same motives would lead ministers, who have not received it to accept a commission through Episcopal ordination, in obtaining for them a ministry throughout the whole fellowship."

The resolutions of which the conference appeal formed a part, recommended that the churches of the Anglican communion should invite the conference with other religious bodies concerning the possibility of taking definite steps to so-operate in a common endeavor on such lines to restore unity. Both before and after the conference rapid progress was made, it was stated, towards a better understanding with the Orthodox Eastern Churches.

Cheese Board at Picton Given a Further Trial

Picton, Aug. 10.—After lengthy discussion, Friday, as to the advisability of dropping the local cheese board as a marketing organization, a resolution was adopted that the Board should carry on for at least two weeks' further trial.

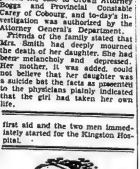
All buyers and makers felt that the Board should continue, provided it was possible to get fair prices.

Arnold Platt declared that in his opinion, with which the others present concurred, the dropping of the Board would be a great mistake. He moved that "a further trial be made, and that starting next week all makers agree to boast their cheese here and either sell at the prices or hold it over for a week."

In a further discussion the question of the date of meeting was brought up. Mr. Cook, of Belleville, pointed out that outside buyers would not be liable to bid their limit for the few boxes boarded here, where four or five thousand boxes faced them Saturday morning.

After due deliberation, Mr. Platt's motion wa. amended to read, "that the Picton Cheese Board meet here next Saturday night, August 15, at 8.30 o'clock and that all makers board their cheese to be sold at prices bid, or hold over for one week."

When placed before the meeting the motion received unanimous support and those present declared themselves as satisfied that this solution was timely.



In the case of cheese being stored at Hepburn's shed, not sold on the board and insured by Cook, Assistant C. Hepburne offered to provide storage during the time of trial. Mr. Hepburn expressed himself as anxious to see the Board kept up, and wished to assist in the work.

No cheese were sold on the board at the Friday meeting.

BROKE COLLAR BONE BUT ESCAPED WASPS

Kingston, Aug. 10—Jack Day, a well-known resident of the city, is in the Kingston General Hospital with a broken collar bone and suffering from wasp stings received on a fishing trip on Thursday of this week. Mr. Day, with Dr. W. Jones left the city on Thursday afternoon and proceeded as far as Sharbot Lake, where they stayed until 3.30 Friday morning, then proceeded to Fire River for fishing as soon as it was daylight.

The absence of live bait caused the fishermen some concern and Mr. Day offered to look after this. Taking the net he started for the river. On his way he ran into and disturbed a nest of wasps and was severely stung. Running blindly to escape the stings of the angry insects he fell over a stone, breaking his left collar bone. Dr. Jones gave first aid and the two men immediately started for the Kingston Hospital.

MOTHER, BABE DIE IN WEEK

Provincial Police Investigate Circumstances of Warkworth Deaths

Warkworth, Aug. 10—The deaths within a week of Coral Alma Smith, 19, and her baby daughter were investigated here Saturday morning by Provincials Constable Wm. Carey of Cobourg.

Coral Alma Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Smith, whose home is about four miles north of here on the Hastings road, died about midnight Wednesday, August 6, of strychnine poisoning, according to the certificate signed by Dr. W. F. Loucks, coroner of Campbellford, who decided that it was a case of suicide. The funeral was held on Friday with interment in the cemetery at Warkworth.

Helen Margaret Smith, the five-months old daughter of Coral Alma Smith, died on Wednesday, July 29. The obituary certificate, signed by Dr. C. C. Armstrong of Warkworth, ascribed death to malnutrition. Dr. Armstrong was called to the farm home on July 29, and the child was buried July 30. The record shows that its father was Stephen Knight, who is understood to have been a former hired man in the Smith home.

Worked all Day

It was learned here today that Coral Alma Smith had worked all day Wednesday, August 5, with the harvest. Returning to the house in the evening, she filled a wood box and had supper. Some time later, while sitting down, she told her mother in sudden alarm that her legs felt paralyzed and she could not get up. Subsequent convulsions were a symptom of her violent illness. Dr. Armstrong was summoned, but the young woman succumbed about midnight. Dr. Armstrong it is stated, at first considered that Miss Smith died of spinal meningitis. Further consideration of the evidences of the fatal ady led him to the poisoning clue, and it was learned that there was strychnine in the house. Her father had placed some in his fox; that were ranging his poultry.

Dr. Armstrong notified Dr. Loucks at Campbellford and his enquiry satisfied him that the poisoning was self-administered.

The circumstances of the two deaths in the Smith household within a week, however, created suspicions and talk in the neighborhood.

Authorized by Price

County Constable Robert Kelly of Warkworth, decided to inform the provincial authorities. He reported the case to Crown Attorney Boggs and Provincial Constable Carey of Cobourg, and to-day's investigation by the authorities and Attorney General's Department.

Friends appear formed a part, recommended that the churches of the Anglican communion should invite the conference with other religious bodies concerning the possibility of taking definite steps to so-operate in a common endeavor on such lines to restore unity. Both before and after the conference rapid progress was made, it was stated, towards a better understanding with the Orthodox Eastern Churches.

SEARCH FOR CRAMER BEGINS

Naval Seaplanes Search Northern Waste for Airman

Bergen, Norway, Aug. 10 (AP)—Two naval seaplanes were prepared today to assist in the search for Parker D. Cramer, aviator reported missing somewhere along the southwest coast of Norway, but the pilots said there was not much use searching the open sea, lashed by severe storms.

Ships coming in from the North Sea reported they had seen nothing of the plane, Cramer's last contact with the radio station here was yesterday afternoon when he asked for the weather forecast along the coast.

The Exchange Telegraph Agency reported that the naval dockyard had picked up several pressing wireless telephone calls in which the speaker cried "hello, hello" in what was judged to be a United States accent. Nevertheless, anxiety was felt as the hours passed without definite word of the flier. The calls were indistinct and only the word "Norway" was made out. They were heard at seven o'clock this morning and also last night on a 600 metre wave length. All ships were asked to listen in and keep a sharp lookout.

BIKE CRASH INJURES GIRL

Miss Winnifred McCauley Suffers Dislocated Neck

Falling from a bicycle on which she was riding last evening at her home here at Brighton, Miss Winnifred McCauley dislocated her neck and was brought to Belleville General Hospital in a serious condition.

Miss McCauley, who is a stenographer at the Dominion Entomological Laboratories, and when in the city resides at 143 Church St., was spending her vacation at her home near Brighton. After being injured she was given first aid by Dr. Clark of Brighton, who brought her to the hospital here where she is under the care of Dr. Stobie.

Although her injury was severe Miss McCauley's condition is favorable.

NEW ISLANDS DISCOVERED

Found in Franz Joseph Archipelago By Icebreaker

Moscow, Aug. 10 (AP)—Dispatches from the Soviet icebreaker Malygin reported the discovery August 7 of four hitherto unrecorded islands in the far north region of the Franz Josef Archipelago.

Southwest of Karl Alexander Island, the exploring vessel charted three unknown islands at 81.12 north latitude, 3035 east longitude. The fourth is described as a small, hilly bit of land in the Straits of Baxa. They will be formally claimed in the name of Soviet Russia in the near future by the Arctic institute, which will name them.

At the same time the Malygin reported her inability to locate the two islands of Garmauer and Arthur recorded in maps and charts of the region. Whether this signified the islands had disappeared or the data were incorrect, the ice and ice conditions from reaching their position remained undisclosed.

Another word from the ice-breaker said that on August 9, the Malygin reached the island of Alger, base of the explorer Evelyn B. Baldwin. On the shore was found a bottle containing a letter written by Baldwin and dated July 3, 1902.

In the letter the explorer gave the position of a granite cache near by where he stored foodstuffs, arms and ammunition "for those who might need them in the future."

The Malygin reported heavy ice prevented search for fragments of the dirigible Italia in the region of Alexander Island.

COMMUNISTS BLAMED FOR ELECTION LOSS

Hitler States they Stayed Away From Polls Sunday

No AUTHORITY

Munich, Bavaria, Aug. 10 (AP)—A communique issued today by Adolf Hitler's National Socialist headquarters blamed the failure of yesterday's plebiscite on the Communists "who almost unanimously stayed away from the polls."

The fact that almost 10,000,000 votes were cast indicates, the Communique said that there has been a large national Socialist advance "for at least six to seven million of them should be credited to the National Socialists."

New diet elections today, the Hitler statement said, would reveal the party to be the strongest in Prussia.

Political observers pointed out that there is no means of determining the party affiliation or plebiscite votes, as the only question was "yes" or "no" to dissolution of the Diet.

GAVE UP FILM

Flyers Pangborn and Herndon Appear in Court

Tokyo, Aug. 10.—(AP)—The case of Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, Jr., United States flyers, whose plane was held by Government, official because the aviators took photographs, while crossing Japanese territory, went to the Public Procurator here today. Signed statements made by the flyers and 100 feet of cinema film, which they used over Japan during their flight from Tokyo to Denmark were given up. Reports from Tsingtao, Shantung province, indicated the plane flew over fortifications but the film was not exposed by the flyers has not been made public as the substance of this was exhibited Saturday to investigators. Reuter's News Agency said there were indications that after the Procurator has examined the case it appeared probable the flyers would be hailed into court and fined. Japan has a rigid law prohibiting the photographing of its fortified areas.

POLES RETURN TO WORK DAY

Celebrate Their Freedom From Germany and Prussia

Buffalo, N.Y., Aug. 10.—Buffalo citizens of Polish ancestry turned back to the work-a-day world today after a day of re-living the stirring scenes of 19 years ago, when the Polish people won their freedom from Germany and Russia. Starting in the early morning hours of yesterday, the ceremony, marking the 19th anniversary of Poland's freedom, continued until well past midnight. Prayers, oratory, parades all climaxed by a huge pageant depicting the "Battle of Hazebrouck" and streets of the South Side thronged throughout the day.

LANDING PLANES MUST PAY FINES

Washington, D.C., Aug. 10 (AP) —Pending receipt of a report from the collectors of customs already held a decision today on the status of five Canadian planes, which landed at Dutch Harbor without permits. It was pointed out that commanders have a free choice in administering the air regulations and must assess $500 fines, when an airplane from a foreign country lands at any place except a designated airport of entry. The fines, who violates the regulation may appeal to Washington and the treasury generally remits half. The rule is strictly enforced to prevent attempts at smuggling and to give Coastal and Immigration agents a chance to inspect the cargo and passengers.

"UNCOUNTED THOUSANDS DROWN"

Poor China's population of millions which teem the land to overflowing, have again been called upon to suffer, this time by floods, which have caused the deaths of "uncounted thousands", according to press despatches.

No matter how many men and women and children China possesses, these "uncounted thousands" mean many thousands of men, women and children who lost their lives, lives just as precious to them as to the natives of the most blessed lands on earth.

The story means that many thousands went to their deaths. Because it occurred in China, it is not any the less a great tragedy.

Some day engineers may be able to govern the streams and rivers of this land and prevent such occurrences as this wholesale drowning of people. Meanwhile because China is not so advanced and because her people are so thickly spread, a calamity of this extent is possible.

LIFE SPAN AND AVERAGE DURATION

The Psalmist's average of life of seventy years is far beyond the present generation with all the advantages it possesses in scientific and medical knowledge and sanitation. Dr. W.'G. Willoughby of the British Medical Association believes the life span is not increased contrary to the general belief of the people that life is extending. But the average duration of life has been extended due to those very means while the life span is not increased. The average increase in life duration in this century alone has been twelve years.

Today the average expectation of life is eighteen years above what it was in the early nineteenth century. The figure for England then was about 41 years, and today it is about 59 to 60 years. L. I. Dublin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, believes that there is a real possibility of reaching the Psalmist's life span for the average life of the people.

With the increase in the average up to the life span, mean the extension of the life span far beyond seventy years? Dr. Dublin is doubtful of this and he believes, seeing biological limits which cannot be overcome.

Even the octogenarians whom we hear of and see in these parts may be heralds of the day to come, of a great many more of the same age.

MARKETING THE WHEAT

(Montreal Gazette)

The statement issued by the Dominion Government recently as a result of the recent conferences which were attended by representatives of the Prairie Provinces is welcome as far as it goes, but it is only a long way toward allaying anxiety among western producers and on the part of the western provincial governments. These latter will not be called upon to guarantee the operation of the pools, which will be controlled, as formerly, by privately controlled enterprises. Voluntary pool selling will be open to those who desire it, through the elevators and the terminals at the head of the lakes and on the Pacific coast. The initial payment of thirty-five cents per bushel on wheat in store Fort William will equal the amount paid in previous years and will be distributed upon the same basis, having regard to quality, point of delivery, etc., as formerly. The pool elevators, according to the official pronouncement, will be operated on a working capital basis, but the statement gives no indication of the financial arrangements which, presumably, have been made in this regard. It suffices for the moment, so far as the three most interested provinces are concerned, that the local governments are relieved of responsibility in regard to new embarrassments, and that the producer who, in the exercise of his new powers, chooses to sell through a pool elevator will be assured the same treatment accorded him in previous years. The crop promises to be a small one, and it is of the utmost importance that the best returns possible should be secured for the growers and for the communities dependent upon them. In this regard the statement issued by the Prime Minister contains the assurance that the Dominion Government will take whatever action may be necessary to ensure the orderly marketing of the crop this year," and that "panic conditions will not be permitted to control the prices obtainable," etc.

WHY ASK "Y" TO SETTLE IT?

German delegates to the convention of Y.M.C.A. workers throughout the world, sought to open up the question of war guilt. While it is a tribute to the association to ask it to decide the question, the issue is one that whatever the decision will leave doubt, or at least dissatisfaction and so why do anything to disrupt the association? Surely there are other places for the discussion of this question if discussion there must be.

PLOTS
By Aline Michaelis

They are crowded around us, the plots
That life in its weaving creates,
The meshes of intricate webs
That are drawn through the hands of the Fates.

They are stranger than men can devise
In the fancies they fashion with care;
They are countless as songsters that wing
Through the limitless regions of air.

They are beautiful, revolting, true,
Making patterns from chaos and strife,
The plots that are greater than man's
And a-glow with the wonder of life!

WOMEN PIONEERS of the Peace River, is the subject of a very interesting article in the August number of the Canadian Magazine. Women who accompanied their husbands hundreds of miles from the railroad to found homes in the new land and blaze the way for thousands of settlers to follow are pictured in heroic role cheerfully enduring hardship and bearing heavy burdens with unshakable faith and courage that triumph would ultimately be theirs. A land hostile and forbidding to settlement they made a land flowing with milk and honey to those who came after, not only helping to conquer the country, but helping to settle it in a personal way by having large families. Families of fifteen are not uncommon in the Peace River Country and the Mothers of the Peace are the pioneers of the country is given in the Canadian Magazine article. Lord and Lady Willingdon and party visited the country and were to be entertained by the leading lady of the district, the original woman pioneer. Preparations had been under way for days, including much baking. When the day arrived the lady of the manor put on her best bib and tucker and prepared to entertain royalty. A disturbing interruption came, however, and she was summoned to a distant portion of the ranch to help a bovine mother bring into the world another addition to the living assets of the farm. She arrived back all tattered and torn, with a run in her stocking and blood oozing from a wound in her leg where a thorn had raked her. Royalty had arrived and she endeavored to apologize. Lady Willingdon would have none of the apology, however, and immediately set about first aid measures, attending to the wound. Lord Willingdon, in the meantime, rode about the farm with the husband. Briefly, everybody became intimately acquainted in a short time and friendships were made which have grown with the years. Lady Willingdon still corresponds with the lady of the ranch and treasures her friendship. Peace River women are but counterparts of other sections where settlement was aided and hastened by the brave pioneer women. Northern Ontario owes much to its women pioneers, some of whom are still active in the life of the community, and farther north one may see in the United Empire Loyalists who made life possible for the hardy pioneers who turned the wilderness of Clay and Granite region into a land flowing with milk and honey and all good things. Women made the country, women made the family, the family the community—the corner stone of all development is the woman.

VANCOUVER'S UNEMPLOYED REFUSE TO REGISTER

The British Columbia Government in its scheme of work for the unemployed has already succeeded a difficulty which may be met with elsewhere. The first step in Vancouver was the registration of those who had been in the city less than twelve months. It was supposed that there were several thousand in Vancouver who would at once register under this scheme. But the registration of the first two days were only a little more than 200

What is to be made of this unwillingness to register an unwillingness which amounts almost to a boycott? "We are told," says the Vancouver Province, "that the men do not want to work in the construction camps proposed by the Government. We are told that they object to the pay and conditions. We are told that single men object to receiving less for their labor than the married men will get. We are told that a great many men do not want to work on the proposed road-building in the Winter time. We are told that some of the best unemployed do not want to work at all, but intend to be left at the public charge in idleness, and we are even asked to believe that there is a boycott of registration. Registration, in the belief that such a boycott will compel the Provincial Government to maintain all the unemployed in the city."

The Province is not prepared to accept some of these explanations and it declares that there can be no solution for the widespread distress, arising from unemployment unless there is reasonable co-operation from the people who have to be helped.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

KILLING THE STARTLING.

Thanks to Manley Miner, who invented and built a blackbird and starling trap, the starlings in this district have decreased in the past two weeks to the extent of 8,000. And not a moment too soon, for of 500 per day. This is one of the most serious bird pests that has ever entered this country. Some twenty-five years ago some well meaning person brought a pair of those birds from England to Philadelphia and from that locality they have multiplied to an alarming extent. Some of the most malicious feeders, but the danger from what they eat is not so serious as the fact that they are driving out other song and insectivorous birds. The bird has something like a blackbird to anyone who does not know him. In fact, during the time it is quite black, it may when he is standing be in a greyish brown in color. When alarmed or angry he changes like a blackbird. In build it is much the same as the female mentis and very shy of human beings like a blackbird. In build it is much the same as the female mentis and very shy of human beings like a blackbird. In build it is much the same as the female mentis and very shy of human beings

McGLASHON—ROSELL

A pretty but quiet wedding took place at Rochester, N.Y., on July 12th, when Roseline, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Rosell, Genesee, New York, became the bride of Mr. Hugh McGlashon youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. McGlashon, Belleville.

The young couple were attended by Miss E. Rich McGlashon, sister of the groom, and Mr. George Rosell, brother of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs McGlashon are spending their honeymoon in the Adirondacks and at Lake Placid for the month of August.

CHMEZUK—KOWLIUK

An interesting Ukrainian wedding took place at St. Michael's Church this morning when Miss Anna Kowliuk became the bride of Mr. Joseph Chmezuk, Point Anne. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rt. Rev. J. F. Nicholson, D.D.

The charming bride wore a handsome gown of white Duchesse brocade and lace, fashioned in capelet style. Her veil was held in place by orange blossoms in the form of an arm bouquet the bride wore a small white corsage bouquet of Killarney Rose and Sweetheart. The groom's boutonniere being the same as the corsage worn by the bride-to-be country.

The double ring ceremony was used, the groom's being a wide band of gold worn by the bride. Many of the Ukrainian bride usually wears her wedding veil in the Greek orthodox style.

The bride was attended by Mrs. George Srowka, Toledo, Ohio, sister of the groom. She wore a frock of pencil blue crepe with hat to match. Mr. George Srowka was groomsman.

After the ceremony the bridal party returned to Point Anne where a reception was held and where they will take up their residence.

The golden age only comes to those who have it, if only for a moment, forgotten gold.—G. K. Chesterton.

THE BRIDE'S GIFT

DEAR MISS HERCHMAN:

I am to be married and I would like to know what gifts would be appropriate for me to give to my bridesmaids and my maid of honor. Could you make some suggestions?—BRIDE.

The bride's gift to her attendants in commemoration of the happy event of her marriage may be "considerably" present, if the bride is well-to-do, or it may be some modest remembrance, if the bride has to make a careful budget. Frequently bride made a great point of giving presents that could be worn by the attendants on the day of the wedding, and those were usually monogrammed sometimes even lockets were given with the date of the wedding and the monogram or initials of the bride and groom were engraved on them.

Now days there are several stock presents that are most often given; bracelets and novelty vanity cases are now the most popular. Some piece of jewelry is often given, a wrist watch, a chain of some kind, ear-rings, a pendant, a brooch, or a bar-pin. These also appropriate: the popular gold-key-case with the "dummy" gold key, a purse of any kind, an evening bag, a head bag, a plain enamel, silver, or gold pencil, a card-case, and plain or fitted week-end bag, dressing bag, or traveling bag, a jeweled hat ornament, a portfolio, a pair of bookies, a monogrammed silver or gold purse-mirror, a scarf for day or evening wear, a traveling clock (gold, silver, enamel or leather) a pencil box, a short key-chain with a gold tag for monogram, a gold key-ring, or a monogrammed cuff-links. If the bride prefers she may make her gift to her attendants in the form of a remembrance for their services, for example, their hats, their shoes and stockings, their gloves handcuffs, or fans.

A KINDLY THOUGHT

DEAR MRS. HERCHMAN:

A reader of my husband and also my friend passed away. The body was immediately taken to another city for burial We did not send flowers. Now is it appropriate for us to send a basket of flowers to the mother and daughter on their return to this city as they are friends of ours also.—MRS. B.

This would be a very kind and thoughtful thing for you to do and I am sure that your friends will be deeply touched by your thoughtfulness. Perhaps it would be well to send a basket of flowers, but instead a box of flowers. And with the flowers I suggest, too, that you send a note telling of your sympathy and of your friendship and of your wish to serve, if your friend will permit you to do anything that will make life easier for her.

There's enough knowledge to close up man-wife evils. There's also plenty of good will. What is lacking is the honest intelligence to put the two together.—Lincoln Steffens.

Advice to the Lovelorn

REAL TROUBLE HERE

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am twenty-two years old and my husband twenty-five. We have a daughter who has been ill for three years I know I could never love anyone else as much as I love him, but we can't seem to get along. We have separated quite a number of times but his always come back.

He likes to go out and I know he goes with other girls, this he has admitted when we were separated. But I think he does with them now every chance he gets.

He thinks a lot of his mother. If she tells him not to come back to me, he generally does not.

It's hard for me to get a position as the baby gets ill so often. I have to be with her. I can't stand him going out, as it hurts me.

Florence.

Your problem seems very real trouble to me and, as the fate of a sick child hinges on your plans, I can't help but put a little more into sharing the responsibility about the baby and get a united more co-operation from him? Try not to allow his mother-in-law's help for the child's sake. Do write again for more detail.

TOO YOUNG TO BE STEADY

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I met a young man about a week ago. He is eight years my senior. I am now sixteen. He has invited me three times in one week and has written me a letter every day since. I am in love with me and would like me to go "steady" with him. My father does not have any objections to my having friends, but is quite strict with me about "steady" For my part I do not care to go "steady" as I have no other friends.

A friend of mine spoke my father to consult, I am seeking your advice. How should I act?—Miss Puzzled.

Just tell him that you are too young for such an understanding, that he may come to see you sometimes but that your other friends will be welcome, too, In my opinion, my dear Sue, a girl of 16 should be in high school studying so that she will be well fitted for a good job later on. Even if you marry early, a little education gets a long way toward making life easier.

Tribute to Late Benjamin Sanford

Benjamin Alonzo Sanford Communicated

Benjamin Alonzo Sanford, son of the late Simon and Mrs. Sanford, was born in Sidney Township, Ontario, April the 19th 1850, and departed this life after experiencing illness of several months borne in great patience and fortitude from his home in Belleville, Belleville on Aug. the 4th, 1931 at seventy-two years of age. He was a consecrated booths at all the country fairs and public gatherings, was greatly interested in municipal affairs, was one of the chief supporters of the Wharf Street Debating Club and at one time was a leader in the whole of the Bay of Quinte area. He was a past Deputy Grand Master of the Order of Orange, True Blues and was also a member of the Independent Order of Foresters, No. 33 and identified with the Orange Lodge at Trenton. Mr. Sanford was united in marriage with Miss Martha Garfield of Rochester, Roy and Wilfred of this city, and Mrs. Woodrow at home. Two daughters, Mrs. Grace Calberry and Mrs. Pearl Price, also live here, while three brothers Fred and Sandford of New York and Nelson of Toronto remain.

Seven years ago on the 31st of last December Ben Sanford rose as he often did from the gambling table in this city and impelled by some unseen power, by the mindless convicting spirit of God threw down his cards and went out into the night about the midnight hour and found his destination now Mrs. W. A WOMAN'S LOVE IS THEME OF ELMANDO BOARDMAN FILM

Dressmaker Gift Night

One woman's loyalty to her erring husband is the theme of "Women Love Once," the Paramount distribution of the Zoe Akins play, "Daddy's Gone a Hunting," which co-star beautiful Eleanor Boardman, whose face was known to millions as "The Kodak Girl," the illustrations showed her in the act of snapping pictures in various localities, and graced the pages of many of the National magazines.

Another entry into motion picture work there followed more than twenty silent pictures, including "Three Wise Fools", "Tell It To The Marines", "The Crowd," and "She Goes To War."

Her leading pictures include "The Great Meadow," "The Squaw Man" and "Women Love Once" which is the feature offering at the Belle tonight and Tuesday, and in which Paul Lukas plays the leading male role.

Lucas has been steadily climbing upward in the ranks of featured players since his early days in the leading favorites. It is a noteworthy fact that critics have never failed to credit him with artistic portrayals in every role he has appeared in. "Young Eagles," "Half-Way To Heaven," "Anybody's Woman," and "Right To Love," "Unfaithful" and a number of others are his films.

In "Women Love Once" he is the central male character—an artist who, through misplaced faith in commercial work in the big city and a fling, or a misdirected affair with one week and has written me a letter every day since. He is madly in love with me and would like me to go "steady" with him. My father does not have any objections to my having friends, but is quite strict with me about "steady" For my part I do not care to go "steady" as I have no other friends.

A friend of mine spoke my father to consult, I am seeking your advice. How should I act?—Miss Puzzled.

COLORED VOCALIST IN "OLD KING COLE"

Tonight and Tuesday at the Belle, every lady attending will receive a fine and beautiful Dressmaker article, with the compliments of the management.

TONIGHT AT THE CAPITOL THEATRE

Large crowds on Saturday watched with intense interest the unfolding of the story of "Brothers," and were amazed at the wonderful dual impersonation of Bert Lytell.

Dealing with two brothers, in a founding home, we see the adoption of one by a poor family and the other by a rich couple.

The poor one earns his living by playing a piano in a saloon bar, and the rich one becomes President of a criminal lawyer.

Much love is made of this ground work and how the two meet in the Law Courts is splendid, combining that meeting just hold our audience spellbound. One could hear a pin drop on Saturday.

"The Lion Hunter," an episode of "Adventures in Africa", is exceptionally thrilling and with the Capitol Variety Vaudeville, tonight's programme at the Capitol is an outstanding one.

MARY PICKFORD'S LATEST PICTURE "KIKI" PACKED WITH LAUGHTER

Bringing to the screen a picture packed with laughter, love interest and thrills, Reginald Denny, Pickford's latest feature, comes to the Capitol Theatre, Thursday, Opportunity Silverware Gift Night) and Wednesday.

"Kiki" was an international stage success and Miss Pickford has made it one of the best talking pictures of the day. A magnificent cast and with a splendid cast including Margaret Livingstone, Owen Gywnne, Noah Beery, Phil Tead, Fred Warren and Other woman.

Taylor, it will be remembered, directed Miss Pickford in "My Best Girl," "Coquette" and "Taming of the Shrew" the last named having been the only picture in which Mary and Douglas Fairbanks co-starred.

Taylor wrote the screen play of "Kiki" and has followed the settings of the story are in modern New York and were designed by William Cameron Menzies, supervising art director of Caddo Company, and studios in Hollywood. The backgrounds are of a dramatic nature and provided a pictorial sphere for the work of Karl Struss, cameraman, who holds the first award from the Motion Picture Academy of Arts and Sciences.

The story is that of a pretty, haughty cabaret girl whose admiration for a young man causes many ludicrous complications.

"Victor Randall" portrayed by Denny, has been divorced from his wife "Paulette" because he cannot stand her temperamental outbursts. Paulette uses all her wiles in an effort to win him back, but "Kiki" with a nature even more tempestuous than that of "Paulette," fascinates him to "Randall" and will not be tried loose.

Plans are planned to make Randall love her afford scenes of side splitting humor but there is pathos too, in the seeming hopelessness of the situation.

Finally Randall decides that the divorce from "Paulette" was a blessing and that, being unable to get rid of the charming rowdy, "Kiki" they are short of in the number of articles already given free at The Capitol this week. They are having an opportunity for ladies wishing to start using the beautiful 8-piece silverware "Friday Set" of fifty-two pieces given away at The Capitol.

THRIPS ON GLADIOLI

During the season of 1930 very serious injury to gladioli was caused to the bulbs in practically all districts of Eastern Canada. Growers in most sections of Ontario suffered heavy losses and steps should be taken at this time to prevent a repetition of this condition if possible.

Many growers dusted their plants with nicotine sulphate and other remedies but made the mistake of waiting too long before they take. To successfully combat thrips it is imperative that remedies be applied early, upon the first appearance of the insects. Don't wait until the damage becomes apparent. Begin to spray when, at this time the first leaves are only found hidden away in concealed places in the axils of the leaves, in the axils of the leaves, in partially opened buds and in other sheltered situations.

When the first thrips are noticed the infested plants should be sprayed. Two sprays are recommended, either nicotine sulphate, or a mixture of Paris green, brown sugar and molasses. If nicotine sulphate is preferred use 1-4 pint of this material to 4 gallons of water. An alternative spray is prepared by mixing three level tablespoonfuls of Paris green, two pounds of brown sugar and three gallons of water.

In using either spray it is best to lightly dust the plants, thorough, painstaking work be done, care being taken to reach the axils of the plants and to drive the spray well down into the growth of the plant. At least one, and if possible two, applications per week are recommended as long as the insects are present. If nicotine sulphate is used spraying should always be done in the hottest part of the day and preferably when there is little or no wind blowing.

As the above is written for those growing gladioli on a large scale the following formula by a local grower will be of value.

For small gardens take one teaspoonful of paris green, half a pound of brown sugar, dissolve them separately and then mix in a pail and add one-half gallon of water. Plants may be sprayed in the heat of the day.

ORIOLES NOW LEAD LEAGUE BY FULL GAME

Down Rochester in Double Bill to Take Lead

REDWINGS SPLIT

Leafs Win First From Newarks But Could Not Keep the Pace

New York, Aug. 10 (By The Associated Press)—It's a dull day in the International League when the lead doesn't change hands and today the circuit boasted a new pacesetter in the Baltimore Orioles.

The Orioles replaced Rochester's Redwings in first place yesterday by beating Buffalo in both ends of a double header while the Redwings were dividing two with Jersey City. The result was to give Baltimore the lead by one full game over Rochester with the Newark Bears another game and a half behind and Montreal's Royals four and a half games back of first place.

Baltimore polled out 26 hits in the double bill with Buffalo to win by scores of 11-3 and 5-3. Harry Rice led the Orioles assault with two home runs, a double and three singles. Hauser and Rand also hit for the circuit. While Baltimore's bats were so busy, Ken Holloway was holding the Bisons to four hits in the opener, while Monte Weaver stopped them with six in the nightcap to bag up his 18th victory of the season.

Pulled Free Man Stunt.

Ray Benge, recently out of time in recent weeks, pulled the "trouble-man-stunt" for the Rochester Redwings but with less success this time. He was beaten by Jersey City in the opener, 2-1, but captured the second game 6-1, allowing 13 hits in both contests. George Miner pitched brilliantly to outpoint Starr in the opener, allowing but seven hits of which four went to George Toporcer, former Giants' manager.

Newark dropped its fourth successive game in the first battle of a double header with the Toronto Maple Leafs, 6-4, but came back to take the nightcap, 8-5. Ken Strong and Bobby Richardson collected three hits apiece in the Leafs' 13 hit barrage on Newark pitching in the opener. They confirmed the attack on Al Mamaux in the second game, giving the Bears' manager his first win over the club in the fifth but Byron Speece came to the rescue, held the Leafs hitless thereafter and was credited with a victory, when the Bears rallied around in the closing innings. Barrett drove in four runs with a home run and two singles.

Reading stretched its winning streak to eight games but had to have the help of the Montreal Royals, 6-5, to do it. The Royals scored twice in the seventh inning to take the lead but Reading tied the game before Reading could complete its half of the inning and the score reverted to the sixth. Krsnovich was credited with the first decision when Reading clouted Claset and Brown for seven hits and six runs.

LOCALS TEAMS WILL COMPETE FOR TITLE

B.A.A.A. Jrs. Secured Second Place Defeating Wellington 7-2

FIRST GAME TONIGHT

Moose and B.A.A.A. Jrs. are Finalists to Meet Peterboro

Scoring four runs in the last innings the B.A.A.A. juniors were assured of a place in the Hastings County League play-offs, when won from Wellington by the score of 7 to 2 on Saturday. The locals were forced to play the game in extra innings when they lost the loss Wellington when they lost the loss to the Prince Edward County visitors by the score of 3 to 2. This was a sudden death affair to decide second position in the junior league.

A Hurler's Battle

The game was purely a pitcher's battle between Wilkins and Phillips until Murry hit a triple in the last frame with the bases loaded and then scored on the next play giving the locals four runs in the last innings.

The Wellington kids played bang up ball but lost the game through their inability to hit curve balls in the pinches. The B.A.A.A. juniors meet the Moose juniors tonight at the Fair Grounds in the first game of the league play-offs. The winners meet Havelock Tuesday night in Lineups:

Wellington: Vanderwater, Phillips, Greer, Noble, Young, Thompson, Watt, Burley, Brimley.

Score by innings:

Wellington .... 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 0—2

Umpires—Colling, Belleville and Coy" Welch, Picton.

If Jack Purcell, the Canadian badminton champion, keeps his keen eye on another year he's destined to go far, I'll venture to predict, in tournament play. After returning from the British Isles, where only the effects of the Atlantic crossing kept him from making a bold bid for highest badminton honors he entered several eastern Canada tennis tourneys and played brilliantly if not sensationally. A perfect eye and an overhead smash strongly reminiscent of his deadly badminton strokes, gave him the victory over several "seeded" players. As a matter of fact, Walter Martin, the Reginian, and Lloyd Cup aspirant, had no little difficulty defeating him in the Ontario championships. Further tennis campaign will put him into fine tettle for the badminton season.

PETES TAKEN BY KINGSTON

Score was 12-9. Ponies Assured of Play-off Berth

Peterboro, Aug. 10.—Playing anything but good baseball, the Petes were defeated here Saturday in their final home game of the Central Ontario League by Kingston, 12-9. The Ponies scored in every inning but the second and last two. The Petes came in with seven hits in all but three innings, but lost many good opportunities when they failed to hit in the pinches. Stone went the whole game for the Ponies, and issued seven walks. Kitchen started for the Petes but was hit hard, and retired in the sixth, Mallory finished the game. R.H.E.

Kingston Y. C. Defends Cup

Montreal, Que., Aug. 10. — The dinghy sailing of the Kingston, Ont. Yacht Club got away to a splendid start in defence of the Currie Cup, Canadian tri-club skiff sailing championship, which they have held for three times in the nine years of competition on Saturday and retain the trophy for all time, under the Royal Canadian Yatch Club of Toronto, five clubs competing for the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club of Montreal.

Kingston's entry scored twenty-eight points in the three races while the Royal Canadian gathered twenty. Royal St. Lawrence and Toronto were content with thirteen points.

B.A.D.S.L. GAME TONIGHT

Tonight at Queen Mary School grounds Hooper Co. and Printers will play a game in the Belleville and District Softball League, starting at seven o'clock. This game promises to be a real battle as the newspapermen are determined to seek revenge for the defeat they received from the lumbermen last week.

Dave and two on him, he created the next pitch for three bases and then scored on the next play giving the locals four runs in the last innings.

RAGING GRAND OPENS TODAY

Important Stakes To Be Decided at Goshen This Week

Goshen, N.Y., Aug. 10—An aggregate of $125,000 will be distributed in the five-day Grand Circuit meeting starting here today. The outstanding event of the meeting—in fact of the entire Grand Circuit season—will be the $60,000 Hambletonian Stakes for trotters on Wednesday. The opening day's programme was headed by the free-for-all trot for the Governor's Stake. Other events included the Newburgh Stake for 2.25 trotters, the Westpoint Stake for two-year-old pacers, and Castleton Stake for 2.19 trotters. All told 200 standard bred trotters and pacers have assembled for the meeting. They represented an investment of more than $1,000,000.

Peterboro Boy Dies on Coast

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 10 (CP)—Fred Whitcroft, prominent Vancouver sportsman, died at Atlin, B.C., Sunday, according to word received here. Whitcroft who had gone to the north country on business suffered a heart attack. The deceased who came from Peterboro, Ont., was a well-known hockey player in his day, having played for Renfrew Millionaires and Kenora (Rat Portage) Thistles. Whitcroft owned a string of horses here which he campaigned on British Columbia race track.

The Sport Eye Column

Contributed By FAIR PLAY

Bouquets and Fair Criticism

Will the B.A.A.A. kids get into the play-off despite the fact that I thought I had pulled a "Lou Marsh" on them. The kids played a real game and deserved the victory.

"Red" Wilkins on the mound for the local kids not only hurled a smart game but helped himself to two hits, one being a home run. The kid smacked the first pitched ball to him in the first innings, long and far for the circuit. His opponent Phillips also picked a real smart game.

Manager "Vern" Weir tells me that it was the worst pitcher's battle that he has seen in some time. The score was 2 to 2 for Belleville until the fatal ninth innings when the locals got 4 runs, to make it 7 to 2.

Tonight, at the Fair Grounds the Association kids take on the league leading Moose juniors in the first game in the junior league play-offs. Both teams will be at full strength, I'll bet.

The Moose will start "Eppie" Smith on the mound while either "Chuck" Smith or "Red" Wilkins will go to the kid's rescue for the B.A.A.A. kids. Most likely it will be "Chuck."

Any way it should be a real series. The second game may be played after the senior game on Wednesday. I heard. Which reminds me that the "Ponies" are coming in town on Wednesday.

"Dame Rumour" has it around that the Nationals are going to Kingston last Wednesday. If that is so look out for the fireworks here on Wednesday.

The Nats, say that they will give the "Ponies" a beating if it is the last thing they ever do on a ball field. One of the players intimated to me that the players from the Limestone City never met an "out" when they got on a "real diamond."

Perhaps that is why they call Kingston the city of the baseball stars at the Cricket Field.

There were two swell games of soft-ball at the Armouries on Saturday. The Belleville Maids shewed their class when they took both ends of the double header from the Oshawa Falcons.

Manager Meagher gave Lois Carter of the Maple Leafs, a chance to show her stuff in the first game. And did she take advantage of the opportunity?

It was a swell battle with the Maids winning in the final frame by 4 to 3. The Falcons sure put up a real battle and every person went home satisfied.

The evening game was not near as good as the afternoon battle. Molly Gray had a very easy time with the visitors. It was too bad that it got dark so soon.

What impressed me was the fact that the Falcons' catcher were a mask. This idea should be adopted in Belleville before some catcher gets seriously hurt.

No matter how the local catchers feel about the subject—there is the old saying: "you only have two eyes and you can't buy new ones." The matter should be dealt with by the league. The catchers wear masks in other towns.

Although the local tennis players lost 4 to 1 in Campbellford they put up a real stiff argument in their opponents, I heard.

In the first men's singles, "Ken" Duranleau defeated Chick Pullin, after a bitter struggle. While in the ladies' singles Mrs. Hanna won from Miss Longmore.

The surprise of the day was the win in the men's doubles. "Chev" Bryant and Frank Cushing came through to give Belleville a win in this event. These two boys deserve a lot of praise for the way they battled their rivals.

Belleville had to default one event or perhaps the match might have been a different tale. There is no question in the fact that the local "net artists" are getting better each game.

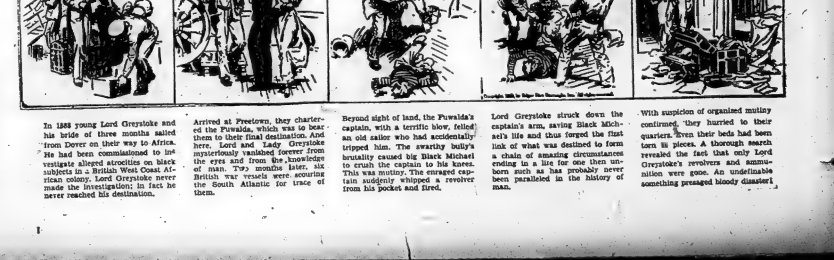
Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Jonathan Stone, Tigers—Led assault on Cleveland pitching with two doubles and pair of singles.

Heinie Manush, Senators—Drove in tying run against Red Sox with single and winning run in tenth with hot outfield fly.

Guy Bush, and Vince Barton, Cubs—Former held Cardinals to one hit, latter scored only run with homer in second inning.



Al Simmons, Athletics—Clouted two homers and single to aid in defeat of Yankees.

Joe Stripp, Reds—Collected six hits off Pirate pitching in double bill.

Pat Carsway, White Sox and Dick Coffman, Browns—Former held Browns to five hits, latter allowed White Sox one hit,as double header was split.

Chick Fullis, Giants—Found Robin pitching easy, collecting three doubles and single.

Ed Brandt and Willie Sherdel of Braves—Pitched Boston to double triumph over Phillies.

In 1888 young Lord Greystoke and his bride of three months sailed from Dover on their way to Africa. He had been commissioned to investigate alleged atrocities on black subjects in a British West Coast African colony. Lord Greystoke never made the investigation; in fact he never reached his destination.

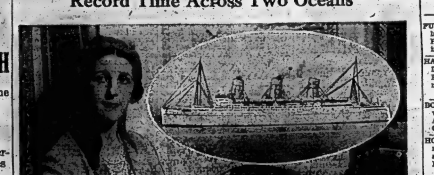
Arrived at Freetown, they chartered the Fuwalda, which was to bear them to their final destination. And here, Lord and Lady Greystoke mysteriously vanished forever from the eyes and from the knowledge of man. Two months later, six British war vessels were scouring the South Atlantic for trace of them.

Beyond sight of land, the Fuwalda's captain, with a terrific blow, felled an old sailor who had accidentally tripped him. The swarthy bully's brutality caused his Black Michael to crush the captain to his knees. This was mutiny. The enraged captain sudgenly whipped a revolver from his pocket and fired.

Lord Greystoke struck down the captain's arm, saving Black Michael's life and thus forged the first link of what was destined to form a chain of amazing circumstances ending in a life for one then unborn such as has probably never been paralleled in the history of man.

With suspicion of organized mutiny confirmed, they hurried to their quarters. Even their beds had been torn to pieces. A thorough search revealed the fact that only Lord Greystoke's revolvers and ammunition were gone. An undefinable something presaged bloody disaster!

PLANE CRASH CARRIES SIX TO DEATH



Propeller of One Engine Flew off at Take Off

HIT CLAY BANK

Pilot Oddi Made Desperate Effort to Save Lives in Plane

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 10.—A pilot's desperate struggle to halt the headlong plunge of a 40-passenger airplane failed to prevent its crash here yesterday, in which six persons were carried to instant death. The plane, bound from Cincinnati to Atlanta, had just taken off from Lunken Airport, when the propeller of its right motor came off and a moment later the engine itself tore loose and fell to the ground. Thrown out of control, the big passenger monoplane shot downward to death five, while Pilot M. T. Oddi, 35, of Cincinnati heroically strove to right it. Witnesses of Oddi's apparently attempted to land the plane in a corn field at the side of the Little Miami River, and falling in that, forced it into a clay bank, turned over once, burst into flames and finally came to rest, and killed all aboard.

The victims were: Miss Wrenna B. Hughes, 26, Miss Thomas, his stenographer; William E. Keith, Atlanta, Ga., radio distributor; W. R. Brinson, Atlanta, Ga., electrical dealer; V. O. Baum, 29, Memphis, Tenn., contractor; Thomas J. D. Wake, 2, Fort Thomas, Ky., co-pilot, and Oddi. Airport officials said the accident was caused by a broken hub on the propeller. Casualties sprayed over the plane when it wrecked, and fell in front of his motors, and there was no fire.

Record Time Across Two Oceans

A record half the world is in 17 days, 5 hours and 25 minutes, from London to Quebec July 18 on the new Empress of Britain, was established by boat train, when she boarded the Imperial Limited for Vancouver. Reaching Vancouver July 18 at 5.15 she boarded the Empress of Canada, thus obtaining direct connection to the Orient. Completion of the Empress of Britain's fast time across the Atlantic and the Empress of Canada's new time over the Pacific makes this the fastest trip on record between London and the Orient by way of Canada and Honolulu.

NO PERMIT TO LAND

Six Planes of Air Pageant Subject to Fines Having No Permit

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 10—Fliers of the second contingent of the Canadian Air Pageant, en route from Vancouver, B.C., to Halifax, N.S., which stopped off here yesterday, have no permit from the United States Customs Department to land in this country, and are subject to fines of $500 each, Colonel Lindbergh, assistant collector of customs for the district, said.

Six planes were included in this unit which came to Duluth yesterday from Fort William, Ont., and continued on to St. Paul and Chicago. United States Customs Inspector Roy Pat inspected the planes here.

Poet's Corner.

They are all seen, the splendid things,
The lovely songs, they are all sung
Yet here and there a poet sings
As clear as when the world was young.

Thrice welcome then the man is he
Who melts refreshed with heavenly dew
Since it is harder now to be
A child than when the world was new.

O, dreams were thick as flowers then,
Trust now are rare as minded gold,
And beauty turns to sleep again
With tears, because the world is old.

BOY SCOUTS TROOP BACK AFTER DELIGHTFUL OUTING

Five Scouts Pass Hard Tests of Camp Life

PLENTY OF FUN

Well tanned, full of vigor and pep, the Boy Scouts of Troop No. 8, St. George's Parish, and Troop No. 9, St. George's Parish, arrived home Saturday night by motor trucks from Gunter Lake, sixty miles from Belleville, where they have been in camp for eight days. The boys are enthusiastic in their praise of their Scoutmasters for the manner in which they arranged and carried through an happy and beneficial camp outing. The "grub" they say, was "great" both in quantity and quality.

All told there were thirty-four Scouts in the camp. Troop No. 8, St. Thomas' Parish, numbered twenty-two and Troop No. 9, St. George's Parish, numbered twelve. Thomas Parish, Scoutmaster of Troop No. 8, and Scoutmaster Captain John Wilson, Assistant Scoutmaster Robert Brown, Assistant Scoutmaster Earl Porritt and Instructor Charles Kline. St. George's Parish Scouts were under the supervision of Scoutmaster James Varley and Assistant Scoutmaster Fred Churchill. On the Sunday spent in camp very hearty services were conducted by Rev. Hope Swayne, Rector at Sannoeburn, an old Belleville boy and a former Scoutmaster in the district.

Field Day Held

The Field Day took place on Wednesday and the boys had great sport. The fire lighting and rope burning contest was won by Patrol Leader John White. Scout Playlor was the victor in the greasy pole horse race. The three and a half mile marathon, which was run on by Troop No. 6, was won by Patrol Leader Arthur Shickluna. The race was a tie between Patrol Leader Gordon Cousins and Scout Flagler of Troop 3. In the one hundred yards swimming contest, clothes on and undressing in the water, Scout Edwards of Troop 3 carried off first honors and Scout Grant of Troop 9 came second.

Council fires were much enjoyed on Wednesday and Friday night. At the Wednesday night fire Vincent Foster and Bernard Smythe were invested with the Second Class badge. An interesting and enjoyable programme of community singing, recitations, boxing and acrobatic work was given on this evening. Many of the residents of Gunter village were present. On Thursday the Egg Boiling, Ernest Reid and Kenneth Holland of Troop 8, were fully invested as Tenderfoots.

The Troop Flag for No. 8 Troop was won by Patrol Leader Patrol Leader of the Wolf Patrol for three consecutive days, one day with Jack Doyle of the Raven Patrol who also won it two days and tied one day.

Troop Inspected

Thursday afternoon the two inspectors from Provincial Headquarters, Toronto, inspected the camp. They found it to be fully up, to regulations in every respect. During the week under the inspection duties and moving pictures of the Beaver dams and also of the trees recently cut down by the Beavers. Scoutmaster Captain Wilson took an active part in the examination of the Beaver's work and gave a brief talk explaining in a very interesting manner their clever activities.

Five Scouts of No. 3 Troop passed their fourteen-mile hike and over night test with great credit to themselves. They who qualified were: Patrol Leader Tom Nolan, Assistant Patrol Leader Harry Edmundson. Scouts Ken Fowler, Bert Rose and William Pepper.

The Swimmers' Proficiency Badge was awarded to Troop Leader Fred Churchill, and Troop Leader and Scout Ernest Edwards of No. 3 Troop, also to Patrol Leader Wells and Scout Irwin of Troop No. 5.

Bernard Smythe, Ernest Reid, Kenneth Holland and James Rose passed from Tenderfoot to Second Class work. Only three were left on many hikes, one of which was to the Fire Rangers' Tower for observation. This tower is five and a half miles from the camp. The Troops were led to the Council fires by Vincent Foster playing the bugle. Perfect health and freedom from accidents marked the camp. The experience of all the Scouts, who are now at home, telling their many interesting stories to parents and other friends and ready and anxious to do their one good turn a day.

Secretary.

SYNOPSIS

Leaving Hawaii shortly after her father's death, young and beautiful Pancbon Meredith goes to San Francisco, where she meets and forms a handsome man named Tony. Pancbon is shocked to learn that Tony is a racketeer, implicated in a recent murder. She, too, is now wanted. Pancbon escapes in an airplane under the name of "Smith." Evelyn Howard, whom she had met on the boat coming from Hawaii, is aboard. Evelyn is enroute to New York to live with her aunt, the wealthy Mrs. Carstairs, whom she has never met. After Pancbon confides in Evelyn, the latter treats her coolly. The plane crashes and Pancbon is the only survivor. She decides to escape Tony and the past and start life anew by masquerading as Evelyn. She requests a doctor to wire Mrs. Carstairs that "Evelyn" is safe. A wire comes from Mrs. Carstairs saying that Collin cannot meet Pancbon. Pancbon learns Collin is Mrs. Carstairs' only son. Mrs. Carstairs meets Pancbon at the train explaining "But you're not Evelyn, are you . . . You can't be." The girl's horror at being discovered passes when Mrs. Carstairs explains she couldn't tolerate anyone so healthful could belong in the family. Her kindness and affection prick Pancbon's conscience. Mrs. Carstairs gives Pancbon a liberal allowance and lavishes affection.

CHAPTER XII

Emma brought her her tray after she woke. It seemed to Pancbon that the maid must have been listening at the door half the morning for it was almost on before she came in on the very heels of Pancbon's amazed awakening. She had been lying there, very rested, wondering, remembering, hoping and fearing, when Emma's knock came. Emma smiled, widely, her homely pleasant face very friendly.

"Did you sleep well, Miss Evelyn," she asked.

"Thank you, Emma, I did, indeed," said Pancbon.

"It's a lovely day and quit' cool," Emma told her. "I run the water for your tub and by the time you are ready for it your tray will be here."

"Mrs. Carstairs?" Pancbon asked getting out of bed.

"She has been up a long time. She will come in with you while you are breakfasting," Emma told her.

"Goodness . . . what time is it?" asked Pancbon.

"Almost twelve, Miss Evelyn."

"My watch," Pancbon said, idly, "stopped when I had the accident."

"I see" said Emma and added, "it was—terrible. I never saw Mrs. Carstairs so upset.

Sometime later as Pancbon attacked her ice cold melon and her hot, crisp toast, eggs and coffee, Jennie Carstairs came in. She wore a cool suit of black jaspe with a frilly white blouse and looked extremely lovely.

Coming over to kiss Pancbon.

"Did you have a good night?" she wanted to know. "You did? That's splendid! Now, if you want to get up and spend the day out on the terrace, Doctor Wynne thinks it will be all right. Tomorrow you will have some people come in and I'll run to a few essentials and then we will see if the next day we can't motor down to Southampton."

"My trunk—" began Pancbon, recalling her role.

"You sent it to Southampton, didn't you? And besides you will need quite different things . . . you wrote, me you had mostly utility things for the school," Mrs. Carstairs told her.

Pancbon was silent

The rest of the day she lived, but in a fog chair on the terrace Mrs. Carstairs was with her most of the time. When she was not, there were books and magazines to read and the wide expanse of city towers, trees, sky and blue water to watch and wonder at. When her "aunt" was with her she talked as people do who understand one another and yet who have not met for years. Mrs. Carstairs asked her about Hawaii and Pancbon, sighing as if relief, was able to tell her much about the Islands. As much as she dared. Fearing to tell too much, for, after all, she had spent twenty years there to Evelyn's two.

In return Jennie Carstairs spoke of her place in England, "I didn't sell it," she confessed, "it has been let to American friends. We'll go there some day. And to France too." In France, apparently she maintained a Paris apartment and a small chateau out of town. "But I want you to have a summer here and a New York season first," she explained.

Twice or three times she spoke of Collin. Always was that plush and the hushed expression, always a breaking of the voice. Mild sin.

On the following day, fitters and saleswomen came from the shops and Pancbon was measured for gowns. "They'll have to be ready made for now," said Mrs. Carstairs. In the afternoon the saleswomen came back with the selections. Spoil clothes, spectator dresses, afternoon frocks, evening gowns, sweaters bathing suits, hats and stockings and shoes and lingerie. Nothing had been forgotten. There was something of everything, all in the most perfect taste. And Pancbon had as perfect a figure as it is possible to have, it was easy to fit her. Even the soft little satin slips had not been forgotten, several of them.

A trunk appeared as if by magic; several trunks; wardrobe, hat and shoe trunks and a matching suitcase and a small hand overnight case, all of pigskin; it stamped in gold, "E. H." and into these, Emma packing for her with her new clothes Pancbon, when ready to leave for the island, Doctor Wynne having come in again and given his permission. The trip down in the big closed car was made with ease and comfort.

The Southampton house was long and low and rambling, painted white with green shutters. It stood very near the dunes, but there was much ground about it, gardens and tennis courts. Pancbon's rooms were overlooking the water, they were done in pale rose, with cool touches of turquoise blue and were very lovely. Emma having run down with Jennie and the trunks earlier, by train, was ready and waiting for them when they arrived and Pancbon's things were all unpacked. Despite her position and her sense of dreamlike unreality Pancbon would not have to be a normal human girl not one not been as excited as a child. And a child with an income of her own because Mrs. Carstairs had insisted upon her attending to the bank formalities before she left and drawing out some money for pennies." Mrs. Carstairs had told her, laughing.

The night of her arrival Jennie gave her a long jeweler's box.

"You'll have pearls," she said smiling, "when you come out. My own must go to Collin's wife, of course."

Was Collin married—or engaged? thought Pancbon.

"When he marries," Mrs. Carstairs went on, "but you shall have a small string of your own. Open the box, Evelyn."

She did so. There was a watch in it, a small platinum watch, severely simple, on a twisted cord set with diamonds.

"Emma told me that you—broke your own." Mrs. Carstairs explained Pancbon slipped the pretty thing on her wrist. She said. her eyes shining..."You shouldn't—it is too much."

"Oh, but I should! Nothing," said Jennie deeply, 'is too much or enough"

She added. "Some day you will know—why."

They had been at "Dunerow" for almost a week before Mrs. Carstairs spoke of her own son easily. They had been living quietly, according to one and gained nowhere and Pancbon should be entirely built up and the wounded arm healed. Then one morning at breakfast Jennie Carstairs spoke to her, luxuriously laying down the letter she had been reading.

"Collin will be home soon." she said, and added, a worried frown on her smooth forehead, "I hope you will understand... and not take him too seriously. I wrote you of course .... and am so ashamed of his attitude... it is so manifestly unfair. But he is terribly loyal—to me. My mother wants to know what she has told you.

"Would rather tell you myself anyway. I am perfectly well aware of your reason for coming here. But dealing with a sentimental woman is one thing and dealing with me is another. I'll like you to get that straight once and for all that I am quite conscious of your pose and that I will block it at every turn, if possible. If my mother wasn't wrong enough to see you are here under entirely false pretenses—I have!"

LARGE AMOUNT FOR RELIEF

Sask. Premier Estimates 3000 Families Will Need Help

Vanguard, Sask., Aug. 10. — The sum of $18,000,000 will be required for relief purposes during the coming winter, said approximately 3000 families will have to be taken care of, declared Premier J. T. M. Anderson, in outlining measures which the Government will undertake to provide for relief in the dried-out areas of the Province. He was addressing an audience of close to 1,000 people Saturday night.

Each of the 3,000 families would require about $50 a month for a year, the Premier stated. A Provincial Relief Commission will attend to every need, and the Debt Adjustment Bureau will see that those who are being pressed for loans and mortgages are not embarassed. Married men will be given work near home wherever possible, and a varied program of work will be carried out in connection with the rural Councils would be put into effect.

The Premier warned married men not to take their families north without first knowing where they were going. Land is becoming scarce he said, and the Department of Natural Resources is selling from thirty-five to fifty quarter-sections a day.

BURNED BRIDGES

by Ellsworth Davis

"For once in his life, David has let his customary poise," thought Norma Bronson as she watched the tall, athletic young man wander restlessly around her library. It was David Carrington's habit to act like a caged tiger when he was in the grip of a troublesome idea.

Womanly intuition informed Norma that this was the disturbing factor in his thought—it pleased and flattered her to argue that a proposal was imminent. But she watched him amusedly, thinking that all men were but little boys grown up, for the self assured David, who could so coolly dominate a trouble-some board of directors, was acting like a diffident schoolboy. In the end evidently at last it was he came to making love, that Norma prized him.

That evening she had invited him to dinner and they had just finished their coffee in the library. They had discussed various topics, and with the freedom of old comrades had spiritedly disagreed upon the subject of heredity. After their talk, David had got to his feet and started his aimless loitering around the book-lined room. Norma wondered at his sudden exhibition of nervousness.

Had her discussion of inherited traits been responsible? It was true that David had been reticent about his past, but surely the attractive and successful David came of good family. Norma firmly believed that "blood will tell" and expected the man of her choice to conform to an outstanding standard in which good ancestry played a major part.

She realized that she had become more and more responsive to David's literate persuasion. The vague Prince Charming of her dreams had gradually assumed the more tangible form of the clean-cut, handsome man who was nervously spilling cigar ashes upon her rug without even a thought of making an apology.

"Why all of the mental anguish?" she asked lightly.

David stopped in front of the chair in which she was gracefully lounging.

"Norma, for some time it has been apparent to you that I love you," he stated bluntly. "I've been too occupied with financial success to—to—practice the gentler arts of wooing. I don't know—"

"Yes, go on," encouraged Norma. Through no violation of her own she had risen to her feet although drawn by the powerful current in his attraction.

He folded his arms and looked at her steadily.

"There are things that I must explain," he continued. "Tonight we were discussing heredity, I believe that any man of moral health and intelligence can succeed in spite of undesirable traits in his ancestors. You disagreed with me—you are truly your family built through a good line of forbears, and bemper. He waited directly to Pancbon, stopped beside her and stared down at her.

"Why, yes," Pancbon told him, and still dazed from the sun and her half asleep.

He frowned, abruptly.

"We may as well have it out before my mother comes. I don't know what she has told you, Evelyn, but I'm sure you would rather tell me yourself anyway. I am perfectly well aware of your reason for coming here. But dealing with a sentimental woman is one thing and dealing with me is another. I'll like you to get that straight once and for all that I am quite conscious of your pose and that I will block it at every turn, if possible. Loss of Deer Threatened if Wolves are not Killed

Lindsay, Aug. 10. — The special Provincial Game Committee met in Fenelon Falls on Friday. There was a goodly representative gathering of sportsmen present from different points in the district and a profitable conference was the result. The yearly depletion of deer in this district through the ravages of wolves was up for discussion, and it was pointed out to the committee that if action was not taken to reduce or exterminate the wolves there would be no deer left. It was the consensus of opinion that the use of dogs in hunting deer should be allowed. The suggestion of a Province-wide gun license received unanimous support.

BOB BURKE ENTERS HALL OF BALL FAME

Hurls a No Hit No Run Game Against Boston on Saturday

TWO ONE HIT GAMES

Rush of Chicago and Coffman of St. Louis Were the Hurlers

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.)

The last third of the baseball season, when the home stretch of the pennant race is almost in sight is a time when major league pitchers are expected to bear down and do their best. But it has been a good many seasons since the "fear-less" has been so hard or so effective as in the current campaign. With low hit games becoming more and more frequent, three notable leagues accumulated, stepped out over the weekend to pitch really great games.

Bob Burke, lanky Washington southpaw, stubborn Bunk all Saturday, when he shutout Boston without a hit. It was the second no-hit no-run game of the season. Then yesterday two more pitchers came along with equal games.

One-Hit Game By Rush

Guy Rush of the Chicago Cubs held the league leading St. Louis Cardinals to a single blow, a scratch single by George Watkins, while Virgil Davis, the Chicago's rookie outfielder, won the game for him by clouting a home run with Fitch in a base. Paul Derringer, succumbing to the jinx of a pregame gift, lost a two hard luck game. He gave the Cubs only three hits in eight innings and "passed nine on," to lose the 1 to 0 decision on Burlen's clout. Dick Coffman of the St. Louis Browns, pitched the other one-hitter yesterday, beating the Chicago White Sox by a 1 to 0 count in the second game of a double-header.

The only hit off Coffman, who gave one run and walked six men in ten, was a roller over second by Kerr. Red Weiland, recently released from Louisville, opposed him in the older game. Pat Malone, the ball-hander, held the Browns to five hits in nine innings. Stewart got 4 to 3 in the opener.

Starters Are Standing

The various low-hit games had hits efined on the first two innings. The triumphant Cubs finish-ed eight games behind the Cardinals and still a point behind the New York Giants, who pounded out a 9 to 5 victory over Pittsburgh. Fred Fitzsimmons pitched five hitless innings, while Lindstrom, Terry and Ott each had before he eased up and gave ten blows.

Pittsburgh and Cincinnati split a double-header, the Reds winning the first game by attacking Larry French in the seventh for all their runs in a 6 to 2 triumph and the Pirates hammering Frey and Riley in the early innings for a 9 to 3 decision and 8 to 4. Boston Braves pick-ed up some ground by taking two games from the Phillies, 5 to 4 and 9 to 5.

American League

Mahaffey, Grove and Simmons shared the honors in the final game of the American League's almost "crucial" series as the Philadelphia Athletics made their first two defeats to down the New York Yankees 8 to 2. Mahaffey pitched air school ball, Grove came to his rescue and stopped a desperate rally of the Yanks and Simmons accounted for three of Philadelphia's seven hits off the starters.

Washington had some trouble holding the place ten games behind the Athletics, but they did hang on and while the champions were losing the first two battles of the series to the Yanks. The Senators had to go ten innings to down the Boston Red Sox 4 to 3. Ed Morris who relieved Milt Gaston in the tenth pitched the Nats out in that match and saw him drive out a long fly to bring in the winning run.

Detroit and Cleveland played possibly the most exciting game of the week-end, the Tigers finally coming out winning 9 to 8. Two homers accounted for a pinch four bagger by 14 hits.

CHILD HERCULES IN NOVA SCOTIA

Lunenburg, N.S., Aug. 10. — A child-Hercules who hauls about a heavy ox-wagon for a pastime has excited the wonder of the inhabitants of this rugged countryside. On an island where Jubilee and Vaughn meet the waters of one of Lunenburg's splendid harbors, there has been discovered the cy of four and a half years who, by his truly marvellous feats, has won fame throughout his native country by dubbed by hardy Bluenose sailors who sail the vessels of the famous Lunenburg fleet.

Born in January 23, 1927, the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Mosseman of "Ackman's Island, Harry St. Clair Mosseman is an altogether unique specimen of child life, probably unparalleled in the history of the Atlantic province. At the age of four and a half years he weighs one hundred pounds, is three feet six inches in height, has a waist line of thirty three inches and has limbs and features of corresponding size.

The weight of this little wonder child at birth was ten pounds. On his first birthday he tipped the scales at forty pounds; and each year since notes a corresponding abnormal development.

PA HUNT MAKES DETROIT IN ART

Eighty-four Year Old Artist Exhibits With the Best

Provincetown, Mass., Aug. 10.—Pa" Hunt's remarkable debut this season into the mysterious realm of "modern art" is creating a furore in the Provincetown artists' colony. Pa, 84 years young, a droll little man who refuses to take himself seriously and who is seen every day jogging along Commercial street with his companion, "Jim," a scrappy wire haired terrier, has never taken a lesson in art. Nevertheless his oil painting, "Amen Corners" has just been accepted and hung in the fifth modern exhibit of Provincetown Art Association.

Pa has studied it and knows where some of America's foremost painters have established. He is in good company with names of a world—Oliver Carlos, Morris Kantor, Ross Moffett, Karl Knaths and num erous others of wide reputation.

The jury of selection for the show described Pa's painting as a splendid "primitive." Critics have lavished praise and all along the main street Pa is hailed, photographed and congratulated. But Pa just grins and Jimmy wags his tail in off. "Amen Corners" was painted last winter when Pa "had nothing else to do." It is being referred to as one of the best things in the modern show.

"Things were quiet last winter," Pa explained. "So I rummaged around in the boat house and found a couple of stretchers. My new art scene old bed sheets which I tacked on. I dug up a can of paint and some brushes—and went to it."

Pa's painting depicts a landscape. A Provincetown summeryr, however, as Pa's agent, could see the painting for a substantial sum to a Boston purchaser, but Pa says he'll went to work on "Amen Corners" which shows a row of houses in a little group of houses beside a church steeple, and on the canvas he might describe as shooting gallery style. The original nature of the painting is to be preserved by professionals says.

Another of Pa's painting is a stirring thing called "The Rescue" which depicts a fire boat and tug being lowered to save a shipwrecked crew of mariners and is now being is hung in "The Ship," a Provincetown art club.

Pa is versatile. He dabbles in cubist art and paints a fine portrait of Jimmy on glass. His "kitchen sink" studio is the talk of the town. All over the walls Pa has tacked up various scenes—ranging from the Mahs Arms Inn to the Pilgrim Monument and the water boiler is glue ously decorated with a rich scattering of wild roses.

Pa is getting a big kick out of the excitement his art work is causing, but declares he is not going to start studying art seriously at this late day. He is, however, now following in the steps of his son, Peter Hunt, well known Detroit interior decorator and a painter of some reputation. The family lives at 433 Commonwealth ave.

A large painting of Pa and Ma Hunt by Hunter Brown, another Provincetown artist, is on exhibition in the Corcoran Gallery in Washington one of the most famous art galls of the country.

COLLEGE CAREERS FOR 10 NEWSBOYS

Boston, Mass., August 10— The ten gritiest and most deserving Boston newsboys to be chosen from that vast army of youths who sell or distribute the newspapers published in the Hub, will have a larger cities, will be given scholarships which will enable them to embark on a four year college career.

The high schools of this city have recommended ten boys from ten high schools to be considered for the valuable scholarships. The boys will be interviewed personally by the judges, under the direction of Alfred J. Burton, former dean of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and chairman of the Foundation committee on scholarships.

Since its inception this competition has met with outstanding success, and this is the fourth annual award of the scholarships.

It is an interesting phase of the psychology of modern man that he can find little pleasure in solitude.—Dr. John White.

NAKED, UGLY FACTS UNFOLDED BY WICKERSHAM COMMMISSION INVESTIGATING POLICE METHOD

"Third Degree" Methods Described as Barbarous, Which Included All Forms of Torture to Make Accused Confess. Ask That Principle of Law Enforcement Be Mad e Secure

Washington, D.C., Aug. 10 (AP).—A tale of systematized police brutality spreading over half the nation—a 10-year record of illegal law enforcement by barbarous "third degree" methods—was unfolded today by the Wickersham Commission.

Asserting its duty was to lay the "naked, ugly facts" before the public, the commission crammed into a single weighty volume of "lawlessness in law enforcement" more than five score proved instances of extorted confessions. It urged upon President Hoover new legislation, or a constitutional amendment if necessary, to abolish "conduct so violative of the fundamental principles of constitutional liberty."

The bulk of the report, written by Professor Zechariah Chaffee, Jr. of Harvard, and Walter Pollak and Carl S. Stern of the New York bar, asserted that despite the secrecy and cruelty of police brutality instances of the "third degree" had been found to "consider only over half the States."

Actual Cases Cited

Actual cases were cited of prolonged questionings; severe beatings with a rubber hose, sand bag, flat, or telephone book; manhandling; murder suspects; cursing; threats; cramming men into cells with dis eased persons; "sweating" with "water cure' and handcuffing men to radiators; third degree methods with tear gas. Here are some of the instances reported:

DYNAMITERS DERAIL TRAIN

Over 100 More or Less Injured in Derailment

Berlin, Germany, Aug. 10.—More than 100 passengers were more or less seriously injured Saturday night when dynamiters with the slogan, "Hitch, Revolution" bombed and derailed the crowded Basel-Frankfort-Berlin Express and sent eight cars plunging down a 20-foot embankment. Two passengers were seriously injured, thirteen had to be treated in hospital and 100 others suffered less severe cuts and bruises.

Reichsbahn officials said that the demolition certainly was the work of men skilled in handling explosives. The dynamite had been put in bushes about 700 feet from where the charge was fired and the wrecked and the blast was set off electrically.

Everything Would Turn BLACK

Mrs. H. E. Swanzey Considers that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills (tonic) Saved Her Life.

"Feeling Like a Different Person."

"I could hardly walk across the room," writes Mrs. H. E. Swanzey, R. No. 1, Collingwood. "Everything would turn black and I would become so dizzy I would have to sit. I thought I never be strong—when I was advised to try Williams' Pink Pills. I took them until I had taken six boxes. Soon I was feeling like a different person. I am now the mother of six strong, healthy children."

The iron and other elements in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills (tonic) increase the amount of haemoglobin, or oxygen-carrying agent, in blood. The result is a better appetite, a feeling of well-being, restful sleep, and the ability to do your work happily.

FOUR INJURED IN CAR SMASH

Bowmanville, Aug. 10—Four persons were injured in a crash on the highway east of Bowmanville on Saturday afternoon, and are being treated in the Bowmanville Hospital.

The accident occurred on a curve and the driver of the car, John Thomas of Cedar Street, Bellville, aged 34, was not able to tell the police what occurred. Stephen Easton, the only passenger in the car who was not injured, told the police that the car ran off the highway and hit a telegraph pole.

The injured are John Easton, head and shoulder wounds; George Easton, (J. Hall) Aug. 28-Sept. 12 head and arm injuries; Mrs. Florence Easton, fractured rib; Mike Gordon McGowan, Bellville, cut about the face. The car was stashed.

Traffic Officers H. M. Hinchliffe and Constable Dowdall and Dougall Wilson of Port Hope investigated.

BY ELECTIONS HELD TODAY

Voters of East Hamilton and Three Rivers go to Polls Today

Hamilton, Aug. 10.—Today the bush parties in the Federal by-election in East Hamilton, Conservatives and Labor-ites, were both confident of victory. Conservatives said they were sure M. M. Robinson would win because of the powerful Tory machine which is behind him. The Labor-ites said they were certain of victory for Alderman Humphrey Mitchell because of the thousands of wage-earners who are idle in East Hamilton, and the general feeling that Premier Bennett had failed to relieve unemployment as he promised to do. W. H. Connor, Independent Conservative candidate, also was confident of victory, even though he had not been heard from much during the campaign. The last week of the campaign was marked by bitterness between Mr. Robinson and Mr. Mitchell and their supporters. The Conservatives held but one public meeting, and contented themselves with ward rallies at which organization work was perfected. The Laborites have held meetings almost every night for the past two weeks, and these were well attended.

The total number of electors in East Hamilton is close to 38,000 in 132 divisions. The polls will be open from 9 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock at night, Daylight Saving Time.

SHIP MODELS AS SYMBOLS

Sailors Considered They Were Token of Gratitude for Return

Halifax, N.S., August 10.—From time immemorial sailors have whiled away the tedium of long voyages by carpentry of various sorts. In addition to constructing boxes to serve as tool chests or jewel caskets, it was the custom of merchant seamen and sailors on warships to make models of the vessels on which they sailed. The voyage sometimes took several years, and there was no more graphic illustration for a recital of the pleasures and dangers of such a trip than a ship model.

Throughout the Maritimes and in Newfoundland the visitor often sees an excellent model of some famous clipper, but antique collectors have not been slow to realize their value, and today the ones to be seen are few in number and exceedingly valuable. The original ships have long since gone to their ocean graves, but the models remain as a sort of tangible history in miniature, to tease the imagination with hints of the strength and pride of ships in the days before steam.

The making of ship models dates back almost to the dawn of history. Models have been found in ancient Egyptian tombs which were constructed about 10,000 years ago. The excavations of Ur of the Chaldeans brought to light the silver model of a boat made between 3000 and 4000 B.C.

During the Middle Ages ship models were made as offerings for safe return from perils of the sea or in commemoration of some glorious victory. These were frequently of silver and were hung in churches.

Beginning with the 17th century, it was the custom in France and England to have a model made of each type of ship. These were used to instruct students in naval academies and in shipyards. Many of the French models were elaborately constructed, but the English type of model was generally simple, often made without masts and rigging, and with the planking partially omitted to show the interior construction layout.

At an auction brick some years ago in the United States a miniature French model of a ship of the line was offered which was most uniquely constructed. It was completely rigged and had over one hundred guns and complete deck equipment. The model was mounted in a case with mirrors, which also showed the construction of the ship, with a bishop, in red robes, accompanied by eleven of his priests. When a key was inserted and turned at the side it caused the whole thing to revolve and bells to peal—so at the earlier occasions.

The Peabody Museum in Salem, Massachusetts, has an excellent collection of ship models, among which is one of Sir Samuel G. B. Constantine, presented in 1812. This is of particular interest now that Constantine is making a cruise along the Atlantic coast.

ESCAPED MAN CAPTURED AT ROBLIN, ONT.

Armburst Gives up to Guards After 3 Days Search

WAS UNARMED

Tells Captors He Lived on Fruits and Vegetables Found in Fields

Kingston, Aug. 10.—After being at liberty since four o'clock Thursday afternoon, when he made his escape from the quarry at the preferred class penitentiary, Harley Armbrust, aged twenty-one years, serving five years for robbery, was captured at about six o'clock this morning at Roblin, about ten miles north of Napanee. He was rounded up by guards from the preferred class penitentiary, who had received a tip from Chief of Police Watts of Napanee that a car had been stolen from near Adolphustown and that it was believed to have passed through Napanee on Saturday night. Just as the cards who were giving chase in another car neared the Armbrust was sighted by him. Armbrust got out of the car, but as the guards came up to him, he surrendered, telling the officers that he did not intend to resist arrest.

When taken in charge, the prisoner was wearing his prison uniform and was unarmed. It is understood that all he secured to eat since his escape was fruit and vegetables gathered in the fields, as he was afraid to go to any farmhouse. More than forty guards from the preferred class penitentiary engaged in the hunt for the youthful prisoner. Inspector E. Jackson, who is acting warden at the penitentiary, headed the search party from the prison, while Provincial Police of the district also assisted. The prisoner will be charged with escaping custody.

PIPES' SKIRL GREETS BOAT

Highland Band of Eighty-Fifth Battalion and Veterans Plan Reunion

Halifax, N.S., August 10 — The first visit of the White Star liner Olympic to Halifax Harbor since wartime days called forth a welcome reminiscent of the atmosphere that surrounded her arrival before and just after the armistice. When it was learned that the famous "Ocean Ferry" was scheduled to call on the second Saturday in August, the first to lay plans for her reception were members of the Eighty-fifth Battalion, which went across on the Olympic, and returned on her after the war.

Other returned men were to join with them in a march to the seawall to greet the liner, led by the Pictou Highlanders Pipe Band, which led the eighty-fifth over the roads of France some fourteen years ago. Singing the famous marching songs of the Great War, the veterans who made the Olympic's acquaintance years ago, Armshe made almost fortnightly trips between this port and New York side, will board her again.

A Nova Scotian who served Andrews' Cross on a white background with lion rampant—will be presented to the ship by members of the old battalion.

In connection with the liner's visit, arrangements have been completed for an eighty-fifth reunion in the city, with the famous pipe band giving a concert in the public gardens that evening.

The Olympic was well known to Haligonians in wartime, when the affectionate nicknames "Old Reliable" and "Ocean Ferry" were applied to her. During her service as a war transport, commanded by Herbert Haynes, afterward knighted for his services, she never lost a man of the thousands entrusted to her keeping. One enemy submarine was crushed beneath her keel and another fell victim to her gunnery.

PLAYMATES SUFFOCATED IN PIT CAVE IN GOVERNMENT SPLIT EVEN IN TWO BY-ELECTIONS

MITCHELL'S MAJORITY 3,700 TORY WINS IN THREE RIDING BY NARROW MARGIN OF 251

Labor Administers Defeat to M. M. (Bobby) Robinson, Conservative Candidate in East Hamilton, Switching Historically Tory Seat to Opposition ...Three Rivers Changes Allegiance to Liberal Cause. Contest was Close.

The Conservative Government emerges out of the East Hamilton and Three Rivers-St. Maurice by-elections of yesterday still holding a majority in the House of Commons of 24 over combined Opposition forces.

In a day of surprises, Ontario and Quebec switched their political allegiance. Conservatives gained the stronghold of Three Rivers-St. Maurice, after 31 years in the Liberal column, but lost East Hamilton, held since redistribution in 1966.

EAST HAMILTON

Mitchell, Labor, 16,257.
Robinson, Conservative, 7,214.
Cooney, Independent Conservative, 641.

Hamilton, Aug. 11.—East Hamilton, traditional Tory stronghold in the Federal arena, reversed its political sentiments of a year ago and went emphatically Labor in the by-election today, when Adj. Honorary S. Mitchell was elected by a majority of almost 3,700 over M. M. (Bobby) Robinson, the Conservative. What was formerly a huge and safe Conservative majority was today turned into a Labor majority.

East Hamilton has been represented by a Conservative in the House of Commons at Ottawa for many years. Only twice has it been represented by Labor in the Ontario Legislature—when the late Allan Studholme was one of the five Laborites elected in Canada, and then when George Harkness was elected in the campaign of the Drury Farmer-Labor government.

Factors for yesterday's upset were many and varied, and the result has given Premier Bennett his smartest in this, his first by-election since he came into power, one year ago. Unemployment was the great issue in the contest, and there is no doubt that the jobless in East Hamilton gave Mr. Mitchell his majority. Only a few days ago Mayor Peebles stated at a meeting of the Board of Control that no fewer than 9,000 men were out of work here and registered for relief or unemployment. A majority of these men, former industrial workers, live in East Hamilton.

Premier Recalls

What ranked in the minds of the working men of East Hamilton and their wives and grown children as the most important issue of all, little more than one year ago, Mr. Bennett made solemn promises that, if he elected, he would remedy "this condition." Many of them voted for him who wanted work before "the snow flies." They took him at his word and "elected his supporters by large majorities" in the Conservative Westworth County. The snow flew and it will soon be flying again but the promises are depleted, and the prospect is dismal for many. Premier

MAY TENDER RESIGNATION AS LEADER

Liberal Members are Being Called Into Caucus

NO SUGGESTION

Mr. Bragg States Meeting is For Purpose of Policy Discussion

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 11 (CP) — The Globe today publishes the following: "Liberal members of the Ontario Legislature, under the leadership of William H. Sinclair, K.C., will assemble in the parliament buildings on Friday next to discuss among other matters the attitude which they shall take in future to the Ontario Hydro-Electric inquiry, and the relationship to that inquiry of certain officers of the Ontario Liberal Association, with whom Mr. Sinclair now is at daggers drawn.

May Tender Resignation

"According to rumor emanating from Kitchener, Mr. Sinclair succeeded by Howard M.L.A., North Waterloo, financial critic for the group since his election to the legislature in 1919. This suggestion, however, was vigorously denied last night by friends of Mr. Sinclair's followers. William J. Bragg, M.L.A., for Durham and chairman of the caucus, said: "I never heard of such a thing. This meeting is just an ordinary get-together. We bring them from time to time, you know." "Mr. Sinclair could not be reached last night for comment. It is known, however, that it is at his request the group is convening and that a wide-open discussion of Liberal policy and prospects for the future is as far as the Provincial party is concerned, is scheduled.

INDIANS ARE STRICKEN WITH PARALYSIS

Outbreak not Reported Due to Delayed Communications

AT NORTH OUTPOST

Nine Children Stricken All Recovered but Paralysed

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 11 (CP)—Delayed communications in Northern Canada in word of an outbreak of infantile paralysis among Indians last February did not reach Moose Factory on James Bay until the end of July. The outbreak occurred in a settlement on the East shore of James Bay, 300 miles from Moose Factory. The place is Port Albany.

Discovered by Physician

The disease was discovered during the winter months by a traveling medical man. He sent out an appeal for help by dog team but the spring break-up and other misfortunes delayed the message from reaching Moose Factory until last month. From there, word was rushed to Ottawa.

Nine Indian children had been stricken with the disease, it was learned, when a relief plane was despatched from Ottawa, but all of them recovered. Two however were paralysed.

The serum, which was sent in the aeroplane was not used. Some of it which had been rushed from the Provincial laboratories here, was returned today by Dr. E. L. Stone, director of medical services to the Federal Department of Indian Affairs.

Produce Paralysis in Monkeys to Cure Humans

Washington, D.C., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Artificially produced epidemics of infantile paralysis among scores of monkeys at the National Institute of Health today lead to curing the disease in humans. If a method can be found to control the spread of the disease in monkeys, scientists of the institute believe, the cure also will be excellent for curing or preventing it in human beings and for ending epidemics such as the one now raging in New York City. The institute is the health arm of the United States Health Service.

The disease is not absolutely sure whether infantile paralysis is spread by contact with some other way. It prevails in summer, while most diseases spread by contact reach their height in winter or early spring, when people are indoors and crowded together indoors. Children from one to five years old are most susceptible.

FOUND WOUNDS

Concealed From Jail Doctor by His Long Hair

Walkerton, Aug. 11—Appointment one month after death in the Walkerton Jail of Miles Johnston, an Indian from Cape Croker Reserve, the Provincial authorities have launched an investigation into the case with the exhumation of the body. Johnston was arrested for drunkenness on the Reserve by Indian Constable Archiwedi. He was sentenced by Judge Agent Arthur E. Peale to 30 days, and on July 1 was placed in the Walkerton Jail. From the first he acted queerly, jail officials thought, and he was examined daily by the Acting Jail Surgeon, Dr. T. A. Sinclair. On July 7 he became noticeably ill, and attendants discovered two wounds behind his right ear, which previously had been concealed from the doctor by the prisoner's long hair. The same night he died.

NAUTILUS ADRIFT IN ARTIC SEAS

Mechanical Difficulty Cannot Be Repaired By Crew

Tromsoe, Norway, Aug. 11 (AP)—The submarine Nautilus, in which Sir Hubert Wilkins set out to reach the North Pole under the ice, today was reported adrift in the Arctic Seas with engine trouble.

The report said the mechanical difficulty was of a nature which could not be repaired by the crew. The Nautilus developed engine after the submarine left Tromsoe yesterday for Spitzbergen.

There was no way of knowing what the trouble was, but the crew was reported to have worked all night attempting repairs. As the Nautilus has no anchor suitable for use in these waters she drifted with the current while the crew worked.

Sir Hubert Wilkins set off across the Atlantic from Provincetown, Massachusetts on June 3 and ten days later she was disabled at sea when her engines failed. The battleship Wyoming took her in tow to Ireland, and on June 22 she reached Cobh, continuing from there to Plymouth, where repairs were made.

Believed Failure to Keep Promise Causes Loss of Seat

Winnipeg, Aug. 11—Condemnation of the Bennett administration is expressed in Labor's first invasion of the industrial east, according to J. S. Woodsworth, leader of the labor group in the House of Commons, commenting on the Hamilton by-election, Mr. Woodsworth was highly elated at Alderman Hummy Mitchell's victory in Hamilton, and declared it "very encouraging." The representative for Winnipeg North Centre stated that in Hamilton several weeks ago, he had remarked in an address, that a victory for Mitchell would mean "Hamilton's condemnation for the Bennett administration." He believed the result proved Premier Bennett's failure to keep his election promises, and that it showed the unemployment problem to be far from solved.

PLAYMATES SEEK SHELTER FROM RAIN IN GRAVEL PIT DIE WHEN SIDES SLIDE IN

Harold Wannamaker, 10, Stirling, and Counsell-Christie Looney, 10, Niagara Falls, Were Victims. Children Were Not Missed for Some time. Presence of Play Wagon Led Parents to Pit, Inquest Not Necessary.

Death struck swiftly late yesterday afternoon during a thunder shower, when two boys, cousins, each aged 10, were suffocated in a gravel slide in a pit near Stirling. It is presumed that the boys took refuge from the sudden storm beneath the overhanging bank of the pit, which, becoming loosened by the torrential rain, slid down over them. Their bodies were not discovered until about eleven o'clock last night, after searchers had combed the surrounding woods and fields in frantic efforts to locate them.

Harold Wannamaker, aged 10, eldest Wannamaker of Stirling, and Christie Looney, son of W. J. Looney of 1188 Huron street, Niagara Falls, were the victims. The Looney boy had only arrived in Stirling with his mother to visit the Wannamakers on Monday morning.

Movements Unnoticed

Although the movements of the children since about four o'clock in the afternoon were unnoticed, it is known, Mrs. Wannamaker declares that she heard children's voices which she presumed to be those of her son and the visitor from the upper part of the barn. She was in the basement of the barn at the time doing the milking. Later, at about five o'clock, a terrific downpour of rain visited the district, and it was only then that the mother became anxious as to their whereabouts, as she thought they would get wet and catch cold.

"The rain didn't last very long" she stated this morning, "and as the boys had built themselves a shack back in the woods, she thought they must have sought shelter there. When they didn't come in for supper about six o'clock though, Ruby, Harold's sister, went back to the woods to look for them. Mr. Wannamaker, who had been out all afternoon, came home at about that time and when Ruby told us they weren't at the shack we all set out to hunt for them."

Father Had Warned Son

Here the father, distracted with grief, broke in "I warned Harold lots of times before not to play in that gravel pit. The sides are too steep, and they must be all of thirty feet high." We looked all over the fields and through the pit, which Ruby came in to tell us, that maybe they were at the gravel pit, as she had seen their little wagon standing in the field near the pit," continued Mr. Wannamaker. "We hurried over there, and although we noticed this fresh slide of gravel, we never thought that our boy was underneath. Then some men and I who have been drawing gravel for the highway around started to dig there, and soon they knew that's where the youngsters were."

Quarter Mile From Home

The place where the accident died is at least a quarter of a mile from the nearest house, and they were completely covered up, so that had anyone happened along even at the time of the slide it is doubtful if anyone would have noticed the disturbed earth. The victims had been sliding down the banks of the gravel hole on a large wagon, and struck footmarks in several places.

Mother Prostrated

Mrs. Looney, prostrated by grief, and is under medical care at the Wannamaker home. Mr. Looney arrived from Niagara Falls this morning, and the remains will be shipped there for burial. Harold, the other victim, was in the junior third at Stirling public school, and was a bright boy who was regarded by all who knew him. Dr. Carlton, of Stirling, the coroner, investigated and decided that an inquest was unnecessary. The Wannamaker funeral will be held tomorrow.

PROVINCIAL FUNDS MULCTED BY CLEVER GANG ALLEGED

Six Held in Connection With Payments Declared Illegally Claimed and Received from Workmen's Compensation Board. Women Involved, Arrests Made in London, Montreal and Toronto.

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 11 (CP)— Six persons are in custody on provincial police officers today charged with being members of a gang which mulcted the Ontario treasury out of $50,000 during the last four years, by false compensation claims to the Ontario Workmen's Compensation Board.

Following weeks of investigation the provincials trapped their quarry in three cities, Montreal, Toronto and Toronto. George J. Coutre, said to be the leader of the gang mind, and his wife Albertine, were arrested in the Western Ontario city. Joe Venina and his son were arrested in London. Also in London Edward King and Aurora Thivierge, the latter said to be the wife of the younger Venina, were arrested here and admitted to bail of $1,000 each.

Auditors at Work

Auditors are still at work tracing activities of the suspects, Victor A. Sinclair, K.C., chairman of the Board, said in describing the method used by the gang. It is alleged Coutre took the part of an employer of labor and that the fake "employers" would submit a physician of an accident sustained at work, giving appropriate symtoms. Despite failure of the physician's examination to reveal anything wrong with the injured, both employer and employee that an accident had occurred usually led to the granting of a certificate by the doctor.

All in One Class

All the false claims in class 34, Mr. Sinclair said, were in the construction trades class where there is no accident prevention section and no merit grading to draw the board's attention to the individual accident experience of employers. Claims presented by the accused were generally small ones, averaging about $500 each, to varying their amounts. The alleged defrauders would seize upon the unemployment period when many members was actually hurt at work to visit sometimes as many as six physicians, giving different names to each and obtain certificates which would be presented to the board. Cheques were backed by certificates from the alleged employers, it is claimed.

Dreamy Kitchen Worker is Labrador's "Helper"

New York, N.Y., Aug. 11.—The New-Foundland Government $100,000,000 to save Labrador from the auction block, has been identified as a Greenwich Village "kitchen- directress."

She presided over the kitchen of a Greenwich Village restaurant, formerly operated by her sister, Mrs. Toma Foster. Leaving the kitchen occasionally, The World Telegram says, she would sit with the guests and tell them of big timber holdings she said she had in Canada.

Mrs. Foster and friends of Miss Lewis said she was away at present but would be back in a few days and as she was continually planning big deals and speculating millions they were not at all surprised at her absence from the restaurant. None knew where she planned to get the money she had offered.

CONCLUDING SERVICE.

Rev. R. Farnsworth, who has been supplying for Rev. W. F. Woodger, Napanee, during the past three Sundays, preached his concluding message in Grace Church on Sunday morning. Mr. Woodger with Mrs. Woodger and family are expected home from camp this week.

Mr. Farnsworth, who was stationed on the Napanee district for over eight years, had a host of former friends while in charge of the service.

INTERESTING VISITOR

Mr. Thomas Dwyer, of New York City, was in Belleville over the week-end visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Ryan at the Queen's Hotel. Mr. Dwyer is a son of the late William Power, known all over the world as the owner of Power's Performing Elephants. The young man, now in his nineteenth year, was raised after his uncle, the late Hon. P. J. Power, proprietor of the Queen's Hotel, and owner of the Belleville Kilties Band, which made several world tours. Incidentally it may be of interest to know that Power's Performing Elephants are still going strong, and are at present filling engagements in Sweden during the course of an European tour under the management of Mrs. William Power.

REROOF ALL BUILDINGS

At a regular monthly meeting of the local Parks Board held last night considerable business was completed. The main item of interest was the decision of the board to re-roof all the display buildings on the exhibition grounds. Several chants need no longer risk the chances of having their displays damaged by leaking roofs. This will be a welcomed news to all exhibitors at the Belleville Fair. The board have added much to their staff in order to get the grounds in shape for the coming fair. The flower beds have been laid out in what the best condition that they have ever enjoyed since their inauguration some years ago. It is the intention of the Board to make the grounds as beautiful and pleasing as possible for this year.

EPILEPSY CAUSED DROWNING

The district headquarters of the Ontario Provincial Police received today received report from the Sharbot Lake detachment covering the recent drowning of Melvin Catheline McKenzie in a creek near her home in Oso township, Frontenac County. Dr. T. H. Belcher, the coroner, found that the girl, who was twelve years old, was subject to epileptic fits and while at the creek for water had been seized with a fit and had fallen face down into the creek, being drowned in six inches of water. The coroner decided that an inquest was not necessary.

LIGHT MARKET.

The mid-week market was well attended this morning, when local buyers appeared at the vendors. Plenty of green vegetables were offered with new green corn and tomatoes being in demand. Other vegetables were quickly bought up by the citizens. Long black berries were still in evidence and sold as high as 20c a box. Harvest apples were offered at 20c per peck.

FARM HAND WANTED.

Applications for Ernest Hall R. M. No. 6, third line of Sidney, near Moira Church Hall, one Gain Smith, allegedly disappeared from the Hall farm on the 10th week with Mr. Hall's pocket-book containing the sum of $400. Smith had been working for Mr. Hall and was considered a very trustworthy farmhand. Late last week Smith left the house telling Mr. Hall that he was going to Belleville and after a few hours' absence Mr. Hall went to his room and found that his purse had also disappeared. He notified the police this morning but as Smith had considerable time to move on it is thought that he has taken advantage of the time and gone to parts unknown. Smith told Mr. Hall that his home was in Belleville and found that his purse had also disappeared. He notified the police this morning but as Smith had considerable time to move on it is thought that he has taken advantage of the time and gone to parts unknown. Smith told Mr. Hall that his home was in Belleville and found that he could obtain employment there. So far no word has been received. The police are endeavoring to find the boy.

OLD BOY RETURNS

An old Belleville boy who is being welcomed by many friends is Ben Nelson, of Detroit, who is spending his vacation with his sister, Mrs. J. L. Thrasher, Charles Street. Jap had not been here for five years until he attended the Old Boys' Reunion last year. He enjoyed himself so well that he decided to come again this summer. "There is no place like Belleville," declared Jap asserts. In fact he tells of a friend of his who was visiting Toronto and the lovely old trees on a picturesque boy." Jap has been having an enjoyable time motoring to various places but says he would be having a better time if the fish would be a little more plentiful. He is hoping for some luck before he returns to Detroit.

CONCLUDE ROCK-BALLAST.

On the local division of the C. N. R. work has been completed on the second line of rock-ballast as far east as Marysville, and the second lift will not be continued any further east this year but it is expected that next season the road-bed will be completed from Belleville to Toronto to Montreal. When finished on the main line of the C.N.R. will have the finest road bed of any railway on the continent.

AIR PORT TENDERS IN.

Tenders for contract for the barracks-room, that is to be construct at the Trenton Air Port will be opened today. The contract merely calls for the walls and roof to be completed, and the building will be completed under the supervision of the contract next year. There is a possibility that some of the men of the instructors will be moved to the Trenton Air port as they will be stationed there the men will be billeted in private homes, as the barracks-room is not believed.

TO PLAY IN KINGSTON.

The Frontenac girls' soft ball team will journey to Kingston tomorrow to play the Kingston Capitols in a league fixture. Instead of playing the game in Kingston, the two teams are going by boat, down through the Thousand Islands and play the game at Clayton, New York. Alexandria Bay, N.Y. As the Americans do not go in for girls' soft ball in that section of the country, the two teams should provide a novel sight for the fans attending. The boat trip alone will be worth the price of admission for the members of the Frontenac club.

CAR SWERVED

A report was received today by the District Headquarters Ontario Provincial Police from the Picton detachment relative to a serious automotor accident on the highway between Consecon and Milford Station ward County. It appears that William Jordan of Picton was travelling at a moderate rate of speed on his car when he saw that he had noticed a car approaching him. As the cars were about to pass the car driven by Mrs. Jordan, wife of Earl Mumford of Chester, N.Y., suddenly swerved to the centre of the road and smashed into Mr. Jordan's car. The force of the blow was terrific and then rods out of line.

Wife Pshaied

On the road east of Plano he met his wife, who fainted. He glanced casually at her and rode on to his father's farm. His father, Robert Dunbar, was in the field. "Call him to chores done, dad." He asked his father why said they were, "Well, I guess I'll put my horse up then," and unharnessing his animal he put the animal away and entered the house, greeting his mother and young brother as though, as his father put it, "he had left them but yesterday."

When his wife reached the farm her, but showed no particular interest in her presence, and started her questions.

Finally Jordan to act as though he hadn't been gone at all," his father said. "Neither did he act like a blank life these three years, or that doesn't want to talk about himself. I don't figure out. I don't know any more about it than anyone else."

Since his return Frazus has declined to talk with his wife. His only answer to questions as to where he has been, is: "It's none of your business."

Fog Forced Lindberghs Down Within Seventy-Five Miles of Nome

Landing at Night Flying Colonel Awaited Daylight to Continue After 39 0-Mile Hop From Point Barrow.

Nome, Alaska, Aug. 11 (AP)—Coming to earth about 75 miles short of their immediate destination, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh landed their pontooned monoplane along the north coast of the Seward Peninsula at 11:01 o'clock last night (1re a.m. EST) today and awaited full daylight to proceed to Nome.

Beginning the second half of their 7000 mile vacation air trip from Washington to the Orient, the flying couple left Point Barrow at 11:53 o'clock EST last night for a 332 mile hope to Nome. A protracted rain and other unfavorable conditions had then at Point Barrow for three days and two nights, but left at noon when weather reports indicated a clearing coast line.

The exact spot where the plane landed was not mentioned in messages sent out but is believed to be somewhere along the Kotzebue Sound.

About an hour after leaving Point Barrow Mrs. Lindbergh radioed that all was "Oreh". Late last night Lindbergh fired three flares he made ready to aid in landing here.

This message which indicated that the flight had not kept to the route approximately an hour before stopping, led to the supposition they were within at the most an hour's flight of this Bering Sea port. Efforts were being made by the radio station here to make contact with the plane again.

Though the beginning hitting of the landing did not give reasons, it was believed, from started to settle here within two hours after the couple left Point Barrow, had extended up the coast and that the Lindberghs would take no chances of making a blind landing here.

Because of the short nights of this near-Arctic region it was believed the Lindberghs would proceed down the coast within three hours' hop from Nome. The flying did not become so dense as to be a hazard after they left Point Barrow.

Within an hour after the flying couple lifted into the air from the lagoon at Point Barrow, leaving behind the town northerly point on their tour to the Orient, he was reported over the Chukchi sea and cutter Northland at Wainwright. 80 miles southwest of Point Barrow.

At about the same time Mrs. Lindbergh radioed from the plane that all was "okah."

The Northland, tender for Point Barrow, was to have unloaded fuel supplies at Point Barrow there, but was unable to keep the appointment because of heavy ice packed along the shore.

BELIEVED DEAD, MAN COMES HOME IN COWBOY ATTIRE

Left Home Two Years ago but No Word Comes. On Return Ignores Wife, and Will Not Tell of His Wanderings.

Plano, Ill., Aug. 11 (AP)—On the morning of April 13, 1926, Frank Dunbar, kissed his bride of two months, climbed into a buggy, drove off and vanished. When nothing was heard from him, he was given up for dead and buried after a time. soon, when he galloped down the lane driving a fine span of matched black horse. He wore brilliant cowboy regalia and his bride noticed a ten gallon hat. With a flourish he pulled the reins over his steed's head, stepped to her a package of tobacco and then rods out of view.

Since his return Frazus has declined to talk with his wife. His only answer to questions as to where he has been, is: "It's none of your business."

KAYE DON IS AFTER TROPHY

Competes Against Detroit Sportsman Late in September

London, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Kaye Don, holder of the world's speedboat record, sailed aboard the liner Majestic for America today to begin preparations for his bid to bring back to England an international trophy which so far he has defied all British efforts. He meets Gar Wood in Detroit late this month for the first time. "I know this will be a great race," he said, "and I am looking forward to racing this great American sportsman. I don't know his boat but I know the maximum speed of Miss Detroit II; it is about 112 miles per hour." He plans to go on to Toronto and give an exhibition race there.

CELEBRATE 12TH ANNIVERSARY

Germany Confident That All Troubles Are Over

Berlin, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Germany confident that her financial and political troubles had been solved celebrated today the twelfth anniversary of the founding of the Republic.

The Republican black, red and gold flag flocked from all official and many private buildings and streets presented a festival to the festivities. Chancellor Brunning, Finance Minister Dietrich, the President of Prussia and the Lord Mayor of Berlin were on the programme for addresses at the opera house.

The Berlin police, however, under the loss of two of their officers in a battle with Communists Sunday, had a celebration of their own in the Lustgarten in front of the former Kaiser's Palace.

GUN HANDLING CAUSED DEATH

Jury Finds That Boy Was Not Capable to Handle Gun

Inspector Lougheed in charge of the District Headquarters, Ontario Provincial Police today received a report having reference to the shooting accident at Crowe Lake, Peterborough County on July 26 last, as a result of which Joseph Thompson met his life. The gun, the shot from which killed Thompson was in the hands of James Gossage. The inquest which was ordered by Crown Attorney J. V. Nagley of Kingston was conducted at Crowe Lake by Dr. T. H. Sheldon, Coroner for Peterborough.

After the examination of six witnesses the twelve jurors retired and in thirty-five minutes returned the following verdict: "We, the jury empanelled to inquire into the death of Joseph Thompson, find the death was caused by the careless handling of a gun in the hands of James Gossage. We also find that James Gossage is not a fit person to have fire arms in his possession and recommend that in the future he be not allowed to carry them.

We further recommend the law be strictly enforced in regard to boys carrying guns."

It is stated by the authorities that it is not likely a charge will be laid as the facts indicate accidental death.

Asked to Help Secure Freedom of Prisoner

New York, N.Y., Aug. 11—Francis Crowley, awaiting execution at Sing Sing will be asked today to aid in securing the freedom of Patrick O'Brien ,19, who it is charged, is serving a sentence of from 30 to 40 years because he looks like Crowley. One convict has already confessed that he and Crowley committed a hold-up in which O'Brien was convicted after being identified as one of the bandits. Crowley has himself will be asked to corroborate the convict's story by Attorney Irving S. Fromer.

Mr. W. Draycott, Montreal, is visiting relatives in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Griffin, Brampton, Mrs. Wm. Bennett of Rockwood of Toronto, were guests of Mrs. C. M. Hall, 24 Everett Street, over the week end.

Mr. Robert C. Brown of the Bank of Commerce staff, Windsor, and Mrs. Brown, are visiting at the home of the cottage of the latter's brother, Dr. O. A. Brown.

Mrs. M. Allen of Carmen, Man., is vacationing in Belleville the guest of her aunt, Mrs. John McDermott.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Faulkner, Cedar Street, have returned home after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Spencer, Queensboro.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Donohoe and family, en route from Rochester, N.Y. spent the week end with friends in the city.

Sergeant and Mrs. Jas. Pannell, Toronto, were the guests over the week end of Mr. and Mrs. P. Pannell en route to Ottawa to attend the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association meet at the Connaught Rangers.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Newby and children, have returned to their cottage in the Whitby Mountains and the eastern states beyond Cobourg, where they spent some weeks together with other members of the American Optical Company.

Mr. Thompson Birch, Baltimore, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Davis has returned to his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Morley Dull and Gardner Dull are spending part of a vacation steamer trip down the St. Lawrence River and to the Saguenay.

Mr. Mark Morton of Thomasburg who has been visiting friends in Belleville returned to his home yesterday.

The season's programme of dances at the Bay of Quinte Country Club this summer has been most successful. Saturday evening's dance was attended by about one hundred and fifty and with music by Tommy Mason's orchestra, the affair, was greatly enjoyed. The popularity of last month's costume dance has been such that another event of this kind has been planned and will be held on the twenty-second of the month.

Mrs. Frank Ferguson, Toronto, is the guest of Mrs. A. F. Stillman, while Mr. Ferguson is recovering from an operation for appendicitis at Belleville General Hospital.

Mr. Charles Ostrom of Baltimore is the guest of his aunt, Mrs. C. W. Davis, George Street with whom he will visit until the first of September.

Weddings

FAIR—WOODCOCK

Married at Huntsville, on Aug. 1, 1931, by Rev. Roy Lawson, Lillian May Woodcock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bogle, to Mr. Edward Fair, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Fair, all of this city. adl-1t

BERTRAND—RIDD

A pretty wedding took place at Victoria Avenue Baptist Church parsonage yesterday when Mrs. Edith Ridd of Belleville was united in bride of Alvin James Bertrand of Campbellford, the ceremony being performed by Rev. A. H. Jones, B.A., B.D.

The bride wore a handsome gown of pale green georgette and radiotone lace with hat to match and carried a bouquet of roses and maiden's hair fern. Miss Jean Dean of Bonarlaw was bridesmaid and her frock was of pale yellow georgette with hat to match.

Mr. Bertrand, Campbellford, Campbellford, assisted the groom.

After the ceremony which was performed in the presence of a large number of close friends, the bride and groom left on a wedding trip to Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls and other cities of interest on Lake Ontario.

When they return they will take up residence at Campbellford.

PALMER—ROSS

A quiet but charming wedding was solemnized at Trinity United Church, Bowmanville, on Saturday, August 8, at high noon, when Edith A. Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Ross, North Bay, was united in marriage to Thomas H. Palmer, also of North Bay. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. J. Blaine in the presence of only immediate relatives. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in turquoise blue silk crepe with large lacy straw hat and wore a corsage of roses, lilies-of-the-valley and ferns. Immediately after the ceremony luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents on Worthington street east. Mr. and Mrs. Palmer left the same day for Montreal and Quebec. Upon their return they will proceed to Port Hope, Belleville, Trenton, Brighton and Winnipeg. They will reside at 53 Worthington street east, North Bay. The bride travelled in smart navy blue ensemble of crepe with a tight-fitting felt hat in shades of brown and eggshell. Many gifts were received.

Mr. Palmer is the proprietor of the Palmer Jewellery Store, Bowmanville and is well known in this city.

GLADIOLI SHOW AWAITS INTEREST

Attracts Entries From All Parts of The Dominion

An important event, not only locally, but nationally and even internationally will be the "Gladioli Show" which opens in Belleville Armouries next Tuesday afternoon. The Canadian Gladiolus Society is an annual event generally held in large centres which attracts the attention of gladioli lovers all over the continent, and the intense interest of the flower lovers generally. Belleville is fortunate in having an opportunity to see this great floral exhibition, for entries are promised from "Coast to Coast" Canada, Manitoba, the Maritime provinces, all parts of Canada, besides the United States and hundreds of dollars will be awarded in prizes.

The show will open Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock with the formal opening. Tuesday evening at eight o'clock.

Hon. W. S. Martin, Minister of Public Welfare in the Ontario Government will formally open the show, assisted by Hon. W. F. Nickle, K.C., of Kingston. A splendid musical program will be rendered under the direction of Mr. Percy Bankhead.

An unusual number of handsome prizes have been donated and will be on display in the window of Angus McPee, jeweller.

DECLARE DIVIDEND

Montreal, Aug. 11.—Directors of the Canada Steamship Lines, Limited, at a meeting here last night declared an eight cents per share preferred dividend of 1, 1-4 per cent. on its ordinary stock. As previously announced, the question of the rate of distribution for the year will depend upon results of the company's operations during the balance of the period.

The usual half-yearly dividend of 50 per cent. was declared on the company's preference stock.

Both dividends are payable Oct. 1 to stockholders of record Sept. 1.

MITCHELL'S MAJ. 2700

Bennett, it was felt generally, failed to appreciate the history of the working people of East Hamilton openly declared. Mr. McLaren's earlier meetings, that they had been "humbugged."

Another factor in today's turnover was the way in which Premier Bennett was felt to have ignored unicratically the interests of East Hamilton, on hand for this large and important riding without representation in the House of Commons during two vital sessions of Parliament. Such treatment most Premier Bennett many votes, irrespective of the identity of his candidate today. "That sort of thing," said many citizens, "is the usual meaning of government, but a form of autocracy and selfish partyism, which East Hamilton has had its first chance we get."

Had Premier Bennett held the Liberal Party well-in-hand under his ter, or even early this spring, there is every reason to believe that a Conservative candidate would have been elected, as the results made to show than was the result of the government's policy.

No Liberal Candidate

Labor also benefited from the fact that the Liberals did not place a candidate in the field, but withdrew their support from Mr. Mitchell as a straight fight between a Conservative and Labor. The vote was actually a two-man fight, despite the fact that Communist votes were distributed at the eleventh hour as an independent Conservative. This is never a dangerous opponent, however, as is indicated by the slim poll of 440 votes he received.

Three Rivers

Charles Marcil, K.C., Conservative, elected over Hon. Wilfrid Gariepy, K.C., Liberal, by a majority of 1,490.

Three Rivers, Que., Aug. 11—By the election of Mr. Marcil to the House of Commons for the constituency of Three Rivers-St. Maurice, Conservatives have won a seat for the first time since 1900. The late Rodolphe Demers, Conservative K.C., whose victor over Hon. Wilfrid Gariepy, K.C., in 1930 was set aside by the court until results from the last of 183 polls had come in.

Both candidates rolled up more than 10,000 votes, a record not thought contest. Early in the evening the lead of the brother of Premier Bourgeois well in the lead, but as the returns from the rural districts became more and more uncertain. At 11 o'clock when Three Rivers had closed, it looked like a Liberal victory. Excitement rose to fever pitch when the first belated report turned in majorities for Mr. Bourgeois.

Late reports indicated the Conservative majority would be cut in Three Rivers by a majority of 972. Mr. Marcil's majority in the Nicolet-Yamaska was reduced to 480 from the former figure of 1,000. Liberals maintained a long lead in Mr. Gariepy's constituency. A few Conservatives in the remotest districts gave Mr. Gariepois his victory at the last minute.

At the general election of July 28, 1930, the Conservatives won Arthur Beltes, Liberal, 14,772 votes. Mr. Demers, Conservative, had 15,933, a majority for the Liberal of 1,161.

Three Rivers-St. Maurice has been held by the Liberals without a break since 1900. The first member was Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who won by a majority of 269 in 1896. From 1900 to 1911 the member was Hon. Jacques Bureau, K.C., formerly Minister of Customs and Inland Revenue. He died in 1925 and 1926 Mayor Arthur Belcourt, Three Rivers, with 10,000 votes of more than 4,000 but the seat fell vacant in the 1926 by-election.

The campaign leading up to the election has been marked by the active participation of several cabinet Ministers. Premier Bennett himself, Hon. Maurice Dupre, Solicitor-General, Hon. Alfred Duplessis, Minister of Mines, both natives of the city. Leading the Liberal forces was Hon. Ernest Lapointe, K.C., formerly Secretary of State in the King cabinet, while the candidate himself, Hon. Wilfrid Gariepy, was once a member of the Alberta Cabinet. Jean Francois Pouliot, K.C., was also member for Temiscouata, also took part on the Liberal side.

Three Rivers, Que. Aug. 11.—"By the election this decision the district of Three Rivers-St. Maurice has condemned the Beauharnois scandal," Charles Marcil, K.C., newly-elected Conservative member of Parliament, declared last night following his election by 251 votes over Hon. Wilfrid Gariepy in a by-election.

Mr. Gariepy could not be reached for a statement, but Liberal members stated they believed recounts would reduce the majority and be wrongly attributed to Mr. Bourgeois, and that the Liberal candidate was elected by 1,000 votes at the official recount, which is to be held next Monday.

"People of Quebec and this county, Mr. Marcil declared, have refused to join with Hon. Mr. King in his attack on the Province of Quebec's institution. The result also signifies the support given by the province to the ministers who represent the Conservative administration in the Bennett cabinet.

gratitude, and to the merit and distinguished effort of Premier Bennett," R. B. Bennett. The electors of the city of Three Rivers have made their choice the campaign of prejudices and lies of the Liberal leaders in this campaign.

At Liberal headquarters it was stated the party questioned very strongly the victory of the Conservative candidate. It was felt that many figures had been reversed in reports to the newspapers. An official recount, which, according to the Liberals, will take place next Tuesday would assure a victory for Mr. Gariepy, headquarters stated.

AIRMEN STILL AMONG MISSING

Have Been Lost Since Sunday in Arctic Wastes

Copenhagen, Denmark, Aug. 11 (AP)—Greenland, the United States airman, and his radio operator, lost since Sunday on a flight between the Shetland Islands and Copenhagen, still were missing today and hope for their safety was ed.

Danish authorities were of the opinion they might have come down in a forced landing on the waves and been blown out to sea by a storm which had raged over the North Sea for several days The regular air mail service over that stretch has been suspended because of the weather.

Captain Riis Lassen, Arctic flier, said they might have been forced far to the south by the storm and drifted out to open sea where it would be difficult to locate them. The water was reported to be choppy and the winds high.

A squadron of Danish seaplanes, aided by several steamers, searched the Kattegat from the southern tip of Denmark to Copenhagen yesterday and another flotilla of Norwegian ships searched the Skagerrack Sea from Oslo to Bergen, but no clues were found.

Forsing Air Route

Cramer and Oliver Parquette left Copenhagen several weeks ago without announcing their destination and then turned up in Greenland to chart an airmail route for Danish Air Lines, Copenhagen to the Faroe Islands and the Shetlands, which left Copenhagen Sunday morning and were last heard from Sunday.

"Nobody can be unlucky three times in a row." That was Parquette's unconcerned answer when he took off from the Detroit River on May 29, 1930, for a flight which he plans an air trail across the northern half of the globe.

Friends among Detroit airmen and aviation officials, last night, while Cramer and Oliver Parquette, Canadian aviator, remained missing, sought along the coast of Norway and Denmark, that their faith in the two adventurous Arctic flights had not confided to them at the National Aeronautic Association, in the initiative plans for a third attempts.

HARVEST IN FULL SWING

Grain Yields Below Expectations Due to Rapid Maturing

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 11.—(By The Canadian Press)—Harvesting is in full swing throughout Southern Ontario this week with wheat, barley and oats being cut. According to the weekly crop report of the Department of Agriculture, which has delayed haying in some sections and farmers are pressed with various tasks which should be accomplished before harvesting, only a good crop is anticipated in a number of districts.

Grain yields have not come up to expectations, the report said, rapid maturing caused by heat in Grenville, Dundas, Brock, Lincoln and other counties. Dufferin reports numerous grasshoppers in the staples and Simcoe reports that the cut yield almost one-third. Essex and Middlesex counties are concerned with wheat averaging 40 bushels to the acre and some fields threshing as high as 50 bushels. Tomatoes are plentiful in Essex, Hastings and Prince Edward, but prices are very low.

Three Transients Ordeje to Leave

"Every little bit added to what you have makes a little bit more." This apparently is the theory upon which Belleville's transients were working when arrested by Constable Tobin yesterday morning. Complaints had been received by the police that these men were accosting people on Pinnacle street and Constable Tobin was instructed by Constable Thompson found the men going along Bridge street.

One of the party was carrying a paper bag and when questioned by the constable said the bag contained groceries. Upon taking a look, the constable found the bag contained a dozen eggs and all of the police station the men gave their names as Frank Ferrell, Montreal; Alex. McAllister, Vancouver and Wm. Robertson, "no home."

This morning they were ordered to leave town at once.

WANTED ON CHARGE OF STEALING SHEEP

Brampton, Ont., Aug. 11.—(By The Canadian Press)—The stealing of a Shelgroves heifer, who strayed from the herd, and two rams, as well as three men who had been working for Robert Price and Whitney Goodfellow on theft charges. The car with its mired cargo, broke down near Shelgroves after a trip from Owen Sound. Police investigated and found the three men and the animals. Dissatisfied with the report that the sheep had gone on to Toronto, they searched the car and the men. Inquiry revealed they are wanted in Owen Sound on a charge of stealing the animals.

FIST FIGHTS ARE AIRED IN COURT

Janitors Job Vacant and Donnybrook Results

Ottawa, Ont. Aug. 11—Fist fights including a dozen by Edmund Bird, most prominent citizens Saturday night had its sequel in police court yesterday when Harold Wilson, 25, was fined $10 for assaulting Bohdan Korsa, and Wilson and three others were remanded until Saturday on charges of assaulting Chief of Police Richard Mansion. It all began with an application over the appointment of a public school janitor, a post for which Korsa and Councillor Robert Wilson are candidates. Starting in a small way, the donnybrook involved more and more members of the Wilson and Korsa families, until the Montreal and Eastview police were summoned. It was filled with the town's elite, either accepting or looking on. Chief Mansion attempted the role of peacemaker and emerged with a black eye, Councillor Wilson of a tawa stopped the fight. Councillor Wilson, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Korsa, Councillor Ernest Scharfe, and Edward Wilson are charged with the Councillor's sons, are those charged with assaulting the chief.

Price of Labrador To Bs $110,000,000

Ottawa, Aug. 11.—Labrador is understood to be in the market for sale at a price approximately $110,000,000.

The government of Newfoundland it is reported, is willing to grant a lease for 99 years of the territory comprising 76,000,000 acres, including timber, minerals, water power and all surface rights, with the exception only of Hamilton River and Newfoundland, it is stated, will further protect its rights in the lease to dispose of the sovereignty of the territory in favor of any foreign government. The price for such lease and option is $110,000,000. There is also a proposal afoot of taking over the bonded indebtedness of Newfoundland, amounting to $90,000,000, and to pay the balance of $20,000,000 in cash to the government of Newfoundland. This latter proposition, it is stated, would in various sums spread over a period from 1933 to 1951.

Ownership of Labrador was awarded to Newfoundland in 1927 by the Privy Council following a long legal dispute with the Dominion of Canada. Negotiations over the matter, it is learned, has been received by the Canadian Government.

HERE COMES THE BRIDE

The most festive occasion that Sangia, Rumania, has known in many years was that when the marriage of Princess Ileana of Rumania, daughter of Queen Marie of Rumania, first of the Hapsburg line to marry a Hohenzollern, was celebrated at the Palace of Peleah, summer home of the Rumanian royal family. FLIGHT

by B. Earnest Wilson

Frank Wheeler's painstaking, methodical pen signed the last letter. He laid it on the neat pile in the right hand basket and, presently his stenographer came and took the basket away.

The day's work was finished in the big general office of Carter and Gibson, but Frank sat on at the desk looking out of the window, staring blankly for seven years, oblivious of the late afternoon bustle of clerks and stenographers hurrying to their homes. Seven years of his life, seven years of twelve years he had been with the firm, and he had never missed a day, never failed. For three months now he had been asking himself this question, had been trying desperately to find some way to help life over this long depression, to make himself more valuable, to show some initiative. Initiative! That was what he needed. A plodder! That was his trouble.

He wouldn't mind if it were not for Clara, sweet, loyal Clara, who had encouraged him when other women, younger men, had been promoted over his head; even when Kelly's salary kept advancing, while his stood still.

Now the one word "retrench" pervaded the whole business. The shipping department was at work, the sales men, one by one, stenographers, filing clerks, bookkeepers, had been laid off, and Frank knew he had reached the higher salaried men. Would it be his turn next?

And yesterday it had been Dugan. Where he and Dugan had been chums out of Carter's office with his head bowed, Frank had gone to Carter's own office for his hat and coat, and to get his salary. He had wondered when a man like Carter was dreading what would it feel to have to hunt a job?

An office boy came across the hall to his desk, called him sharply and quickly.

Then Carter wished to see you. She but he was called away. He asked you to report on Dugan first thing in the morning."

The words had fallen!

Frank sat staring at nothing long after the boy had gone, his head in the blank wall of a lobless future.

Then he had gone home to tell Clara, how could he? He couldn't! Couldn't admit to her that he had failed, that he was finished, that at all these years. He couldn't face her.

His head was throbbing cold, and he had splashed up his spine, his hands were shaking.

The old janitor was coming to-ward him. Frank looked at him with envied him. Tobin would not lose his job. He was necessary.

He got up, shaking.

"Yes, Tobin, I seem to—to be having a chill," he said apologetically.

Wheeler went straight to bed. He must have taken cold—he was chilling—his head was bursting—no, he couldn't have a doctor—he all right in the morning.

But in the morning he drew the covers more closely about him, burrowed more deeply into the pillows. He couldn't get up, he told Clara, he couldn't quit this infernal shaking—he must be ill with that scene in Carter's office anyway? Why let the other employees see him going out as he had seen Graber? If he were ill—

No, he didn't need a doctor—he would be all right—nothing but a cold—a little touch of flu, perhaps—he would soon be well—he needed now to keep warm.

Forty-three days after day, shaking at the very thought of getting up, Frank wondered how he would ever have the courage to face things again—where would he look for a job? Who would hire him? Clara? She would think they put someone in his place because he was ill, how would be angry, of course, but she wouldn't know to know he would

Robinson Treaty Under Discussion

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 11 (CP) — Mission destruction of wild life game of Ontario, allegedly committed by Indian residents, was the subject of a meeting here yesterday of the Provincial Game Board, it was announced by Hon. W. D. Black and officials of the Federal government of Indian affairs.

Th 80c-year-old Robinson treaty under which Indians receive certain exclusive hunting and fishing rights was discussed at the meeting and also possible steps in the event of the treaty ever being set aside.

No statement was issued to the press following the meeting, but the problems of wild life conservation and the relation of the Indian to it will be considered again at a second conference of Provincial and Federal officials later this year at Ottawa.

It is understood majority opinion at the meeting favored some arrangement being made, however, if possible sacrifice their old treaty-privileges for new privileges to be fixed and stated hunting and trapping area in the area north of the line of the Transcontinental Railway.

Increased Trade With Japan Is Forecast

Toronto, Aug. 11 (CP)—Increased Canadian trade with Japan is foreseen by Hon. Herbert M. Marler, Canadian Minister to Japan. Here as the guest of Hon. Nevelon Howell, Ont. Attorney-General, Mr. Canada could supply a total of $455,811,000 of the $800,000,000 imports to China, of which Canada only sent $18,000,000 to that country.

As a result of a conference with Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister and Hon. Herbert Ames, Minister of Trade and Commerce, it was decided to study Canada's present trade organization in China. Hon. Canadian commissioner will be guest speaker at a Board of Trade luncheon tomorrow.

Narrow Escape Made From Ferocious Bull

Milton, Ont., Aug. 11.—(By The Canadian Press)—Caught in a ferocious bull, George Leslie, treasurer of Esquesing Township, had a narrow escape from being killed or fore—on his way home from work and ed him as he was crossing a field on a farm near here. He dodged it with a large stone at it. The stone struck the bull between the eyes and dazed it. Mr. Leslie then made a dash for the fence but the bull was chased again by the infuriated animal. Dropping his dinner pail, he eluded its charge and managed to crawl through a hole in the safety before it was able to catch him.

PRESIDENT HOOVER APPRECIATES ADVERTISING

"Advertising has played an important part in raising our standard of living, in stimulating invention, and in maintaining competition."

Herbert Hoover, President of the United States, is not only executive head of that great nation, but he is a world-wide figure as well, not only for his activities in the great world war centreing in relief work in Europe, but for his experiences in almost every country under the sun in his profession of mining engineer. Consequently as a world-wide observer of cause and effect he knew whereof he spoke when he made the above statement. Commenting on this Edward Orleans, in the New York Herald, says:

"Through the efforts of the artist on canvas we see the glories of nature. Corot and Turner furnish us eye-glasses whereby we are enabled the better to visualize the beauties of a gorgeous sunset. The etching tools of Whistler have helped to make even the rubbish of a water front a treat to the untrained eye.

"By the same token, it is only through the desire of possession, created by advertising, that the standard of living has been raised in America.

"The average family in this country today enjoys more luxuries than Louis the Sixteenth, who made sometimes of a balance of himself in France from 1774 to 1793, ever dreamed of, even in his most inspired moments.

"Through the suggestion of advertising the average citizen is encouraged to demand the better things of life, and through advertising—and perhaps the importunities of his wife and children—he is stimulated to work harder for these.

"And because advertising and the tremendous volume of business it develops are so highly competitive scientists, designers and inventors are constantly at work creating new articles, new forms, new models in an effort to improve the quality or enhance the beauty of the product advertised.

"Without advertising, human progress so far as the arts and th ethousand and one things that contribute to human welfare and happiness are concerned, would be curtailed 50 per cent.

"In these hustling days everyone should read advertising. For it conveys believable information of immense value. And any statements that are overexaggerated or untruthful soon die a natural death.

"The advertising pages of every newspaper and periodical constitute the country's 'show window.' Take an interest in them. You may be missing something very vital and helpful if you don't."

BOMBING A CONCRETE BRIDGE

And not in the war either. A perfectly good North Carolina bridge, in the piping times of peace, was smashed up with bombs by the State Highway Commission and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

And no one did anything about it. The reason was that the bridge was to be submerged by water backed up by a new dam, and it was thought that blowing up was a more heroic end than drowning.

Besides, quite a bit of information about bomb-attacks on bridges resulted, says Capt. George C. Kennedy, U. S. Air Corps in Civil Engineering (New York, June) organ of the American Society of Civil Engineers:

"A unique opportunity was presented to make study of destruction on a modern reenforced concrete arch bridge. Due to changes in the hydraulic use of the Yadkin River, North Carolina, the bridge was to be inundated in the reservoir formed in the development of the river. A new higher level bridge replaced the structure.

"This unprecedented opportunity for large-scale tests was eagerly seized by engineers. Experimental work proceeded under the joint auspices of the North Carolina Highway Commission and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

"After experimental tests had been concluded, the Air Corps was assigned one third of the bridge as a target, and the remainder was to be destroyed by artillery fire and by statically exploded charges of high explosive. Most of the damage was done by three 1,100-pound bombs which destroyed four approach spans and displaced a river pier sufficiently to tear the deck loose. This illustrates a typical line-of-communication target for the Air Corps."

THE YEAR'S REFRAIN
By Aline Michaelis

Three songs there are that ever ring
Across the flying years;
Three songs that singers all must sing
To mirror mirth and tears.

Sometimes with laughter shrill and sweet,
Sometimes with awestruck breath,
These songs all singers must repeat,
Of life and love and death.

Of life they sing that evermore
Across the wide Earth's face
Spreads bud and bloom from shore to shore
In known and secret place.

Of love that lends to life its bliss,
That brightens darkened ways
And with the magic of its kiss
Turns storm to sun-sweet days.

And then of death who brings release
From sorrow, care and pain;
Three songs are these that never cease
Through all the world's refrain.

"HOT ENOUGH FOR YOU" has passed into the discard to be succeeded by "Chilly, isn't it?" Now folks complain of the heat and then kick about the beautiful cool weather. Seems though they wouldn't be happy without something to kick about.

SETH PARKER says that anyone talking about depression after this will be branded as crepe-hangers. Seth figures tahat the more talk there is about depression the more depression there will be, and he is dead right. Folks you hear talking about depression are generally those who have a fixed income and are not touched by any fluctuations of trade or employment. However, they talk depression, then they think depression, and begin to stop spending, thus starting a depressing influence which has its effect on others. Everything is now set for the greatest wave of proseprity the world has ever known, according to shrewd observers, but it is best that this wave should be slow and steady, rather than swift and feverish, lest people lose their heads again and make a mess of prosperity. In the meantime it is up to every level headed citizen to so conduct himself that no one can hang the title "crepe-hanger" on him.

THE ROAD TO PROSPERITY

The farmer sells a load of wheat
And all the world grows fair and sweet
He hums a couple of cheerful tunes
And pays the grocer for the prunes.
The grocer who has had the blues
Now buys his wife a pair of shoes
That ten to the tailoman thinks God sent
And buys and pays it on the rent.
Next day the rent man hands the bill
To Dr. Carver for a pill
And Dr. Carver tells his frau
That business is improving now
And cheers her up and says, "My dear,
You've been quite feeble for a year,
I'm thinking you should have a rest.
You'd better take a trip out west."
And in a couple of days his frau
Is on the farm of Joshua Howe.
She pays her board to Farmer Howe,
Who takes the bill and says, "I swow
Here's something that can't be beat,
This is the bill I got for wheat!"
He hums a couple of cheerful tunes
And goes and buys a lot more prunes.

Letters to the Editor

PRAYERS FOR RAIN

The Editor, Ontario Intelligencer:

Sir,—Do we in the city know that the country is drying up for want of rain? We make the proper petition but not congratulate ourselves that we have water available, but what of the farmer and his stock outside? Do we know that the water from the city is not sufficient? A gentleman who has a fine vegetable garden told me he could not it daily but that it did not seem to do much good. I asked him why and he said he could not understand, as I could him the reason was that every drop of rain from above on its way down became loaded with debris from the air and fell on plant life which we must have to have a good crop. Consequently we are dependant on God for this blessing and must ask Him for it. What is the reason our spiritual pastors have not made use of the prayer for rain in the Prayer Book were such a petition is provided and independant to ask for this blessing? I fear so, because I seem to be the only lonely one for church members to stay away from God's House during the hot days of September, the three months when rain is needed and if we do occasionally we who spend dollars each week on everything and other pleasures and luxuries, put a sickle or a dime on the collection plate and sing, "All Things Come of Thee O Lord," and "Our Thanks and Praise We Given Thee." If we do not get a real two or three days' soaking rain next week will end the crop.

Yours truly,
D. R. ACKERSILL, V.S.

P.S.—Not only should there be public prayers for rain but each and every individual when saying their prayers at bedtime should ask for rain.

Zion s Hill

Zion HILL, Aug. 11.—Stooks threshing is the order of the day among the farmers on this line and the grain is reported to be turning out a fair crop this year.

Little Miss Irene Ketcheson gave a very delightful party to a number of her little school friends on Tuesday.

Mrs. G. Poste of West Huntingdon spent a few days this week visiting her daughters, Mrs. Tufts and Mrs. Lorne Brough.

Miss Olive Thrasher is spending a week visiting her friend, Miss Evelyn Bedell of Bellleville.

Mrs. Nellie Sloan visited Mrs. Myron Hawley one day this week.

Little Miss Jean Bell had a very nice birthday party at her home on Wednesday. A number of her schoolmates were invited and all spent a very happy time.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Roblin of Belleville spent an evening last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Thrasher.

Stirling

STIRLING—The Stapley Clan met for the fifth year on Wednesday, Aug. 5th, 1931 and at Oak Lake with an attendance of about one-hundred and eighty. Mention was made of those who had died since the last gathering, Mrs. Arthur Tufts of Tweed, Mr. Bill Tufts of Hungerford and Mr. Jack Thrasher of Belleville, all sorely missed.

A sumptuous dinner was provided to which all did ample justice after names of absentees were indulged in by the younger folk, while the older ones spent the time in reminiscing.

Mrs. Isabel Stapley of Deseronto won the prize for the oldest person present and Mr. Russell Stapley's baby girl, three weeks old was the youngest personage there.

Mrs. Ella Stapley Skinner of Edmonton, Alta., came the longest distance to be present and was given a fountain pen.

Mrs. S. Stapley had the largest number of grandchildren, thirty-three in number, we are told, and Mrs. Palmatier of Tweed had the largest family, thirteen in number and all present at the reunion.

A great deal of the success of the splendid day is due to the indefatigable efforts of Mr. Sid Stapley the president and Mrs. Howard Clark of Campbellford, Sec.-Treasurer.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are: President, Mr. Stanley Tufts of Tweed; Sec. Treas.—Mrs. Howard Clark of Campbellford.

It has been proposed to meet at Oak Lake next year probably the first week in July.

Thursday night was the regular meeting of the Institute, the President Mrs. A. Shaw and three or four others attended but were unable to proceed with the program except some discussion and etc.

Mrs. M. J. McDivitt of North Bay is visiting her sister, Mrs. A. E. Dobbie.

Mr. J. F. Johnston a former bank manager here renewed old acquaintances here on Tuesday.

Masters Douglas and George Dercohe of Monireal returned on Wednesday after spending their holidays with their aunt, Mrs. A. Hammond.

Messrs. Jack and Harry Black of Montreal and Mr. and Mrs. Byrne Black, Napanee are spending their holidays with their sister, Mrs. Jas. Ralph at Oak Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Reynolds, Mrs. Nora Wenzel and Mrs. Nna Morton nepent Wednesday afternoon at Moira Lake.

Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Walt, Cecil and Margaret have returned from a motor trip through Quebec and New York State, visiting Calhoun Power Plant, the Beauharnois Plant, Montreal Harbor and were present at a session of Parliament in Ottawa which was most interesting and also a revelation to the visitors, seeing the peace tower.

At the home and home soft ball game held on Friday night at Chisholm's between the Bethel and Glenross of the Rawdon soft ball league resulted in Bethel 14 to 5 in favor. Altho we understand the required number of innings were unable to be played owing to the approaching darkness but the score was 14 to 5 in favor of Bethel. The next game will be played on Monday night in Stirling.

Mr. Thos. Spry's family are Camping up at Oak Lake this week.

Dr. Jack Shea and his bride of Belleville, U.S.A. are occupying J. H Belshaw's cottage at Oak Lake.

FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES

Now it is Almost Clear—and Her Health is Better

It needed courage to make this admission: "My face was covered with pimples," but evidently this woman sympathizes with others who suffer the embarrassing condition which troubled her.

She wrote to us entirely of her own volition, and without solicitation—out of sheer gratitude and a desire to help others. This is the letter which we have on our files:—

"Some time ago my sister recommended me to try Kruschen Salts for my blood, as my face was covered with pimples. I am now using my second bottle, and I am delighted with the results. My face is almost clear and I feel better in health. I have advised several of my friends to give it a trial, as I want them to benefit the same as I have done. You are at liberty to publish this, as I cannot be too generous in my praise of Kruschen Salts."—W. C. J.

Pimples, sores and blackheads are caused by a rundown, disordered system, by those harmful acids and toxins which our own bodies break out. So if you want swiftly to rid yourself of ugly, disfiguring complexion and to obtain beautiful, smooth and soft skin—take Kruschen Salts.

Kruschen Salts are a perfect blend of the six vital salts which nerves, glands, blood and body organs ought to receive from food if they are to work properly—but it's simply impossible to obtain these salts in these days of modern cooking!

Kruschen provides just that gentle assistance your body organs need to rid your system regularly of all clogging waste matter. When your bodily health is clean and sweet your cheeks through your veins pure and unpoisoned, then no pimple or boil . . . feel it. Your clear complexion and your brighter eyes will tell you. And your persistently high spirits prove it.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 65c. and 75c. per bottle.

GOODYEAR TIRES Selected Dealer

CANADA'S MOST Successful TIRE DEALERS

They are the Only Dealers Who Sell the Tires Selected by 49.29% of Motorists Participating in a Nation-Wide Vote

MORE people go to Goodyear dealers for tires than to dealers for any other brand. Why? Because Goodyear dealers sell the tires most people want. Because Goodyear dealers sell the kind of service most people want. Because Goodyear dealers have a Goodyear-built-and-guaranteed tire for every purpose. Because Goodyear dealers offer prices as low as tire - rocking only cap-sified on one-sixth or one-tenth the vote that Goodyears received, when thousands of Canadian motorists were asked "If you were buying a tire today, what make would you buy?"

When one make of tire is so popular in 21 major cities combined, wouldn't it be a good tire for you to know all about? And the best place to find out about Tires is from Goodyear Selected Dealers—where you see more customers than dealers in any other brand.

IT GOES EVERYWHERE does the frock of dark brown lace, for it is smart and does not sell easily. A new evening frock of dark brown lace has a cascade necklace with a deep self-ruffle. Large dark red and brown flower creates one shoulder strap and the skirt has diagonal flounces.

IT'S SMART TO BE ROMANTIC bulging by the new millinery fashions. For instance there's a hat of dark brown lace straw with a brim edging of matching hair braid. This is trimmed with a feather of pink with fronds of dark brown ostrich set into it. The feather is placed under the crown of the hat and another small pink plume is set beneath the brim.

YOU MAY BE RUFFLED this season, sincerely every frock has a ruffle or two somewhere. Smart is a frock of flat crepe printed in pink, blue green and yellow flower design. It has short ruffled sleeves and a deep ruffled jabot.

WE ARE ALL HAPPY that the brimmed hat is with us again both for formal and informal wear. For afternoon wear there is a large brimmed hat of brown lacy hair trimmed with a brown ostrich plume placed across the back of the crown. The brim is worked back to form a most attractive line to the face.

IT HELPS THE GAME if one gets golf smartly dressed. A most useful outfit is a skirted heavy navy tweed with a tuck-in blouse of white sharkskin over which has sleeves slashed on the outer side. With this is worn a little brimmed blue felt hat with a white quill.

THERE ARE TIMES when one just must have a plain evening frock. Shown recently was a magnificent frock of ivory satin with a diagonal band of black for reaching from the side front waist to the arm in line of the shoulder seam. Tiny white flowers outlined the deep black diagonal band and the same flowers mounted on black velvet made the girdle.

The Beauty Box

Let no man curl up his nose scornfully because the wife of his bosom comes in chasing beauty rainbows. When the time does arrive that his wife may also be, he will catch the fever, fall for anything that promises to stop the moulting, fill in the space. Men were the first ones to wear high heels; did it to make them look tall. And the heels were covered with red leather, the gay dogs! Roman gentlemen in the time of the Empire had their beauteous whiskers arranged in flat curls. Some line (and I mean fluid and covered their chin lamb-repairs with hot Shave Stick principle as the permanent wave. They beat us to it.

That hanging, down-in-the-mouth expression digs in horrid lines extending from nostrils to lip corners. No good selling the cosmetics as long as muscles drag. Frowning is responsible for lines between the eyes, squinting for rarr around them. Many wrinkles are self-induced. The cure for all is a night-cream massage and a positive facial treatment once a week, sweet disposition, good groceries three times a day, plenty of sleep, mouth cold water applied to the skin.

For a quick pick-up after a busy day and before the evening party, soak in a hot bath, rub the skin surface all over the body with alcohol. Bathe eyes first with hot water, then with cold; mix down to ten minutes and the eyes covered with gauze which has been dipped in: a solution of boric acid, one teaspoonful to a cup of water.

Don't overlook elbows. Rub them with lemon, coil over and dry them. At least once a day scrub well with a brush and soap and hot water. For the gala occasion, when the grand evening frock is worn, powder the elbows with brunette powder. Elbows are hinges. Seldom pretty.

When archink eyebrows, tweeze from the under line unless they are thick and bushy in which event they must be thinned on both edges and finished down with brilliantine applied with an eyebrow brush.

There are complexions that belong to the touch-me-not variety, are as temperamental as prima donnas. Sometimes the tantrums when they come in contact with soap and water. Some kick up a row over cold cream. Others are just stubbornly rough and disorderly. These maddening skins will usually accept oatmeal as a cleanser. They grow mild and amiable when petted with tragacanth lotions that are sold in all drug stores as solacements for chapped hands. Complexions can be as finicky as delicate digestive organs. They demand the right kind of cosmetics.

Considering that Mr. Sun vitalizes us with his ultra violet rays, and is a popular hot lines days, it is scarcely fair to cast say restrictions upon him. Yet it is just as well to protect the complexion, hands and hair from his ardent kisses. Light brown hair, especially, won't stand too much sunlight; it burns and bleaches into an unbecoming drab, and blonde hair takes on a dullness that is no beauty asset.

It is doubtful if cold creams and other oily cosmetics are responsible for blackheads. Blackheads and beards-lit suddenly appear upon women's faces. Superfluous hair comes to those whose parents have the misfortune of hair. There are various means of destroying the undignity growths; no woman need endure them long.

Nine hours sleep are necessary if a girl is to awaken rested and refreshed, ready to tackle the day's activities. It is during sleep that the body makes repairs, builds up cells, sends away waste products, gets set for the next day's work. No sense trying to get along without plenty of rest. The list includes dull eyes, dull spirits, lack-lustre skin, a complexion that is grey and lonely.

NOTES OF THANKS

DEAR MRS. BEECHAM:

There has been a death in the family and I am unable to compose a satisfactory note of thanks for the sympathy and flowers given. Also for the kindness shown by the lodge members. The minister came in the evening, which is unusual and not the custom, and I want to show my appreciation for his wonderful sermon in some way.

Will you please help me?

SYMPATHY.

The notes thanking for the notes of sympathy and for the flowers as well as expressions of sympathy might read something like this:

Dear Mrs. Brown.

It was most kind of you to send us such a friendly note of sympathy and understanding, and we are all most grateful to you for the kindness. The roses too were most beautiful, and again brought to us an impression of your deep friendliness. Thank you so much.

Very sincerely yours,

To the clergyman who was so kind you might write:

Dear Mr. Smythe:

Your exceptional kindness to us during these dark days through which we have been, touched us more than I can tell you. We prize so highly your thoughtful, so wonderfully courteous and understanding made everything much easier to bear, and our hearts are full of deepest appreciation and thanks. The beautiful words of your fine sermon were most helpful, and the memory of them will always be one of our treasured possessions. We all thank you, from the bottom of our hearts.

Most Sincerely yours,

ARTIST OF ROCKIES DIES

Kamloops, B. C.—Charles John Collings, 81, known as the artist of the Rockies," died on Saturday at his home on Seymour Arm, Shuswap Lake, 50 miles east of here. He was born in Devonshire, Eng., and came to British Columbia 30 years ago. A widow and two sons survive. The body has been forwarded to Vancouver for cremation.

SALADS SIMPLE BUT SMART

By Barbara Wing

The salad is appearing most frequently with a French dressing. To be quite right, French dressing must be seasoned to your taste. No law can be laid down giving the exact proportions even of the oil and vinegar. Three to one is merely a safe average, and even though you cannot better the classic seasoning, you can alter it occasionally. You can add mustard to your vinegar, in which case the quantity of oil must be increased; you can work the yolks of hard boiled eggs into your dressing, scattering the chopped whites over the finished salad. A dash of Worcestershire or so adds piquancy and, in addition, with endive, like the French countryside, cream and lemon juice often take the place of oil and vinegar. Shallots and spring onions and even nasturtium leaves can take the place of chives.

Endive and Orange

Wash the endive and cut each stalk in two. Peel two oranges very thinly to remove the yellow rind. Then completely. Slice the peeled figs or rind, and cut to fine straws. Place in cold water, bring to a boil and boil three minutes, to take away the bitter taste. Drain and cool. Next, with a sharp paring knife, cut the skin off the dry orange away from the bitter inner skin in slices. Mix one half a teaspoonful of mustard and a teaspoonful of thick cream; season with salt and cayenne pepper, and what ever orange juice has escaped in the cutting add. Put the endive and endive in a bowl, pour the seasoned cream over and toss and mix thoroughly. Sprinkle the top with the strips of orange rind and serve. This salad is excellent particularly with cold duck, goose or game.

Cucumber and Egg

Peel the cucumbers and quarter them lengthwise. Cut in fairly crosswise, slice them thin and salt them liberally. Let them stand an hour, then pour off the water given up by the cucumbers. Add fresh water over them to remove any excess of salt and drain them on a clean cloth. Have ready three hard cooked eggs. Mix the cucumbers of two or them with the dressing of oil and vinegar and pour over the cucumbers. Arrange in a salad shaves, sprinkle the top with the two whites of the eggs chopped fine. Finish with the remaining egg cut in quarters.

Hearts of Palm

Arrange hearts of palm on lettuce leaves, the smallest and crispest. Squeeze a few drops of lemon with lemon juice, mix with it two tablespoonfuls more of lemon asparagus tips, cooked and pressed through a sieve. Pour over your salad and serve.

Tomato Salad

Take as many hearts of artichokes canned in oil as you have persons. Arrange each heart upright over them. Dress one or two heads of lettuce with oil and vinegar the crispest leaves, with a thin mayonnaise, well seasoned with mustard. Arrange the lettuce in a bowl and on it place the hearts of artichokes. Cover each with a slice of tomato. Slice the egg fine, likewise cut to a round. Serve immediately.

"Fashionably Speaking" By Lucille

More fashion excerpts from Paris sayings tell us say tidings. They say that:

"Madeleine Vionnet's attractive collection continues her typical silhouette emphasizing the bust and lengthening the torso by the hips, then slightly flaring. Her combinations of colors and fabrics are important. Dark coats and light dress are shown in ensembles. Some coats are straight-belted, but the majority are belting and indented at the waist, featuring big, fur collars and cross in front, encircle the throat and fasten in back.

"Many Vionnet sports ensembles have thin Jersey frocks and corduroy velvet coats. Flat crepe boleros with shining satin skirts are featured for evening. Supple even flowing gowns have cowl-draped fronts of baroque bodices. Deep underarm décolletages, backless, except for crossed straps, is featured in velvet and from fabric evening gowns and many sweeping evening pyjamas.

"Shaded effects continue in rainbow sacre chiffons and velvet evening gowns, cut in graduating shades from dark at the top to light at the hem. Full length evening coats are slightly bloused and belted at the front, wrapping the body and fastened on the left hip. Three-quarter evening gowns in contrasting colored silks are interesting.

"Small flat fur purse muffs with red fastening are amusing Vionnet accessories. Many pale colors are used by Vionnet. Mustard yellow and dark cherry reds are notable for day. Pastel evening frocks are dark purple, with black, white or scarlet evening coats. Crepes, satins and lycra velvet are favored for dressy wear.

"The London trade's simple flan net suits are popular with the buyers. Longer jackets, trimmed with wide revers of embroidered wool Jersey, are notable, the same Jersey being used for blouse or dress. Divided skirts are favored for day.

"Normal Hartnell shows only perfectly fitting, narrow skirts, and coats are favored. Some waist lines are slightly lowered. Fine showing. A dress-and coat for all-over pattiolets is unusual.

"Germaine Lecomte favors 1830 sleeves in sleeves with ruche ings for afternoon. Many sports suits have divided skirts. Color contrasts are stressed for evening.

"Martial et Armand show many attractive trimmed dresses, straight in line, belted or bellless. Coats simulating jacket suits are notable. Fox trimmed velvet coats of two thirds length are favored for afternoon and evening. All white wraps are capelike. Martial et Armand, Long late afternoon gowns of velvet or georgette are successful."

Fashionably yours,

LUCILLE.

MARION DAVIES IN FANNIE HURST STORY "FIVE AND TEN"

The Fannie Hurst best-seller, "Five and Ten", serves as the latest starring vehicle for Marion Davies and will be shown at the Capitol Theatre on Tuesday and Thursday. Besides the star, Leslie Fenton and Miss Davies' supporting cast includes such stage and screen names as Leslie Howard, Irene Rich, Richard Bennett, Kent Douglass and Mary Duncan.

It will be a decided change for Miss Davies from the role of the Fannie Hurst heroine who is a far cry from the "flapper" characters usually portrayed by the Metro-Goldyn-Mayer actress. The many who have read the story will recall that it is an interesting account of the attempt of the family of a five-and-ten-cent store baron to achieve happiness despite the barriers of New York social snobishness.

Money is Handicap

The attractive daughter is tolerated by the "400" because "she's rich" only because of her father's millions. When she falls in love with a poor but social-register architect, it would be money and his social standing would be a perfect combination. Alas, however, it is not to be, and all that, and the girl discovers somewhat late that her greatest handicap when she is "buying" him.

This is expected to be Miss Davies' most ambitious picture and report is no expense was spared in equipping it with the most elaborate grounds, twenty-two different settings being necessary for the many local action.

The enjoyment of the program is enhanced by the exhibition of an entertaining array of entertainment including Chester Conklin in, "The 18th Alarm," the popular Metro-Movietone News and the amusing "chute" of important happenings in the British Empire and Fatty Jones demonstrates "The Spoon" and other grand shots that have made him the crowned King of Golf.

LUKAS AND BOARDMAN IN "WOMEN LOVE ONCE"

Paramount has correctly sensed the public taste for Paul Lukas' effective acting.

In his newest company has placed him in the most significant role of his career in "Women Love Once", the romantic drama which opens before a large audience at the Belle Theatre today.

Paul Lukas can act. That is the outstanding impression left with him after visiting the Belle Theatre. Today he is seen in a role studied his work, knows it well—and he handles his part with ease.

In addition, Lukas has an engaging personality with that "certain something" of itself, enough to fascinate the thousands who flit their leisure hours before the silver screen.

"Women Love Once" is tense, absorbing stuff.

It is the story of a happy family whose placid contentment is all but dispelled by the force of world-wide depression.

Lukas is seen as the artist husband who, with his friend, Mercer Boardman, and their four-year old daughter, Jean Parker, enjoy a peaceful existence in a big city. His life secretly is spied upon by Juliette Compton, wealthy society patroness of things artistic, who covets his skill. When his picture is exhibited at the Compton home, Mrs. Compton's interest in him becomes so overwhelming that he can qualify for a highly lucrative job painting her portrait.

Boardman has no misgivings about the trip; in fact she urges Paul to take the job, pointing out the hope that it will result in a richer future for them all.

But when Mrs. Compton—Paul is a changed man. He has gone "go-go-ing" with his job and has no time for his wife and child is chilled by a fate for the best and worst in the artist's life.

Mrs. Compton's home.

"Tears Idle Tears" is played by her husband— and Paul is threatened with scandalous disgrace when another event, equally tragic, occurs. Paul's and Eleanor's lives, bringing them to the breaking point.

"Women Love Once" also gives Eleanor Boardman a chance to come to "connect" with the public as a talking picture star. She doesn't miss the chance. Her enactment of the wife and mother role in this picture is a revelation of the young woman's round of acting.

Little Marilyn Jean Parker will melt your heart away. She is an adorable child actress.

All in all, "Women Love Once" is a great talkie. It should be seen at the Belle Theatre as it is being exhibited for the last time.

MARY PICKFORD IN ROGUISH ROLE

A suppressed, a new, a roguish Mary Pickford comes into life in the title role of "Kiki" which opens tonight at the Capitol theatre and plays on Wednesday.

Kiki is the type of part Mary Pickford has always longed to play. Few people knew it. Only her, most intimate friends knew or were aware of the mischievous bent that urged the star to play the saucy-the harum-scarum rascal personified by Kiki.

Millions remember and love her for the superb performances she gave in "Tess of the Storm Country", "My best Girl" and the exquisite little girl portrayals in an unbroken chain of success that established as "America's Sweetheart."

But with talking pictures, Mary Pickford has undergone a metamorphosis. She has grown up. She's a young woman who looks at things from the adult point of view. Her characters live for admiration, adequacy, romance. "Coquette" was the first of her new series. Here was the little innocent with the golden curls in an entirely different characterization. There was a maidenly charm and a ruggedness that was quite irresistible, and a flirtatiousness that at once made Miss Pickford one of the outstanding romantic figures of the screen.

"Kiki" is a combination of the new Mary Pickford and the one of the silent days. She is an adorable little spitfire, a creature of moods, caprices, emotions. There still remains the childhood dependence and trust, the allin joy that has characterized the former pleasure.

"Kiki" presents a Mary Pickford the public has never seen the screen before.

The picture was directed by producer Sam Taylor and is played by a well known screen cast including Reginald Denny, Joseph Cawthorn, Noah Beery, Jean Hersholt, Phil Tead, Fred Walton and Zeffie Tilbury.

ASSOCIATION KIDS WIN IN FIRST GAME

Score was 8-6, Winners Coming From Behind to Win

HEAVY HITTING

Ernie Smith, Moose Hurler Weakened in the Late Frames

Staging a belated rally the B.A.A.A. juniors won the first game of the Stanley Cup league play-off by the score of 8 to 6 from the league leading Moose Juniors last evening. The game was filled with thrills from the beginning to the end and after eight innings of battle the Association kids got the decision over the "Soda boys."

Moose Started Well

The Moose started well and Ernie Smith, their curve ball artist, had the association kids at his mercy for the first half of the game. But under the watchful eye of Vern Weir the B.A.A.A. juniors kept battling back until they had pulled up even with the Moose in the sixth inning. The Moose opened the scoring in the first innings when Smith connected for a double. There was no more scoring until the third inning, when the Moose again went to work and gathered two runs which did the trick. Up until then "Ernie" Smith was invincible but the Moose batsmen with their backs to the wall went to work in the fifth innings and gathered three runs. They added three more in the next innings and two more in the seventh, when they headed the Moose nose to nose in the lead.

Needed Two Runners

"Chuck" Mitchell pitched a very good game for the B.A.A.A. juniors but gave way to "Dan" Jeffery in the eighth innings, when he wavered in the sixth innings. Within kept the Moose at bay for the remainder of the contest.

The game was well played and the fans that took advantage of the pastime were well awarded for their time. It was about the best junior game that has been played in Belleville in some time. The second game of the series will be played at the Fair Grounds Thursday evening.

The hitting was spread over the whole eighteen players but the leading hitters were "Cy" Savage, who soaked one for three bases with two on in the sixth innings. Oulhans also helped himself to a triple in the seventh. Rigs for the losers collected three hits out of four trips to the bat. Morgan and his wife for the Moose but he failed to get out on a bunt in the eighth that meant a run. Umpire Collins had to call the game in the first of the ninth on account of darkness.

Lineups:

B.A.A.A.—Murray, Wilkins, Culhane, Coleman, Cobb, G. Barclay, J. Barriage, Smith Carter, and Saunders.

Moose Juniors—Philp, Morgan, Sherry, Rigg, Meiss, Darrah, Pelrier, Smith and Riggs.

Score by innings:

NO NEED TO WORRY

Mrs. Lombard was not enjoying her vacation as she should have. "I keep worrying about Aunt Sue. Letters are so irregular!" Her best friend offered good advice. "If you telephoned every evening you'd hear the latest reports. Long Distance is handy, you know, for worrying about things!" Mrs. Lombard called at once and learned good news from her aunt.

The Sport Eye Column

Conducted By FAIR PLAY
Bowie and Fair Collumn

Well sport fans the baseball season is drawing to a close. The two senior leagues are now in their play-offs and the Central league only has its two games. One being the Tenier here tomorrow.

Harry Pearson, chairman of the Athletic meet at the Belleville Fair, is over-joyed at the response of the out-of-town entries....Toronto is sending down a team of track and field aspirants.

Harry would like to see a few more entries from the surrounding country, when free passes for town and villages. The meet is a district affair, and every athlete is welcome. Entries close August 15th.

Well, Well, soccer-football is coming back again I see. After the local boys have left Mickey they are now seeking other fields to conquer. Tomorrow evening they play the Picton Athletics at the old Fair Grounds.

The Belleville Vics journey out to Tweed tomorrow afternoon to meet the first game of the league play-offs. The return game will be played in Belleville on Friday evening. I'll call the Vics, and that's no lie" Manuel Ivens.

The local Vics will have to be on their good behavior to beat "Archie" Gilmour, while Ossie Jeffery will no doubt get the ball for Tweed's game. That leaves Ralph Iley for the return game.

Next Monday the big road race and sports meet will be held at the Canadian Pool Legion Park, Bridgewater. It will be a big day for the people that live around there.

They are to have a big "wiener roast" in connection with the sporting sport. Weather permitting they have a fine programme of sports so that everybody will enjoy themselves.

I wonder what Herb' Mitchell manager of the Montreal Maroons, was doing out in North Hastings last week? Local hockey players should remember that which has produced members of Canada's bedding young amateurs.

Maybe he was only fishing—(MAYBE.)

I wonder who manager Gerrow will start in the Central league game? Scout Stone kept up his winning streak by beating the Trenton Golf Club team. Maybe Stone has missed his calling as a ball player; until recently.

With both Palmer and Gibson ready to try out with the "Phillies" tomorrow it is safe bet ing that Stone will have to be right on the job to beat the Golf Club.

The few fans that went up to the junior game last night sure got their money's worth. The B.A.A.A. kids battled back to win from the Moose juniors by the score of 8 to 6.

Being a spectator, I can tell you that it was as good a junior game as I have seen of late years, and I've seen plenty of locally. The Association kids were behind 6 to 3 in the fifth innings but they kept on plugging and won the game.

That is what the fans like. The outstanding feature of the game was "Ernie" Smith, the Moose pitcher, who struck out the first three batters on four pitched balls.

The return game is to be played on Thursday evening and take it from me it'll not miss that game. All I wish is that they play as good a game the next time. The game should be filled if they do.

Well the Maple Leafs upset the dope last night when they beat the league leading Napanee Maple by the score of 13 to 12. Everybody says it was a real game.

The McMichael sisters are bound to be in the "Big-Time" Last week I spoke of Nellie and Lee hitting, so Hilda got her "rye" up and got no less than four hits out of five times at bat. The fifth time she was safe on an error.

The girl's league is now pretty well tied up for the second and third place teams. The National Maids are well out in front but the other four teams are pretty well bunched, I hear. Well the more the merrier is the old saying.

The "ink-slingers" broke into the win column when they staged a last innings rally to beat the Canadian Locomotive. Well you can't lose them all.

PIRATES WIN TO DROP CUBS

New York Giants Are Now in Second Place

(By Herbert W. Barker Associated Press Sports Writer).

Jewel Ens, Pittsburgh Pirates have no hope of winning a National League pennant just at present but they evidently still are of the opinion, that they can smash their way into the first division before the curtain falls for the season. After three months of floundering around, while their pitchers tried to find their effectiveness and their batsmen searched vainly for their batting eyes, the Pirates pulled themselves together just when it looked like they were going to fall right out of the league.

The insertion of the Amherst football star Howard Grodkins at second base, the return to hitting form of Paul Waner and the overnight reinvigorement of Glenn Spencer into a starting pitcher, who could win more than three games cause for the Pirates' sport since July.

Yesterday with Spencer working on the mound, the Pirates romped out the Chicago Cubs, 4-3 scoring two runs in the eighth inning and the winning run in the ninth. Lloyd Waner walked and came home on a double by the old reliable, Pie Traynor.

The Pirates scored only five hits off Lon Sweetland but the Cub left-hander was generous with his passes, sending ten men to first base. Both leagues were called in with one out in the ninth, Smith fanned pinch hitter Grasso for the second out but Traynor refused to be fooled. The fleted drop ped the Cubs from a virtual tie with the Giants to a position half a game removed from the runner-up rung.

The Pirate-Cub games was the only one on the Major League schedule yesterday as both leagues prepared for intersectional warfare starting today. In the National League Western teams game east and in the American, Eastern clubs battle the West.

NAT. MAIDS ARE DEFEATED

Maple Leafs Win Close Game by Score of 13-12

Staging a rally in the last few innings, the Maple Leafs sprung a surprise on Bay of Quinte League play when they defeated the National Maids by the score of 13 to 12 last evening. Manager Mitchell started a new pitcher in the last night, when he sent Cy Melchoir to the hill top. The new pitcher pitched good ball to win the average game, but his support that she received on the left hand side of the diamond was enough to dishearten any young pitcher.

Lefty Carter on the mound for the Leafs buried her usual steady game allowing but 12 hits in the nine innings. Hits Mcmichael of the Leafs led the hitters for the evening, when she helped herself to four hits out of five times at bat, two of them being home runs. The only other circuit clout went to Lola Emery, the savagery little catcher of the Maids. The league contest is fast drawing to an end three more games remain on the schedule besides a few postponed ones. Tonight the Belleville Fruit battle the Prentacans and at this state of the game with the total counts so tonight's game should be real exciting.

PRINTERS DOWN HOUSTON TEAM

Best Softball Game of Season At Queen Mary School Grounds

In a ninth-innings rally the printers soft ball team in a scheduled Belleville and District Soft Ball League contest covered themselves last evening when they batted out a 6 detat to the Houston Co. team which by the same token was taken kindly by the latter players. At Queen Mary school grounds the game was played in the presence of a large number of interested spectators. In the early part of the contest the losers took a decided lead. With their backs to the wall the printers in the latter part of the game, pounded the old pill for the required number of runs to register the victory. The final score was 13 to 10 for the Printers who deserved the win. The batting for the victorious team was Jenkinson and Latchford, and Henn and Houston for the lumber merchants.

Umpire—Rawlins.

On Wednesday evening another game in the above league will be played when Houston Co. meet the Foxboro entry at Queen Mary grounds.

Op Saturday of this week the Printers journey to Napanee to engage the Jackson Press team of Kingston in a friendly encounter.

ALL LEADERS TURN IN WINS ON MONDAY

Baltimore, Rochester and Newark Were Winning Teams

BIG SCORES

Leafs Were Swamped Under Good Hurling of Don Brennan

(By the Associated Press)

The latest general offensive in the International League, for a wonder, has left the relative standing of the three leaders, Baltimore, Rochester and Newark, unchanged. All three turned in victories yesterday, Baltimore defeating Buffalo 7-4 in a contest halted by rain after eight innings; Rochester defeating Jersey City 15-11 and Newark stopped Toronto 11-4.

Turtle Batting

The pace setting Orioles continued their batting ways against Buffalo, collecting 15 hits off Russell and Lefebvre. Homers were hit one by Gill and Regan. Beryl Richmond stirred for Baltimore but was driven to cover when Buffalo began making threatening gestures with the ump out in front. Ben Mayo-kins came in to fan Sleger and Shinners, retiring Lefebvre. He allowed only three hits over the last 5 2-3 innings.

Homers in Evidence

Home runs by Hargrave and Painchaud aided Rochester in its easy victory over Jersey City. Harry Toporcer, former Jersey City manager now playing second base for the Redwings, batted in his 100th run of the season in the fourth, when Painchaud drove in two runs and scored three. Berland, behind excellent pitching by Brennan, shackled Toronto pitching for 16 hits. Brennan, who gave up 12 safeties and walked seven but was effective in the pinches in the final, when Murphy Burke hit for the circuit with two on. Ike Boone led the Newark barrage with a pair of hits, including a pinch-hit home run in the seventh, when Newark batted around to score seven runs. Reading and Montreal were rained out.

DEMONAIR "BUNNY"

For sheer grace, there are few present-day tennis stars to surpass Wilfred "Bunny" Austin, the young British Cup winner. He is shown with Fred Perry, advanced the old country back into the position it formerly occupied in the tennis world until Bill Tilden got going for the Davis Cup and Lacoste and Cochet for France. Austin is a product of the first water. His striking, when he is at the height of his game, is superb. Not only that, but he is one of the best-looking young men in the game. I learn that he is to be married shortly to a British film actress, who lacks nothing but self in feminine "looks." From what I've seen of her picture, she'll make a fine "Goddess" in signing.

SIDNEY JUNIOR FARMER LEAGUE

Led by Captain H. Ketcheson, the Wallbridge Fliers rallied home one of the greatest victories that they have achieved this season in defeating Foxboro 17 to 7. The game, which was witnessed by a good two hundred fans, was played on the Sidney Buggers' diamond. It is the popular opinion that champions in Foxboro and Sidding should profit by the aid of Wallbridge in the result of over-enthusiasm among the fans.

The Wallbridge team batted first, Hinchcliffe, Chisholm and H. Ketcheson making runs, while Burton and Christopher scored for Foxboro. This inning gave Wallbridge the lead 5-2, and all through the game they managed, though only by hard work, to keep the lead.

The captain of Wallbridge, H. Ketcheson, is looked on as a good-natured not only as a batter but as a clever fielder, and a capable captain. In placing his men Captain Ketcheson showed himself to be a good general, and his display of strategy and foresight is worthy of mention.

One of the outfielders, Burton, played an exceptionally fine game, much of the credit should go to this player for his calmness and sureness in catching flies.

Green and Christopher as pitcher and catcher played well; without a doubt they are a valuable asset to their team.

This match broke up a tie between Foxboro and Wallbridge, and the result leaves Wallbridge the leaders of Group One of the Sidney Junior Farmers' League. The other teams of the league immediately Wallbridge on being the first team to secure this honor.

Perhaps what may be considered the honor of the game goes to the Sidney Buggers through the person of H. Smith who heads the League with an average of 4.4 runs per game. Smith and the Buggers are very confident of securing the championship.

Peacock, B. Gay and L. Wilson of Foxboro made a splendid show and an sportsmanlike fight in the game. Score by innings:—

Wallbridge .... 0 0 3 2 0 7—17
Foxboro ..... 0 1 1 3 0 3— 7

The teams were:—

Wallbridge—Hinchcliffe, Chisholm H. Ketcheson, Green, H. Ketcheson, Burton, F. Christopher, Phillips and Silos.

Foxboro—O. Gay, W. Gay, Peacock, H. Longwell, E. Ray, Mac Longwell, G. Longwell, B. Gay, Christopher.

Umpires—E. Hubble and H. Dough.

Scorer—E. Broadworth."

COMPELLED PAPERS TO PRINT APPEALS

Berlin, Aug. 11—President Paul von Hindenburg has signed a new emergency decree amending the previous decree under which the Prussian Government, compelled all newspapers to print its appeal against voting in Sunday's plebiscite. The new decree provides that such official statements hereafter must be approved by the Federal Ministry of Interior, and that the regular space rates must be paid for publishing them in they exceed 500 words.

Lord Greystoke, unfolding the scrap of paper which had been pushed in under the cabin door, found it was a message printed in uncouth letters, warning them to refrain from repeating the theft of his revolvers, on pain of death. Lady Greystoke paled, wondering what her fate might be.

The slight which met Lord Greystoke's eyes, as he emerged on deck the next morning, confirmed his worst fears. A shot rang out, and then another and another. Facing the little knot of five officers was the entire motley crew of the Fuwalda, and all their head stood Black Michael.

Enraged, the bloodthirsty ruffians charged the officers; representing the hated authority of the ship. Most of them were armed with boathooks, axes, and crowbars. The officers retreated before the infuriated rush of their men. At a signal the captain from forehead to chin.

Both sides were cursing and swearing in a frightful manner, which, together with the reports of the firearms and the screams and groans of the wounded, turned the deck of the Fuwalda to the likeness of a mad-house. Short and grisly had been the work of the mutineers.

Through outwardly calm, he was inwardly apprehensive, for he feared for the safety of his wife, and the little unborn Greystoke at the hands of the ignorant half-breeds. "Here's two more for the fishes," snarled one of the crew, as he rushed toward them with uplifted axe.

Great Railroad Has Fine Police Force

White gloves, part of their official dress, are especially appropriate to members of the Canadian Pacific Railway Police, not only for the smart touch thus added to their blue uniforms, but because they are emblematic of the force itself; say organization of spotless reputation and unfailing courtesy. Not only is the picked body of men, uniformed and ununiformed, the safeguard of the property of the world's greatest transportation system and its thousands of patrons, but its members are friends and mentors to countless travellers in all part of the Dominion. Wherever the company has an interest, be it a great terminal, a wharf or a vast freight yard, "the man in blue" is to be found. Many of the constables and their officers are ex-service men, and at their head is Brigadier-General Colin H. Ker, C.M.G., D.S.O., A.D.C., a distinguished Canadian soldier with a splendid record as a staff officer during the Great War. The force has seen many brushes for law-and work and also in wrongdoers, in Ontario team having captured the Canadian police revolver championship for the whole Dominion this year.

THE MAILMAN

Mailmen spend their life ringing peeples doorbells without axually going in to see them.

If people know the mailman and meet him half ways down the block and say "Anything for me?" he will pull a letter out of the middle of the pile and hand it to them, making them feel grate as if they was getching sumthing for nuthing, but as soon as they find out its ony a bill, they look sorry they asked him.

The letter carrier knows everybody's name but nobody knows his every doorbell and hand himself letters, but not while he is eating brekfist ordnerry clothes some Sunday you probely wouldent even know he was one unless he suddenly took pity on your ignorants and handed you a letter.

When a letter carrier ansers his own doorbell and finds out its another letter carrier with a letter for him he probely feels afrely imbarassed like a waiter trying to act natuel while he's being waited on by another waiter

A mailman is the most intristing to look at around Christmas time on account of having little packages mixed up with the letters and if he can know some of them may be for your house

If a mailman happens to live on his own route he can ring his own doorbell

Little sea house,
When I found you
The yellow poppies
Were nodding round you.

Your blue slate hat

BRINGING UP FATHER, By George McManus

"MASQUERADE"

SYNOPSIS

Young and beautiful Panchon Meredith leaves San Francisco by airplane to escape arrest in connection with a murder in which her sweetheart, Tony, is implicated. She had not known that he was a gunman. Evelyn Howard, whom Panchon had met on a voyage from Hawaii, is aboard. She is enroute to New York to live with her wealthy aunt, Mrs. Allison Carstairs, whom she has never seen. The plane crashes and all but Panchon are killed. Grasping the opportunity to start life anew, Panchon goes to the Carstairs home as Evelyn. Mrs. Carstairs affection wins her heart. At Southampton, awaiting the arrival of her son, Collin, Mrs. Carstairs warns Panchon not to fall in love seriously. He arrives and accuses Panchon of being there under false pretenses.

CHAPTER XIII

The color drained from Panchon's face. It isn't possible! she told herself wildly. For the last week or so, with returning strength there had come to her a feeling of peace and of safety. And day by day she had grown fonder of, and more grateful to, Jennie Carstairs. She realized now with a wrenching pang that the great price of discovery and the relinquishing of her masquerade would not be the danger threatening her from exposure, the danger from Tony himself, but the disillusionment and righteous anger which she must face from Jennie Carstairs.

She stared at him. He pulled up a low rustic bench, sat down, pulled a flat gold cigarette case from his pocket, opened it and meticulously offered it to Panchon. Mechanically she shook her head, fighting for composure, for words. And waiting for him to go on, to tell her how he knew . . . what he knew.

"Now," said Collin Carstairs, lighting a cigarette and expelling the first blue smoke, "now, we may as well have it out! I know, of course, that coming to New York under my mother's protection was infinitely better than indefinite school teaching. I don't blame you for jumping at the opportunity. I merely wanted to explain to you I or my mother has not — and I don't suppose she has — why I am unalterably opposed to this arrangement . . . Cousin Evelyn," he added satirically.

Panchon's breath came easier. So, his quarrel was not with her, not with Panchon Meredith, not with "Tony's bread," not with her masquerading and her deception, but with Evelyn! Well, as Evelyn, she could deal with him! In her relief, excitement and a sort of fighting spirit flooded her very veins. She sat up, erect, in the swing and regarded him. The wind ruffled her blue-black curls, the warm golden-orange turquoise eyes were dark with anger and emotion.

"I marvel," Collin remarked, regarding her with frank, if unwilling admiration, "that you were permitted to teach school so long! Your mask is not one! And I know that Hawaiian moons are very lovely and the young men were susceptible. I've been in Hawaii," he said.

"Are you trying to pay me compliments?" Panchon demanded.

It was her first word to him. He flicked the ashes from his cigarette and smiled. Her voice was as lovely as she, he admitted ungrudgingly. And there was a flash of steel through all the loveliness and softness of voice and person. Here was, he admitted to himself further, no dimpering, silly gushing little creature, as he had allowed himself to imagine she would be from her letters to his mother and his general mental impression of her, but a very beautiful and probably intelligent girl. An enemy worthy of his mettle.

"I'm not complimentary," he replied, and smiled, "I'm merely truthful. You are far better to look upon than I dreamed. Very easy on the eyes. But that doesn't alter the case."

"I take it," Panchon said, demurely, "that you are not besides yourself with rapture at my appearance here. Why? What have I done to you? Are you afraid," she mocked him, knowing better, "that I will rob you of your rightful inheritance?"

His face darkened. He was really, she thought, an astonishingly handsome man. She hated him and despised him but his good looks could not be denied. They looked at one another with hostility, she with hot resentment, he with cool removed. The very air of the rose garden, fragrant, soft, sea-wooed, sun steeped, seemed suddenly electric with this curious and out of proportion antagonism between two young people.

"Hardly," replied Collin Carstairs, with forced indifference, "I happen to have far more money than I need. It is not my business nor concern what my mother chooses to do with her own. I would have been perfectly willing if she had accepted half a dozen girls . . . strangers—waifs, if need be, out of the gutter, I would have been none the wiser. In fact, I would have helped. But — Panchon said, mockingly.

"What about me?" demanded Panchon, angrily, "that, exactly is the matter with me . . .?"

"For" he it from me to elucidate," answered Collin, casually, "I think you know, perfectly well. Yet my hostility dates back further than your masquerade."

Escapades! thought Panchon, frantically. Evelyn . . . demure, prim, moustike Evelyn . . . and escapades?

"In the first place," Collin went on slowly, "your mother's quarrel with her family is none of my concern. But when, whether she had right on her side or not, at the time of the break, when my mother wrote them, making overtures and, I would say abject offers of peace your father took it upon himself to write me letters in terms that were little short of insulting. And your mother not only permitted this but encouraged it.

"Why, knowing what heartbreak this action afforded my mother, should you become you into the family simply because you found it expedient to change your mind? When at your father's death my mother wrote you, and you alone, the letter you wrote to her in return was far from friendly. I can, as I have said, understand that you changed your mind because of the material advantages held out to you by my mother. I can understand that perhaps you were anxious to leave San Francisco and the scene of your high school in which you taught learned of certain of your Hawaiian adventures.

"It was clear to me why you gave my mother's name as reference to the San Francisco school and why your professional references did not date from the Hawaiian period. Naturally, a school which had dispensed with your services because of your conduct was not going to supply you with references! I suppose you told the people in San Francisco that your stay in the Islands had been in the nature of a visit. If you told them anything."

What Had She Done

by Jack Woodford

Aunt Ida came without warning. She just rang the bell on Sunday morning, and there she was, bag and baggage.

She walked into the house with an intransigent air, as though she expected to find that everything was wrong. Mildred rose to the occasion warmly.

"Oh, aunt Ida, this is such a glorious surprise," she said. Aunt Ida sniffed suspiciously.

"Humph!" she said, "of course you'd have to act like that; but there are mighty few young married folks who really like to have their relations come trooping in on them. But don't worry; I'm only going to stay a week. You ought to be able to stand me for a week, after not having seen me for about ten years."

"We'll just love having you with us," Mildred declared. "It's simply wonderful." Aunt Ida looked suspicious. Howard, watching the scene intently knew that he would have to be circumspect; there was a hard case sure enough; but any relation of Mildred's would have to be top hole, that was all there was to it. He braced himself to be on such splendid good behavior that there could be no possible excuse on the part of this Aunt Ida, who seemed to have a permanent chip on his shoulder, to find fault with him.

Aunt Ida glared at him searchingly when they were introduced.

"So you're the man Mildred married," she said, and committing herself.

"Er—yes," Howard echoed weakly, since there seemed nothing else to say. Mildred took Aunt Ida up to the guest room, showed her the bathroom, and then came down stairs. Her big blue eyes were troubled; her pretty, unusually happy little ovl face was troubled. Even her lovely, fluffy golden hair seemed to be without its usual gloss of light; and her slim, supple figure actually drooped. Howard took one look at her and threw his hands in the air. He was not much older than she. Taller, though, and straight as an Indian; with crisp chestnut hair, deep blue eyes, and a handsome male face. He took Mildred into his arms. They had been married two years and got along together splendidly. They loved each other more each month, it seemed; and so far, their married life had been ideal.

"She would have to come," Howard mournfully whispered, "at the only time since we've been married that times are a little hard for us, what with this depression and everything. There's mighty little left in the bank; but we'll simply have to make the best of it. I'm not give her the slightest opportunity to criticize me."

Soon Aunt Ida came down stairs. She looked around suspiciously. And, from that time on, a veritable blight settled on the house. Howard felt it the minute he came in. He sneaked out to the garage for a puff when he wanted it. The next day they went to church twice; once in the morning, and once in the evening—to the church of that denomination which Aunt Ida favoured.

But it was all to no avail, though Howard's efforts were marvelous it seemed he must be a male angel. He fairly danced around the house, in an attempt to avoid the slightest rupture. Nevertheless, Aunt Ida stamped out on Monday morning, without finishing the week, as unceremoniously as she had descended upon them.

"What did I do to make her refuse to stay even the week she intended?" Howard mourned.

"Never mind, honey," Mildred soothed; you were wonderful; it must have been my fault. She'll never be any of her money now—but who wants any of her old money anyhow?"

Just then there was a ring at the door. A special delivery letter! Aunt Ida! Mildred opened it with trembling fingers. A check for a thousand dollars fell to the floor. The letter said, in the same manner of Ida's crisp speech:

"Idiots! Do you think I'd stay around a house where I could see I was making people miserable. Don't you think I know humans beings are never angels? If they were they'd sprout wings. I'm going to New York; then, in a month, I'll pass through Humboldt again on my way home. I'll try to last a week with you the second time—providing you act like human beings and don't make me feel as though I were casting a blight on the whole house. Enclosed check for a thousand—Howard says every thing is all right with his business."

In these times things couldn't be all right with anybody's business.—Well, you crazy kids, until I see you again.

Lots of Love,

Ida."

APPEAL AGAINST DEATH SENTENCE

Toronto, Aug. 10 (CP).—Judge ment on the appeal of John Brokenshire, of Windsor, Ont., convicted slayer of Police Constable Roy McQuillin here last December, who is at present under the death sentence to be administered in September, will be given tomorrow morning following an official announcement by the First Appellate Court at Osgoode Hall today.

Brokenshire through his council appealed on the grounds that trial Judge refused to allow testimony of three alienists who examined the accused while a patient in the hospital.

BOYS PERISH IN SAND PIT

Cave-in at Stirling Suffocates Two Playmates

Death struck swiftly late yesterday afternoon, during a thunder shower, when two boys, cousins, each aged 10, were suffocated in a gravel slide in a pit near Stirling. It is presumed that the boys sought refuge from the sudden storm beneath the overhanging bank of their pit and the material loosened by the torrential rain, slid down over them. Their bodies were not fully covered until about eleven o'clock last night, after searchers had combed the surrounding woods and fields in frantic efforts to locate them.

Harold Wannamaker, son of Arnold Wannamaker of Stirling, and Christie Loney, son of W. J. Loney, of 1138 Huron street, Niagara Falls, Ont., were the victims. The Loney boy had only arrived in Stirling with his mother to visit the Wannamakers on Monday morning.

Memorial Service

Although the movements of the children, alone about Stirling all the afternoon are practically unknown, Wannamaker had informed that she heard children's voices, which she presumed to be those of her son and his cousin, from the upper part of the barn. The floor of the haymow in the barn at the time going the milking. Later, absond five o'clock, a terrific downpour of rain visited the district, and it was not then that the parents became anxious as to their whereabouts, as the children they supposed wet and catch cold.

"They are out in the very lost" she stated this morning "and as the boys had built themselves a shack back in the woods, we thought they must have gone to shelter there. However, they didn't come in for supper about six o'clock though, and then I began to search back to the woods to look for them. Mr. Wannamaker had been away all afternoon, came home about six o'clock, and when Ruby told us they weren't at the shack we all set out to look for them."

Father Had Warned Son

Here the father, distracted with grief, broke in. "I warned Harold lots of times before not to play in the sand pits, but he would not go too steep, and they must be all of thirty feet high. I was down over the fields and through the barn, and they must have got to it then, that maybe they were at the gravel pit. I saw he had sent their little wagon standing in the field near the pit," continued Mr. Wannamaker. "We hurried over there, and although it was coated with fresh white gravel, we never thought that our boy was underneath. We saw the men who have been drawing gravel for the highways around here, and dig there, and soon they knew that's where the youngsters were."

Quarter Mile From House

The place where the children died is at least a quarter of a mile from the nearest house, and if their bodies were completely covered up, so that had anyone happened along even at the time of the accident, it is doubtful if anyone would have noticed the tragic pitfall by the sand. Stirling Chambers is the owner of the pit, and the field in which it is located is several hundred yards from the road. Apparently the victims had been sliding down the banks of the pit before the tragedy as there were small footmarks in several places.

Mother Notified

Mrs. Loney is prostrated by grief, and is under medical care at the Wannamaker home. Mr. Loney arrived from Niagara Falls this morning, and left with the bodies of their former burial. Harold, the elder victim, was in the junior third at Stirling public school, and was a bright boy who was well regarded by all who knew him. Dr. Carlton, of Stirling, the coroner, investigated the tragedy, and an inquest was unnecessary. The Wannamaker funeral will be held tomorrow.

CHEVROLET CARAVAN VISITS CITY, GREETED BY OFFICIALS

Gave Demonstration in Fire Fighting Which Impressed Chief of Fire Department. Many Viewed the Many Designs of Commercial Trucks.

Twenty-five Chevrolet trucks, the Chevrolet Commercial Caravan, equipped with special and unusual bodies, paid its scheduled visit to Belleville yesterday. The Caravan was something new in the way of commercial vehicles, and when attracted large crowds and great interest in the many designs shown the city streets, and was later on display at the Market Square, under the direction of J. T. Warren.

Greeted by Officials

Acting-Mayor Woodley and the city council met the Caravan at the city limits on the city and directed them through the streets for their parade. Upon arrival at the market, Acting-Mayor Woodley welcomed the Caravan, in charge of Mr. MacIntyre, to the city and spoke on the achievements of the Canadian industry, the General Motors, in putting on such a demonstration of Canadian workmanship. He also wished the Caravan every success in the journey to Quebec City.

With an itinerary of scores of cities and towns in Ontario and Quebec ahead of it, the Caravan was only able to stay in Belleville a few hours. The trucks were lined up at the market square for demonstration, which was taken of advantage of by hundreds of citizens. Many were impressed with the versatility which can be shown by a single line of commercial vehicles.

Special Bodies

There were special bodies of all kinds shown in the display of the trucks, this equipment being contributed by a number of Canadian manufacturers, including Canada Wire and Fence, Hamilton; Canadian Motor Body, Guelph; Sawyer-Massey, Hamilton; Dominion Engineering, Kitchener; John Greer & Son, London; H. H. Wells Limited, Hamilton, and Bickle Fire Engines Limited, Woodstock, Ont.

Local Interest

The Chevrolet standard trucks and all the chassis in the caravan are the product of Chevrolet plants in Canada. During the stop at the market square, J. T. Warren, local Chevrolet agents, and during the main display locally, experts explained the outstanding features of Chevrolet truck construction to the many who were interested.

Leading the caravan, during its local parade, was a special truck equipped with microphone and radio aerial attachment, which proved an excellent means of drawing attention. Provincial and local police assisted in facilitating the progress of the parade, in order that it might maintain its rigid schedule.

Gave Demonstration

Following the arrival of the Caravan, the fire-truck of the Caravan put on a demonstration in front of the City Hall, under the direction of Fire Chief Lynch. The fire truck which is a modern and up-to-date Bickle fire engine, carrying a motor-pump for the purpose of adding water pressure to the ordinary hydrant pressure, gave a very satisfactory demonstration. Two lines of hose were attached to a hydrant, in front of the city hall, connecting them directly to the fire engine. The water was turned on and then the motor started and in very short time the water pressure was increased considerably. Before the demonstration was completed the operators turned the motors on full and two streams of water were being thrown well over the tower of the city hall. The operator said that the fire engine could throw a stream of water 125 feet straight ahead. In Peterboro, in their demonstration there, they pumped 365 gallons per minute. The demonstration was considered by those in authority just as good as the larger Seagrave fire engine, which gave a demonstration here some time ago.

Went to Oil Tank

Following their demonstration at the market, the fire engine went to the Imperial Oil dock, where they pumped their own water from the harbor and threw a stream of water equally as far as though they had received it from the hydrant. The pump has only a 250 gallon rated capacity but can pump 900 gallons per minute, making it rated at 250 gallons.

After the demonstration Fire Chief Lynch stated that the demonstration was very satisfactory from every angle, that he thought the engine was a little too small for a city the size of Belleville. It was thought that a pumping capacity of 500 gallons capacity, would serve the city well.

MAN WANTED IN BROCKVILLE

Constable Evans Arrests Man Wanted for Alleged Non-Support

While patrolling Front Street last night about midnight Constable Evans spotted a man driving a Ford touring car and recognized at once that the man was wanted by the Brockville police on the charge of non-support. On taking him in the station he proved to be Alfred J. Manuel the man sought for. Manuel is about forty years old and said to be a carpenter by trade. The Brockville police will arrive in the city to-day following the late Lieut.-Col. Harrison.

He recalls with much friendly feeling the late Lieut.-Colonel and the late Lieut.-Col. Philip Hanbly, who were in their time estimable commanding officers of the old 49 Hastings Rifles. "Belleville is a lovely town," said Mr. Orr, "and as it should be, being

COL. J. R. ORR RECALLS EARLY HAPPENINGS

Returned From Los Angeles to Attend Madoc Re-union

NEWSPAPER MAN

Identified With Bay of Quinte District For Many Years

Last evening a representative of the Ontario Intelligencer had the pleasure of meeting Colonel J. R. Orr of Los Angeles, California, who is in town for a few days the guest of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Orr, Dundas, Orr'lynn, East Bridge Street.

There is a saying that "memory always obeys the command of the heart," so it was with Col. Orr, whose memory and affection for the place in which he had for years been active and formed so many friendships, called him and he came to his old home town of Madoc to greet "friends or the children of friends as the Old Boys' Reunion, which was so successfully and enjoyably held recently.

In the year 1877 before the village of Madoc was incorporated, Colonel Orr established the North Hastings Review and by hard work eventually built up a successful weekly newspaper and job printing business. He left for the West in 1912 after thirty-five years of newspaper publishing in the old business to the late Mr. A. H. Watson, the first principal of the Madoc High School, whose son now carries on the business.

The Colonel had a most enjoyable time at the re-union and states that the number of visitors who registered exceeded the population of the village. Dr. Bruce McConnell, Provincial Treasurer of Saskatchewan, an old Madoc boy, who has made his home in Saskatoon, was given a very enthusiastic welcome, relatives of Colonel Orr, Eng., Mr. Clougher, who was interconnected with the Orr's own grandfather. He recalls many lively and hard fought encounters with the Belleville team. As a result of his enjoyable visit last week, many Madoc boys became very fast and clever players on college teams and on the baseball and other sports. Thereafter

To the question: "Have you still pictures hung in your drawing room?" Colonel replied: "I most assuredly have. It is something I would not get away from. I look back with much pleasure to the station he proved to be Alfred J. Manuel the man sought for. Manuel is about forty years old and said to be a carpenter by trade. The Brockville police will arrive in the city to-day following the late Lieut.-Col. Harrison.

He recalls with much friendly feeling the late Lieut.-Colonel and the late Lieut.-Col. Philip Hanbly, who were in their time estimable commanding officers of the old 49 Hastings Rifles. "Belleville is a lovely town," said Mr. Orr, "and as it should be, being the County Seat of Hastings County, the beauties of which are unsurpassed."

PLUMBERS, TINSMITHS, MECHANTICS, GARAGES, HARDWARE and DEALERS OF ALL KINDS OF APPLIANCES

WHEREVER there is a kitchen stove, heater or hot air furnace that burns coal, wood or kerosene there is a sales prospect for a Sterling Oil Burner. In town and farm kitchens, in stores, in garages, in winter and summer cases, the heating and cooking convenience, perfection and economy of the Sterling Oil Burner operating on Sterling Oil Gas is a revelation. Sterling Oil Burners sell at such moderate prices, anyone can afford one. The fuel they burn is cheap, and can be obtained almost anywhere. They are made in various sizes and are easily installed. Canadian coal and heat tests by expert engineers show efficiency. In the Sterling line a range of heat is given combined with exact control. No other or make, covered by a guarantee, is cheap enough.

Dealers, Jobber and Distributors are being appointed now. Investigate this opportunity at once before your territory in the particular district closes with us. Remember that those who keep up with the times have latest scientific developments and the advantage of new and profitable fields opened up.

MISSOURI PARTY ENJOY BEAUTIES OF DISTRICT

Father of Family is 82 Years Young and Wonders at Beauty

LIKES CANADA

Daughters Interested in Art and Kindergarden Work

Mr. N. H. Maxon and his daughters, Miss Jessie Maxon and Miss Lois Maxon, of St. Louis, Missouri, arrived in Belleville last evening by motor and have spent the day in Hobson cottage, formerly the Coop or cottage at Consecon Creek, the balance of the month of August.

Mr. Maxon is a very interesting gentleman to meet. He is in his eighty-second year, and is keenly interested in everything. In a representative of the Ontario Intelligencer who had the pleasure of a conversation with him, he said: "This is our first visit to Canada. I have heard so much of the beauties of this district that I determined to come and see for myself."

"Being from Missouri," the scribe smiled, "I presume you wanted to be shown." "Yes," replied Mr. Maxon, laughed Mr. Maxon. "However, I must say that the most flattering reports have not been exaggerated. I think the country is beautiful, the roads wonderful, and the beautiful old homes which we have seen have been a source of great pleasure, especially to my daughters."

"Native Daughters"

Miss Lois Maxon is an assistant superintendent in the St. Louis schools and Miss Jessie is principal in kindergarden work.

"How did you hear of the beauties of Belleville and surrounding country?" the scribe asked.

"Well," replied Mr. Maxon, "a friend of my mother's, Miss Pearl Martin, who is also an assistant superintendent in the St. Louis schools, has been coming here for several years and is always the most enthusiastic and attractive accounts she has been ready for us to do when we decided to come. She has a cottage at Consecon and has for that that publicity has at last brought us."

"It is indeed a case of being advertised by our loving friends," laughed the scribe, "and we will sincerely appreciate such good friends to our city and district."

"It really appears that way, sometimes," Mr. Maxon said.

Mr. Maxon's son, Mr. Rex H. Maxon, New York, is a well known illustrator. One of the things upon which he has been engaged the time is drawing the illustrations for the strips giving the story of Tarzan the Ape man, which is now appearing daily in The Ontario Intelligencer. Mr. Rex Maxon's wife is a magazine and newspaper writer, and they combine their work when such is desired.

The scribe, in parting, assured Mr. Maxon of a hearty welcome to Belleville and expressed the hope that his visit here will be so pleasant that he, too, will upon his return home tell of the many attractions of Belleville and the Bay of Quinte district.

"Just a minute, now," laughed Mr. Maxon. "I said nothing has been exaggerated and I want to modify that. I was told that Belleville is good up here and I want to catch fish, so I'll wait and see how the fishing is before I am perfectly my first statement."

The scribe assured Mr. Maxon that he would undoubtedly be successful in landing some fish here, and this closed an enjoyable talk with a pleasant and entertaining visitor from Missouri.

NO LONELY HUSBANDS

Dick was keeping "bachelors' ball" for a few weeks while his family was away. A friend dropped in one evening and observing Dick's disconsolate air, remarked: "Dick, you look lonely. Why don't phone her? Lois and I always use Long Distance, when we're away from each other. It's a big help!"

PROMOTOR IN BANKRUPCY

Engineered Windsor-Detroit Tunnel But Now in Hospital

Toronto, Aug. 11 (By The Canadian Press)—Wm. W. Martin, of Toronto, promoter of the Detroit-Windsor tunnel, joining Canada and the United States underground, and who at present confined in a local hospital suffering from a nervous breakdown as a result of overwork, was declared bankrupt in an order issued at Osgoode Hall, Tuesday.

The petitioner was T. G. O. Thornton of Windsor, and the debt was for $500 back wages. J. T. Jackson was appointed the creditor, and that Martin's liabilities exceeded $100,000 and that the Sheriff of Windsor held several unsatisfied executions against him. Martin, a former Salvation Army officer, first came into prominence as the promoter of the Detroit-Windsor tunnel, following his resignation from the Army. He has been an extensive operator in real estate, and was, up until the crash, interested in building a tunnel between Sarnia and Port Huron.

BARNSTORMING BETTER THAN PRIZE MONEY

Fliers Robbins and Jones Gives up Idea of Long Flight

RETURN HOME

Make Long Journey From North in Record Time

(Fort Worth, Texas, Aug. 11—The lesser revenues and modest fame of barnstorming looked more attractive today to Reg L. Robbins and Harold S. Jones, Fort Worth flyers, than the solitude and $25,000 prize they would have received had they succeeded in their attempted non-stop refueling flight from Seattle to Tokyo, Japan. "They two attempts to span the Pacific by air ended with their return here at 7:30 p.m. Saturday. Fog and rain blocked their passage at Bering Sea during the first flight attempt, which began at Seattle July 8, after installing a more powerful motor they sallied forth again August 3, but met defeat once more, when they lost sight of their escort refueling ship over the fog-shrouded Aleutian Mountains. As a last gesture of defiance at the "bad luck streak" which dogged them, they made a non-stop flight of nearly 1,800 miles in 11 hours and 35 minutes Saturday from Edmonton, Alberta, to the airport here.

SPEED BOATS ARE BURNED

Six Boats Property of Pittsburgh Campers Destroyed

Parry Sound, Ont., Aug. 11—Six speed boats, the property of B. W. Lewis, D. A. Burt, and Dr. Stanley Smith, all of Pittsburgh, were destroyed by fire, which broke out early Sunday evening.

Gasoline Exploded

Gasoline barrels in the boat-houses exploded and for some distance around the water was covered with the burning fluid, making the extinguishing of the fire a most difficult problem and the main boathouse was saved after a desperate fight in which chemical extinguishers and buckets were brought into play. Elmer Dion, guide and boat driver of Parry Sound performed a daring rescue feat, when he dived in and swam underneath the burning gasoline on the top of the water to bring out a speedboat belonging to W. S. Horner.

VISCOUNT BYNG GIVES REPORT ON METROPOLITAN POLICE

General Moral of Force Better Than Previous Year

SEVEN DISMISSALS

Mobile Squad is a Deterrent to Crime in Many Cases

London, Aug. 11— Canadian Press Cable)—If any unassigned still exists concerning the general morale of the Metropolitan Police it hardly finds any justification in the annual report of Viscount Byng, chief commissioner of Metropolitan Police and former Governor-General of Canada, issued today.

In the year closed there were seven dismissals from a force of more than 20,000, compared with 24 last year. The Metropolitan Police was enhanced nearly half a million acres with a population of more than 7,000,000. The report points out, and while by redistribution of men it has been possible to give better police protection to the suburbs, Lord Byng says this will soon prove inadequate.

Mobile Squad Active

The report discusses the augmentation of the mobile squad of Scotland Yard with patrols that keep in touch with headquarters by wireless. They are described as a powerful deterrent to crime. Prosecutions for drunkenness numbered 24,000—an increase of 70b, but 1,663 fewer than in 1928. Cases of robbery however show a disquieting increase. The value of property stolen was nearly $1,000,000, or within a quarter was recovered.

Commissioner blackmail, the chief commissioner reports that the practice of the courts in recent years in discouraging suppression of the considerable increase in the number of blackmailing cases reported. There were 48 last year against 30 in 1928.

CHANGED PLANS RENDERS OFFENSE

Obtained Permission to Enter States But Altered Course

Ottawa, Ont., Aug 11 (By The Canadian Press)—A change of plans on the part of half the members of the Kenyan Boy Scouts who has apparently rendered them liable to be charged with an offense under the United States customs regulations, according to aviation officials here.

J. A. Wilson, director of civil aviation, explained the fliers had obtained permission from U. S. Customs authorities to make their return journey from the Canadian west through Regina, Winnipeg, Chicago and Detroit. Half of them had followed that course, but the others had changed their route to visit Fort William, Ont., and apparently had failed to secure a second permission before re-entering the United States.

A terracing demonstration to consist of constructing terraces across the first ploughing to hold back rain water is planned.

GOV. INSPECTS POWER LINE

Roosevelt Looks Over Beauharnois Project Personally

Montreal, Que., Aug. 11 (By The Canadian Press)—The yacht "Inspector" left Montreal Harbour Tuesday bearing Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York State around home after an inspection of the Beauharnois Power project yesterday. The Inspector will proceed down the St. Lawrence River today to Sorel, where it will enter the Richelieu River and make an overnight stop at St. Johns, Que., continuing next day through Lake Champlain. Several friends and officials accompanied the Governor in another launch, the "Inspector."

Members of the Governor's party are: Mrs. Roosevelt, their son, John A. Roosevelt and a friend, John Gardiner; Ralph P. Hayes, Commissioner of Canals; Robert Pitcaairne, Executive Officer; J. Mahoney, assistant; and several other secretarys. The two yachts came to Beauharnois and Montreal from Albany via inland waterways to Lake Ontario and St. Lawrence River.

SINGLE MEN MUST GO NORTH

No Relief for Unemployed Who Does Not Accept Gov't. Aid

Kitchener, Ont., Aug. 11 (By The Canadian Press)—J. A. Cundick, chairman of the Family Relief Board said today that no relief will be given single unemployed men here, who refuse to accompany work battalions to the north during this fall to work on the Trans-Canada highway. The chairman believes that at least 50 per cent of the single jobless men will be anxious to put in the winter in the north.

SUITCASE LOST AS TOMMY LANDS

Two and One Half Year Old Lad Makes Long Journey

SUIT CASE LOST

London, Ont., Aug. 11—Little Tommie Kane, two and a half year old, who travelled by air recently from Ireland to join his dad in Canada, is minus one of the ones the wherabouts of his small suitcase, which accompanied him on his lengthy journey. And the present time, it is being held by the "lost and found" department of the local C.N.R. station. Tommy left Belfast on the steamer "Lancastle in June and all his worldly possessions were carefully packed in his bag. For identification purposes, attached to his small package was a card reading "my name is Thomas Kane, aged 2 1-2 years, address the station Derry. Belfast to my father, William Kane, 126 Jarvis Street, Toronto. I have no one small suit case as baggage."

Police officials say that Tommie took the Toronto express when the boat train arrived at Montreal, in his excitement and hurry to greet his dad at Toronto forgot the piece of baggage. It was turned through Scotland on the train, and was handed in at the station here by the brakeman on the train.

CUTS SHORT HIS VACATION

Returns to London After Brief Vacation in Scotland

Lossiemouth, Scotland, Aug. 10 (A.P.)—Premier Ramsay MacDonald started back for London today after a brief vacation in Scotland for the grouse shooting. The decision to go back to the city appeared to have been reached in a hurry, but it was understood that Mr. MacDonald felt he had been out of close touch with political and economic events long enough and that he would come back here after a day or two at London.

LIGHTS FAIL

London, Ont., Aug. 11—When his motorcycle lights failed, while speeding a sportster 70 miles an hour Sunday night, Traffic Officer Howard Jackson, of Wardsville, plunged into the ditch and was critically injured. He is now lying at the home of Traffic Officer George Law, at M elbourne, suffering from concussion of the brain.

MODERN MOTHER

"Don't you sometimes worry about your boy—away off camping in the woods?" Mrs. Jones was used to this question, and she answered it cheerfully. "I would, of course, if it weren't that he's near a village. We arranged to have him telephone twice a week from there, so you see, I keep well informed about him!"

RAIDS ON RED HEADQUARTERS MARK VIGOROUS INVADING OF FEDERAL PROVINCIAL DRIVE

Tim Buck and John Boychuk, Both Communist Organizers, Arrested and Warrants Out For Four Others — Three Officers and Three Houses Invaded by Combined Dominion, Ontario and Toronto Police, and Much Bolshevist Literature Confiscated by Authorities

Toronto, Aug. 12—All the concerted effort of recognized authority—Provincial Police, Royal Canadian Mounted and Provincial Police—backed by the Attorney-General's Department, directed and organized by Hon. William H. Price himself—was flung at Communistic influences and Communism's servitors in Toronto last night.

In a three-hour raid, involving three officers and three private residences, Thos. Buck, National Secretary of the Communist Party of Canada, and John Boychuk, organizer of the Ukrainian group, were taken into custody; large quantities of literature, allegedly Communistic in color as well as doctrine, were confiscated; and, generally speaking, for a few hours a "clean-up program, of which ramifications it is reported, may extend not only to all sections of Ontario, but to the Dominion Province of the Dominion as well, was firmly and formally laid.

Police announced late last night that they are in possession of evidence which they consider establishes that $18,000 was forwarded to Canada from Russia by way of New York to support the Communist movement in Canada.

They said further that of this $7,000 was used by the movement in Toronto, and $11,000 went to the Communists in Winnipeg.

At Evan's Home.

Police reported that evidence of importance was secured in the library discovered Communist papers under a bed in a raid on T. A. Evan's home. The police raids were led by Inspector Hall, and his squad consisted of Plainclothesman Mann and Simpson and Detectives Waterhouse, Erling, Silverthorn and McCready.

T. A. Evan, Chief Secretary of the Workers' Unity League, whose home is at 341 Euclid Avenue, was also raided by the police is wanted on a charge similar to those preferred against Buck and Boychuk, it according to last advices last night was still at large.

Duck Hunting Ban During Coming Fall Proposed to Ottawa

Shortage of Game in the Canadian West the Cause

SEEK AID

Drought Is the Principal Reason For Lack of Wild Ducks

Ottawa, Aug. 12.—The duck hunting season, three dollar cash prize daily with the sun on the cold fall morning waiting for the "woodies" and the "whistlers" to swoop down among their decoys, may be a thing of the past, according to what is on foot in Canada and the United States, to have no open season for ducks this fall, or at most, only a very few weeks.

Officials from Washington have been in Ottawa talking the situation over with the representatives of the Parks Branch of the Department of Interior, and have returned to advise President Hoover. Dr. Harrison F. Lewis, Chief Migratory Bird Officer for Ontario and Quebec, has received instructions from Hon. Thomas Murphy, Minister of Interior, to interview the chief game officials of the Provinces of Eastern Canada, to report on the official situation to them and decide how-to-Canada will be prepared, up to the matter when discussions with Washington are finished.

The drought in Saskatchewan and to a less degree in the other Prairie Provinces, is responsible for the situation. Wild ducks are happily unconcerned with the international and immigration. Most of them on this continent are born in Canada and die in the United States. This summer a sanctuary for the Prairie ducks. They arrived in their accustomed hundreds, ground and find their favorite watercourses dried up. Many of the birds died, and many others, although they survived, reared no brood of young lives, according to reports coming in to the department.

Accordingly, a comparatively few Prairie ducks will return this autumn. Those are the only ducks which breed in Eastern Canada have had a fairly good year and will go south in about normal numbers, but it is feared that of the thousands of hunters concentrated on the lake ducks they will be very nearly exterminated as well. So it is supposed by our game experts this year to the minimum, or wipe it out altogether for this year.

RUM RUNNER GIVEN 'RIDE'

After Lengthy Motor Trip Was Returned Safely Home

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 12—Nathen Katz, said by Police to have admitted he had engaged in liquor operations was released unharmed a few hours later by three men who forced him to accompany them from his home at 1 a.m. He reported to police today. Police said that Katz insisted he did not know the reason for the kidnapping men. Katz first reported the kidnapping to police saying the three men forced her husband to leave his bed and drove away in their car. Katz said the three drove around the outskirts of Detroit for two hours and that before releasing him they took $2 from his pocketbook but returned $70 they found in another pocket.

As a result of an exceptionally fine crop of strawberries this season, shipments from the Maritime Provinces, according to official figures, are from 100 to 150 per cent better this year.

HEART ATTACK CAUSES DEATH OF E. F. KRAUS

Standing on Bathing Beach at Healey Falls when Stricken

FROM CLEVELAND

Inquest Unnecessary and Body Was Sent to Home Today

E. F. Kraus, Cleveland, Ohio, resident manager of the North Western National Insurance Company died suddenly last night at a camp he recently owned by Fred Kelley of Healey Falls, situated north of Campbellford. The body was prepared for burial, the coroner considering an inquest unnecessary, and was sent to Cleveland, Ohio, this afternoon from Havelock. His wife, also Miss Alice Mahon, and her brother, William Mahon, District Attorney for Ohio, who made up the camping party, accompanied the body.

Mr. Kraus, with his party, arrived at Healey Falls nearly two weeks ago to enjoy the beauties of Canadian scenery and also to enjoy a well-earned holiday. The suddenness of his death yesterday left the party in sorrow. About four o'clock Tuesday afternoon the party went in for the daily swim as was customary and after enjoying the dip for over an hour Mr. Kraus came to shore and was standing watching the others, when he was stricken with heart spasm, a key and passed away before medical aid could be summoned.

'DAME CUPID' STILL WORKS

More Weddings in June This Year Than in Previous Three

"Dame Cupid" shows neither fear nor favor in the matching of men and weddings will show for the 'past three years. June weddings have been on the upward trend during the times of depression, which is by the records for the past three years in the city of Belleville. In 1929 the address card for June Weddings while in 1930 there were nineteen nuptial gatherings. In June of this year when one did not expect as many wedding feasts we find that there were twenty-three ceremonies performed, three nice, old shoes and old tin pans were in evidence. All these go to show that 'love will find a very way.' These figures were taken from the records in the Belleville City Hall.

RED ELEMENT NOT EVIDENT IN DISTRICT

Although a Large District Inspector Lougheed Is Satisfied

NO INSTRUCTIONS

Never Been Any Trouble Over Nine Counties in the District

In conversation, Wednesday morning with District Inspector Lougheed, of District Headquarters Ontario Provincial Police, regarding "Red" activities, the reporter of The Ontario Intelligencer was asked if the office had received any instructions regarding the inauguration of a Federal-Provincial drive on Red element suspected activities.

To this query the District Inspector replied, "I may say that I have not received any information or instructions from Provincial Headquarters regarding this matter. I am very glad to say regarding the conditions existing in my district that there has been no trouble, as far, from the Red element. My district, too, is large, taking in nine counties and including places of considerable population, such as Port Hope, Cobourg, Peterboro, Lindsay, Kingston and Belleville."

FLIERS GIVEN UP FOR LOST

Search Will Continue For Two Days Longer

Copenhagen, Denmark, Aug. 12 (AP)—The flier Parker Cramer and his radio operator, Oliver Pacquette, left Copenhagen Sunday on a hop from the Shetland Islands to Copenhagen, were practically given up for lost today but the search will continue for two days. The Danish survey ship Island Falk, aided by two trawlers, was extending its efforts over the whole of the western coast of Jutland in the hope that the airmen had been forced down somewhere. Danish, Norwegian and British coastal stations also were helping in the Skaw and the southern coast of Norway yesterday without result.

MUST NOT ACCEPT WORK IN HOLIDAYS

Ottawa, Aug. 12.—(CP)—Civil servants who accept temporary employment during their holidays will be subject to immediate suspension, according to an order-in-Council, which was made public here today by Senator G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor.

A number of Government employees in the past have taken advantage of their annual leave to find themselves positions at race tracks, exhibitions and the like, it was explained, thereby depriving unemployed men of work.

The practice is to be abolished.

WILL CARRY ON

Garnia, Ont., Aug. 12—The Sarnia Port Huron vehicular tunnel project will not be abandoned because W. W. Martin of Windsor has been placed in bankruptcy, said John Doherty, an associate in the scheme. "We shall carry on, with our plans and have a new bill in readiness for the House of Commons next spring," he said. A bill sanctioning such a project was recently defeated in parliament.

'BIG FIVE' OF BRITISH CABINET MEET TO BALANCE BUDGET

Deficiency of 600 Millions Has to Be Made Good — Commission Recommended Huge Cuts Amounting to 480 Millions in State Spending Departments.

London, Aug. 12 (AP) — Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and the leading members of the Labor Cabinet cut short their holidays today and assembled here to consider the recent report of the economy committee which recommends the shearing $180,000,000 a year from the government expenditures.

Mr. MacDonald had hurried down from Scotland. Hon. Philip Snowden, the Chancellor, drove in from his home in Surrey. Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Dominions' Secretary, came up from the south coast; Rt. Hon. William Graham, Secretary of the Board of Trade, crossed from the continent, and Hon. Arthur Henderson, Foreign Secretary, returned from the west of England.

Must Be Urgent

The importance of Mr. MacDonald's summons is indicated by the fact that only the most important national problems ever bring the cabinet ministers back to their London desks during the brief summer holidays.

The first move in Downing street was issuance of a definite denial of reports that Mr. MacDonald might retire from the cabinet. Although he recently submitted to a serious operation, the chancellor is said to have recovered completely.

Reports of a split in the cabinet over the economy issue also were denied and it was asserted that Mr. MacDonald and his colleagues are determined to balance the budget and to escape the possibility of a $600,000,000 deficit predicted by the economy report if national expenditures continue on the present scale.

The meeting which began this morning will continue tomorrow and thereafter it is expected that the Conservative and Liberal leaders will be asked to co-operate in an economy drive.

Legislation Necessary

Legislation will be necessary to put some of the economy report recommendations into effect, and since some of the measures are of a highly controversial nature the co-operation of the opposition would be valuable.

Meanwhile the government is directing its efforts to dissipate a feeling of apprehension regarding

WINSTON CHURCHILL PROTESTS AGAINST BAN OF BROADCAST

Thinks Discussion of Indian Problem Should Be Allowed Over the Air, Turned Down By British Broadcasting Company as a Matter for Political Whips to Decide.

London, Aug. 12 (AP)—Winston Churchill, former Conservative Chancellor of the Exchequer, was protesting today the refusal of the British Broadcasting Corporation to allow him to discuss the Indian problem on the air.

John Whitley, chairman of the corporation and once Speaker of the House of Commons, barred Churchill from the radio on the ground that "in view of the delicacy of the Indian situation, further talks are undesirable at present." He intimated the address might be permitted after the second round table conference in September.

Accuses Whitley

Mr. Churchill, a strong opponent of the Labor Government's policies in India, accused Mr. Whitley in a letter of "sterilizing or unevenly applying this new and valuable facility given by science" in issuing the ban.

Whitley was assuming a serious responsibility, he added, in refusing to allow him to "warn the nation of the enormous perils approaching it in India. The government's attempt to prevent fair public discussion, he declared, is directed to see you lend yourself, can only contribute to stating disrespect on broadcasting."

Mr. Churchill's first request was made in February and turned down on the ground that it was a matter for political party whips to decide. He again applied on July 2 for an "opportunity of stating the British side of the case."

COMMUNIST 'KEY MEN' ARE REMANDED ONE WEEK

In Meantime Search Is Being Continued For Other Leaders — Heavy Bail Asked and Will Likely Be Furnished.

Toronto, Aug. 12 (CP)—Three alleged "key men" of the Communist party in Canada appeared in police court today and were remanded in custody until August 19 on charges of being members of an "unlawful association." The charges follow the series of raids made last night by city, Provincial and Dominion police on local headquarters of the Communist Party and on the residences of Communist leaders.

Tim Buck, political secretary of the Communist Party, and John Boychuk, organizer among Ukrainians, appeared on the "unlawful association" charge. Mike Golinsky of Calgary, arrested early today appeared on a charge of theft, but the more serious charge was laid later and he was due to appear again for remand.

Joseph Sedgewick of the Provincial Attorney-General's office appeared for the Crown and asked that the men be detained in custody. Hugh John MacDonald, counsel for the accused, opposed and application for bail would be made.

"Can you find sureties totalling $10,000 or $20,000?" asked Magistrate Jelliee.

"I think we could," said MacDonald.

Bail was made an order for bail and will hear an application at an early date, the magistrate.

Crown officers, however, intimated that before any application for bail would be opposed, although the decision would rest of course with the magistrate. In the mean time the search for other leaders at Communist headquarters at noon and the search for Tom Ewen, secretary of the Workers' Unity League, continued.

GOLINSKY WALKS INTO POLICE TRAP

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 12.—By The Canadian Press)—Mike Golinsky, of Calgary, was arrested by police when he walked into a trap set in the home of Thomas Ewen, who is wanted by the police in connection with the raids on Communist headquarters.

Golinsky, who had just arrived from the Alberta city, was held on a nominal charge of vagrancy.

"DO YOU KNOW" STORIES APPEAR IN ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

Beginning with this issue, The Ontario Intelligencer will carry several stories each day, under worthy firms of the city. These stories will be distributed through the paper and will appear in the form of straight news stories. The object is further acquaint the people of Belleville and surrounding territory with the metropolitan services of our own institutions.

To give the reader added interest in the articles, The Ontario Intelligencer is introducing a contest in conjunction with the stories.

Here is how—The last sentence in each story will be found to form a question which begins: "Do you know . . ." The question pertains to the firm of whom the story is written, and it is necessary to call them to obtain the answer. This, however, is not a guessing contest. The Ontario Intelligencer will pay a three dollar cash prize daily for the most cleverly arranged answers to the questions.

To those who are planning to call each of the firms that the stories describe, obtain the answer to the question, and submit the set of answers to the Ontario Intelligencer "Do You Know" editor.

Your set of answers may be arranged in any way. They are judged for originality of construction. You may write your answers to paper or touch them off in an artistic manner with crayons or water colors, or write an essay built around the firm and their service, or paste your answers on a postcard with pictures that are in keeping with the service of the firm or accompany your answers with cartoons, or what have you. There are many suggestions that test your artistic ability by arranging your set of answers in any novel or unique way.

The "Do You Know" stories are easy to locate. Each carries a foot-note at the bottom which announces the amount of prizes and the number of stories in the issue.

Turn to the pages now, locate the articles, call the firms and send in your answers. It's fun! It's profitable! It's educational!

APPEAL DISMISSED, EVIDENCE OF ALIENISTS IS REFUSED

Brockenshire Must Hang For Shooting Con. McQuillan

JUSTICES AGREED

Precludes Any Attempt to Go to the Supreme Court of Canada

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 12 (By The Canadian Press)—John Brockenshire of Toronto will have to hang with his life on Sept. 22, for the murder of police constable Roy McQuillin here last June. Brockenshire of the first Appellate Court today, when they dismissed the appeal of the accused who is sentenced to be hanged at the local jail on Sept. 22. The dismissal of Brockenshire's appeal today ends many months of lengthy court proceedings during which time his trial has attracted province wide attention.

Shot Constable

The crime for which Brockenshire will hang occurred many months ago on the outskirts of the city when he and a companion, Jimmy Clarkson, also of Windsor, were apprehended by police officers in a stolen car. Questioned as to the ownership of the car Brockenshire claimed it was his but when asked to show his ownership license he rifled three shots from a revolver and produced a revolver with which he shot the police constable, jumping from the car the two Windsor youths made for a nearby bush but in an attempt to escape Brockenshire was shot through the shoulder by a bullet from the gun of McQuillin's companion.

Elected Police.

The two, however, eluded police for some time, Clarkson being caught several hours later in a sugar cane field, Brockenshire was not captured until one of the greatest manhunts ever staged in the pro-

CAMP BORDEN EXODUS STARTS IN SEPTEMBER

Expect 95 Airmen to Arrive at Trenton Next Month

According to reliable information secured today, approximately one hundred pilots and mechanics of the R.C.A.F. from Camp Borden will be moved to the new Air Station as yet untamed, at Trenton late in September. Saturday the tenders for the new barracks building were called in, and although the contract has not yet been let, work will be rushed on the building as soon as the Department at Ottawa decides. It is stated, however, that even though work starts on the barracks at once, it would not be entirely completed in time for residency this year. Billets in Trenton homes until spring are also expected to be arranged, however.

Yesterday, Major Rogers, engineer in charge of construction at Trenton, returned by plane from Camp Borden, and to Belleville with Pilot Officer Lawrence Wray, son of S. J. Wray of this city, piloted the plane. Pilot Officer Wray has apparently advanced rapidly in his chosen profession and Belleville citizens will watch his career with interest.

The airport at Trenton becomes daily an ever increasing activity with one hangar practically completed and finished in white paint, while a second will be ready for the roof in the next few days. Levelling work is still going on, although there is even now enough space for the largest transport ship to land and take off with safety. Work has been necessarily curtailed somewhat this year due to the government cutting down the money allided for aviation, but it is expected that by this time next year, with the better financial agreement of Camp Borden, to the number of airplanes hundred, will have been moved to Trenton.

THE WEATHER

Meteorological Office, Toronto, 8 a.m., Aug. 12.—Showers and thunderstorms extends from the central states across Ontario and Quebec to the Maritime Provinces, while a shallow depression is centred off the east coast of New Jersey. Somewhat moderate low area covers the western provinces. Showers have occurred in southern districts of the Maritime Provinces and thunderstorms in some parts of Alberta; elsewhere in Canada the weather is fair and warm in the Western Provinces and moderate temperatures from the Great Lakes eastward.

Northern Ontario: Light to moderate winds; fair and a little warmer today and Thursday.

Ottawa and Upper St. Lawrence Valleys: Moderate to occasionally fresh winds; partly cloudy and comparatively cool today and Thursday.

Lower St. Lawrence Valley; Fresh northeast winds; partly cloudy and comparatively cool today and Thursday. With some rain in southern districts.

Gulf and North Shore: Moderate winds; partly cloudy tonight and Thursday; not much change in temperature.

Maritime East: Moderate to fresh easterly winds; partly cloudy and Thursday; with occasional rain.

Maritime West: Moderate to fresh easterly winds; cloudy today and Thursday with occasional rain.

Great Lakes: Moderate winds; partly cloudy. Thursday: Moderate to fresh winds shifting to easterly; mostly cloudy, followed by showers.

Amethyst, Huron: Moderate to fresh easterly to northerly winds; cloudy today and Thursday with occasional rain.

Lake Superior: Moderate southerly winds; fair and moderately warm today and Thursday.

Manitoba: Fair and warm today Thursday: Partly cloudy with scattered showers.

Saskatchewan: Partly cloudy with a few scattered showers; somewhat cooler tonight and Thursday.

Alberta: Mostly fair and cool tonight and Thursday.

CIVIC PAWNSHOP FOR MONTREAL

Scheme Will Only Be in Effect For One Year

Montreal, Aug. 12.—The establishment of a pawnshop under civic patronage was authorized by the municipal authorities here yesterday. The city entered upon a contract with an incorporated firm, authorizing the company to open one or more pawnshops for one year.

The reasons behind the move it was explained, were that many people were in need of money, but were hesitant about approaching an ordinary pawnshop. With civic protection and guarantee those people, it was pointed out, would be more inclined to feel confident of security, and this step on the part of the municipal authorities would be the temporarily financially

GREATEST TEST TODAY ON RANGE

600 Competitors Fire in First Stage of Gov.-General's Match

Rifle Ranges, Ottawa, Aug. 12—The greatest test in Canadian rifle shooting opens at the Dominion Rifle Association meeting here today, when nearly 600 competitors commence firing in the first stage of the Governor-General's match, and judging by the entry list, competition will be keener than ever before. Three ranges, 200, 500, and 600 yards, are in use for the match, the remaining two 600 and 900 yards will be finished on Saturday.

The Governor-General's is the richest match of the meet, with more than $3,000 in prize money. Associate prizes, however, depends on the result of the big match, including members holding the ticket of winning marksmen are entitled to prizes ranging from $25.00 to $10. Also of importance is the Governor-General's Cup, given by the Governor-General's. This event is open to teams of eight from the permanent forces of His Majesty's forces with one team from Canada, and one from the British Empire.

Fired in conjunction with the Canada match too, is the east and west match, open to teams of eight from each military district in the Dominion. For this event the Dominion will be divided into two sections with the best shots in the east meeting the best shots in the west.

REVISED RETURNS REDUCE MAJORITY

Conservative Majority in Three Rivers Is Now Given As Eight

Three Rivers, Que., Aug. 13 (By The Canadian Press)—Revised returns from the Parish of St. Sauveur Caston, announced this morning, reduced to eight votes the majority of Charles Bourregeoh, Conservative, over Hon. Wilfred Gariepy, Liberal, in the Dominion by-election held in Three Rivers-St. Maurice, Monday.

Delayed and incomplete returns have kept the results of the by-election in doubt ever since the polls closed, with both Conservative and Liberal forces claiming a victory. Unofficial returns first indicated a victory for Gariepy with a comfortable majority. This was quickly altered early on election Monday when later returns indicated a majority of more than two hundred for Bourgeois. This was whittled down until yesterday when the latest unofficial figure was 64.

Today's announcement from St. Marie De Caston, a northern parish, gives the majority for Gariepy in that district at 182 instead of 146 as had previously been announced. An official statement of the vote has been promised for tomorrow by the returning officer of the constituency.

The by-election was occasioned by the death of Major Arthur Belley, of Three Rivers, sitting member. Mayor Bourgeois won the seat for the Liberal party in the last election with a majority of 3640 and the seat had been Liberal since 1896.

'BIG FIVE'

the nation's finances, an illustration of which was provided yesterday by the stand taken by the Board of Commerce in adopting a resolution asserting that unless economies are effected immediately the nation's credit may be seriously endangered.

Sir Sutherland, Sponsor of the resolution, described the present situation as the most serious financial crisis Canada has ever been called. The resolution urged a special session of parliament to effect a saving of not less than a billion dollars a year.

Similarly today F. R. A. Shortis, chairman of the Gresham Trust, Ltd., pointed a gloomy economic conditions at that firm's general meeting.

The basic industries of iron, steel, coal, shipping, cotton, and woollen manufacturing are in "an appalling state," he said. "Unemployment is growing more serious day," he declared, "our export trade—the lifeblood of this country—declining month by month and we are losing our overseas markets."

"This country in on the edge of an abyss. Every day that economies are postponed makes their accomplishment more difficult. But I am not without hope that the common sense of our leaders and our people will shortly assert itself and that we shall be once more on the road to prosperity."

London, Aug. 13 — Sir George Hamilton, Canadian, (from Staff Correspondent)—In response to a swift decision late last night, the first five of the British Fleet Cabinet met at 10 Downing Street this afternoon in a third day conference to make the British Budget balance.

The big five are Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, Hon. Arthur Henderson, Foreign Secretary, Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Dominion Affairs, and Rt. Hon. William Graham, President of the Board of Trade.

Must Balance Budget

They have got to them the majority report of the May economy committee, which, with minor changes, parties were represented, and which found that to produce a properly balanced Budget, including the sinking fund, involved reduction of interest, a deficiency of $400,000,000 has to be made good.

The majority report of the committee recommended flat pay cuts, amounting to $480,000,000, in the state services, including pensions. The unemployment insurance benefits were to be reduced, contributions from employers and workers to the dole were to be increased, teachers' salaries were to be reduced.

But while economies in essential the government is menaced on flank and in the rear by the Labor following and from the great industrial districts where the government finds its chief source of strength there is open revolt against any drastic cuts in the social services as proposed in the majority report.

The big bankers called in are willing to co-operate provided the government is prepared to make drastic cuts. Among the schemes proposed are the following:

(1) A huge conversion loan, announced on Tuesday before parliament adjourned, where by it is estimated $700,000,000 might be saved annually in interest charges.

(2) A special tax on all income from all fixed interest bearing securities with a pro-rata reduction in civil servants' salaries and wages in "sheltered" industries.

(3) International agreement reducing expenditure on land, sea and air armaments.

The idea behind the loan conversion scheme is that conversion to lower interest rates would be automatic unless the holder of the security specifically asked for the same principle as that underlying Australia's famous "Premier" conversion scheme.

The "big five" sit this afternoon and tomorrow and resume their discussions on Monday. It is proposed to call a meeting representative of the three parties afterwards, at which the government's plans will be discussed.

The House of Commons does not reassemble until Oct. 20 though there were hints before adjournment the House might be summoned earlier if the need arose. The Prime Minister however is against the suggestion that parliament be summoned immediately.

Not Downhearted Says Brockenshire

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 13 (CP)—"I am not downhearted, I expected it," was the style reply of Jack Brockenshire of Windsor, Ont., who was to be hanged at the local jail, Sept. 23, for the murder of police constable Roy McQuittin, when information was received last night by Capt. Bunton of the Salvation Army that his appeal from the death sentence had been dismissed by first appellate court at Osgoode Hall.

Maintaining the same calmness which he had kept since his arrest last December, Brockenshire answered in the death cell as the army officer spoke to him of his fate of his appeal court's decision.

Newspaper Man

Mr. J. Hunter, as he was most familiarly known throughout the province, passed away in his late home friends, was born in Brantford, Ontario, and came to Belleville 36 years ago, where he took over the proprietorship of the Intelligencer. Some years ago he purchased the Kincardine Review and conducted the paper until four years ago he also came into possession of the Ripley express.

Keen Orangeman

Mr. Hunter at all times evinced a keen interest in the activities of the Orange Order and was for a time Deputy of Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Ontario West. He was also a member of the Masonic order, Belleville Lodge No. 247 and Quinte Chapter No. 43. He was a former Mayor of the town and served for many years as Councillor and as Assessor for municipal offices. But a short time ago, due to declining health, he retired from the secretary-treasurership of the Kincardine Public School after 24 years of service. In addition to carrying on the newspaper business the deceased man was also president of the Bruce Municipal Telephone system.

For one term he has been honored with the presidency of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association. He was a member of the United Church and a staunch Liberal, surviving are his wife, by marriage Hunter, one sister, Mrs. Van Hatter, who made her home with him, and one brother, Thomas, Brandon, Manitoba.

Arrests are Made In Tragic Deaths Of Quartette

Believe One Was Shot and Others Beat Into Insensibility

TWO ARE HELD

Found Damaging Evidence in Home of Wheels of Two Brothers

Ann Arbor, Mich., Aug. 12.—Armed with warrants charging murder, officers of two counties today pressed their inquiry into the murder of two young men whose bodies were found early yesterday in a blazing automobile on a country road. At the same time two suspects, brothers, living near the scene of the crime, were held.

The inquiry strengthened the belief Joseph D. Andros of Washtenaw County and other investigators, that the party met death in a desperate struggle in which one victim had as its motive either robbery or an assault on the girls' Association sheriff's deputies, the inquiry were State Police and officers of Wayne County Circuit, since the crime was committed on a road, which borders the two counties.

One Victim Shot

University of Michigan Pathologist, who examined the charred bodies, reported that Harry Lore, 18, of Detroit, one of the victims, had been shot to death. The other three, Thomas Hornsby, 17, a farm youth of the neighborhood; Vivian Gold, 15, and Anna May Kenney, 16, Detroit girls, were found, were beaten to death or into insensibility before they were placed in Lore's car, their clothing saturated with gasoline and the automobile set afire.

Lore and Miss Gold were cousins and the two girls had been visiting in the Lore home. Hornsby and Miss Kenney had been sweethearts.

A HOSPITABLE SYNAGOG

It was at the conference called by the Vanderbilt School of Religion that the Presbyterian leader, Rabbi Julius Mark, discuss the need for better understanding between Jew and Christian.

So, when it came his turn to say something, the Rev. Henry M. Edmonds, minister of the Independent Presbyterian Church of Birmingham, Alabama, recalled that he and his congregation had once been received under a synagog roof and had broken bread with their Jewish brethren. As the Dallas Morning News quotes him, he said:

"Fifteen years ago my church and I found ourselves without a building. Rabbi Morris Newfield offered us immediately the hospitality of the magnificent new Temple Emanu-el.

"We accepted and appointed a committee to confer with the Temple Emanu-el house committee as to a practical basis for living together. It was decided that they were to use the auditorium Friday evening and Saturday morning, we Sunday morning and evening.

"The Week of Hate delayed our building, and we lived in the same house with our Jewish brethren seven years; and they were on seven days for the love we came to bear one another. . . .

"Our congregations had to separate finally, but we said no Miza-ya-dee goodbye. 'The Lord watch between me and thee while we are absent one from another' and keep us apart.

"We ate together from time to time, and when we dedicated our church, one of the most valued things that we received it was a pair of seven-branched candlesticks from the congregation of Temple Emanu-el."

There was more to the Presbyterian's address, comments The News—"a frank confession of Gentile wrongs committed for two thousand years against the Jewish people. Yielding nothing of his belief in Jesus, he went on to find a basis of brotherhood with the race from which Jesus came. The world is better for such honesty of mind and goodness of heart."

BOTH HOLY AND UP TO DATE

Palestine is a Holy Land both to Christians and to Mohammedans, but this does not prevent its industrial modernization at the hands of the British, who have been given a "mandate" to govern it under the League of Nations.

Hydro-electric power stations on the river Jordan, in which Christ was baptized, are thus described in The Science News Letter, a Science Service publication (Washington):

"Palestine is being modernized.

"With the completion of three hydro-electric power stations now being erected on the historic river Jordan, with the ribbing of the long, narrow valley of the Holy Land with concrete canals, and the substation for a storage reservoir of the Sea of Galilee on whose waters Christ walked two millennia ago, the Holy Land is becoming modern and industrial.

"The Jordan is readily adaptable to Hydro-electric power, with its 3,000-foot drop from its source on Mount Hermon to its mouth in the Dead Sea, a saline lake 1,300 feet below the level of the Mediterranean, and farther below the sea-level than any other body of water in the world.

"And with the diversion of enough of flood waters of the Yarmuk and the Jordan rivers into the Sea of Galilee as a huge reservoir and with the building of suitable dams and canals, 5,000,000 tons of water will be at the disposal of engineers every day during both the wet and dry seasons. These three power stations will total 48,000 horse-power output, and are the first step in a plan for the complete electrification of Palestine.

"The first of these power stations is now completed at Jarv-el-Majumeh, and using its water-power from a canal carrying waters from the Yarmuk River, a tributary to the Jordan. This station delivers 18,000 horse-power in electricity, with provisions for doubling this amount.

KNOWN BY HIS POST

In giving up the post of highways minister, Hon. George S. Henry has done what was expected of him when he took the premiership.

Mr. Henry made his name with roads and it will be by roads that his name for years will be associated. Of course, some great legislation may be coming in in the near future which will make his name synonymous with it, but so far the name of Henry means most in highways. He has been the great highwayman of Ontario, giving it roads which serve city and country alike.

Of course, Mr. Henry knew the need of roads and it was carrying out his ideas in linking the province with highways and roads that he was doing while in office.

His work in the premiership leads to the belief that this office will also be one of distinction.

THE LETTER
By Aline Michaelis

These are things the letter told:
"Don't worry, I'm all right;
The weather's fine, today quite cold;
Played bridge at Dick's last night.
I've fed the kitten and the pup.
I've taken in the milk,
And put away the Dresden cup;
The place is fine as silk.
Don't fret about one thing, my dear,
For everything's o.k.
Of course, I'd love to have you here;
But finish out your stay."

And this the letter did not say.
"How can it only be
A week (it seems a year) today
Since you've been gone from me!
The kitten cries, the puppy howls,
The house seems like a tomb,
And the once-friendly milk-man scowls
Through an abysmal gloom.
I hope your days go dragging past
So you will miss us, too,
For kitten, pup and I can't last
Much longer without you!"

FRONT STREET MERCHANT writes that he does not see why the lights on Victoria Park are not turned on this summer. A party from a yacht came into his store and complained of the darkness of the park which kept them from coming up town at night. Yachts frequently tie up at the park for the night but on account of the absence of lights, the passengers do not come up to the town, a friendly tie up that used to be a very potential custom is lost. Citizens, also, would not care to visit the park in the evening unless the electric lights are on. We have had frequent queries as to the reason of the darkness of Victoria Park, but thus far are as much in the dark as anyone. Referred to Parks Board.

ARE YOU SAVING your tinfoil, tea lead, etc., for the crippled children? A good act. Make it better by removing the paper from the lead. A good deal of the lead is brought in with the paper clinging, even the outside container of cigarette packages being removed. This makes much work for Al Stillman and his Rotarians, all busy men, who have plenty to do getting the machinery for the work started and performing other acts in behalf of the crippled children of Bellville.

x x x

CRIPPLED CHILDREN—few realize what a wonderful work the Belleville Rotary Club is doing for the crippled children of Belleville, and what every other Rotary Club and kindred organizations are doing to banish pain and sorrow and bewilderment on the smile of health and happiness to these little ones who face the world cruelly handicapped. When the case of a cripple child is taken up the first thing necessary is local medical treatment. This is provided with hospital care if necessary. The next step is specialist treatment in Toronto at the Hospital for Sick Children. Six months, a year, two years, or more may be spent on a single case, for once started toward a cure, there must be no turning back. When it is considered that over two hundred crippled children have had their cases studied as the result of this movement in Belleville, the magnitude of the work can be at least partially understood.

NEW BOWLING GREEN at the Belleville Recreation Park, otherwise known as the Fair Grounds, will be a credit to the city and the Parks Board, the club and all concerned. When finished and in use it will add considerably to the beauty and usefulness of the park. Being on the Rawson Bus Line the bowling green will be handy for those without their own motor cars.

WITH ANOTHER NEW INDUSTRY in the Swift Packing plant, opening this week, Belleville's growing time continues and Belleville folks can see nothing ahead save continued and growing prosperity.

Stirling

Stirling, Aug. 12—A very pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church at Burnbrae, at 2 o'clock, August 10, 1931, when Edna, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hagaman of Havelock became the bride of Mr. Wilmer Cecil Fleming, Rev. D. A. McKenzie of St. Andrew's Church, Burnbrae, officiating. The bride was given away by her father. The bride's party proceeded up the aisle to the strains of Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus, played by Miss Aileen Rutherford, cousin of the bride. During the signing of the register, Miss Stirling sang "Because" and "Lead me Me." The bridesmaid was Miss Nell Sangunson, brother of the bride, and Stanley Fleming, brother of the bridegroom, acted as groomsman. The bridesmaid wore a frock of green satin with cream lace overdress, green flowers and carried a bouquet of flowers. The bridegroom wore black, while the pianist wore a flowered chiffon gown, and all wore large picture hats with huge bows of satin ribbon. Following the ceremony the church was beautifully decorated with potted plants and ornamental flowers and white ribbon. It was a colorful wedding. After the ceremony the invited guests returned to Hagaman's for the wedding dinner. The happy couple will reside in Toronto. IS THE BEST FOR SAKE OF HEALTH

Citizens' Dairy Ltd., Has Sanitary Plant; Products Health Building

The dairy products of the Citizen's Dairy Ltd., are truly products of Belleville. They buy their cream from the farmers of the surrounding territory. It is collected and brought to them by the most sanitary methods possible. They have a reputation for-open and above board dealings, paying top prices at all times. A business such as this is a boon to any community. Well-meeting the patronage of both farmers and towns-folk.

The Citizens' Dairy Ltd., are producers of highest quality butter, milk, cream and buttermilk. These products are manufactured by modern equipment in a plant that is clean and sanitary in every particular. They endeavor to give the people of Belleville trading area the best that can be had. That they keep this goal always successful is evidenced by the ever-increasing quantity they have to distribute.

Their milk, when collected, is taken immediately to their plant and pasteurization or pasteurization of milk is attained by heating it to a temperature of 144 degrees, holding it, thus heated, for 30 minutes, then quickly cooling. This process eliminates all harmful bacteria, leaving the milk pure, healthful and unharmed. An open invitation is extended to the public to visit their plant and witness their pasteurization process, and the manufacturing of this products.

A glass of pure healthful milk at ten o'clock in the morning and three in the afternoon wards off that tired feeling of fatigue. It cleans the completion and beautifies the skin. Milk may be served to the entire family at meal time, and between meals, too. The palest cheeks are given color, the frailest body is given health and vigor through the judicious use of milk. School and health authorities everywhere agree on the advisability of giving milk to the children at school.

Fashionably Speaking

By Lucille

Dear Readers:

Just when a fur coat was a fur coat and that was that are definitely declared, furs are classified as intricately as fabrics; indeed. Now we borrow the best features of cloth coats outright, and couturier houses are all over the place. If the coats you are viewing are not themselves precise copies of Paris designs, then your attention will certainly be directed to Winnie's Parisian shoulder or Bruyere's melon sleeve, or Chanel's notched collar.

In short, the cream for fashion maker detail has infected fur fashions and with agreeable results too. It has aroused fresh interest in all furs and design and—this is what the customers will appreciate—has evolved furs terribly devoid of that bulkiness so trying to all but the slimmest figures.

The selection of a fur coat being an important matter, were here to lay last scene of this policy you ought to know this season.

First of all the designers are stressing the coat for the occasion much more strongly than in the a good deal of difference nowadays between sports and formal daytime models. By unless you can afford more than one, it would be best to pass up the charm of the sports furs for the more dressy around virtues of the others. And if you don't know where your fur coat is coming from, or when, do pick a fur suited for long wearing qualities—Persian lamb if you are pursuing cash, Hudson seal if you want to be thrifty as well as fashionable.

The fashion revival of Hudson seal is causing much commentment. Alone, or in combination with other furs, it is made into many good-looking coats and it is also a favored trimming on cloth coats and suits. If the sealskin coat is rather shapeless, bulky coat you were

Firpo Marberry Pitched a Three-hit Game to Down Tigers

(By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR., Associated Press Sports Writer)

Every so often during the fanning bees this season, the word has gone out that Connie Mack is about ready to break up his current baseball machine and start building a new team of Athletics for the purpose of winning future pennants. He did it once, and those who believe the present Philadelphia team is nearing the end of the championship road are willing to believe Mack will repeat that startling experiment.

But the Athletics line-up for the past three weeks indicates that Mack will not have such long hard task in rebuilding as he might if he does decide to make important changes before next year.

All Is Not Lost Crippled

For about three weeks the Athletics have been theoretically crippled. Joe Boley and Jimmy Dykes have been out of action most of the time and a third infield regular, Max Bishop, has missed a good many games. Added to that, Mule Haas was hurt, putting a serious kink in the outfield. In that three weeks, however, the Athletics have won 15 games and lost 7, proving that Mack has some substitutes who can go along winning games in the accepted Athletic manner. Dib Williams and Eric McNair have served well in the infield and Jimmy Foxx has been able to move over to third, when it was required, while Roger Cramer is showing up well in the outfield.

The trio of "substitutes" was in behind Lefty Grove yesterday and helped produce an 8 to 1 victory over the Detroit Tigers in the first game of the new western tour. McNair started the deciding rally in the second inning with a home run. Williams followed with a single and scored the second counter of the inning, which saw four runs cross the plate to drive Vic Sorrell to the showers. Grove did his part, pitching effectively to win his 23rd victory of the season. He gave eight hits and four walks but made them ineffective, filling the bases in the first inning only to make Goodman pop up and Rogell strike out.

Allows Three Hits

Fred "Firpo" Marberry, second ranking pitcher of the American League, kept Washington in its customary place behind the Athletics by shutting out the Chicago White Sox, 5-0. Marberry allowed only three singles while Red Faber started his own defeat in the fourth inning with a triple that let the first of their Senator run score.

Danny MacFayden of the Boston Red Sox came out ahead in yesterday's other major league game, getting a 4 to 3 decision over the St. Louis Browns. The Sox gained the three run lead in the first inning by touching him after Lefty Grove had filled the bases. They won out in the eighth on Tom Oliver's single after the Browns had tied the score in the seventh. New York and Cleveland in the American league and all three games on the National League schedule were rained out.

BILLIARDS MOST POPULAR SPORT

Hall's Billiard Parlor Completely Equipped With Every Need

Billiards and pocket billiards are primarily games of skill and science and develop accuracy and a strong, keen and quick mind, as there are always many combinations to solve. The game not only gives one everlasting enjoyment, a sustained interest, but billiards offers plenty of competition. It is not such a complicated game as is generally thought by the untiaied. As Al Jolson, the famous black face comedian says, "It is easy to play or I couldn't play it." Any game can be made a task by just thinking it so.

The general public do not know the large amount of capital invested to provide for such entertainment. The average billiard table costs about $400 and pocket billiard table about $300. When one considers playing several of these tables in a recreation parlor along with other necessary articles, such as light, heat and rent, one might wonder how the owner can make any money at the small rate charged for a single game.

At Hall's Billiard Parlor there is provided plenty of chairs for visitors; if one doesn't know the game, it will surprise him how easy it is to play billiards. Drop in and watch a few games, one will get plenty of thrills and sustained interest. All tables are kept in absolute repair and everything is provided for the experienced player. A sundry and tobacco counter is maintained where one may indulge in refreshments and drinks, and here one may also obtain their favorite brand of cigar or cigarette. The manager of this popular recreation parlor, Mr. Norman Hall, is to be complimented for the clean, fascinating amusement is affords the public and those who enjoy a game of billiards or pool will find this an ideal place at all times. Do you know the three most popular games played at this parlor?

Hailed about five years ago as a possible world's champion in the making, Miss Olive Wade has this season added much to the laurels that Laurels throughout the Dominion. This year she is the young girl not yet out of her teens, mowed down practically every opponent and her performance at Vancouver, B.C., in the Canadian national championship, won first in 1929 at the age of 17, has built up to the ultimate. Her father, groundsman at the Toronto Tennis Club, started her on the game by batting her balls over a net just as soon as she was able to clasp a tennis racquet. The racquet, incidentally, was almost as big as herself, as we can picture. At the age of 12 she began competition, and each year since has brought her further to the top. I first saw her performance in 1929 when she defeated Miss Mary Greef of Kansas City in the finals of the Canadian junior championship. She reminded me of Betty Nuthall, the English star exception, of course, that Betty was then coded for her submarine serves). Both was of the same sturdy build, with arms powerful for the kill. Betty is now on the verge of her greatest years. But Olive, international possibility, is yet a "comer." She will go far.

SCHAAF BOOSTS STOCK DEFEATS ANGUS SYNDER

Wins By Technicay Knockout in Fifth Round

ALWAYS ON THE TOP

Schaof Shifted Offense to Suit the Needs of Bout

Boston, Mass., Aug. 12.—Ernie Schaaf, a slow thinker but a very fast puncher, has boosted his pugilistic prestige another notch by winning a technical knockout over Angus Snyder of Dodge City, Kan., in the fifth round of a scheduled 10-round bout.

The towering slugger, who has spent years of intensive study campaigning, crashed into the circle of top notchers only a few months ago when he learned that his long right arm carried the sleep that means victory, piled into the willing Snyder with the going in deposit some very discouraging shots.

Played for Body

Schaaf played for Snyder's midriff during most of the first round and then in the second, when Snyder closed in and held, the extaller shifted his attack to the head. From then on it was a case of how long Snyder would last.

Schaaf walloped his opponent about the ring in the fourth round until Snyder was wobbling under the blows. The gamester weathered the round but he was weaving as he took his seat as the bell rang.

Schaaf sprang at him in the fifth, straightened him up with a left and then curved a right to the jaw, that quilted Snyder on the canvas. He rose to his feet at the count of nine, only to reel into the inevitable smash, that again settled him on the floor. He was struggling gamely but futilely, to rise and face the slaughter again when Referee Johnny Martin stopped the fight and awarded it to Schaaf on a technical knockout.

FRUIT GIRLS HAVE CHANCE

Defeat Frontenacs 19-15 and Can Win Play-Off Berth

In a rather one sided game the Belleville Fruit girls won from the Frontenacs by the score of 19 to 15. The Frontenacs had to score seven runs in the last two innings to get a total of 15, while the Belle ville Fruit girls started the game by piling up runs from the first to the fifth innings. The loss of the game ruined all chances of the Frontenacs getting into the play-off. However, the game forfeited the chances of the Fruit girls to the extent, that all they have to do is win one more game to be assured of a play-off berth.

Tonight the Maple Leafs and the C.I.A.C.O. girls battle for the third place position and Thursday evening starting at 6.30 p.m. the Belleville Fruit and the C.I.A.C.O. girls hook-up in a double header. These games have been ordered by President Woolley as the league play-offs must start next week. The league race is pretty well tight now, as the Maple Leafs, C.I.A.C.O. and Belleville Fruit are all tangled up fighting for second and third place.

Line-Ups

Belleville Fruit — Bonter, Galna Lavery, Bailey, Rushworth, Underwell, Finger, Holway and Lewis.

Frontenacs—Hedger, F. Knott, Smith, Haslip, Hedger, Richtis, Simmons, A. Knott, Tuft, Blaine and Draryon.

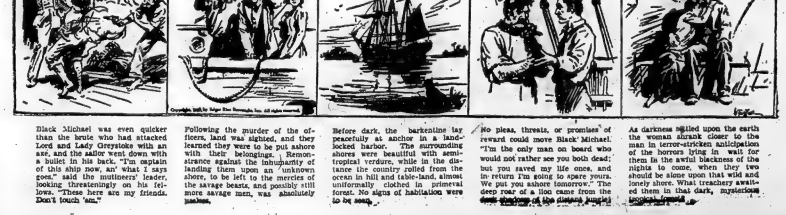
"BAWLS and STRIKES"

Today are the final game of the Central League schedule in Belleville when the Kingston "Frontes" play the Belleville Nationals. All the teams have to do is win to-day's game to assure themselves of first place in the league. On Friday the locals wind up the current season by playing the Napanee team here and the winner of the league play-offs between the first and second place clubs which will no doubt be Kingston and Belleville. The league play-offs will start on or about the 18th.

Looking over the two teams we find some queer observations. First it is noticed that the "Fronte" have not got a pitcher that can stand up under constant fire. This has been proved during the past season. Similar to Belleville, Gaffney and Sullivan have all gone hard under the constant hitting of the opposition. True enough the "Fronte" have uncovered a new pitcher in the person of "Brick" Bass, but has he proven? Playing in league games and playing in play-off games are altogether two different things. So much for the "Fronte" pitchers.

The Nationals have two experience twirlers. There is no question as to the ability of "Scot" Gibson, he has proven this in past play-offs. Also the same applies to Tommy Pohlar who received his initiation into senior play-offs this season age against the hard hitting Bell Telephone team. Any person that has followed baseball will give the Nationals a big edge in the pitching staff. So much for that. On the receiving end we do not think that worth even going into, as "Penny" Mills is head and shoulders over any catcher that we have seen in a good many years with any amateur team. We think that this is granted by all followers of baseball in this section of the country.



At some later date we intend weighing up the advantages and disadvantages of the rest of the teams.

In the intermediate series we find that the local Victories after a very successful season are now into the thick of the Trent Valley League play-offs against the second place Sulphide club. The burning question is whether or not the local Vics can hit the deliveries of Sulphide's south-paw, "Archie" Campbell. The "poet-side" flinger has been a constant worry to the local hitters all season. The first game of the series is to be played at Tweed today with the return game in Belleville Friday evening. Who Manager McLean will start on the mound for the Vics no one yet knows. They has carried the team through the season but at the last minute "Chuck" Jeffery comes along and turns in a game that makes them sit up and take notice. Jeffery has proved his worth while we do not know whether or not Jeffery can duplicate his feat against the Sulphide club. One thing is certain, that we from both Picton and Sulphide but again he is bat to both clubs which makes the situation all the harder to figure out.

If the Victories can hit Campbell at all they will have little or no trouble in over-coming the Sulphide club and meeting the winner of the Havelock-Peterboro play-offs. Down east we find that the Napanee team under the watchful eye of Walter Grove, has got into the league play-off against Odessa. If the Napanee club work under the direction of Grove there is little doubt but what they will enter the league round against the winners of Kingston and district. Napanee are very fortunate in securing the services of a man like Grove.

In the junior series we find that the Hastings County League has developed into a close-up affair. The B.A.A.A. juniors took the first game of the play-off on Monday evening when they won from the league leading Napanee juniors. The next game will be played tomorrow evening at the Fair Grounds. If the B.A.A.A. kids win they will be league champions and meet the Peterboro or Petrolwo in the first round of the O.B.A.A. playdown. But if the Moose win it will take a third game to decide the winner of the local junior league. After witnessing the first game of the series it is hard to tell just how the outcome may be as both teams had plenty of opportunities to win but it was the Association kids who took advantage of them opportunely. Naturally they won. The next game should be interesting to see.

TARZAN OF THE APES No. 3 (Metropolitan Newspap er Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Black Michael was even quicker than the brute who had attacked Lord and Lady Greystoke with an axe, and the sailor went down with a bullet in his back. "I'm captain of this ship now, an' what I says goes," said the mutineers' leader, looking threateningly on his fellows. "These here are my friends. Don't touch 'em."

Following the murder of the officers, land was sighted, and they learned they were to be put ashore with their belongings. Remonstrance against the inhumanity of landing them upon an unknown shore, to be left to the mercies of the savage beasts, and possibly still more savage men, was absolutely useless.

Before dark, the barkentine lay peacefully at anchor in a landlocked harbor. The surrounding shores were beautiful with semi-tropical verdure, while in the distance the country rolled from the ocean in hill and table-land, almost uniformally clothed in primeval forest. No signs of habitation were to be seen.

No pleas, threats, or promises of reward could move Black Michael. "I'm the only man on board who would not rather see you both dead; but you saved my life once, and in return I'm going to save yours. We put you ashore tomorrow." The deep roar of a lion came from the dark shadows of the jungle behind

As darkness settled upon the earth the woman shrank closer to the man in terror-stricken anticipation of the horrors lying in wait for them in the awful blackness of the nights to come, when they two should be alone upon that wild and lonely shore. What treachery awaited them in that dark, mysterious

CUBAN REVOLTS GAINS HEADWAY

Few Killed, Towns Taken and Also Many Prisoners

Havana, Aug. 12 (AP)—News of armed clashes in various parts of Cuba indicated today that revolt against the government of President Gerardo Machado was gaining headway.

Lieut. Rodolfo Chipi, commander of the loyalist forces in the province of Pinar Del Rio, telegraphed that rebel bandits here that Gen. Francisco Peraza, 83, reputed leader of the insurgents in that section, and two other men had been killed in a brisk encounter near Los Palacios last night. Three others there were badly wounded, he said, and eleven captured.

Invade City

The rebels reported that a band of 300 supporters had invaded the city of Sancti Spiritus, defeating a force of 30 federals and taken 25 prisoners before retiring under fire. Another band, they said, had burned the municipal and other buildings.

Reports filtering in from the interior also told of fighting and heavy losses in clashes in a half a dozen provinces. Government troops were said to have taken 14 prisoners in skirmishes at Ranchuelo, near Sancti Spiritus. They captured six rebels but suffered three wounded.

Insurgents, it was declared by telegraph lines at Guines, it was said, had captured two provisions. They captured the little town of Jaruco, and destroyed a considerable part of their troops there. They were destroying their force in several other districts according to reports.

IS THE BEST FOR SAKE OF HEALTH

Citizens' Dairy Ltd., Has Sanitary Plant; Products Health Building

The dairy products of the Citizen's Dairy Ltd., are truly products of Belleville, for they are drawn from the farmers of the surrounding territory. It is from them that is brought to them by the most sanitary methods, the products which has a reputation for open and above board dealings, paying top prices to all alike. A business such as this is a boon to any community, and especially to the producers, the hold farmers and towns-folk.

Citizens' Cream and Milk are products of highest quality butter, cream, buttermilk and cottage cheese products are manufactured by modern equipment in a plant that is clean and sanitary in every particular. Pasteurization at 144 degrees, holding it, thus heated, for at least 30 minutes is accomplished. This process climates all harmful bacteria, leaving the milk pure, healthful, nutritious. An open invitation is extended to the public to visit the plant at any time, to witness their pasteurization process, and the sanitary methods employed.

A glass of pure healthful milk is often drank by the consumer of those in the afternoon wards off that tired feeling of fatigue. It clears the complexion and beautifies the skin. Milk can be served to the entire family at meal time. And between meals. Children's cheeks are given color, the freshest body is given health and vigor while the constant use of milk in School and health authorities everywhere are advocating the daily of giving milk to the children at school.

Do you know the approximate number of quarts milk distributed daily by this firm?

AGREES WITH PLAN

Montreal, Aug. 12—Premier L. A. Taschereau yesterday expressed himself as being in sympathy with a move submitted by J. A. St. Leger, President of the unemployed veterans of the Great War, which would place hundreds of Montreal families on farms in the colonization regions of the Provinces of Quebec.

TOWN OF FERNIE FACE FOREST FIRE

Flames Menace Towns — Preparations Made For Defence

HELP IS SENT

Live Embers Like Rain — Three Separate Fires Near

Fernie, B.C., Aug. 12.—(Canadian Press)—In the path of a devastating forest fire, the mountain town of Fernie today, left unprotected as a protective south wind died to a waning breeze. As the first hours after midnight passed, Fernie's 6,000 population watched flames destroy huge trees and creep within a quarter of a mile of the outlying city houses.

Clouds of smoke, rimmed with the lurid red reflection of the darting flames, hovered over the threatened city, while every available man fought the approaching flames on guarded city structures. Up to midnight Tuesday, a south wind had kept the fire a mile north of the city, but as the wind died down the flames clambered along timbered mountain sides and closed in on the northwestern section of the city.

Fernie Mountain Aflame

Fernie Mountain was a mass of flames and one side of Proctor Mountain, a mile north, was burning. Both the Fernie and Proctor Mountains were set ablaze through extension of the Lizard Mountain Range outbreak, which burned fiercely 36 hours previously.

In its path towards Fernie, the fire jumped Fairy Creek and tore through the city's watershed. Dense fire stands of cedar and spruce have been completely destroyed.

Residents are prepared to quit the city but hope it is held, that unless a north wind rises the flames can be kept in check at the city's outbreaks. One thousand feet of hose has been strung throughout city points, ready to pour water on any buildings that may be ignited by the burning embers that have been falling on the city.

SAYS PROVINCES SHARE GUARANTEE

Winnipeg Paper Asserts Pool Credits of $7,000,- 000 Arranged

Winnipeg, Aug. 12.—(CP)—The Winnipeg Evening Tribune publishes the following:

"The three western provinces together with the Dominion Government have guaranteed the credit of the Wheat Pools to the extent of $7,000,000 in the marketing arrangements for the 1931 crop.

"This statement of the Premiers Monday was not clear on the point, but members of the Government who had not taken part in the actual negotiations left their impression standing was that the Dominion was to guarantee. This it was learned today is incorrect.

"In whatever guarantees have been given each province is liable for an amount which has been fixed on a basis relative to the acreage in 1930 crop. Saskatchewan's share is $4,000,000, Alberta's $2,000,000 and Manitoba's probably less than $1,- 000,000."

DROVE SPEEDER THROUGH FIRE

Brought Nine Safely Through Forest Fire Near Fernie

Courtenay, B.C., Aug. 12.—Nine men were brought to safety, when their speeder, hugging close, landed them on his speeder, and drove through the forest fire near the fork of the Oyster River. All the fire-fighters in the Comox district are safe. While the fires are not under control, the situation is much better. The fire has not crossed the Island highway from Campbell River to Forbes Landing. One side of the fire is three miles from the highway near Campbell Lake. The other is heading for Elk Falls.

SYNOPSIS

Young And beautiful Penchon Merrdily waves San Francisco by airplane to escape arrest in connection with a murder in which her sweetheart, Tony, is implicated. She had not known that he was a gunman. Evelyn Howard, whom Penchon had met on a voyage from Hawaii, is aboard. She is enroute to New York to live with her wealthy aunt, Mrs. Allison Carstairs, whom she has never seen. The plane crashes and all but Penchon are killed. Grasping the opportunity to start life anew, Penchon goes to the Carstairs home as Evelyn. Mrs. Carstairs welcomes her into her heart. At Southampton, awaiting the arrival of her aunt, Cris, Mrs. Carstairs warns Penchon not to take him seriously. He arrives and accuses Penchon of being there under false pretences. Collin objects to Evelyn's life alone to Evelyn's Hawaiian escapades.

CHAPTER XIV

Penchon's mind was working furiously. Evidently Evelyn had left Hawaii under some sort of a cloud. Evidently this Collin Chamberlain had her looked up and had found out all about it, very evidently, and she had given Jennie's name as her nearest relative and had refrained from telling the people in her last position, anything of her island experiences. Now that Penchon looked back, she realized that on the boat during their mutual journey, Evelyn had questioned her closely concerning her knowledge of the school in which Evelyn had taught in Hawaii, and, finding that she knew nothing, had dropped the subject.

"I dislike," said Penchon, coldly, "all this hinting and implying. Please endeavor to make yourself a trifle clearer, Mr. Carstairs."

He lifted an eyebrow.

"Must I, dear cousin?"

"I am sincere so. For," she went on, "you labor, very evidently, under a false apprehension."

"I think not," he said smoothly. "In the first place, shortly after your arrival in Hawaii, you commended yourself rather severely with a naval officer. A married man."

"When the story broke and you were questioning your sweet Evelyn that you had not known Commander Gaines was married, although his story did not agree with yours. She said he had told you . . . and that very distinctly, . . . 'Your employers, however, gave you the benefit of the doubt, overlooked your indiscretion and published yourself by a very indirect, very reserved letter. Therefore, let us call it, with a native who was employed in a minor capacity about the school.

"You interested yourself in his welfare, you gave him lessons in English, you entertained yourself with . . . I shall we call it sitting back to nature — with Hawaiian nature? The man was young, handsome, and gifted. He was also a rather simple soul. He understood that you were willing to marry him . . . When you refused, in the course of anger and horror, he made a scene. A scene which nearly cost you your life. When it came to the ears and eyes of the school directors, you were immediately persona non grata for San Francisco."

Penchon's cheeks scarlet. Evelyn! Evelyn! She fell a pang of pity for the silly, weak, selfish, and insincere girl who played with fire and liked her way out of it. No use to deny a test. This man knew what he was talking about. Was she wondering as was everybody escaping from something? Had she thought herself the only desperate person abroad that ill-fated plane. But Evelyn, in her way, had been as desperate.

"Evelyn," she asked gently, "adequate proofs of all you say?"

He looked at her with something approaching admiration. She had not, he told himself, turned a hair. And her eyes, very calmly on his own, very level, told him not the eyes of guilt or shame.

"Yes," he answered shortly, "otherwise I would not have made my accusations."

"Why, then" — knowsy" asked Penchon still leaned forward, curiously patient upon his answer.

"Well, naturally," he answered in the astonishment, "Evelyn . . . acquaintance of hers, who knew your misdemeanors up to us, and who happened to be in Hawaii, and to have heard the gossip concerning your wrongdoings. It was that which determined her to write you and ask you to come and spend some with us. She did so, therefore, after you had been in San Francisco a time. It took her a little while to arrange matters, to obtain your address after she had left the school. Naturally, you left no forwarding address!" he said . . . that you should be given your chance," he agreed, "but, therefore you should not have asked you to come. But in your acceptance and in your subsequent behavior you told me nothing, made no mention of the circumstances under which you had left Hawaii. That, I confess, is what disturbed me and aroused me," said Collin, "so overlook all that had gone before, your generosity toward my mother, and what was at the time, I suppose, your own, Evelyn to them, you were. I could understand that, for I was loyal to my mother, but this silence, this active acceptance of everything my mother did for you . . . I must say, having read your letters, a most righteous and indignant letter . . . I was not quite glad to make me wish to receive you with friendship."

Penchon said, slowly, not heeding him:

"So she knew — all the time!"

"Yes, of course," Collin answered, impatiently.

He was astonished to see the girl's mouth quiver, her eyes dim and veer. He could not know that her heart had gone out in great, warm sympathy to this woman

H. R. BEDFORD LEAVES BENCH

Deseronto Police Magistrate to Retire After 35 Years Service

After many years of faithful service as police magistrate of Deseronto and magistrate for the Township of Tyendinaga, Henry R. Bedford has tendered his resignation to the Ontario Government, the resignation to take effect on the last day of September. Mr. Bedford is undoubtedly one of the oldest police magistrates in the province, having been born on the fifth of August in the year 1845. His birthplace was in London, England and when twenty-two years of age came to Canada, going to the city of Toronto. He came to this country during the year that Confederation was consummated. He received his education at King's College, London, England, where he had private tuition. In his early manhood he was an officer of the Royal Welsh Fusileers.

Shortly after coming to Canada he was united with Miss Ella Powell, B.C.L., of Whitby, who for many years was county crown attorney for Ontario county. In the year 1876 Mr. Bedford came to Deseronto and opened a law office and continued his practice here until the year 1897 when on the 12th of May he was appointed police magistrate for the town of Deseronto by the Hardy Government. Three years later on the 12th of May 1900 he received the appointment as magistrate for the township of Tyendinaga.

During his four score years and six, Mr. Bedford is enjoying excellent health, and is at his office every day. He has presided at thousands of cases and when in a few weeks' time he retires from active duties, he can look back with pride and satisfaction to the years of usefulness which he has contributed towards the province of which he has for so many years been a resident.

QUALITY MEATS AT GREEN'S MEAT MARKET

Outstanding Cleanliness Is Maintained at This Modern Store

Belleville people are assured of receiving only the freshest and choicest of meats obtainable when they purchase from Green's Meat Market. They have been long noted for quality meats. The retail market is kept scrupulously clean and wholesome in their refrigerating plant, in fact, every pure food law is met by them in a highly satisfactory manner. There one may secure their choice cuts of beef, veal, pork or lamb, with the added assurance that they are getting the best procurable. If one is not familiar with the various cuts of meats, and their relative value, they will gladly explain them to you.

Delivery service is especially featured at Green's Meat Market. Phone them for a trial order if you are unable to visit the market. One trial will convince one of the definite superiority of their meats, as well as their unexcelled service. Poultry and cooked meats may also be had at this popular market. Whether for delivery or purchases at their market they are pleasant and courteous, and one is always greeted with a smile. There are four good reasons why one should purchase their meats at Green's Market, namely: fresh meats, variety of cuts, quick service and low prices. The public is assured of a market of the very highest grade, right here at home, hence they merit the support of both farmers and townfolk.

Green's Meat Market is a Belleville institution, owned and operated by local capital and the management is to be complimented upon the high position his firm occupies in the community.

Do you know the prices on three different kinds or cuts of meat at Green's market?

LINDBERGH TO RELY ON RADIO

Mrs. Lindbergh will Keep Husband Posted on 1500 Mile Hop

(By W. W. Chaplin)

New York, N.Y., Aug. 13—Flying over the 1,500 miles of open water between Alaska and Petropavlovsk, Kamchatka, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will depend on the black seal diary he is taking with him through the northern air where compasses don't tell the truth.

Before the Lindberghs left on their vacation flight to the Orient arrangements were made with the United States navy to lend a hand on the stretch between Nome and Petropavlovsk. Also operating at the navy station on St. Paul's Island off Alaska has been instructed to co-operate with Mrs. Lindbergh so that her husband can steer a straigh course.

Comes by Radio

The Lindbergh plane is equipped with radio directing finder and Mrs. Lindbergh's instructions are to tune in on the navy station NPG at St. Paul's Island after Lindbergh takeoff from Nome. The NPG operator has been instructed to send the letters MO, the international signal for direction purposes, for five minutes every half hour. With the direction finder Mrs. Lindbergh will be able to get her bearings from this signal coming from a known point and readily estimate position and direction of the plane.

This information she is to hand forward every half hour to the husband, seated before his instrument board on which the earth inductor and magnetic compasses are expected to be acting erratic and useless manner because of the proximity to the pole.

RADIO MAKES PLANE CONTACT

Lindbergh Plane Now on Northern Coast of Peninsula

Seattle, Wash. Aug. 12— The Nome radio station established contact today with the Lindbergh plane down on the northern coast of Seward Peninsula, about 60 miles from Nome, and advised a landing on the beach over at Kotzebue the naval radio at 8 remerton was informed.

"I hear you O. K. do you want information?" ses landing wasn't. River landing O. K." the Nome station radioed the the Lindbergh plane.

Th emessage was picked up by naval radio stations in Alaska, and relayed to Bremerton by Cordova, Alaska at 8:45 A.M. Previously the naval radio stations had heard the Nome station after the Barrow "I can't get her at all."

A message relayed by anchorage fom the naval radio station at St. Paul Island in Bering Sea, said the Lindbergh plane was "over" Nome at 7.30 a.m. (PST) today. This would indicate, operators at the Bremerton naval radio station believed, that the Lindbergh's had taken off from Kotzebue Sound for Nome.

HASTINGS COUNTY PENSION CASE TO BE REVIEWED

Board States Garret Foley Suspended Sentence Is Too Lenient

FORGERY IS CLAIMED

Case Was Heard in Deseronto Before Magistrate Bedford

Toronto, Aug. 12.—Announcement was made Tuesday from the Old Age Pensions Board of Ontario that representations are being made to the Attorney-General to have reviewed the case of Garret Foley of Stoco, convicted of theft and forgery in connection with payment by the board of pension cheques.

In a statement to the press, the board states that Foley's suspended sentence for two years "appears to be too lenient considering the seriousness of the offenses committed by this man." The statement follows:

"A wealthy farmer named Garret Foley, of Roslin, P.O., Hastings County, has an elder brother living with him who receives board and lodging in return for what work he is able to do on the farm.

"In October, 1929, an application was made to the Old Age Pensions Board for Hastings County in the name of John Foley for pension, and it was recommended by the local board and forwarded to the Commission in Toronto for approval, and a pension at the rate of $20 per month has been paid regularly until July of this year, when it was cancelled on account of information being received from one of the inspectors.

"It appears the old man, John Foley, did not make the application, but it was made by his brother, Garret Foley, who represented himself as John Foley. The mail courier on that route was instructed by Garret Foley not to leave the cheques in his own box, where his brother, John, might see them, but to leave them in a neighbor's box. This arrangement was carried out for a year or more, when a new mail courier was appointed, and, although requested to carry out the arrangement for leaving the cheques in another box, he refused to do so, and this led to an investigation being made, when the above facts were brought out.

"It seems Garret Foley received these cheques regularly, forged his brother's name to them and appropriated the money to his own use and the real pensioner, John Foley, never received one cent.

"Action was taken against Garret Foley through the Provincial Police and a Crown Attorney, and Garret Foley was placed on trial for theft and forgery, and convicted on both charges. He was placed on suspended sentence for two years and also obliged to make restitution of the amount which he had fraudulently received.

"Representations are being made to the Attorney-General to have this case reviewed, as the sentence appears to be too lenient, considering the seriousness of the offenses committed by this man."

SHANNONVILLE W. M. S.

The regular monthly meeting of the W.M.S. of Shannonville United Church met at the home of Mrs. Frank Doxtator, August 6th. Meeting opened by singing "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" and all repeated the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. Doxtator read the Scriptural lesson from the 20th chapter of Matthew. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved and the roll was called.

Mrs. Orval Stratton gave an interesting reading after which all joined in singing "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." Mrs. Claude Clark read the devotional leaflet and Mrs. W. S. Dies led in prayer for our Medical Missions. Mrs. Harvey Shetler gave a reading and a talk on Temperance was given by Mrs. Dies.

Mrs. Robertson read the questions asked a person about to take out their insurance, showing the complies feel they can't afford to risk insuring a person who drinks intoxicants. Meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction. Collection $1.80 and for flower fund, 60c. Members are asked to bring in donations for the ball as it is to be sent away after the September meeting.

Noted Clergyman In Serious Condition

Cornwall, Ont., Aug. 13—Although he has partially recovered consciousness the condition of Venerable Archdeacon G. O. Carson is reported at Cornwall General Hospital this morning to be unchanged. Archdeacon Carson passed the night quietly and shows some signs of a return to consciousness. Archdeacon Carson suffered concussion of the brain, a painful scalp wound and other injuries, when his car was struck by an automobile driven by a Chicago tourist on the highway near Morrisburg Sunday night. The impact threw him against the door of his car, which sprang open and hurled him headlong to the pavement. Archdeacon Carson is one of the oldest and most widely known clergymen in the Cornwall district.

EUROPEAN TRIP DESCRIBED TO KIWANIS CLUB

Mackenzie Robertson Addressed Kiwanis Club at Luncheon

EUROPE BEAUTIFUL

Interesting Sights Seen While Wandering Abroad

The recent trip to Vienna taken by Mackenzie Robertson as a delegate to the International Rotary convention was briefly but eloquently described by Mr. Robertson to the Kiwanis Club members at their luncheon on Tuesday. His talk was most entertaining, as could be judged from the rapt attention given by the listeners, and he was asked to come back again, when Fred Deacon voiced Kiwanian appreciation. The chairman was introduced by George Griffin.

Past President Speaks

In the absence of President Geo. Sole, past president George Lee occupied the chair with "Bouncer" Kolway as song leader and Joe Delaney as the collector of fines. Leo S. Riggs in his usual brilliant manner presided at the piano and a real community sing song was enjoyed. Peter Sole, who is a visitor in the city, was a guest at the luncheon and pleasingly rendered a solo, which was much appreciated. A number of guests were introduced at the luncheon and each spoke briefly, thanking the club for the cordial reception.

Touched Highlights

The speaker in describing his trip touched only the highlights of the journey, but his observations were keen and from his remarks the members could vividly imagine the beauties of the many European countries of Europe. Little information was given on the convention itself only, that International president this year is Sidney Pascal, an Englishman, the first time that a president has been elected away from the western hemisphere. The speaker believed that the new president would be a credit to Rotary. Mr. Robertson gave praise to the members of the Vienna club for their hospitality they putting themselves out to see that everyone had a good time. The Boy Scouts were not forgotten in his praise, the speaker stating they were a fine organization.

At Vienna the delegates were entertained by the Governor of Austria and also Sir Eric Phipps, the Ambassador of England in that country. The party travelling to Vienna landed at Antwerp and made the trip through Belgium to Spaa. "It was haying time, when we went through Belgium and it was a delightful picture," said the speaker. "Later we went to Cologne, then Koblenz and sailed up the Rhine River, where the castles tell of the early history of the country and the river belies the report there is depression in Germany." Passing on to Munich the party visited Oberammergau, where the Passion Play is staged. At this delightful village we had the privilege of speaking with the men, who plays the part of Jesus. Going on to Prague, the speaker dealt on the clock, that marks the time and which stands in the market square. This clock was erected in 900 A.D. and when each hour strikes, a gate open, the twelve apostles file past with Peter bringing up the rear, the clock crows and the gates go shut. It is an interesting clock said the speaker.

Berlin was visited and also Potsdam, the former residence of the Kaiser, which grounds are beyond description. Switzerland and Italy were each discribed in turn, the speaker stating that wonderful developments are to be seen in these countries. The address was most interesting.

Owen D Young—It only takes intelligence, courage and goodwill to make a prosperous world.

Johnston was arrested on the Bruce Croker Reserve July 4 by Constable Peter Mackenzie of the Indian Agency Office, while under the influence of liquor, it is stated. Pending his removal to the County Jail, the prisoner escaped a fence and the constable took hold of him by both ears and held him but with no degree of force the evidence stat. He was brought before the magistrate and sentenced to thirty days for drunkenness; two days later he died in that institution. The wound behind the ear was not noticed by anyone until his death, and then by the turnkey. The length of Johnston's term was the cause of it not being noticed.

Red Lake Gold Find Claimed as Biggest in Ontario's History

County Surrounding Isla and Scene of Discovery Staked Out for Miles—Armed Guards Placed About Test Pits

Sioux Lookout, Ont., Aug. 13—(CP)—Discovery of a rich vein of gold, said to be one of the most spectacular gold strikes ever made in Ontario is reported here. The strike was made at Red Lake on an island four miles from the Howey gold mine. News of the discovery, which has been rumored here for several days, was confirmed by J. A. McIntyre, who made the find himself and who flew out from Red Lake by airplane yesterday.

Engineers who have examined the find declare it to be one of the richest uncovered in this province. Although its extent has not been fully proved, progress to date gives indication of a valuable strike.

One wall of the vein has been uncovered for a distance of 150 feet, and six pits have been sunk, varying from six feet to 15 feet in depth. Visible gold exists in each pit. Precautions to protect the strike have already been taken.

The town of Sioux Lookout and the whole Red Lake district have been electrified by the strike and prospectors are heading a rush to those surrounding districts to stake available land.

Armed guards and others, have been posted on a property four miles north of the Howey mine to protect the gold, this has already been blasted out of the six pits.

Rumors of a fabulously rich strike have been current in Sioux Lookout for several days past.

The discovery is on an island two and a half miles east, three miles north of Howey mine and is in solid rock and shows much visible gold in each pit.

CANADA'S DELEGATES TO GENEVA

Five of the six Canadian delegates to the Assembly of the League of Nations in session at Geneva this week, month and shortly, have left Montreal. At the long left is Hon. Hugh Guthrie, who will head the Canadian delegation. Next right Mrs. M. P. Pitman, Toronto; upper right, Hon. Martin Burrell, Ottawa; upper centre, Dr. W. A. Riddell, Canadian Advisory Officer accredited to the League of Nations; upper right, Senator C. P. Beaubien, Montreal. The sixth delegate, Hon. Philippe Roy, Canadian Minister at Paris, is not shown.

ECONOMY EFFORT STILL IN AIR AS 'BIG FIVE' MEET TO DISCUSS GRAVE CONDITION OF BUDGET

No Decision Has Been Reached in Important Matter, Committees Report Has Created a Wrong Impression Abroad. There is no Likelihood of a Tri-Party Allegiance to Cerry on.

London, Aug. 13 (AP) — Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and the members of his Cabinet who form the "economy committee" today completed a survey of the nation's financial position in connection with the budget statement due next week, but they will resume their discussions on Monday.

The cabinet committee adjourned at noon and almost immediately Mr. MacDonald called in Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, and Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Mr. Baldwin's chief lieutenant, and had interrupted conversations as did the Prime Minister when he hurried down from Scotland for these conferences.

Mark Effect Sadly

Sir Herbert Samuel, leading the Liberals and Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George in 01, also has returned to London and will confer with Mr. MacDonald later. With both the opposition parties co-operating with the government it was made clear that Mr. MacDonald is determined to effect the drastic economies recommended in the secret report of the government's economy committee.

Some of these recommended economies are of a highly controversial nature, and the calling of the opposition leaders is taken as an indication of Mr. MacDonald's determination to have a bi-partisan backing behind any drastic measures.

No announcement was made at the conclusion of the five hours' cabinet conference concerning the details of their work or their plans to meet again, but it was believed that they would.

The Labor Government's determination to find ways and means to get out that dissipate national and international unemployment and the British financial position, was considered significant here, especially as the public until the details of the plans are perfected. There are reports afoot to include a general pooling of Labor, Conservative and Liberal economy projects.

After the Prime Minister's conference with the Conservative leaders, which lasted an hour, and a similar meeting with Liberal representatives which was expected to follow, London awaited public announcement of the details of the negotiations.

There was no official intimation of the progress yesterday, although the first economy move would be a big economies plan.

London, Aug. 12—(By George Hamilton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—The Party Leaders are going over an expected conference on steps to balance the budget.

Precipitately and dramatically, Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, returned from the French Alps. Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, who acted as Chancellor of the Exchequer in the next Conservative Government, travelled overnight from Scotland. Sir Herbert Samuel, representing Rt. Hon. Lloyd George and the only disgruntled group of the Liberal party, left for his holiday in Wales.

Rt. Hon. Mr. Baldwin's swift return from the Alps is indicative of the situation. He left London for Aix-Les-Bains only last Saturday. He is back after having received, it is understood, an urgent message from Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald concerning the Conservative developments.

Division In Cabinet

With Mr. Baldwin and Mr. Chamberlain declared in their private talks they had found nothing of any Liberal-Conservative Party Government agreement in the air. Sir Donald Maclean, one-time leader of the Liberals, from Wales, declared the Liberal and Conservative leaders are ready and willing to give a serious part in dealing with the economies crisis.

Political estimates in the air have been to the effect that the Liberals establish at St. Columb, Wales, Sir Donald Maclean and Lloyd George, returned to the House of Commons, and Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Mr. Baldwin's chief lieutenant, at Birmingham.

LARGE OFFICE INCLUDED IN OTTAWA PLANS

Five Million Dollar Building at Capital Contemplated as Relief Work

3 NEW ARMOURIES

Money Will be Spent in Toronto, Montreal and Vancouver

Toronto, Aug. 13.—A special despatch from Ottawa to the Toronto Globe today reads:

"A $5,000,000 public building in Ottawa, to be erected by the new Confederation Building completed last year, is among the possibilities when the Prime Minister begins to cash his blank cheque for relief work.

"In Toronto, Montreal and Vancouver three is expected construction of three armouries, which will cost about $200,000 each.

"The armouries will be built from money voted in the supplementary estimates this year, but the other buildings will come from the new account given to the Minister of Finance by Parliament. The general public works estimates for buildings were reduced this year in the government's construction programme, but the real expenditure in this direction will be far in excess of the estimates. This, it is understood, is in accordance with the Prime Minister's advocacy of a building programme for future needs to relieve present unemployment.

The Cabinet met yesterday and discussed the unemployment situation, but no announcement was made. It is known that the Hon. Hugh Stewart, Minister of Public Works, was present, which tends also to the belief that building programmes was under discussion.

OJIBWAY INDIAN IS REWARDED

Presented With Humane Medal in Presence of Tribe Members

French River, Ont., Aug. 12.—(P) The Canadian Humane Medal in leather head dresses and ceremonial robes, Ojibway Indians gathered today witnessed the presentation of the Royal Humane Society's Humane Medal for bravery to one of their number, Chief Peter Jacko, awarded to Philip Conte, known among the Indians as Medicine Man, for rescuing Miss Elfreide Guzman and Dr. J. Gordon Cameron, prominent citizens in eddies below Big Bear Rapids on the French River. Although the Indian chief received the award at it was not disclosed until two Royal Canadian Mounted Policemen recently heard the story. The medal was presented by Lt.-Col. Indian Agent for the district of Parry Sound and Muskoka.

SARNIA YOUTH IS DROWNED

Attempted to Cross East River Then but Was Overcome

Huntsville, Ont., Aug. 11 (By The Canadian Press)—Attempting to return across the East River, which rises at Sarnia, Ont., was drowned this afternoon, Earl Wilmer, 20, of Sarnia, one-legged war veteran, he had completed a portage across the river, and decided to try and cross it. Exhausted by his struggles he decided to turn back, but was overcome by the current and drowned.

Wilmer, who lost his left leg in the Canadian Forces, was on a holiday trip with a friend, Ernest Gibson, 21, of Sarnia, one-legged war veteran, he had completed a portage across the river, and decided to try and cross it. Exhausted by his struggles he decided to turn back, but was overcome by the current and drowned.

Gibson, who came to his aid to a point. The boat upset, however, as he reached the opposite shore at the edge of the river marooned on mouse bush but were late to save Green. His body was recovered shortly after the accident.

Who Wents a Dog

Thomas Thurne, the city custodian of all stray and homeless animals is feeling sad today. He has in his care an Airedale dog, but there is a final Airdale whose life will end at the pounds unless someone gets the dogs comes forward promptly and claims his property. Mr. Thurne is reluctant to destroy this fine and friendly type of man—his time expired last night and Thorne has not the heart to kill him. Tonight, Thorne says, the dog must die.

Thorne says this dog is well-bred, as he resists petting, and he can see him looking up at you with those soft-pleading eyes, asking you to save him, to give him a home and trying to tell you that he will be your loyal and obedient "dog friend."

Surely someone will save him!

MISS YOUNG ACCEPTS NEW APPOINTMENT

Member of Collegiate Teaching Staff Since 1919 Leaves

HOLDS M.A. DEGREE

Takes Position in Normal School as Teacher of English

Much regret was expressed today by many prominent citizens when the learned that Miss Madeline Young, M.A., had resigned from the staff of the Belleville Collegiate and Vocational School and early in September will become a Master on the staff of the Normal School, Toronto.

Miss Young assumed the position of teacher of English in the old High School in 1919. Prior to that date she occupied with much success a post on the staff of Alberta College for five years with the exception of one year during part of years 1927 and 1928. Miss Young has been a very highly valued and popular teacher in the old High School and the new Collegiate Institute. During the years absence from Belleville, she was pursuing studies at Columbia University and from that eminent seat of learning she received with distinction the degree of M.A.

Miss Young when asked for confirmation of the report of her leaving said: "I am indeed very sorry to leave Belleville and the Collegiate Institute. I have many friends in this town I shall greatly miss. I have enjoyed my work and my pleasant association with the Collegiate Staff and pupils."

Princesses Startle Natives

Port Alferry, Northern Ireland, Aug. 12.—(CP)—Residents of this town, had the shock of their lives when two Spanish princesses, Beatrice and Anne Christina, headed from a yachting cruise.

Spanish Princesses are a novelty in Port Alferry anyway but what thoroughly upset the inhabitants was the act, that the Royal ladies were wearing bathing trousers. The stares and whispering of the natives caused them much embarrass the visitors and they hastily donned skirts to evade by dodging behind her fiance, Don Antonio D'Orleans.

LOSS GREAT IN WEST FIRES

Wind Saves Town But Fans Conflagration to New Heights

Vancouver, Aug. 12.—The forest fire menace continued to present a serious aspect in several parts of British Columbia yesterday. Winds fanned the flames and while they checked the leck of rain made the situation dire for fears asserting.

At Quesnel, from which sprang up was the sole barrier between the fire and the town, the flames have approached within a mile of the municipality. The greatest danger is believed past today. The fire swept through several acres in the Lizard Mountain Range, but the flames were there halted, erected to check it.

At Oliver, in the southern interior, a change in wind served to avert considerable further damage to the orchards. Many of the power lines of the West Kootenay Power Company.

ISADOR SPONDOR QUITE PEEVED

Returns Cheque of $50.00 To Port Colborne Council

Port Colborne, Ont., Aug. 13.—Isadore Spondor, Port Colborne boy who attained second fame at the Canadian National Exhibition swim at Toronto last year, has decided to return a cheque for $50.00 given him by his feet. Spondor is now in Canada, and back in the city of his swim. Returning a grant of $50 voted to him to assist in meeting training expenses by Port Colborne Council, Spondor says: "I feel very keenly the attitude of indifference that has been shown me in the past year."

Lewis Girard Armed Guard Found Dead Murder is Suspected

Linesmen of Montreal Light and Power Company Have Struck for a Union and Guard was Guarding at Time of Death.

Montreal, Que., Aug. 13 (CP) — The body of Lewis Girard, 32, an armed guard in the employ of the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company, was found on the railway tracks near Beaconsfield, a suburb, this morning. A train had passed two hours earlier. It was apparent that the train had not passed over the body.

A strike among linesmen of the power company, protesting against the company's refusal to recognize their union, has been followed by scattered acts of sabotage, and the company had engaged a number of guards to patrol important sections of their transmission lines. Girard was one of these. There were no witnesses to the accident. An inquest will be held.

Investigation of Sabotage

Headquarters of the striking linemen, who number less than 200, have expressed complete ignorance of any acts of sabotage by the strikers and announced they would form a voluntary corps of guards from their own ranks to patrol the company's property in co-operation with the police in an attempt to apprehend the guilty parties. The union officials charged that the walk daisies along the company's lines had been caused by those who were taking advantage of the strike, and pointed out that disruption of the main power transmission lines would throw the city into darkness and place it at the mercy of lawbreakers.

It was stated that none of the strikers had taken advantage of the company's offer to put them wages due at the time the strike was called and it was said that financial aid was expected from the headquarters of the linesmen's union in Toronto.

New Arrests Made in Drive to Rid Province of Communist Activity

FOREST FIRE BURNING OUT

Danger to Fernie Passes as Fire Burns Self Out

Calgary, Alta., Aug. 13—(By The Canadian Press)—Forest fires at Fernie which had crept up to within half a mile of the city were practically burning themselves out and the town was considered to be out of immediate danger, according to Mayor Harry Douglas of Fernie, speaking over long distance telephone to the Calgary Herald.

While a dense pall of smoke still hung over the town, the actual fire menace was confined to blaze on the mountain side to the north of the town, said Mr. Douglas, and only a serious change of wind was likely to endanger the city. Meantime, there was very little wind and residents of Fernie were not alarmed over their possible danger.

Forestry inspectors, however were still engaged in keeping the fire from spreading from the mountain side where it was burning itself out; little could be done to check a burning mountain.

HEAVY LOSS AT OIL SPRINGS

Fire Destroyed Chopping Mill and Grain Elevator

Oil Springs, Ont., Aug. 13.—Fire last night destroyed the grain elevator, chopping mill, and cement tile plant here, causing a total loss of $40,000. The chopping mill was owned by John H. Penfound, while the other building was known as The Oil Springs Cement Tile Plant. A spark from an oil burning power plant in the elevator was said to have caused the blaze. Firemen were fairly well under control by midnight, and the chopping mill. Thousands of cement tiles were manufactured in the nearby cement tile plant, which was not fell prey. Penfound's loss was largely covered by insurance.

Hold State Lottery To Balance Budget

London, Aug. 13—With the vital necessity of balancing the budget in the forefront of public discussion, it was seriously suggested in certain quarters this morning that a state lottery, with yearly or half-year draws for bonus, might prove more profitable to the state than the suggested loan-repression scheme. The loan-conversion idea has become a topic among conductors. The rumor was sufficiently strong to depress British bonds in the city yesterday. The 5 par cent war loan, for instance, sinking to a lowest level in several years.

Accepted New Name For Power Company

Montreal, Aug. 13.—Consolidated Paper Corporation, Limited will be the title of the new company which will succeed Consolidated Paper and Paper Corporation, according to Hon. A. C. Dunning, chairman of Consolidated. The next step in connection with the adoption of the plan, which has been formally declared effective by the Securities Exchange Commission, will be a series of meetings of the various groups of security holders over these are likely to be called in the near future.

Dr. Black's Daily Health Hint — In cases of paralysis, in convalescence, and in the infirm, massage is often valuable as it more or less takes the place of exercise. It should not be too violent, however, and should be carried out intelligently.

There were almost 8,000,000 Hollanders living in the Netherlands on December 31, 1930.

CONDITION IMPROVING

Joseph Pritchard, Mary Street, who was injured in a gasoline explosion at his home on Tuesday is making slow progress at the General Hospital. Word at the physician, states that Pritchard was very badly burned but his condition is improving.

SURPRISE PARTY HELD

An enjoyable surprise party was held at the home of Mrs. M. Holton, 38 Station Street on the occasion of the birthday anniversary, about seventy-five being present. Cards and dancing were indulged in, and the winners at cards were Mrs. E. E. Dancy and Mr. C. La France of Trenton. Mrs. Holton was the recipient of many gifts. A dainty lunch was served at midnight. Miss Dorothy Holton was presided by Mr. B. Crawford, Mr. J. Lafrentz and Mr. H. Fry. Square dancing was enjoyed during the evening.

RE-ELECTED TO OFFICE

Mr. F. Bellamy returned Wednesday evening from Niagara Falls, Ont., where he was attending the sessions of Sovereign Grand Priory of Canada, Knight Templars. Mr. Diamond was highly honored by his brother Templars in being re-elected Grand Treasurer. There will be the fourth successive term Mr. Diamond has held in this important office. While away Mr. Diamond made a short stay in Hamilton with his son, Mr. W. Clarke Diamond.

IN HOLY LAND.

Mr. J. L. Rimmington who was last year a member of the teaching staff of Belleville Business Institute and Vocational School is spending the summer on a tour of Europe and the Holy Land. Mr. Charles McIlmoyl this morning received a card from Mr. Rimmington which read "Have had a splendid and fine time. Travelled all day on a donkey. Jolly thrown once. Knee appears to be broken. Mob of thousand years. Have seen clouds—seas like ice—sun more."

GIVEN SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Homer Hamilton, Madoc, age about twenty-four years was arrested Wednesday by Chief Constable Hall of Madoc, charged with having passed a worthless cheque on the Bank of Montreal for $37.50. The cheque is alleged to have been given on July 16 and was drawn on the Madoc branch of the Dominion Bank. On July 17 Hamilton was arraigned at Madoc by Magistrate Casement to three thirty days in the county jail on account for an infraction under the Traffic Act. He was released after serving this sentence on Aug. 11 and arrested again Wednesday. Tuesday he appeared before Magistrate Casement at the Court House and was given a suspended sentence, providing he makes restitution in the amount of the cost.

COUNTRY CLUB WON

Twenty-four members of the Bay of Quinte Country Club journeyed to Picton Wednesday where they played in a friendly golf match. The match was very closely contested, the local golfers taking the long end of a 34 to 33 score. The match at the members of both clubs were entertained to a Picton Club in the club house. The golf course at Picton is a very successful match and an enjoyable time.

SHROEDER WINS SWIM

Under weather conditions that were none at favorable the annual Side-a-Wee across the bay swim was held on Wednesday afternoon. The swimmers five in all started from Anderson's dock on the south shore of the bay and swim cross to dock at Side-a-Wee. With the stiff breeze that was blowing up the bay the waters became very choppy and it was under very great difficulties that the swimmers over came the waves in the open bay. While finished in third position Schroeder was completely out of water, Gordon Miles was fourth and Ralph Hagerman was first in the first leg of the race in five and a half hours. Apart from the water as he contracted a bad attack of cramps.

The swim, which was sponsored by Harry Erickson, proprietor of Side-a-Wee camp, was a success from every angle and will be repeated again next year. Many enthusiastic swimming fans lined the shore to watch the result of the race.

ANY OLD CLOTHES!

Any old clothes or garments called at the local Y.M.C.A. yesterday for old shoes and clothes. The supply of these articles has run out and any person having any old clothing or shoes if they would indicate by calling at the Y.M.C.A. they would be only too glad to call for them. Any of the men from that call at the Y.M.C.A. are badly in need of these articles as their shoes are completely worn out and their clothes in rags. This is an act of charity and will be appreciated by all concerned.

RECEIVED INJURIES.

During the progress of the softball game at the cricket field last night Mike Stanley, son of South George street is alleged to have received injuries when attacked by a spectator. It seems that some of the boys at the game were throwing pebbles and hit some of the spectators, one of whom chased and kicked young Stanley causing bruises and injuries to the boy's leg. Dr. Faulkner was called to attend the injured boy and after a careful examination discovered that although no bones were broken, the boy had received some injuries and bruises.

MEETING TO BE HELD.

The regular meeting of Belleville Fair Board will be held tonight when matters relative to fair will be settled. A meeting will be held every Thursday evening for the Board until the opening of the fair on September 7th.

LIGHT MARKET

Today's mid-week market despite the rain was well attended. Tomatoes were of excellent quality, gave up considerable in price, selling at 10c per basket. Sweet yellow corn was down to 10c a dozen, and other fresh vegetables were reported to the citizens. The season's first plums were also available today.

BEAUTIFYING PLANT

Leveling and beautifying the grounds and laying down the new filtration plants has added considerable beauty to the plant. The excavation earth from West Moira street was used for the purpose of filling in and now that the grounds are levelled it is expected that they will be seeded with the best grass seed procurable.

BROKE ARM IN FALL

Harry Woodcock, son of Wilbur Woodcock, Church Street, had the misfortune to break his arm at the house yesterday afternoon. The lad was rushed to the General Hospital where he was ex-rayed and it was found that he had fractured the upper part of his right arm. Dr. Faulkner reduced the fracture and the lad is resting quite favourably today.

CLOUDS AND RAIN DELAY LINDBERGHS

Nome, Ala., Aug. 13—Lowering clouds and rain today delayed the departure of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, flying vacationers, for Siberia.

Lindbergh said it was "very doubtful" if the take-off for the Siberian Coast could be made this morning as a steady downpour of storm and rain continued unabated through the night. The unfavorable weather probably also prevented a photographer's plane from leaving for the east.

In commenting on the change of their plans, for Lindbergh had announced after arriving here Tuesday afternoon that they "must be on their way" Thursday morning. He said they were in no great hurry and could well await clearer skies for the hazardous 1,067 mile flight from Nome to Kamchatka, across the Berring Sea.

RITCHIE AND RIGGS TROPHIES WON BY VISITING RINKS

F. Hindle of Tweed Won Riggs Trophy and W. Cairns, Peterboro, the Ritchie Cup. Tournament was Success Although There Were Fewer Rinks On Hand Than in Previous Years.

Ritchie Trophy

Two beautiful trophies, namely the Ritchie and Riggs Silver Cups, were the coveted prizes offered for competition in the annual lawn bowling tournament which took place yesterday at the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club green on William street. The competition, which was in competition, namely five from the local Club, ten from Tweed, Deseronto and Cobourg, one from Stirling, Peterboro and Norwood. The green was in excellent condition for play and during the day and evening many interested spectators were in attendance. Both trophies were won by outside rinks F. Hindle, skip for a Tweed rink, bowling for the Riggs trophy, while the Ritchie cup was won by Peterboro, the skip being Mr. Cairns.

The Riggs Trophy

The preliminaries and final score for this cup was as follows:

T. J. Hurley, Belleville, skip 8 vs. Beatty, Tweed, skip 17.

C. H. Sulman, Belleville, skip 8 vs. Fairbairn, Deseronto, skip 16.

A. R. Symons, Belleville, skip 10 vs. Delaney, Cobourg, skip 13.

C. G. Bailey, Belleville, skip 7 vs. Wilson, Cobourg, skip 12.

W. W. Mahaffy, Belleville, skip 11 vs. Hindle, Tweed, skip 17.

Hard Luck Prizes

A competition was staged and designated as a hard luck competition for prizes by those who were in play for the cups but were unsuccessful. Mr. R. F. Squair, skip for a local rink, proved the booby prize winner, while Chas. Bellerile secured the consolation prize. The hard luck rink secured 30 points as against 13 for the winning rink. Members of the winning team were presented with suitable trophies.

The skips, scores and winners in the preliminaries and final rounds were as follows:

Dr. Carleton, Norwood, defeated A. R. Symons, Belleville, 13 to 11.

T. J. Hurley, Belleville, defeated C. N. Sulman, Belleville, 13 to 11.

L. Allum, Deseronto, defeated T. Solmes, Stirling, 13 to 9.

Allum of Deseronto, defeated C. Scopis, Belleville, 18 to 8.

Cairns, Peterboro, defeated Fairbairn, Deseronto, 13 to 7.

Wilson, Peterboro, defeated T. J. Hurley, Belleville, 9 to 7.

Finals—It was somewhat late in the evening when Cairns, Peterboro and Wilson, Cobourg, commenced the final game for the Ritchie Cup. The final score was 12 to 8 in favor of Cairn's rink of Peterboro.

Prizes Presented

Mr. G. T. Woodley, President of the local Club presented the prizes to the successful competitors, congratulating them upon their deserved wins. The gifts were suitably acknowledged by the recipients.

Notes

Members of the ladies' local club provided dainty refreshments during the tournament and players were also able to remain upon the green for dinner or supper if they desired.

While there were not as many rinks as usual in the competition no petition was keen "thus providing interest in the spectators.

The next tournament will take place on the Belleville green, located at the new Fair Grounds.

R. J. S. Dewar, Secretary of the Club, was a busy man, but ever ready to impart necessary information.

BACK TO BRONZE

Ottawa, Aug. 13.—Sir John A. MacDonald's statue finally is being restored to its original bronze color. The statue on Parliament Hill of late years has taken on a splitchy green, due, it is said, to the spraying of gypsum from the alkali plant in Hull. The matter came up in the Senate last session and the Public Works officials declared themselves beaten. Nothing would take off the green. The Ottawa Research Council as last has come to the rescue. Its chemists have produced a liquid which, proved effective, and under their supervision Public Works men are now applying the bronze brush from under the verdegris.

LOVE OF ADVENTURE LED YOUTH TO WANDER, BUT HOME IS BETTER

Moves Fro mBox Car to Palatial Home Near Belleville

GIVES NO REASON

Instructed in Scout Lore But Believes Homes is Best After All

"Home, Sweet Home, there is no place like home," but the little fellow did not think so when he ran away from his comfortable home in which there pervades an atmosphere of culture and refinement and which is located in a beautiful environment a long distance from Belleville. Now he thinks that the old and well-known words embody a great truth and he has returned home to his snug room in which he will be greeted by all his valued boyish possessions and at night will be peaceful, refreshing sleep in a spotless comfortable bed, feeling thankful that he is not sleeping a soft spot upon which to rest his head, alongside a railway track.

Fell Among Friends

The little chap, who is thirteen years old had fallen into the care of friendly persons a short time before the Ontario-Intelligencer man, who had heard of his plight, called to see him Wednesday. He had not yet had a "clean-up," was dirty and disheveled, his clothing and shoes were in a deplorable condition and he was crying his heart out with remorse and, no doubt, fear, as to the consequences which he imagined might follow his escapade. However, in a short time he responded to the friendly advances of the Intelligencer man, quite friendly and freely told his story.

"Why did you run away from home?" the scribe asked.

"Oh! I felt that I had to, something happened which, at the time, made me unhappy and I thought I would be better off."

When asked how he managed to get so far from home, he answered: "I rode my bicycle to a nearby town and hid it in the bushes near the railroad and carried into a box car of a train, which had stopped near where I was, but I did not know that Belleville where I got off. I then walked about for about a couple of days between Belleville and Napanee sleeping and eating where and when I could. Then I got into a box car and came back to Belleville where I left the train. Finally I was taken in charge of by these people who were friendly and wanted to help me. I am now waiting for my father to come for me."

"Do you read cheap books, like dime novels?" we asked.

"No sir, I don't read them. I like adventure stories—something that really happens."

"What are some of the books you have read?" was the next question.

"Oh! there is a lot of them—the Hertiy books.—With Lawrence in Africa, and—I forget the name. Father gave me at Christmas "Scouting on Two Continents," by Major Burnham—he gives me lots of good books. I like stories of people who have gone into a new land—pioneers. I was going to commence reading two books on the rush of 48 and 49 when I left home."

"Are you a boy scout?" to this he replied: "Yes sir, I am and I like it. I can do all the Second Class tests and most of the first. I hope to do them all in time."

When asked about school he stated that he had been promoted this year to the second grade at Hiltz School. To the question: "Have you been other places?" he replied, he spoke enthusiastically of many trips. "I have been to New York, Montreal, Quebec, Halifax, St. John N.B., with my father and early this summer we went to Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island—caught some speckled brook trout while there."

Great Boy

He is a fine little fellow—speaks nicely and shows careful training in deportment. He is satisfied to go home now and be "real good"—feeling, no doubt, that those who have your interests at heart know what is best.

Later he left for home with his father in a beautiful car. He had undergone a great transformation—looked as if he had just been turned out by his valet. He had received a thorough cleansing and was attired in natty clothing, light grey flannel trousers and belt, white duck canvas oxfords, becoming shirt and his hair was perfectly arranged. He was truly a fine appearing, manly looking young chap. Perhaps in years to come he will recall this escapade in his life and wonder what caused him to be so thoughtless and foolish.

MORE CASH PRIZES OFFERED

Daily Cash Awards Given Ontario Intelligencer Readers

Every day The Ontario Intelligencer is carrying several stories, which describe the happenings of one or some worthy firm or individual. The purpose of the articles is to further acquaint the people of Belleville with the firms who are the real boosters and backbone of the community.

These rules are very easy to follow and only a few moments are required to read the story of the day. The last sentence in each of the articles will have a direct bearing on question, which begins, "Do you know—?" This is the contest, however, To compete it is only necessary to look through the various issues of the paper to locate the stories, call the firms of which they are written about and write the answers to the questions. After the question, "Do you know—?" appears in each of the articles in that particular issue of The Ontario Intelligencer, simply write them down in your letter. Do not write the firm or send them to the "Do You Know" Editor at the Ontario Intelligencer. Simply write down the answers in any fashion; pen, pencil or typewritten—anyway you like—simply the answer—plain or colored—with pictures or sketches, if you like. These are suggestions. Use your own discretion.

The "Do You Know" articles are easy to find. Each one is placed separate at the bottom which announces the cash prize, advises you to call the firm to get the answer to the said question, and tells you how many of such articles there are in that issue.

Seven "Do You Know" stories appear in this issue. The stories are distributed throughout the paper. Read them all, one and locate them, read them, call the firms of whom they are written, and send in your answers.

Beginning with Friday's paper, watch for announcements of prize winner's each day—and more "Do You Know" stories.

Letters to the Editor

Editor Ontario Intelligencer.

Dear Sir:

Could there not be something done to relieve the unemployment of young men and women in the city of Belleville? There are my wife and eight children dependent on me, four of school age. The other four are out of work the same as myself. My case is that there are too many married women work for in this city. Just send them somewhere in the same position as I am. If we want the youngest generation to grow up responsible, trustworthy and honest, they should be given a start to satisfy their ambition to become good respectable citizens.

There is also a detriment to the building trade in general, that is men who are employed by the rail road and this community renting in their spare time at painting, carpenter work and other trades pertaining to the general upkeep of property. The soonr this is looked after by the better it will be for all those concerned.

Thanking you very truly.

A FATHER OF TEN.

POXBORO DEFEATS HOUSTON

In a scheduled Belleville and District League game played on Saturday at the Cricket Field last evening, Poxboro defeated Houston by a good batting victory to defeat The Houstonites by a score of nine to eight. This is the second defeat Houston has suffered this season, the Printers having handed them a drumming on Monday evening at the Victoria Park. Last evening's game was interesting in spots and although not conceded a chance against the hard-hitting Houston team, Poxboro surprised the fans in squeezing through with a win.

APEALS TO ONTARIO

Hon. T. A. Kidd Gives Credit to Orangeism for Betterment of Ontario

London, Ont., Aug. 13.—An appeal to thoughtful men and women of Ontario to place the full power of an educated public opinion behind British authority in these crucial days featured an address here Wednesday afternoon by Premier George Henry, chief speaker at the Western Ontario Derry Day celebration.

Hon Mr. Henry did not mention Communists, but the keynote of his speech was an appeal to sustain our laws and customs against attack.

"Our laws must not be tarnished," he said, "or set aside. Our laws and customs and the general purposes of our governmental system shall remain at the same high standard at which we received them. I have been identified with public life in this Province for twenty-five years and I know something of the influence and power of the public opinion behind our institutions. You have a responsibility to see that an educated public opinion supports administration after administration. I tell you that I feel my responsibility more today than ever before, and I believe you as thoughtful citizens will keep alive the principles of this great Province. They are sacred to us and because they coincide so definitely with the principles handed to us by those who are gone."

Hon. T. A. Kidd, in his address, claimed the entire credit for the fact that Ontario is the only province which the Western Provinces have looked control of their natural resources.

Smoke Pall Makes Flying Difficult

Regina, Sask., Aug. 13 (CP)—Smoke of forest fires hung over south Saskatchewan today, making flying difficult and bringing what is a strong smell of wood smoke. At an altitude of about 2,000 feet above Regina the smoke obscured visibility, according to R. J. Greene, weather observer at the municipal airport. Air mail flights were inter fered with to some extent. Pilot Gary to Moose Jaw flight being cancelled yesterday.

"DO YOU KNOW" STORIES APPEAR IN ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

Beginning with this issue, The Ontario Intelligencer will carry several stories each issue regarding worthy firms of the city. The stories will be distributed through the paper and will appear in the form of straight news stories. The object is to further acquaint the people of Belleville and surrounding territory with the metropolitan services of our own institutions.

To give the reader added interest in the articles, The Ontario Intelligencer is conducting a contest in connection with the stories.

Here is how.—The last sentence in each story will be found to form a question which begins: "Do you know ——." The question pertains to the firm of whom the story is written, and it is necessary to call them to obtain the answer. This, however, is not a guessing contest. The Ontario Intelligencer will pay a three cent prize daily for the most cleverly arranged answers to the questions.

To compete it is necessary to call each of the firms that describe, obtain the answer to the question, and submit the set of answers to The Ontario Intelligencer "Do You Know" editor.

Your set of answers may be arranged in any way. They are judged for originality of construction. You may write your answers in poetry, or touch them off in an artistic manner with crayons or water colors, or write an essay built around the firm and their service, or paste your answers on paper together with pictures that are in keeping with the service of the firm or accompany your answers with cartoons, or what have you. These are merely suggestions. Just set your artistic ability by arranging your set of answers in any novel or unique way.

The "Do You Know" stories are easy to locate, as each carries a foot-note at the bottom which announces the amount of prizes and the number of stories in the issue.

Turn to the pages now, locate the articles, call the firms and send in your answers. It's fun! It's profitable! It's educational!

CIACO LOST TOUGH GAME

Loss Advanced Maple Leafs to Third Place in Standing

In a wild and exciting game played last night at the Exhibition the Maple Leafs defeated the Ciaco gang by the score of 17 to 12. The game was filled with thrills from the first to the last inning with the Leafs taking the lead in the first innings and never losing it until the end. Lois Carter on the mound for the Leafs pitched fair until about the "Tiny" Thompson provided the sen sation when he made a perfect catch effort fielding, accepting every chance without a fault and retiring the side by her spectacular catches in the fourth innings. "Tiny" also had a perfect day at bat, when she led the hitters at the day with four hits out of five times at bat. Errors spelt defeat for the Leaville ladies when they "booted" the ball to every corner of the lot, when errors meant runs. By virtue of their win the Leafs have now moved in third place in the league. Lineup.

Ciaco—Sheppard, M. Greenwood, Bery, Saylor, Patterson, Hull, Doolittle, Day, Canning, K. Genereau and McNeil.

Score by innings:

Maple Leafs ..... 160 153 1C—17
Ciaco ..... 001 023 34—12

HUMANIZING HOOVER

"The President has declared a moratorium on 'noise.'"

Mr. Hoover, it seems, wanted to take a nap.

So a negro servant was dispatched to tell the carpenters who were working in a near-by room to stop their hammering. This "story" leaked out of the White House and into the newspapers.

Some fifteen similar minor "human interest" stories have likewise "leaked" out of the White House by mysterious channels, Washington correspondents explain.

Annoyed and irritated by them, President Hoover instructed Theodore G. Joslin, his press secretary, to inform the newspaper men that, "as a result of a series of leaks, only such news as is given out through stated channels of the executive offices should be printed by the newspapers of the country."

A moratorium on White House news censorship! A vast majority of the Democratic editors gibe and jeer, most of them in the South, though the press of large resents anything that suggests restriction of the freedom of the press in the United States.

When Theodore G. Joslin, a Boston newspaper man, was appointed, recounts the Charleston Evening Post (Ind. Dem.), his job was reported to be to "humanize Hoover." "Publicity experts prescribed some splashing on of color to catch the eyes of the people."

In snapping up the minor "human-interest" stories about the President, pursuing the South Carolina editor, White House reporters were cooperating with this campaign t o"humanize Hoover." "Paint on warts and all!" cried Oliver Cromwell; but that, says his Charleston critic, is not the attitude of Mr. Hoover.

What were the stories that stung the President? Jay C. Hayden of the Detroit News (Ind) summarizes them:

"It was reported, for example, that there was a patch on one of the White House window curtains; that the President had sent a negro servant to stop carpenters, who were pounding in an adjoining room; that one of the Presidential dogs had bitten a Marine at the Rapidan camp; that Mrs. Walter H. Newton, wife of one of the White House secretaries, had fallen off her horse into the brook; and that Mr. Newton had established an office in the White House basement, next to the laundry, where he took important politicians for private conferences."

Mr. Hayden, who has "covered" the White House for sixteen years, compares the attitude of President Hoover with that of other Presidents. Roosevelt and Coolidge were past masters of the "human-interest" game, says this authority:

Mr. Roosevelt frankly played these games with every weapon that came to his hand. The Coolidge process was more subtle. He avoided every outward appearance of publicity seeking, but he probably was the most photographed man who ever occupied the White House. It was a joke among the photographers that Mr. Coolidge would don any attire or assume any pose that would produce an interesting picture. He was never too busy to be photographed; nor is it recorded that he ever resented any revelation as to his personal habits. It was a rule of his official life never to deny anything.

"Mr. Hoover, in contrast, is prone to call newspaper men on the carpet for any misstatement, however trivial.

"Mr. Hoover can not stand being laughed at. Indeed he cringes at the thought of being talked about, personally, at all."

GRAIN ELEVATORS IN CANADA

There are 4,658 grain elevators in Canada with a total capacity of 248,818,200 bushels. Country elevators number 4,439 with a capacity of 146,039,200 bushels. Terminal, manufacturing, public and private elevators total 119 with an aggregate capacity of 138,179,000 bushels. All the country elevators, except two, are in the three prairie provinces—Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta—where over ninety per cent of the wheat crop and the larger percentage of other grains is grown. The terminal, manufacturing, public and private elevators are principally at Port Arthur, Fort William, Montreal, Vancouver and other ports at strategic points in different parts of the Dominion.

The largest terminal elevator in North America is at Port Arthur, Ontario. It has a capacity of 5,300,000 bushels. It is owned and operated by the Saskatchewan Pool of the Canadian Wheat Producers Limited, the largest farmers co-operative marketing organization in the world.

LOVE THAT LASTS
By Aline Michaels

Romance paints a Love supreme,
Wrought of star-cloth, glamour, dream;
Something fairer than Earth knows,
Something kin to dawn and rose.
But the love men hold most dear,
Must be faithful, must be near
In the hours of need and stress;
Must know ways of tenderness.

Romance fills a twilight hour
With the fragrance of a flower;
But the love that lasts must be Deeply rooted like a tree.

SCREENS FOR THE GARDEN

The time has come —for putting up screens not only in the house, but in the garden. The garden variety is intended not to keep out insects, but merely to serve as a wind-break. It is needed, therefore, only on one or two sides of fruit trees flowers or vegetables.

High winds passing through the screen mesh lose much of their violence. The advantage lies not so much in protecting tender leaves and buds from being whipped off in a gale as in preventing the growth of a heavy wind from drying out plants and retarding their growth.

A German authority is strong in praise of wire screens for gardens. He says that one only a few feet high beside a row of current bushes will make them grow 50 per cent faster, and will also increase their yield of fruit.

One of the difficulties of pent-house gardening is caused by the high breeze which blow stronger than in gardens nearer the earth. Some plant-lovers, working aloft, have protected young seedlings by putting up canvas sails or boards as shelters. They might do well to try wire screens instead.

CAFFEIN AND FISH

If that dispatch from Brazil is true about dumping a million bags of coffee into the sea, it ought to be referred to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. No doubt there is too much coffee in the world, and it may be too cheap. Brazil is always worrying over what to do with it.

Awhile ago 3,000 sacks were burned in Santos. Local citizens objected. They did not enjoy the smell of roasting coffee so much as do some of the northern fanciers of the bean. So next time the coffee is going to be dumped into the sea.

Why take it out on the fish? When President Hoover took office as Secretary of Commerce—during the Prohibition era—he decided to his fret—he was told that one of his jobs was to put the fishes to bed at night. How will the chief fisheries functionary of Brazil ever be able to do that with 40,000 sacks of coffee in the sea?

It was bad enough before, what with phosphorescence and everything. Now the young fish will simply stay up all night and be cross the next day.

The milk wagon collided with an auto and many bottles of milk were broken.

A crowd gathered.

"Poor fellow," said a benevolent looking man, "you will have to pay for this accident, won't you?"

"Yes, sir," said the driver.

"That's too bad, here is a quarter towards it and I'll pass the hat for you."

After the crowd had contributed and dispersed, the driver said to a bystander:

"Ain't he the wise guy? That's the boss."

"Mother, mother," wailed the farmer's little daughter, "do you know what Jimmy has done?"

"No. For heaven's sake, what has he done now?"

"Oh, dear, the summer boarders are coming tomorrow, and he's been down to the pond and caught the pickerel."

Rawdon

RAWDON — Rev. Melbourne Johnson of Carrollton, Ill., is holidaying in Canada and on Sunday he addressed the congregation at Mount Pisgah on the subject of "Reverence". He gave a very able discourse and said that to be truly reverent we must not only revere the Bible and God but should apply the Golden Rule of love to all peoples whether they be white or colored.

A large number of relatives as well as a host of friends were present at the service as Melbourne was born and grew to young manhood in our midst.

Mrs. Melbourne Johnson and baby Ralph are holidaying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paxman of Peterboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hoard and James also Mr. Fred McMullen of Ryiestone and Mrs. S. B. McComb of Springbrook left by motor on Thursday for a ten-day trip to Algonquin, Detroit, and Sault Ste. Mich. On Saturday they attended a family reunion at Almonte in honor of their aunt, Mrs. Margaret Smith, it being the occasion of her eighty-fifth birthday. Several Canadian guests were present for the re-union.

Mrs. James Parks of Stirling is staying with Mrs. Jane Hoard and is caring for Mary Robert.

Mr. O. Sharp is ill.

Sweden hall attended the old boys and girls re-union at Madoc last week.

Mr. Gerald Haslett is holidaying under the parental roof.

Several visitors from Norwood and Miss Nellie MacConnel lof Detroit were recent guests of Mr. D. MacConnell.

Miss B. Lott of Oshawa is holidaying with Miss Heath.

Friends here were sorry to hear of the very serious illness of Mr. Lyman Weaver of Trenton.

Mrs. Willie Montgomery spent the week-end under the parental roof.

Mr. Osborne Smith and Rev. M. Johnson motored from Peterboro on Sunday and spent the day with Mrs. O. Smith. Mrs. O. Smith and baby Joan accompanied them home, they having spent the week in this district.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Cain of Oshawa are visiting a few days with relatives in Rawdon and at Tweed. They called on their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ryan Monday evening.

Mr. Derry of Peterborough recently visited at the home of Mr. Wilford Bonisteel.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Eileen and Ormel were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Montgomery.

Mr. G. . Hubble of Campbellford spent the week-end on Pump street visiting at the old home.

Miss Helen Thain has returned home from the Toronto holidays in Madoc with her grandparents.

A baby son arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Spencer on Sunday and will answer to the name of "Bobbie".

Rawdon Council met with all the members present and several current accounts were paid including Hydro, printing, weed inspector, etc. Mr. Bedell gave his school attendance report and Mr. Spencer his report as weed inspector. Mr. David Cotton was again appointed as tax collector.

Mrs. J. Reid has arrived home after several weeks holidays with her sister Mrs. Ernest Honey, at Welcome, her brother, Rev. Allen Tuiten of Toronto also relatives at Orrville.

Mack Robertson of Peterborough is holidaying at the home of his uncle, Mr. Earl McAdam.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thomas and son, Laird of London are holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hutchinson.

Mr. Weese of Detroit is visiting Mr. Fitzgerald.

Miss Isobel Petrie of Toronto is holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. Nevil White.

Mr. John Potts of Kamloops, B. C., will arrive here on Saturday to visit his mother, Mrs. Frank Potts, his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Will Potts and family and his sister, Mrs. S. C. Craig.

Ormel and Eileen MacMullen are spending the week with their grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Montgomery of Trenton spent Sunday in our midst.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith and Herbert made a flying trip to Toronto on Sunday to visit her father, Mr. J. A. MacMurdy who had the misfortune to have three ribs broken in a car accident. He is recovering from the shock although he is over seventy years of age.

A large number of Wellmans Institute members journeyed to Crowe Lake Monday were entertained to a lovely dinner by the Springbrook Society at the cottage of Mrs Jack Baker. After the appetizing dinner Mrs. Clancy, presided and a delightful program was staged. Mrs. Theodore Reid have a splendid paper entitled "The Road to Success". Several contests were enjoyed and then the ladies enjoyed an hour at the beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Sharp, Delbourne Sharp and Gerald Sharp of Frankford spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. E. White.

Grant Bailey of Walkerville is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bailey.

Vera McAdam has arrived home having spent the past month in Petersboro with her aunt, Mrs. Arthur Robertson.

Deepest sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Wannamaker of Stirling in the loss of their son, Harold and a little boy who was visiting there. They were buried in the gravel pit and smothered before being found. Mr. and Mrs. Wannamaker resided several years ago on the Fred Tucker farm in Rawdon.

Donald and Kenneth Martin and Ormel MacMullen spent Thursday with Percy and Ray White.

Miss Helen Spencer visited friends in Stirling last week.

A large number attended the fin? ball game Monday evening when Bethel won over Glen Ross with a score of 17-6. Bethel now has the cup permanently this being their third win.

MY CASTLE IN SPAIN

In visions wild and sweet
Sometimes its courts I greet;
Sometimes in joy its shining halls I tread with fevered feet;
But never my eyes in the light of day
Were blest with its lived walls,
Where the marble white and the granite gray
Turn gold alike when the sunbeams play
When the soft day dimly falls.

I know in its dusky rooms
Are treasures rich and rare;
The spoil of Eastern looms,
And whatever of bright and fair
Painters divine have caught and won
From the vault of Italy's air;
White gods in Phidian stone
People the haunted glooms;
And the song of Immortal singers
Like a fragrant memory lingers,
I know in its echoing rooms.

—From Poems by John Hay.

Desserts for Hot Weather

By Hannah Wing

Ice cream in one form or another, whipped cream well chilled and bedt with fruit combination seem to make up the major part of our company deserts during the summer.

Ice Cream Pie

Bake a shell of flaky pastry; when cold, fill with very firmly frozen ice cream, dot with jelly, then cover with a stiff meringue, brown quickly in a very hot oven or under the gas broiler, and serve at once.

Minted Pineapple Supreme

Soften one envelope of Lemonade Jello of gelatin in half a cupful of cold water, and add half a cupful of sugar and one cupful of pineapple juice (canned), bring to the boiling point, remove from the fire and cool slightly. Then add a few drops of mint flavoring and one tablespoonful of lemon juice and chill almost congealing. Finally fold in two cupfuls of whipped cream and, if desired, just enough vegetable coloring to tint a faint green. Turn into a wet mold and set in the refrigerator for several hours. Unmold on a garnish with fresh mint leaves and segments of pineapple. This dessert may be made in individual molds, or in a ring mold, when it is very handsome if the centre is filled with fresh fruit.

Iced Lemon Meringue Pudding

Beat the yolks of three eggs to a light froth, add half a cupful of sugar and beat again until light and fluffy. Add in the grated rind and juice of one lemon. Turn into the double boiler and simmer, stirring constantly until the mixture thickens. Meantime whip the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth, gradually folding in half a cupful of sugar, combine the two mixtures folding the whites of the eggs thoroughly but carefully into the yolks, add a quarter of a teaspoon full of salt. Pour into sherbet glasses and chill well, or partially freeze in the mechanical refrigerator. Serve topped with a rosette of whipped cream and a ripe berry or a maraschino cherry.

But sometimes our vigorous summer exercise produces an appetite that can only be satisfied by hot fruit pastry.

APPLE PAN DOWDY

Pare and quarter green harvest apples to make three cupfuls; if very large, cut into eighths. Prepare a syrup of three-quarter of a cupful of sugar and half a cupful of water, cook five to seven minutes, then add the apples and simmer till clear but not broken. Butter a square baking dish and arrange the apples in it, dot with butter and if desired a dash of cinnamon or mace, pour over the syrup, cover with a flaky pie crust or a rich biscuit dough and bake in a quick oven; cut in squares and serve with hard sauce.

Individual Blackberry Pies

For six small pies wash and cook one quart of blackberries with just enough water to cover the bottom of the saucepan, add from one-half to three-quarters of a cupful of sugar and set aside to cool. Line small, rather deep tins with flaky pastry, pinching it up well about the rims. Fill with the berries and arrange strips of pastry crisscross over the tops, bake in hot oven 450°, cool and garnish around the edges with little mounds of cream cheese which has been well softened and put through the pastry tube.

The Beauty Box

By Helen Follett

Slenderness does not mean skin and bone but lovely lines and grace full limbs and cheerful contour. Angularity will never take a beauty prize, the girl who is moderately slim, of good proportions, should not attempt figure remodeling, but go her way happy and content. Nobody has patience with fashion's weights who would be lighter, who count their calories, fret their pageard pins over an added ounce of flesh. The normal, healthy, fairly well developed figure is the fashionable one.

The National Hair growers association, formed of those little darlings who rejoice in shoulder length hair, are losing members every day. One reason is found in the fact that short bobs hold marcels and finger waves better than longer hair, the weight of tresses having a saddening effect upon undulations. The main idea, whether tress-locks are short or long, is to have them arranged beautifully and becomingly. More than that no supplicant for beauty need achieve.

A lovely back, with long sweeping lines from shoulders to hips, is a tremendously valuable beauty asset which is acquired by perfect posture, holding the head high and erect, taking the slack out of the backbone, lifting the chest, throwing back the hips, flattening the tummy. Many daytime clothes testing figures are self inflicted. Any kind of beauty is paid by those who are mascularly lazy.

The girl with the sallow skin who looks to diet by relief; or bleaches or cosmetics will do a bit of good, she must see that her body throws off its waste products actively. Deep breathing rids the lungs of poisonous, depressing substances. Six glasses of water a day will flush the kidneys. Fruits and green vegetables accelerate the action of the intestinal tract. A daily bath with a heavy brush helps the skin to function.

To soften water, add to each bowiful a teaspoonful of a lotion made by combining six ounces of rubbing alcohol, one teaspoonful of ammonia, and one half dram of oil of lavender flowers.

Has Met With Increasing Favor in Recent Years

Chiropractic is a modern day science and has met with increasing favor in the last few years. Its development has been rapid and all new discoveries of the science have been carefully followed by Dr. R. A. Wyatt. This prominent practitioner of Chiropractic has distinguished himself throughout this section. His excellent training, has given him a most comprehensive knowledge of bodily ills.

Dr. R. A. Wyatt fully understands the symptoms and causes of the various diseases and how to cope with them. He knows the science of Chiropractic. It is founded upon the principle of spinal adjustments, and many diseases are displaced by removing pressure on the nerves. Nature will keep the body in a good health if there is no interference with her ways. Through knowledge of this science, the interference is removed and nature heals. This is done by this eminent Chiropractor in a scientific and painless manner—gradually, until the affected part is fully adapted and then health is restored.

Dr. R. A. Wyatt is pleasant, courteous and obliging. His professional services are much in demand, as is shown by his ever increasing patronage. If his services will not benefit you he will unhesitatingly tell you so, and will accept no cases where he cannot be of help. Under the adjustment methods of this distinguished chiropractor many so-called operations may be best avoided. If you feel an operation is needed and would rather not go through with it, consult Dr. R. A. Wyatt. You may depend upon his judgment. He is a man of integrity, a citizen of which this community may feel justly proud. Do you know how the nerves emanate from the spinal column?

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

It takes only one bottle of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt's prescription HEM-ROID—to end itching, bleeding, protruding piles. This internal remedy acts quickly even in old, stubborn cases. HEM-ROID succeeds because it heals and relieves the affected parts and removes blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this, that's why salves and cutting fail. J. S. McKeown's 91 Drug Store says HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back.

Fashion Flashes

IT DOES HELP to wear a red and white frock, if one is depressed. Just try it sometime. For instance could one help being cheerful in a frock of white organdie embroidered in red motifs with deep ruffled berthas of white organdie edged with red. At the waist of this happy frock is a red patent leather belt from which droops a cluster of cherries.

IT'S HERE AT LAST that riding habit of sheared lapin about which so much has been heard. We saw it in the form of a shirt or sheared lapin in a creamy beige worn with beaches of the same fur in deep brown. With this smart riding outfit is worn a beret of the beige fur.

RIGHT INTO THE NET march the devotees of smartness. Nice for warm evenings is an evening frock of pink net with a short sleeved bolero of pink lace and net. The frock has a belt of twisted green velvet ribbon and the hem is deep brown.

A SPEEDY AFFAIR is the handbag of black antelope with a handle in the form of a silver metal racing whippet. Another smart model is of stitched beige crepe de Chine mounted on a frame of carved coral.

RIGHT IN STEP with smartness is a snappy, sandal made of gold kid straps. There is a topaze ornament at the instep and the heel is made of carved wood gilded.

IT ISN'T DANGEROUS but it's quite exciting,—the long glove of black antelope with a design of serpents and leaves done in green, black and silver sequins.

And there's this about a monarchy, the one who is going to rule is taught how to do it.—Brandon Sun.

And Now He's His Mother's Pride and Joy..

"SHE'LL never raise him!" whispered the neighbors behind their hands—and indeed it looked like it, for Baby Jim was a tiny mite and didn't seem to thrive on his bottle.

Then his Mother tried Eagle Brand, and to everyone's astonishment Baby Jim ceased fretting and began to gain steadily. Grandfather now lays claim to his wonderful disposition—but his mother smiles quietly and remembers Eagle Brand.

Eagle Brand has reared countless thousands of babies to healthy maturity over a period of 74 years. If you are unable to nurse your own baby try Eagle Brand right away. Write for the Baby Welfare and Record Book.

Pointer's Brilliant Hurling Defeats Kingston Ponies 7-0 Nats. Finishing On Top Rung

Southpaw Tosses Two Hit Contest, Baffling Heavy Hitters of Ponies. Only One Fly Ball Hit to Outfield in Game. Bob Scott "Stonewalls" Green Outfield and Extra Base Blows Which Figured in Scoring. 'Moose' Darrah had Fielding Feature. Playoffs Start Next Week.

Allowing but two short singles in nine innings and punching out seven batters, Bob Scott, Belleville southpaw pitcher, had a double to practically cinch the pastime, Tommy Pointer, lob ball thrower of the locals demolished to pastime Wednesday afternoon in which the Belleville Nationals submerged the Kingston Ponies in the Kalsomine pail, winning the finals 7-0 and ending the season of fine fishing first in the league schedule. Kingston and Belleville will meet in the playoff for the gaffalen and undoubtedly the winner of that argument will be strung at the top of the flag pole at the fair grounds. The team is taking nothing for granted but on cold dope, the Nationals should take the Ponies in the playoff.

Entree Hall of fame

Belleville and district fans in years gone by have witnessed real flinging by the local mound staffs, that have performed here but Wednesday, Tommy Pointer took his place with Johnnie Williams, Freddy Coyer, and Jack Ouellete, not forgetting "Hoss" Gibson, who this year is the other half of the hurling corps. The elongated southpaw threw a schoolfilling game, restricting the opposition to two measly singles, and helping himself to two hits, one of them being a double. He was invincible in the pinches and simply coasted to victory. His control was not perfect, he walked three men but he was able to send eight back to the dugout, still wondering, when the third one whizzed by. His speed was amazing, probably aided by a breeze, that was all to his advantage, while his curve broke sharply over the corners of the platter. Tommy has developed a change of pace under the watchful eye of manager Walter Gerow and "Penney" Mills, his battery mate, and he used it several times in the game Wednesday when the Kingston players being completely baffled by the assortment he threw up. Tommy complained of a sore arm early in the game but after he finished he said he wish, that the arm was always in the same condition.

The first hit came in the second frame, when Scrutton punched a single to right. "Oy" Young was playing deep or he might have grabbed the scorcher as the wind held it up for a time. That was the last semblance of a hit the Ponies got til the ninth frame, when Jake Quinn batting at his curve in self defense, caught one up on the handle and looped it over his infield for a little garden. Everybody in the opposition threatened time the opposition threatened time the opposition threatened time Pointer tightened the strings and became master of the situation. He was ably assisted by "Penney" Mills and was excellently supported by his team mates. Bob Scott made one bobble on a high throw to first but after that there was no boners in the inner works, while Tommy was throwing so well the out fielders had little chance for action. There was only one fly ball hit to the outfield all the afternoon and that was easily taken by Alex Weir, so it can be seen that the locals must have been performing on high.

Used Three Hurlers

Opposed to Pointer were three would-be slingers and neither of these showed anything startling. Jimmy Jamieson was making his first start in some time due to a bone arm but he was not effective in the way of difficulty to the locals. Twenty hit offerings for five hits in four frames, for some coming the first inning in which produced three runs which were enough to win the game. Jamieson looked better than the fans have seen him this summer as his fast ball had more hop but his curve was meat for the boys and it was just too fast for him. He retired Hewitt Smith took a turn on the mound but his arm also was dead and he had to be relieved. "Brick" Jamieson was the third first base and finished the contest, and the locals put the game on ice, while he was on the mound. Gibson Ada, coach of the Ponies moved his players around last week and during the tussle, even the umpires became involved with frequent changes, that were made. The locals used three pitchers and three of them being for extra bases and the bugles came, when they were needed.

On Road Back

Apparently Scott's control is coming back to his former standard. This boy at one time was the bug bear of all hurlers but he fell away but right now he is the most to be feared man on the local line-up with the blackjoon. Bob waits for the hurler to throw them in and then he gives the pellet a nice long ride. On Wednesday he smote the horse hide for three hits in successive times at bat and on his second appearance, he rode the ball to deep left for a triple. "Penney Mills gets his hits regularly and on same he is more lucky than others. In the game he had two hits, one which scored a runner and the other put the runner in position to scamper home on a single. Tommy Pointer also decked the horsehide for two raps and his double was a bummer to left. The pitcher likes to hit the first one. It was refreshing to see Manny Green get a single as his hitting has been light so far but he will be coming if Belleville can get over the Kingston hurdle on the way to the Provincial championship. "Moose" Darrah did not enter the hit column but he is improving. Walter Gerow changed this boy over to left handed batsman and the result of the move could be seen. The fans should give the boy encouragement instead of knocks for he is a comer, make no mistake about that statement.

Sensational Fielder

Darrah right now is one of the best fielding first basemen we have had in this city and that goes for the managers. Harry Mills, whose brilliant play around the initial sack, should be remembered by the younger generation of fans, for he was a great ball perfectly, can shift his feet at a moments notice and is adept at chasing flies and pop bits is in a class by himself. Wednesday afternoon play at the afternoon, when he galloped nearly to the race track to get Young's bunt to the left of a stiff breeze. Mills was not to be outdone when he went to the grand stand for a foul tip but the Belleville fans don't go strong as "Penney" is noted for this kind of a play, not only in Belleville but in the whole province. He is in a class by himself in gathering 'em but tips.

It would be unfair to single out any player as all contributed to the brilliant win. "Sonny" Green in right field, Weir made a good pair around the keystone sack, they handling nine chances between them and Jimmy Scott, the playoff will soon be starting and the fans should give their appreciation of the team in a tangible form. The locals have ridden on the up and hill club, due probably to the depression and probably to the fact that the fans of the city and district take it as a matter of course that they should come through in the final analysis but that does not buy base balls and the fans will scream in expense money. It costs plenty to run a ball team and the fans can add their mite by turning out for the playoff game and show the boys everyone is behind them in their quest for a third Provincial championship. The Nationals are a smart ball club and they will take some beating on any man's league. The play by play and box score follows. t

FIRST GAME IN PLAYOFFS WON BY SULPHIDE

Victorias of Belleville Defeated in Eleven Innings by 2-1 Score

HURLING DUEL

Ibey of Locals and Casey Speed Ball Artist Hook Up

Battling until the eleventh inning, the Belleville Victorias went down to defeat before the Sulphide softball team perfected that the losing scoring one run in the first innings and remaining scoreless until the fatal eleventh when the "homesters" scored the winning run to win the first game of the Trent Valley playoffs in Tweed yesterday. The game was surely a pitcher's battle with the local hurler, Ralph Ibey, losing to Casey, the speed-ball artist, after a grueling contest.

Herbie Swell Ball

They pitched the best game that has been seen in the intermediate league this year, allowing but seven hits, while Casey allowed the locals but kept them well scattered. Errors spelt the defeat for the local Vics. In the final innings Adams was safe on Harringe's error and stole second. Again Barringe made a slip on a throw to first base and the winning run was scored by Adams. The game was about the toughest to lose, that a local has been dropped in some years. They had all the tough breaks and had a ball team can crowd into one game. Casey on the mound for Sulphide buried a very heady and steady game while Ralph Ibey for the locals turned in almost a perfect exhibition of pitching. Blaker, the local first baseman had the misfortune of turning his ankle in the fourth inning, retired to the side the remainder of the game. This misfortune seemed to put the steam in the Vics. The game was played at Tweed Park Grounds as the diamond in Sulphide was in no condition to play upon.

"Will" Latchford scored the only run for the local Vics in the first innings after he had singled and Palmer had doubled. This was the only time that the Vics had to score until the sixth when they filled the bases with one out, but could not squeeze across the winning run.

The return game will be played at the Pal Grounds tomorrow evening when "Archie" Campbell will no doubt be on the mound for the visitors. It is more than likely, that they will again get the old reach from Manager McLean as the "big blonde" pitched the best game of his career yesterday. The Vics have "Chuck" Jeffery still in reserve.

ALEX MILNE IS READY

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 12.—Fear of the north has no part in the makeup of little Alex Milne, airplane mechanic, who was marooned on the north shore of Canada for two months with the Macalpine party two years ago. Of that experience he has agreed to a tentative offer to accompany Capt. James Slaughter, noted Flatbed Blaker navigator, on his projected flight across the top of the world. Details of arrangements have not yet been completed for Capt. Slaughter's proposed flight to Tokyo flight, via the North Pole, but Milne meanwhile is planning caches along the route. Capt. Slaughter, navigator for the South Pole flight of Commander Richard Byrd, left Winnipeg today for Omaha, Neb.

TARZAN OF THE APES No. 4

(Metropolitan Newspap er Feature Service, Inc.)

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Early next morning Lord and Lady Greystoke's chests and boxes were hoisted on deck and lowered to waiting boats for transportation to shore. There was a great quantity and variety of stock, arms and ammunition, as they had expected a possible two years' residence in their new West Coast African home.

The man shuddered as he meditated upon the awful gravity, the fearful helplessness of their situation. But it was a merciful providence which prevented him from seeing the hideous reality which awaited them in the grim depth of that dense jungle. They silently sat, each wrapped in gloomy forebodings, wondering.

They had escaped death at the hands of the mutineers; but they were faced with far graver dangers. Alone, he might hope to survive for years. But what of his wife and that other little life so soon to be launched amidst the hardships and grave dangers of a primeval world? His heart sank in despair, considering their future.

Having filled the ship's casks with fresh water, its small boats moved slowly over the water to the ship. As the Swedes passed out of sight behind a projecting point, Lord Greystoke and his wife—in the breasts of both, a feeling of impending disaster and utter helplessness—heavily stood, silently and behind them, over the edge of a low ridge, other eyes WATCHED THEM—close-set wicked eyes, gleaming beneath shaggy brows!

Natives of Bavo, one of the Solomon Islands, regard the shark as a god and cast their dead into the sea as an offering to their fiery deity

GANDHI CAUSES ANOTHER HITCH

Will Not Go to London Unless His Ultimatum Complied With

Bombay, Aug. 13.—Deadlock existed today between the government and Indian Nationalists respecting participation by Mahatma Gandhi in the approaching round table conference.

The Earl of Willingdon, Viceroy of India, has not replied to the virtual ultimatum from the Mahatma demanding as a prerequisite to his going to London that the government release without any attempt towards peasants who are unable to pay back taxes.

The sudden determination of the Nationalist leader not to go to London unless his terms were complied with caused dismay in Simla where until yesterday it was believed that Gandhi's indecision was merely a blind to keep the government guessing.

As the Viceroy will have to lay the entire matter before the London government it was considered probable that a reply could be given the Mahatma on Monday.

Meanwhile, Pandit Malaviya and Mme. Naidu, Nationalist leaders, visit delegates to the round table conference, in an effort to persuade Gandhi, declared definitely to cancel his passage if he does not go.

The government received another poll today when Sir Purshotta Madas Thakurdas, millionaire Indian merchant, who was to have represented Indian interests at the round table conference, cancelled his passage in a protest against the Viceroy's failure to include two additional members of the Federation of Indian Chambers of Commerce & Industries.

RE-ORGANIZE ALL SERVICES

Many Changes Contemplated in Department of Highways

Toronto, Aug. 13.—Re-organization of various services in the Department of Highways is understood to be under consideration at present by the newly-appointed Minister of the department, Hon. Lincoln Goodeve. The chief engineer of municipal roads for the past 17 years, it is reported will be transferred to other duties. The trunk roads of the province, as under the municipal system, will be made the sub ject of a complete study by Mr. Manley this fall, it is understood.

ID REVOLVER SED IN CRIME

Mar are Sought as Per- Plators of Heinous Crime

Ann bor, Mich., Aug. 13.—A revolver used in the prosecuting officials, the chief of police and police thinks was identified by police this afternoon as the gun with which Henry Lore, one of four youngsters slain early Thursday on country road near here, was shot.

Officials not reveal where the gun was found. Earl G. Stephens, ballis expert at Detroit, who examined gun there and compared it with the bullets in the bodies of the slain young Lore's weapon was the one with which Lore was shot.

Lore's three companions, Thomas Wheatley and Harry Sutts, Ann Arbor, and Alfred Gold, both Cleveland, were killed by shots, examination sealed. Then their bodies were burned in Wheatley's automobile, said with gasoline and set afire.

Finding the gun was the outstanding clue which authorities hope to find leading to the slayers of the four young persons who ranged to the end of the week.

A roughly great man about 30 years old was reported seen early Tuesday either two couples in a roadster, Ann Arbor, and Ypsilanti, who bought gasoline at a filling station Henry Lore, one of four youngsters slain early Thursday on country road near here, was shot.

Officials not reveal where the gun was found. Earl G. Stephens, ballis expert at Detroit, who examined gun there and compared it with the bullets in the bodies of the slain young Lore's weapon was the one with which Lore was shot.

Lore's three companions, Thomas Wheatley and Harry Sutts, Ann Arbor, and Alfred Gold, both Cleveland, were killed by shots, examination sealed. Then their bodies were burned in Wheatley's automobile, said with gasoline and set afire.

Gordon Calvert Given 4 Years in Penitentiary

Pleaded Guilty to Breaking, Entering and Theft from Ivanhoe Office

ON TICKET OF LEAVE

Will Have to Serve Unexpired Ter mof Parole, when Sentence Completed

Gordon Calvert came up before Magistrate Clearesent for sentence at the Court House this morning and was sentenced to serve a term of four years in Portsmouth Penitentiary. Calvert received this sentence as the result of a criminal offence committed by him on July 13, and in which he pleaded guilty in having stolen from the Post Office at Ivanhoe about $200 in bank money orders. He forged thirty-two of these orders and was able to realize $150.00 in cash on the forged merchandise. It is said that practically all of this money has been recovered. Ontario Provincial Constables Hamilton of Belleville and Hill of Madoc were in charge of the investigation of the charge against Calvert which included statements from Calvert himself. At the time this offence was committed Calvert was out on ticket of leave having been sentenced a year and a half ago to three years in Portsmouth Penitentiary for theft.

BOURGEOIS GETS MAJORITY OF 102

Conservative Lead in Three Ridings By-election Increases

Three Rivers, Que. Aug. 13.—(CP) —After a final check of the polls late last night the majority of Charles Bourgeois, K.C., victorious Conservative candidate in the Three Rivers-St. Maurice by-election, was announced to be 102.

Yesterday morning Mr. Bourgeois' majority over his Liberal rival, Hon. Wilfrid Gariepy, was reduced from 45 to 8 by a correction in the figures from the poll in St. Etie de Caxton. Later Pointe-du-Lac returned the Conservative majority there should be 60 instead of 24, giving the total returns as 102.

The election of Mr. Bourgeois has been in doubt ever since the final returns on Monday night showed him in the lead after Mr. Gariepy's majority had been gradually reduced in this city. It was announced that Friday morning Mr. Gariepy had polled. This figure was later increased to 201. Yesterday's recount reduced it down to 45. This afternoon it was 8 but this still stands at 102.

Whatever the result of the official count by the returning officer it is considered probable the losing party will demand a recount before the Superior Court.

IRISH ORANGEMEN BLOCKED IN RALLY

Belfast, Northern Ireland, Aug. 13 (AP)—Nothing but a splashed the northern counties of Ireland as yesterday's events at Cootehill Irish Free State, where Orangemen were prevented from holding a meeting.

Members of the "Irish Republican Army" disrupted the railroads out of the town and were held in check by the fire of the Free State guards. Roads and railroads were barricaded and torn up over a considerable area. A youth and a girl incident citizen were manhandled for taking sides.

The fear it widely expressed that reprisals will take place on Saturday, day of Our Lady, when the annual orders of Ulstermen meet their annual demonstrations. There have been rioting and bloodshed on Saturday between the Hibernians and the Orangemen but the feeling aroused on the border may have worse effects today.

The County Cavan brigade headquarters of the Republican Army has issued a proclamation describing the Orangemen as "Imperialist agents of Great Britain whose purpose it is to perpetuate a sectarian and religious war between Catholic people in this area.

There is no religious conflict here and the Republicans stand for freedom of religious belief exercise. There is a conflict between the Irish Republic and British Imperialism Mrs. A. McDonnell.

Experimental Farm For Fort William

Toronto, Aug. 13 (CP).—Establishment of a demonstration farm at Fort William was announced by the Provincial Department of Agriculture. The farm will be similar to other government farms at present operating in Ontario. Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, who is at present in North Ontario, has gone through the town on the anniversary of the re-birth of Londonderry. The streets and bands accompanied the long procession of Orangemen. A strong in its defence of women and children and of all property in the province now and the home," said Mayor W. J. Stewart of Toronto, who addressed the meeting at the Cenotaph parade. Arthur Gray, Past Grand Master for Ontario West, acted as chairman.

2nd Thurlow

Mr. and Mrs. A. Hall were taken by surprise on Friday afternoon when representatives of the Neighborly Aid met at their home and presented them with a Kenwood blanket and an electric reading lamp. A social hour was spent together and a dainty lunch was served by Mrs. J. Donaldson on behalf of the Neighborly Aid, after which ice cream and cake were served.
